Little Benny's Note Book

I smelt a swell smell coming out of our kitchen, being Nora baking little round cakes with raisins in, and I went and looked in the kitchen door to see if she looked in a better humor than usual.

Which she dident, looking in a verse of a one instead, and I took my Chinese puzzle out of my pocket. Being 7 rings inside of each other, the thing being to try to get them apart, and Nora said, What's all that jingling and jangling in me kitchen door, is it med intirely yours trying to drive me?

It's a Chinese puzzle, I'll loan it to you a while if you want to borrow it a while, I said, and she said, No thanks, the house is enough of a Chinese puzzle for me with people not knowing what they want for dinner till the last moment then changing their mind like a weather vane on a roof, and on top of it all coming in late for meals and expecting everything to be as fresh as a daisy, and me supposed to take it all and say nothing, I ripose.

Well, this is a pritty intriting puzzle it mit relax your brains to try it once in a while, I said, and Nora said, Take it away from me sight and keep it away.

O well, maybe you'll change your mind, I'll leave it here on the sideboard in the dining room in case you want to try it, I said. Her not saying anything, and pritty soon I said, Hay Nora if you want to find out if your cakes are done yet I'll take one for you.

If you want to find out what it feels like to be pushed in the face, just keep on plaguing me, Nora said. Now leave me alls, she said.

I will if I feel like it, I said.

And I quick went upstairs, taking my Chinese puzzle off of the dining room sideboard on my way.

BUCK DEER SPEED IS CLOCKED AT 55 MILES

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 13.—The speed at which a buck deer can, travelling at full steam, has now been determined. It is 55 miles an hour.

Dr. A. Gimy, discoverer of this interesting fact, was motoring into the Sault yesterday when his car came abreast of a deer that evidently wanted a race. The deer sopped along by the side of the car and was not extended until the doctor stepped up the speed of his car to 55. The Buck kept on for a couple of lengths and then turned into the bush.

Brandon, Man., July 14—Nature lovers of America today launch their monument to the century of peace which has prevailed between Canada and the United States. On the border between Manitoba and North Dakota, in a rolling, timber-covered district almost at the geographical centre of the continent, the International Peace Garden will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies. Congratulations From Capital.

Official representatives of the two countries met here last night at a banquet and heard messages of congratulation from President H. B. Hoover, the Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada and President Hoover. The Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes hung side by side at the banquet table and the guests sang "O Canada" and "The Star Spangled Banner" with equal gusto.

The Governor-General described the project as "a beautiful embodiment of the ideals of the Canadian people."

Indian Guides and Posse Of 50 Seek Missing Man

Former Bellevillian, Geo. S. Hale of Montreal is Missing

LOST IN FOREST?

L'Ascension, Que., July 13 (CP)—Indian guides were engaged today to aid a posse of fifty men in the search for George S. Hale, superintendent of the Montreal plant of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, missing since he became separated from his companions on a week end fishing trip last Sunday.

Lost in Forest?

The theory that Hale lost his way in the forest strengthened when searchers failed to find any trace of the fishing gear along the banks of the Riviere Rouge. Divers, however were searching the river bed. Officials of the International Paper Company constructed a dam above the spot where the missing man may have fallen in, but found no way and search continued by means of divers.

George S. Hale, the missing man, lived in Belleville until about fifteen or sixteen years ago and made his home on Everett Street. While resident here he was engaged in local plants.

Relatives Visit Here

Wednesday morning his brother, and his sister, Mrs. Davis, of Toronto, left Belleville for Montreal, to be near the scene of the search for their brother. They had arrived here the night before and stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hale, Coleman Street. While there they received a message from Hale, telling of the missing man, stating that they had been searching since Sunday and had not been drowned. No trace of the missing man had been found and he had had no boat. The search is intense, owing to the belief he may be found alive.

Hale is remembered by many in Belleville. He is about thirty-five to forty years of age and married, the family consisting of four children.

Acquaintances in this city who know and visit the Hales at Montreal are deeply concerned over his fate.

ONE SHOT IN MAKING BREAK

Two Recaptured, While Three Are Still at Large

Sudbury, Ont., July 14 (CP)—Breaking their way through a strong wooden door, while guards were busy at their evening meal, seven made a break for liberty at the Burwash Industrial Farm last night. One was shot in the hip, two recaptured and three are still at large.

The man shot was ordered to stop, and guards opened fire when he continued running. His injuries are not regarded as serious.

The escape took place at the thick brush, which surrounds the prison farm, the fugitives making a dash about 100 yards across a clearing and arriving safely behind a thick of water about 1000 feet deep connecting two small lakes before they gained cover in the dense woods.

BOY KNOCKED OFF CAR BROUGHT HERE

What might have been a very serious accident occurred at Springbrook on Saturday, July 9, when Harry Bateman, youngest son of W. J. Bateman, was knocked down by a truck. He was riding his wheel on Highway No. 2 in the village of Springbrok when he passed a waggon and never noticed the truck directly behind and the truck hit his bicycle, throwing him a considerable distance. He was rushed to Belleville where he is resting as well as can be expected although he bones were broken, he is badly bruised up. No blame was laid to any of the parties as it was purely accidental.

COWPUNCHERS RAID CORRAL BEFORE RODEO

Disgruntled Wages Had Not Been Paid

SHORT FIGHT

Cowboys Fire Guns Over Power Guards And Release Horses

Brampton, Ont., July 14 (CP) — In real old western style, a band of cowboys and Indians swooped through this city today, stormed the fair grounds, and with cracking pistols stampeded a group of forty horses through the town and away.

As a result of the raid, Pete Walsh manager of a rodeo, now claims wages and who was to stage a rodeo here tonight, has sworn out warrants for the arrest of thirteen known members of the raiding party, which is believed to have numbered more than 30.

Three men, guarding the horses were overpowered by the stampeding party. No one was badly injured during the melee, but several of the cowboys were nursing bruises and black eyes as the result of the fight for possession of the ponies.

Fight Short and Sweet

The first sign of the invaders was the appearance of three trucks loaded with Indians and cowboys which appeared in the vicinity before midnight. They waited on the outskirts of the city for some time, and then approached the Welsh encampment.

"The fight didn't last" more than a few minutes," Chief Big Bear Herkes declared today. "There were three people about when there was a wild rush and trampling of hoofs. The invaders rushed in from all around. Shots were fired and the men were shouting and hooting, aggravating to hear the horses together."

The animals were originally the property of the rodeo but were seized as bonuses for wages claimed by employees of the Wild West show. Early this week the horses were suddenly moved from their corral on Dufferin Street, just outside of Toronto, to a trade an injunction obtained by Welsh.

Tuesday night the raid was staged on the Stouffville camp and the horses driven to the Royal Winter Fair grounds here in preparation for the rodeo to be staged tonight.

The horses were gathered up this morning, and are now being held just outside the town.

Robb to Compose Poem and Recite at Unveiling of Cairn for Tecumseh

The mystery of Tecumseh's grave was never solved by the White Man, although it was felt, for many years, that the Indians knew the exact spot of the great chief's burial place. The Walpole Island Indians have disclosed their guardianship of Tecumseh's bones, and a memorial cairn is to be unveiled on the spot this autumn, with international ceremonies.

To the bard of Birdland, Dr. Thomas Herbert Robb, of Ashby Down, has come the distinction of being invited by the Walpole Island Indians' Soldiers' Club, to be official poet for the Tecumseh memorial ceremony, to compose a poem and recite it at the unveiling. Mr. Robb has been chosen by the Indians because of his knowledge with nature and his dramatic, poetical song. The poet has noted the Indians of his acceptance of the appointment. The poem will be published at the time of the ceremony.

The appointment was made at an official meeting of the Indians of Walpole Island Reservation, June 30th, 1932, and a copy of the resolution was sent Mr. Robb for acceptance.

GRADING WORK ON TWEED HIGHWAY

Township employees are busy this week on the Tweed Highway between Thurlow and Roslin, grading the road and repairing several small holes and ruts. Weed cutting along the right of way is also being carried on. In many cases in other sections, thrifty farmers are assisting this work of weed cutting by reaping the tall grass in their immediate territory themselves, and making it into hay to be used for fodder later in the season.

Foxboro Couple Celebrate 60th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clarke, Foxboro Receive Many Felicitations

Today Foxboro is en fete.

Today, the world rendezvous of life in this district sighty years ago, when virgin wilderness surrounded the section, where he was born, in the fifth concession of Thurlow, with pictures of still lingering in memory of flickering camp fires of original inhabitants of the country burning briefly through the woods of the front of Prince Edward where they erected their Indian tepee of skins and cast off flour bags, and of still more primitive dwellings of hand-drawn wagons in place of the sleek purring motor cars, which have been drawing up to the little home in the middle of the village of Foxboro throughout the day, Mr. Samuel James Clarke, together with his wife of sixty years, Mary Arty Reid, were married, to-day carry twinkle in the eyes of Mr. Clarke belies his age. His mind is that of a man in his boy's, and his mind as alert as the boy in the schools of Sidney Consolidated College, Belleville, over sixty years ago, George Wallbridge, is the master. Mrs. Clarke, one of his teachers, and S. B. Beatty who was another of his pupils in those days," he smiles in reminiscence. But there is no less spring in the step sprightliness of her step holds no brief for the eighty years which have passed her by.

Father Built Mill.

On the Banks of the Moira River, at Ockbyville, where she was born, Mrs. Clarke's father built a grist mill which served the section. It was no unusual in those days for settlers of the country roundabout to ride shoulder a sack of wheat and walk twenty-five and fifty miles to have their grinding done at the only mill standing at motor cars to give you a full ciliter." Ockbyville, or Ockbyville was "a mere jaunt". Long before Mr. Clarke's father came on the extensive buildings and named that corner location, the grist mill with taken over and was long since been forgotten.

An Interesting Lineage.

To trace the interesting lineage of Mr. Clarke's forefathers would require much space. Chief among his recollections was that of his grandfather on the mother's side. Samuel Antony was a professional soldier, fought for Duke of Wellington, and assisted in the downfall of another mighty warrior of science, book fame—Napoleon. At one time, in the country where he was born, Mr. Clarke's father, Samuel Arty Reid, that country in the time of the war with France, Samuel Antony was drafted into Napoleon's army. His sympathies were with the British, however, and he fled to that side by desertion. With the cessation of Napoleonic wars and the consequent banishment of Napoleon to the Isle of Melba, Antony journeyed to Canada and took up residence in the front of Thurlow. Here he fought the wilderness as the forefathers of Mr. Clarke, England, cleared a farm and tilled the land. He died long ago and his bones now rest in Rednersville cemetery near Foxboro. It was an epic battle with virgin wilderness and forest, that Samuel Antony fought and his labours in the district is still apparent. A gravestone in the cemetery marks his last resting place.

Mr. Clarke's grandfather on his father's side, came from England also, and was instrumental in clearing much of the land in Sidney so long ago.

The marriage of Samuel James Clarke and Mary Arty Reid was blessed with two boys, Benjamin and Edward. Only Benjamin lives up the tilling of soil, but for some years lately has worked at Corbyville, the world for many years, and Edward in Peterborough.

In the fragrance of his garden, surrounded by brilliant blooms of every variety, Mr. Clarke this week took time off from welcoming the neighbors and well wishers to deliver a few pithy sentences on present day conditions to a reporter of the Daily Ontario Intelligencer, who sought him out.

World Has Slarred Out.

"Yes, eighty years has been a long time," he doesn't seem so long now, even, in retrospect. Sometimes I like to be alive to witness changes the next eighty years bring. But I'll be going! No; I don't believe I would. If you have ever watched a clock you know that the earth travels in cycles. Each two thousand years had brought tremendous changes. There is a general reorganization of the affairs of the world. From what I have made have calculated next period of whatever is to occur at the end of the next sixty years. You may see it, but I won't. Perhaps it is as well."

Back to the Land.

"What about more question, Mr. Clarke: If you were beginning Moreover again, what would you rather do than take up farming as you have done so successfully your whole life?" This question was put to the writer the reporter had witnessed some of the expedients of operating the carpentry work in his home. Coupled with this, Mr. Clarke is the pen and ink artist of the district.

"Farming is all I have done. I never did care for office work, and but I guess it's in the blood. Yes, I would take up farming if I could. If were is start out again tomorrow I think I'd want to be a farmer again in the same district I was. It's the greatest job on earth."

B. Faith, director of Extension, who says that from coast to coast, Holstein breeders' field events with more enthusiasm and interest than ever before manifested. It is estimated that the attendance averaged well over 10,000, the total number of people reaching about 10,000.

CONFERENCE UPON RURAL WELFARE

A rural welfare conference of ministers and laymen of the United Church will be held in Toronto in the Ontario Ladies College, Whitby from July 25th to 29th. Delegates from all parts of Ontario will be in attendance, and will include many outstanding ministers, missionaries and lay men of the church.

Rev. W. B. Aikins is chairman; Hon. E. C. Drury, chairman of the Rural Life Commission; Professor Neil C. Langford, dean of the school, and Rev. G. W. Lynd, registrar. Rev. Dr. Salem Bland, former prime minister of Ontario, will be the chairman at the evening sessions.

This is the second year a succession in which Whitby has been the scene of a conference of this character. It brings together many business and professional men who are interested in the work of the church.

TWINS REPROVED QUEEN VICTORIA

London, July 14—In a book "My Candid Recollections," by the Duke of Manchester, he recalls a visit he paid as a child to Queen Victoria in company with his twin sisters, and tells how at lunch the Queen took up a chicken-bone in her fingers and began to eat it, with the result that Lord Wina, who had been training not to gnaw chicken-bones, pointed out with a shriek of "Oh, piggywiggy".

TAKES UP MARKERS OF THOSE GIVEN AID

London, July 14—The City Relief Department and a London carpenter are engaged on opposite banks of a dilemma—all about an ancient debt which the carpenter says he has cancelled and the city relief says he doesn't.

There's an iron-clad, inflexible rule that car owners receiving city relief must promise to sell the car as soon as possible and must bring on the markers when the first relief order is given.

On the other hand, the carpenter claims that there should be consideration of individual cases, that he needs the aged motor for work. He claims that the rambling wreck is his only pleasure vehicle, that it is in reality a truck. It is fitted with gadgets on the side to hold extra fishing, ladders and a body tool box containing saws, hammers, bundles of nails and other paraphernalia of the carpenter's trade.

Children Romp, Play at Annual Picnics Arranged by Churches

With an attendance of approximately one hundred and fifty persons, which had begun in seven-thirty that morning the congregation voted a hearty thanks to the committee who had made the day such a gala event.

Tired and happy after the long day of sports, including the tiddlers of the congregation, Baptist Sunday School annual picnic was held Wednesday afternoon in the grove and on the sandy beach at Weller's Bay. Large buses which left the church grounds in the city throughout the earlier part of the day transported all who took part in the annual event. Ideal weather favored the outing. On the grounds where the picnic was held a great variety of games had been arranged by the committee in charge. Swimming constituted the afternoon's entertainment and many excellent prizes were given.

CHRIST CHURCH PICNIC IN GROVE

Gowsell's Grove at Foxboro played host Wednesday afternoon to the attendance of approximately two hundred members of the Sunday School of Christ Church parish on the occasion of their annual picnic. Transportation to the grove was kindly donated by Walker Harcware, Smith Hardware and two of Thompson trucks and by owners of cars. Little ones were not forgotten in the list of participants for their enjoyment as well as mothers and fathers. Under the direction of Rev. G. G. Wright who arranged an extensive program for the day, many games were featured. Among the prizes which were given were a number of articles for first prize winners. Unique in the contest was the fact that all children who had ribbons were allowed first choice at the ice cream and cake which were supplied. Although such delicacies were in abundance this was a very special distinction which was eagerly sought for. Other races were held for the older folk and all were scattered into the spirit of the day to make the occasion such a success

NATIONAL IDEALS

Hon. W. H. Price in his Twelfth of July address at Toronto declared his opinion that Canada was taking the right step in offering the people of Canada radio broadcasts which would reflect Canadian sentiment and offer relief from the foreign programs and foreign advertising. "These insidious foreign influences must be kept at a minimum if we are to develop a typically Canadian character. We want most to be prepared to impress on our own people certain characteristics of nature and ethics. We must protect our country and our own citizenship. It is all right for those who make money importing something ready-made. As long as they drag in the shekels to their own private purse, they are prepared to see Canadian citizenship moulded on an American basis or some other basis."

This is the very attitude of those who favor nationalization of radio and who would prohibit the introduction of foreign ideals in films and magazines. Canada has a peculiar destiny to work out carrying along British ideals as they apply in this new world. Her ideals can never be quite those of the United States. In that way danger of freedom would lie. Canadian and British ideals are the best antidote to the foreign invasion.

FLAGS

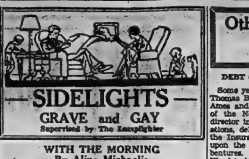
Highways are the great showways of Canada and God, the Hon. W. H. Price would control the flags that fly along them. He must have been thinking of gasoline stations and cars which bear foreign emblems. But the flag is indeed of sovereignty and what significance a foreign flag would therefore have in Canada is difficult to appreciate. Generally speaking it looks like courtesy carried to an unwarranted extreme.

Col. Price pointed out at the Orange gathering that foreign flags were all right in their own place but Canadians had to protect their birthright and must respect their own sovereignty, nationality, entity and its achievements.

EMPIRE DELEGATES OTTAWA-BOUND

One of the greatest delegations in history is now on the broad expanse of the ocean today. Britain, South Africa, India, North Ireland and South Rhodesia are represented in the passenger list of the Empress of Britain which left the port of Southampton on Wednesday for the Imperial Conference in Ottawa. On the Pacific delegations from New Zealand and Australia.

So the mighty ocean which Britain has done so much to keep free to all nations is now very busy with Empire and makes possible the meeting of representatives of the various parts of the commonwealth of nations.



A more inspiring thought could not be than that of the body of men who represent one quarter of the population of the earth and whose influence is far greater than its numbers coming to the New World to debate problems of inter-empire economics naturally to exert a most potent influence upon the thought of the world outside of the empire.

With such hopes it is no wonder that the spirit of the delegations runs high as to what is to be accomplished in the Ottawa conference. It is one of the most important meetings in many years.

RAIL LINE TO SEAPORT

Premier Henry will on Friday next open the extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway between Cochrane and Moosonee, Canada's latest seaport, and Ontario's fine seaport. Wealth untold is believed to lie in the rocks in the hinterland which will make fine passes and the possibility of the opening up of fisheries and the pulpwood industry is a great one. Here is the town is no mean centre as it possesses a branch bank.

What will be the future remains for the coming days to unfold. But with Canada growing steadily and her population conquering farther and farther north the scaffold stages and the easy money phase of deflation which is the forerunner of expansion." Among the developments hailed with delight by this business journal are the readjustment of financial structures, the writing down of debt obligations, lower rates charged — "the overseas great Britain proposes to reduce the burden of her public debt by the most colossal conversion operation ever undertaken, and reparations are about to be finally written off." It is gratifying to see how frequently reference is made to the Mother Country by foreign commentators, who gratefully applaud the leadership which is being given the world. —Hamilton Spectator.

WITH THE MORNING

By Alice Michaelis

Joy with the morning is born anew,
And cheer comes once more to the minds of men
Under the spell of the heavens blue,
When the light of dawn floods the east again.
Something undying and fresh and strong
Flowers with morn in the human heart.
Something immune from the power of wrong
Stirs there and quickens when shadows depart.
Pledge of the spirit's immortal dower,
Something as ageless and buoyant as dawn.
Lifts up the thoughts in that sacred hour
When the veils of the night are at last withdrawn.
Hope with the glimmer of day returns,
Courage and faith and the will to do;
With the flame in the east the old ardor burns,
And joy with the morning is born anew!

LIFE IS SUCH A BEASTLY BORE, dontchaknow, ran an old song — and sometimes we think that life nowadays is devoid of the thrills of yesteryear. There seems to be a limit reached in invention and high scale of living in this mechanical age — we sit and wish for the days of old spoken on the silver screen and only the oldsters remember the thrills that used to accompany a visit to the Old Opery House of Harry Lindley, Alvin Joslin, Gay's Minstrels, James O'Neil in Monte Christo, Morrison in Faust, Lincoln J. Carter's spectacular melodramas, and "The Fast Mail," "The Tornado," and others. Airplanes, speed boats, fast automobiles, and trains — and all the other wonders of this advanced age. However, there are thrills left. The Great War packed enough for a lifetime for those who went across and came back; and those who stayed at home and made money; then the stock market madness was a gigantic thrill, while it lasted; honeymoons are almost as thrilling now as they were when grandad went to Niagara Falls, and there are other thrills peculiar to the present age. Looking at it from another angle a lot of folks are getting a thrill out of wondering what will come next, guessing what will happen if the millions of unemployed get enough leadership from the white collared ranks to become dangerous — the thrill of the unexpected. Then we stop and compare our standard of living with that of our fathers and grandfathers, and our work made easy by modern machinery with their toil some hand work. We eat finer food, sleep in more expensive beds, and our homes palaces compared to those of our forefathers, and our clothes are like the apparel of kings in comparison, then our amusements are far finer than even a king could enjoy fifty or a hundred years ago —and we go round cackling of depression and hardship. Even those who are poor today lives better than did the pioneers who made this country a fit country to live in — we have no cause to sing the grand old song, "Count Your Blessings One by One."

YOUNG MAN OF TWENTY with a fortune of twenty millions, two wives, one divorced—son of a tobacco king, died with a bullet in his head at the end of a corn liquor party down South. Apparently he had everything in life worth while and then some. In fact could have afforded the whole liquid corn crop and the tobacco for a new kick chose the illicit "White Mule" of the mountaineers, which only a mountaineer can drink and live. His wife and other guests were too befuddled to know just what did happen, but the law is digging deep with suspicions of murder; for anything else without knowing it. Happiness is in this world is where you find it and seldom can it be found in the gay circles of the overly rich young folks of this generation.

DEBT OF ONTARIO CITIES

Some years ago—17, to be exact—Thomas Bradshaw, then with A. E. Ames and Company but now head of the North American Life and director in a flock of other corporations, delivered an address before the Insurance Institute at Toronto upon the subject of municipal indebtedness. City Treasurer Down, of Woodstock, has produced a table which appears the following page dealing with grass debt:

"A comparison of the gross debt (less sinking fund) with the population and with the assessment is helpful in determining the financial position. Speaking generally, the aggregate gross debenture debt (including debts incurred for local improvements and schools) should not exceed 20 per cent. of the assessed value for taxation, nor should it be greater per capita than $100 for places with a population of less than 2,000; $150 for places of 2,000 and less than 10,000 and $200 for places with a population of 10,000 and over."

The other day a statement prepared by Dominion Securities Corporation, Toronto, appeared in local and other newspapers, setting forth the debentures gross debt of Ontario cities as of December 31, 1931. There are 22 municipalities in the list, and 16 of them have gross debentures debt exceeding the 20 per cent. of assessment which Mr. Bradshaw years ago laid down as the maximum which ought not to be exceeded.

A similar development has taken place in relation to the gross debt per capita, which Mr. Bradshaw 17 years ago said should not exceed $200. The table which appeared in the Sentinel-Review last Tuesday shows 11 cities above that mark and 11 below. Woodstock, at $110.51, makes a twelfth on the list of 22, but some are very close to it. Woodstock's per capita debt is $110.51 and that of Port Arthur highest at $274.

Of course net debt—which is the gross after deduction of debentures issued for actual sinking fund, less accumulated sinking fund on such debentures—is a fairer comparison as between municipalities, but these totals demonstrate quite as striking a manner the trend of recent years. Woodstock's net debt per capita, still the fourth from the lowest table, but the tabulation of 17 years ago had no municipality up to that figure except Toronto. Here is the table showing net debt per capita for the cities which appear in both lists:

Owen Sound	$ 26	$ 68
Windsor	44	118
Niagara Falls	55	100
Ottawa	59	111
Kingston	43	72
Hamilton	93	122
Toronto	87	118
Peterboro	50	78
Brantford	50	78
Galt	64	95
London	86	106
Kitchener	61	97
St. Catharines	61	97
Guelph	61	76

It will be noted that four cases the amount has more than doubled. One of these is Windsor.

"It would be interesting to have Mr. Bradshaw's comment respecting the general trend in municipal securities, involving the violation of his old standard of safety. The Sentinel-Review, however, that we have his sympathy, for the financial situation of Windsor, in common with the survey made by him in May of this year at a meeting of the Board council. The report has been published by Dominion Securities Investments Association, and from it we glean the following statements, the first of which indicates the future debt is not all that Windsor has to contend with:

The city's indebtedness to the bank on December 31 last amounted to $2,338,201. Of this amount $2,000,000 had been borrowed on account of overdue taxes, and $572,201 because local improvement debentures to that amount had been hypothecated.

"I know of no reason why Windsor should not be in a position to pay off these debentures when they fall due. Each year there is an amount included in the tax rate, as well as in the water and light rates for this purpose, and if taxes are properly collected, there is absolutely no doubt about the matter.

"Turning to the relation of the schools to the general finances of the affairs of the municipality, it will be noted that 42 per cent of the total taxes raised in 1931 went to education. In view of Windsor's heavy obligations, it is recommended that consideration be given to a further curtailment in expenditure immediately, of expenditures by all the above bodies.

"I respectfully suggest that no capital commitments be entered into by the city, its boards, commissions or companies in which it may be interested, until at least the end of 1934."

MEASUREMENT OF EMOTIONS NOT POSSIBLE

Story is Told With Moral Point and Subject Discovers it

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

Although the emotions constitute the driving forces which push us on through life, whether our intellectual endowments are large or average — and therefore in many respects, more important as pure psychology — science is still baffled by its inability to measure any of them or satisfactorily to describe their depths.

We know that fear, courage, hero sorrow and all the rest of them exist because we experience them and feel the results of their activity. But science is in the infancy of emotions as there are present in any individual, and to what extent they control, undermine or otherwise influence his other mental processes, cannot be accurately determined.

Tests for intelligence or intellectual skills of individuals have had aplenty. Often, however, even in these, certain emotional factors (such as self-confidence or timidity) cannot be eliminated or measured.

In order to evaluate the emotions, several tests have been made, all more or less unsatisfactory. Particularly has this been tried in the field of criminology, in connection with cases of delinquency or criminality.

Perhaps the most popular has a moral point to it and the subject is asked to dictate from memory. Another is to present to the subject tested some problem that might have a slight moral element or action in a sequence, if he guesses the right answer. It is then presumed that his moral sense is normal.

All such procedures are obviously clumsy and inaccurate.

There is an instrument however, that would seem more accurate and better than any other method, especially in connection with cases of testimony of any kind, but when the hands are freed of the mechanism connected with the instrument, that the mirror can also be made to move in front of the eyes of the subject.

The reason is because emotions are accompanied by changes in the copper plates tap the emotional currents from the body and these emotional currents which somehow is generated somewhere within the body.

When a subject is attached to the psychometer and you tell him a story or something that arouses his emotions, the needle will deflect and the light on the screen sways backwards and forwards in wide excursions. The more powerful the person tested becomes, the wider the excursions. And the strangest part of it all is that emotion will be registered by the machine even if the individual does not smile, or seem sad, or move a muscle of his face to indicate that he is play emotion in his features.

But even this instrument has limitations. It only registers the amount of emotion, and does not tell what kind or quality of emotion. Nor does it differentiate between various types of sensations. Even the moral of the subject is displaying emotion but that is about all.

My own experiments with this machine also brought out the fact that a person accused of a misdeed of which he is innocent can muster as much emotion as one who actually is guilty. This alone destroys most of the confidence in the psychometer in criminal investigations.

Under emotional stress, the heart beat usually increases and there may be blood pressure changes None of these are of great value either—at least in the present stage of research into the measurement of emotions.

Kingston, July 14—Rev. Harry B. Clarke, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, Halifax, has accepted a call extended him by the congregation of Sydenham Street United Church in Kingston, and it is expected that he will be inducted into the new charge about the middle of September. Pointer Restricts Ponies to Four Hits, Whiffs Fifteen Yet Beaten 3-1, in Real Game

Southpaw Had Kingston Team Eating Out of Hand After Third

WEIRD DECISION

"Peeney" Mills Led Nat. Hitters With Single And Double

Restricting the opposition to four hits, none coming after the third inning, and in the meantime whiffing 15 Penny batters, Tommy Pointer southpaw of the Belleville Nationals lost one of the toughest games of his career, when the Kingston team beat the Belleville Nationals 3 to 1 at Kingston Wednesday evening.

Pointer literally had the Penny batters bashed to the mat as he pitched one of the best games he has ever shown, after a rather faulty start in the first three innings. The eccentric left hander stumbled through the first third of the game and then went to work to give the Kingston hostile patrons a demonstration of pitching which was seldom been classed in the Limestone city.

Eight Hits for Locals

The Nationals, although they scored only one run, robbed Jamieson, Kingston hurler, for eight hits and had at least one man left on base in every inning except the seventh frame. Every National player, excepting Cosbey and Scarlett, belied himself to a hit, Penny Mills with a double and a single leading the pack. Alex. Weir collected two singles while Pointer himself was the long distance hitter of the day, clouting one high up and far away into the trees in right field for three bases. Only two pitchers were registered by the locals, netted Weir and Alex. Weir and "Shud" Ethier each snagged one ball.

Sparkling fast double plays spelled defeat for the locals, the opposition infield completed three of the fastest double plays imaginable. In the second, Scarlett and Cosbey batted Belleville got the first batter up on base only to have the next hitter knock a ball to Cosbey, who relayed to Scarlett, who in turn relayed to Weir, who completed the play. Then in the seventh, with the locals threatening, Weir to Scarlett to Cosbey retired the side.

Jamieson No Pansie

Jamieson, on the hill for the home team, was no pansie to the Nationals but his team mates were great defensively and saved the game. Jamieson struck out but five and was nicked for eight slashing hits. Inability to poke the ball through the infield as the opposing hurler was usually lost the game for the Belleville nine.

Kingston scored two of their three runs in the first inning, when Tripp, the lead off batter, walked and stole second. Then with one out Jamieson National infield crowded around Umpire Twigg arguing that Vince had been tagged on the play at first but to no avail. Compeau doubled and later scored on Hewitt Smith's two base blow. The Ponies got another run in the third frame when Compeau walked as did Smith the following batter. Stone slashed a sizzling single through second Compeau scoring on the hit. That was the last that Pointer allowed during the entire remaining six innings. As a matter of fact the Ponies only got two more men on base and they were thrown out at home again when Pointer hit Jamieson with a pitched ball. Compeau and Smith each hit a double, while Stone and Jamieson collected singles.

Time of game, 1 hour and 45 minutes.

No Hits in Pinches

Belleville got its two men on base in the first inning and again in the second frame, but failed to push the much needed runs across the plate. In the third, however, Pointer opened with a single to left long, high fly to right field which Arnell took three feet from the base. Alex Weir, the next batter, singled scoring Pointer, later going to second on Scarlett's sacrifice, but failed to score when the next two batters struck out.

In the remaining five innings, except the seventh, the Nationals were in scoring position but seemingly lacked the punch which seems to be a failing with the National baseball team.

Yesterday's loss pushes the Nationals back into third position in the league standing as the Petrolmen defeated them 6 to 5 to win over the tail-end Cobourg team. The Petrolmen have three games with Cobourg, two with Peterboro and two with Oshawa, the league leader. Cobourg has three games with Oshawa, two with Peterboro and two with Belleville. Since slashing a sizzling single through second Compeau scoring on the hit. That was the last that Pointer allowed during the entire remaining six innings. As a matter of fact the

CURRENT SPORT
Knocks and Boosts

If ever a team lost a tough game, the Belleville Nationals dropped the hardest luck game ever known in C.O.B.L. history, when they lost to the Kingston Ponies by the score of 3 to 1 on Wednesday evening. The locals outplayed the champions but "lady luck" just turned her back on the boys when they needed her most. The first tough break spelled defeat for the locals, when the home team scored two runs.

If he lives to be a thousand Umpire Twigg will never make the Nationals and their supporters believe, that Bert Vince was not thrown out by Penny Mills in the first inning. Vince was the first batter and walked, on the first pitched ball, he stole second. Mills threw down to second and it was quite evident, that Vince was out. The official in charge, however, claimed that Vince did not get tag Vince with the ball. That ended the argument as far as he himself was concerned but the locals still think of the episode. That Twigg gave the Ponies a break as this play eventually meant the turning point in the game.

Tommy Pointer, although he was quite wild in the first innings, hurled one of his best games of the year. The crippled left hander whiffed 15 batters and let that great slugging aggregation down with but four small hits. This is twice this year, that the Nationals have been outlucked in Kingston. There is an old time saying, that "luck is a lady" and baseball a game on the Cricket Field and every day in every way this proverb seems to be more in evidence, as far as the locals are concerned.

Wednesday evening looked like Kingston's day as the Kingston Frontenacs also came to town and gave the Cisco girls a 7 to 6 licking. The locals batted well although staged a belated rally. As a matter of fact, the rally was about two innings too late to be of help to them. A girls' game in the local loop ys on the books for Friday night of this week.

The Moose Juniors passed out of the picture when they lost to the Wellington kids by the score of 8 to 7 at the Fair grounds on Wednesday afternoon. Bill Dickie hurled for the winners while Flanber was used on the hilltop for the Lodge kids.

Up at the Alcmite Field the B.A.A.A. kids ran amuck when they won from the Crystalaes by the score of 20 to 6. Ernie Smith, elongated right hander for the Associations kids was in rare form when he retired no less than 19 "Lac" hitters in the aithemetic route. Smith also had uncanny control on Wednesday evening as he threw 14 consecutive strikes during the sixth and seventh innings. Ernie also retired the side by striking out the side in no less than four innings of the nine played. All the B.A.A.A. batters were right on the job and cleaned the offerings of three Crystalske hurlers to almost every corner of the lot. By virtue of their wins Wellington and the league leading champions, B.A.A.A. meet in the play-offs of the Harding's County Junior League this year in the near future.

It was with pleasure that we heard of the appointment of Billie Wilson, son of Harold B. Wilson of Foster Ave, Billie played football with the Belleville Collegiate Juniors and basketball with the smart R.C.I. Junior and Bridge Street church teams He collapsed following the final basketball game when the local R.C.I. juniors won the Provincial sectional title in Toronto last spring. Billie has been laid up in his bed ever since but his plachimess, which was always shown in sport, was also exemplified during the sickness and the battle fought for his regain of health is slowly being won by the game little gladiator. We hope to see Billie around and able to take his place in the local sporting world soon.

MASON—EVERSON

A very pretty wedding took place at the United Church, Queensboro, yesterday when Flossie Viola, daughter of Rev. J. F. Everson, Queensboro, became the bride of Mr. Harold Adams Mason, Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mason of this city. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of evergreens, with Rev. J. F. Everson, assisted by Rev. G. W. Rivers, of Madoc, officiating.

As the bridal procession formed, the wedding march was played by Mrs. Gordon Delaney. The bride made a charming picture in her gown of white satin with ecru lace and long flowing train. Her veil was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bridal bouquet of French roses, carnations and maidenhair fern.

Miss Ruby Everson, Belleville, in a dainty gown of pink flowered organdie with hat to match, was bridesmaid. Her bouquet was of white and pink carnations with maiden hair fern.

Mr. James Moores, Belleville, acted as groomsman while Mr. Lorne Moores Belleville, and Mr. Luffey Everson, Lindsay, were ushers.

Mrs. Everson, mother of the bride was attired in blue crepe with hat to match while Mrs. Mason, mother of the groom also wore blue.

After the ceremony a reception took place at the parsonage, Queensboro, the bridal couple taking their places under a white arch to receive the guests. About sixty were present at the dinner served in the parsonage ground, following the reception. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Bert Mason, uncle of the groom and the toast to the King was proposed by Rev. G. W. Rivers, Madoc.

CARS COLLIDE NEAR STATION

Edwin Wardaugh Pinned Under Machine as it Topples Over

Serious injuries to life and limb were narrowly averted late Wednesday afternoon following a collision between a car containing a party of three Belleville men and another car on No. 2 highway just west of the Belleville city limits. One of the occupants of the Belleville coupe was said to have been thrown a distance of fifteen feet following the impact. The driver of the sedan is Mr. Joseph Dreyer was comparatively uninjured, as was another passenger, Mr. Edwin Wardaugh, Octavia street, who was pinned under the machine, which turned over on the side of the road. All occupants suffered severe shaking up with attendant bruises and minor hurts. The other machine has both right wheels and other parts of the running gear. Both machines were forced to a mass of wreckage. It is claimed by members of the Belleville party that the latter car had attempted to turn out of a nearby gasoline station along the road onto the highway without making a necessary stop, insufficient time was given the former car to make a stop and the impact followed. City and District News

GREEN APPLE THIEVES APPEAR

Green apple thieves are the latest menace to orchardists in this district. During the past week members of farmers and orchardists who have property bordering No. 2 Highway have complained of the number of trees which have been rulned by the depredations of those who make sudden forays into the property breaking branches indiscriminately in their efforts to obtain the still green fruit. Several trees in each orchard have been spoiled by broken limbs which are left hanging. Pieces as well as trees have been hard hit by the number who have clambered over them bending them out of shape and tearing them down. Adults are the chief offenders, according to local farmers who have observed them on their property.

NO DETOUR ON MADOC ROAD

Dozens of men driving husky teams hitched to scoops, assisted by other men with picks and shovels and snorting steam rolled dredging giant graders, are hard at work just north of Foxboro, engaged in preliminary work in the construction of the Madoc-Foxboro highway. Owing to the difficulty encountered with conditions in this particular location it is no belief that a detour will be made here although men, horses and mechanical equipment on the road at present impedes traffic considerably. The greatest amount of work is being encountered in moving heavy boulders, made necessary by road widening.

RELICS FOUND BY CONSTRUCTION CO.

While workmen for the Rayner Construction Co., were excavating for a new sidewalk adjacent to Mr. Robt. Wright's residence at Havelock, dug up at a depth of two feet or more, a holder for a miner's lamp or candle, in a good state of preservation and the conjecture is as to how it came, to be there.

All in all, it was a busy spot. The reasons were veal stew for three cents, potatoes for one cent, bread for two cents, doughnuts for one cent, rice pudding for two cents—a complete meal cleanly served for 12 cents.

WALL STREET HOLDS GAINS

New York, July 14—The security markets clung tenaciously to their gains today, but at the moment at least, met with but limited success in efforts to extend them. The stock list had to absorb profit-taking.

A little hangover liquidation appeared in spots, particularly American Can, which sagged a point in moderately active trading. Opening gains of a point or so in a number of the leaders were largely lost in a morning sag, but a firmer undertone appeared in the last half tile of the day, when net gains of fractions to a point appeared in such issues as General Motors, American Telephone, Steel, Woolworth, Dupont, Bendix, United Aircraft, Union Pacific, Penn, Pa. Pennsylvania, United Fruit, Lehman Corp., American, Sugar, Johns Manville Liggett and Myers, Coca Cola, Consolidated Gas, and others. Utilities were noticably firm and Public Gas rated a number of points.

Bond sales reported a fairly good reception for the $40,000,000 of new Publicutility bonds put upon the market.

News of a character to stimulate the list failed to appear and the morning quarters were inclined to regard the new peace move between France and Britain as constructive.

For the first time in two years the Cobourg Allstars were beaten by the score of 10 to 12 on their home diamonds in Cobourg when the Leaside Maple Leafs turned the trick on Wednesday afternoon. CONEY ISLAND IS VISITED BY SERIOUS FIRE

Nothing But Pile of Ashes But Band Plays on

MANY HOMELESS

Bathers Required to go Home in Bathing Attire

New York, July 14—The heart of Coney Island is a smoldering ruin pile today, but the bands play on.

Fire started in a cabaret under the board walk swept three square blocks of the resort late yesterday.

While a carousel sent its monotonous music racing down through clouds of smoke, the fire, reding many buildings, was quenched by a fresh breeze off the ocean. Scores of bungalows and houses; 6 bath houses and bathing pavilions; 300 pushcarts; and the Pergola; the "Streets of Bagdad" an amusement place; a small apartment building; five blocks of the board walk and one block of the boardwalk fronting on it.

This was the principal destruction. Scores more and several business places were damaged by fire.

At St. Joseph's orphan home on the board walk 200 children were hustled up in fire drill as the flames licked out in the direction. Fortunes brought the blaze under control before it could reach the orphanage.

Thousands Homeless

Many thousands were made homeless. At least 5,000 bathers among the 25,000 in the surf at the time, lost their clothes and personal possessions.

Two hundred persons were injured seriously enough to need first aid attention. Only two, however, were reported seriously hurt. Both were firemen.

Every piece of fire apparatus in Brooklyn and Queens, M.P., was on the way before the fire was under control. It was still smouldering today.

It was the biggest fire Coney Island ever had, and it was a great free show for the 150,000 men, women and children, who watched it.

Twenty-five thousand persons in bathing suits stood along the beach to the edge of which the fire came, and watched it. The most favored hottest the bathers were forced back almost to the water's edge.

No estimate of the personal losses suffered by bathers could be made. Many ran unquestly into the fire of the blaze. Adding to their loss was their predicament of being many miles from home, in the case of a bathing suit and no funds for transportation.

Subway and street car companies helped solve this dilemma by providing free transportation home to those in bathing suits.

MIXED FEELINGS REGARDING PLAN

Town of Iroquois May Have to be Moved Inland

Morrisburg, Ont., July 14—Twenty-three hundred residents of Morrisburg and district heard yesterday with mixed feelings the announcement that the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario and the St. Lawrence Waterways plan had finally been agreed upon.

Iroquois with a population of 900, faced the necessity of moving a mile inland, while half the 1,400 residents of Morrisburg are to be obliged to vacate the business and business establishments as present sites will be flooded in the huge $800,000,000 project.

The sentimental ties which have bound many residents to their present homes caused regret, but it was balanced by the material advantages in making of these towns prosperous cities for great development.

In Iroquois there was a pronounced feeling that it would be much better to have the entire town moved far inland than to continue the present plan of building dykes which would hold the St. Lawrence back from getting out the town.

Some idea of the stupendous nature of the undertaking is gleaned from the fact that at Iroquois five churches, a large high school, three mill and station, in addition to the many private houses and stores would have to be moved. The present provincial highway and Canadian National railway line would have to be relocated far inland.

H. G. Foster, power of Morrisburg stated that should a dam be built at Cryslar Island, miles east of Iroquois, it would mean that half the town would have to be moved. He believed that a dam at Crysler Island, which is west of Morrisburg, would leave the same downstream but would not entail the destruction or flooding of so much property.

Members of Tweed United Church Bid Pastor Farewell

Rev. E. B. Cooke and Family Honored by Congregation

Tweed—The Church Parlours of Tweed United Church were taxed to their capacity to accommodate those who assembled on Monday evening to say farewell to Rev. E. B. Cooke and his family. During the past four years they have won a place in the hearts of the entire congregation of the church which has seldom been equalled. The various organizations of the church waited on the occasion to do them honor and to enjoy a last social evening with them.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. W. J. Thompson, M.P., who asked Rev. Wm. Johnston to offer prayer. Mr. Thomson as chairman struck the right note when he requested the audience to forget for the moment the sadness attendant upon the separation, and to get all the enjoyment possible on this last meeting together. He asked Rev. and Mrs. Cooke and Miss Eileen to occupy the platform and called on Mr. S. H. Connor who read the following address:

Rev. E. B. Cooke, Mrs. Cooke and Dear Friends:

Four years ago the congregation of this church assembled in his pou welcome. We recall how we expressed the hope that your ministry among us would be one of great blessing to us all. As we review the events of the past we find ample evidence that such has been the case.

We would have been glad had circumstances permitted you to stay longer with us, but whatever we may have thought as we wish, we are here tonight to tell you what we think of you and to carry out the advice of the poet who says:

"If you have a friend worth loving, love him.

Yes, and let him know that you love him.

Why should good words ne'er be said

Of a friend till he is dead."

You have served in a manner in which all thought of self was forgotten. We have listened to the Gospel, not only from the pulpit faithfully and prayer fully by our beloved pastor and have been spiritually fed by his interpretation of God's word. The sick have been cared for in the body and for the soul. Men have been led to put their trust in the living God.

We cannot forget Mrs. Cooke, the leadership given by you in the service of song. Under your direction this part of our worship has always become a real blessing and a benediction to us all. The various organizations of our Church, the C.G.I.T., the Tonic and Young Ladies' Group, the Young Men's Class, have all received your very best thought. They will ever remain in the life which lies before them to the example which you have unconsciously given them in your own true and noble Christian lives.

We, who have been your neighbours cannot soon forget the favours which you have so freely and willingly bestowed. We are glad that you have been permitted to pass this way and we hope and pray that you may long enjoy God's blessings of good health and many genial friends wherever you may be.

To Eileen we would say that you have shown yourself to be a daughter entirely worthy of your noble parents, and you have endeared yourself to young and old alike.

We ask you to accept these gifts which will constantly call to your minds the friends whom you have made in Tweed.

Signed on behalf of the various organizations of Tweed United Church,

S. H. Connor,
Secy. Official Board.

Following the address Mrs. Ceo. Gordon and Mrs. L. Elliot; presented Mr. and Mrs. Cooke with a beautiful silver tea service and Miss Lois Richardson presented Miss Eileen Cooke with a wool blanket. In acknowledging the gifts Mr. Cooke spoke of the cooperative spirit which animated the various organizations in the different organizations ov-

At the Church which had been manifested during the past four years. Mrs. Cooke referred to the friendships which they had formed in Tweed and said that the memories which they would call to mind in their new home would be happy ones Miss Eileen Cooke responded briefly.

The programme consisted of brief addresses by representatives of the various organizations of the church, interspersed with musical numbers. Rev. Mr. Johnston referred to his friendship for Mr. Cooke which had extended over a perdg of 33 years. Mr. A. C. Barnett on behalf of the Official Board paid particular tribute to Mrs. Cooke who ably seconded the efforts of the minister. Miss Dorothy Sager sang two beautiful solos "Tress" and "A bowl of roses".

HON. PETER HEENAN IS BACK AT THROTTLE

Kenora, Ont., July 14—Employees at the Kenora Canadian Pacific Railway shops saw a familiar figure in an old rois yesterday, when Hon. Peter Heenan, M.P., who was Minister of Labor in the Liberal government of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, mounted the cab of No. 2 train to take charge as engineer from Kenora to Ignace.

Thirty years ago Peter Heenan first took the throttle here as an engineer and this was only interrupted when he entered the political arena, first in the Ontario Legislature and later in the Dominion Parliament when he joined the Cabinet as Minister of Labor.

Now he returns to harness after a long absence, and nobody, not even Mr. Heenan himself, appears excited about it. It is just all in the day's work.

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

COPYRIGHT

The taxi jerked to a stop. She was home. With an over-generous tip for the cab, she ran up the stairs to Nahlman's apartment, singing softly to herself....stopped for a moment at the door of Carmen sits too....

She wished that Madame Nahlman had come home,, or that she could have stayed to have supper with her..... She went into the kitchen to make chocolate, and find something to eat. How cold and barren European kitchens were.. back home everything was handy. You could skip into the ice box and.....

The baby....Lily Lou went cold all over. What kind of woman was she? To forget him. To come home, her head full of herself and her silly little triumph, and make herself chocolate.....

In her room, the room with the big bed, and the little one in it, the Boone sat doing in her chair, crocheted lace cap a little awry. The room was warm and silent, the night light burned very low.

The boone was speaking. "It is not measles, the doctor said. Just nothing. Heaven only knows why it should have looked like measles. The doctor thought, Madame, said it was very like. But there is nothing to distress one. It will be all sleeps, and it is time that you and I, Madame should sleep."

A torrent of tears flooded her heart. She ought to fling herself on her knees.....to thank God..... but she could not move, could not stop looking at him. Such a tiny thing to be so like.....Kri.....

She was back in a little country town in northern California. The first pale morning light was coming through the open windows of the crude hotel room. And he was sleeping, the light on his fair head.

She sank to her knees, tried to stifle the sobs that were having their way with her, in the down of the baby's coverlet.

The Boone woke up. She said in her French patois:

"But he is better, Madame. Did not tell you? You will frighten him, he pauvre petit—"

"Yes, yes—I see—"

And Lily Lou wept again.

He was quite young, very English. He spoke in a high, affected voice, twirled his fair, waxed moustache.

One night Lily Lou surprised Mr. Rodney Horton-Hale kissing one of the young maids. There was something furtive and unwholesome about it. It sickened her. And now that she had surprised him in that, he became bolder in his advances towards her.

Nahlman began to twit her about Rummerhall. "If you let men be better off," she said bluntly. "You're bad your lesson. For heaven's sake why you stay in?"

Lily Lou was hurt, and she could not help being angry. It certainly wasn't her fault that Nahlman's husband looked at her. She began to treat him with something like rudeness.

Two days later Madame Nahlman said:

"The bubchen annoys Rodney. The English are so averse to anything natural, that a baby in the house—"

"Oh!" Lily Lou said, "Oh!"

"So since I have that big class coming up, and won't have any real time to coach you anyway, it seems to me that you might as well go back to New York. There isn't a thing for you as the opera house this summer. Nothing but Rummerhall. You can go back anyway. So you go on back to New York, and later, when you're a little better prepared, I'll plan something worth while. You know you can trust me for that, Lily?"

"Oh—of course!"

But she never felt that Nahlman had struck her.

She let them plan Watched She. Watched them smile. Realized that she was adrift again.

And her own will went racing ahead, back across the sea, to New York, to face the people she had known, with that bubchen in her arms. She'd probably have to board him somewhere, she'd never be able to earn enough to hire a nurse. It had been so heaven in her comfortable rooms, the devoted boone, everyone's natural acceptance of her as Madame Lalstair....

She thought of Gwin. What would he think of her now? Of her small triumph in Carmen, and two critics writing that her voice gave promise of being the musical find of the year....And now the year was over.

Madame Nahlman came to the room to bid her goodbye. Kissed her on both cheeks. Wept.

"I have left all the arranging to Rodney," she said. "He is so much cleverer at business affairs than I."

Rodney, it appeared, was not only clever, but economical. There was no first-class cabin, for this crossing. A small cabin ship, with Lily Lou's stateroom far below.

It was July, and one of the hottest days in the year. Lily Lou developed engine trouble the last minute and lay at her berth over night. Most of the passengers had been apprised of the delay in advance and did not board the steamer until late at night, but Lily Lou did not know. She arrived on scheduled time, spent miserable, stifle hours in her tiny cabin below decks. The porthole was open, but no breeze stirred.

The bubchen protested, wailed at the top of his excellent lungs. When morning came, and the ship was underway with a chill wind blowing from the channel, Lily Lou was worn out, and so was the bubchen.

She had not realized how hard it would be. The boone had taken full care of him. Now he was alone. She was nervous and awkward. "Such a good baby" everyone had always said. It must have been something in the boone's management, or perhaps it was the food..

But she clung to his arm. They walked the deck, then found a sheltered corner, and Lily spread blankets and rolled her up snugly.

Tell me every single thing that has happened since I left New York!"

He did not have very much news. He had just spent six weeks abroad. Oh, doing nothing particular. Just travelling around, but he had heard that she sang in Paris—

"Yes. The other girl had to break a leg, or an ankle, rather, so that I could get the chance.

"I hear you were a lovely Micaela. In perfect voice."

"Tony, you DIDN'T hear that? Who told you?"

"A man I know. A producer, who may do something for me.'

"You're going to have your chance! To-day!"

She couldn't take the bubchen to the dining room, and she couldn't leave without him. She got one meal the first day, and one tray from the friendly steward, and that night, after the bubchen was safely asleep she buttoned herself into her heavy coat, and went up to walk the deck.

Something about the limping gait of a small man who paced the deck slowly, ahead of her, arrested her attention. She followed, watching, afraid to believe her eyes. If it only were....but it couldn't be! And yet it was! It was!

"Tony!" she cried. "Tony Schlaifstill! Whatever are you doing here! Oh, I'm so glad—so awfully glad to see you!"

"Yes. Oh Tony—I'm so GLAD!"

She kissed him heartily. She was so glad to see him. But he flushed awkwardly, and seemed embarrassed, so that she wished she hadn't. She thought, "I've been with Nils Nahlman so long I'm beginning to act like him!"

The steward, who told her at once that he was a father himself, prepared the bottles. He would not hear of Lily Lou doing it herself. He arrived at all hours of the day and night, deferential and tireless, simultaneously, backing out, if his entrance seemed inopportune, with a murmured "Pardo, Madame—"

CARDINAL BLESSES SCENE SUB WRECK

Cherbourg, France, July 13 — (CP)—Cardinal Verdier of Paris blessed the scene of Cherbourg Harbor where the French submarine Promethee sank a few days ago with three score souls on board before he left for Canada today aboard the liner Empress of Britain.

French naval vessels are still standing by but weather conditions have been very poor, preventing any promising effort at raising the submarine.

JULY 14 HR. AND MRS. - WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG, VI.

THE SON OF TARZAN, No. 74

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Night came before Baynes regained consciousness and realized that he was floating down a great African river—alone, wounded and lost! By using his open palm as a paddle, he painfully managed to move the native canoe nearer to shore. Almost opposite him he could hear the roaring of a lion. An overhanging tree branch brushed his face. Eagerly he grasped it testing its strength. He would seek safety in the trees!

He drew himself slowly upward until his feet swung clear of the canoe, which, released floated silently from beneath him and lost itself in the dark shadow downstream. He had burned his bridges behind him! Again the lion roared. Baynes wondered if it had been following him. He must climb or drop back into the river. He struggled to raise one leg over the limb, but, weak from hours of fever and his wounds he found his strength ebbing.

He was ready to drop from exhaustion when a new fear tightened his muscles. He saw two spots of flame a short distance from and above him. The lion was standing on the river bank glaring at big—waiting! The young Englishman's feet hung almost to the water's surface. He heard a slight commotion in the river beneath him, followed by a sound that rose his blood. It was the click of a crocodile's great jaws snapping together.

He struggled futilely to safety. Even as he did so he felt himself slipping—into the river and those frightful jaws. Then he heard the leaves above him rustle to the movement of some creeping creature. The branch he hung upon bent from an added weight. Still Baynes clung desperately. He felt a soft warm pad upon the fingers of one hand and then a hand crashed down and dragged him up among the branches of the tree.

HUNGERFORD TOWNSHIP

TWEED FIGHT FANS WITNESS BOUTS

Tweed, July 13—By Mai—Tweed had its first opportunity to witness a wrestling match on Saturday night at the arena. The show was staged by Mike Allore a Tweed boy now residing in Toronto, who brought down some good boys from Toronto. The card though small was treated to some good wrestling and fourteen shows should draw well. The preliminary bout was draw between Johnnie Morrow 145 lbs. and Pete Larson 145 lbs. each gaining a fall and being unable to reach a decision within the time limit for the third round. In the semi-final Frank Thomas 145, won from Jack Moore 135, gaining the third and deciding fall after 22 minutes. The main bout found Pete Larson pitted against K. McCarthy whom he defeated in straight falls.

The preliminary bouts were referred by Speed Ruttan of Toronto and the main bout by Earl Eatams of Tweed.

Tweed L.O.L. No. 747 attended divine service at Tweed United Church on Sunday morning. Rev. E. B. Cooke delivered the sermon, selecting as his text Joshua 4:6 "That this may be a sign among you, when your children ask their fathers in time to come, saying, What mean ye by these stones." Memorials play an important part in the lives of people and nations. The memorial here referred to was erected by the people of Israel in thanksgiving to God for his great deliverance. The Loyal Orange Order in itself a memorial which came into being after a crisis not las ago following a great struggle and deliverance. The progress of the order since its inception is due to the firm principles on which it is established. Faith in the Bible, charity and goodwill to all, and leadership in all that is important are the cornerstones on which it is founded.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Connor and Miss May Connor were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Connor.

Mr. F. D. Calvert, accountant at the Royal Bank is relieving at Whitewood for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Maunder of Guelph are visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. Parrish for a few days.

Mr. G. H. Garrett accompanied Mr. W. J. Irvin to Peterboro on Thursday.

Mr. Leo Quinn of Kingston, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Quinn.

Messrs. W. Jones and H. Way of Shining News Argus staff were in town for the week end.

Mr. Dawson Boyd of Kaladar spent Sunday with his mother.

For some time Mrs. R. B. Cooke has been teacher of the Young Men's Class of the United Church Sunday school. On Sunday following the last session of class she teacher together a hymnary was presented to Mrs. Cook by William McGee on behalf of the class in recognition of the interest she has manifested in their welfare and as an expression of their regard and the severance of their pleasant relationship.

Dear Mrs. Cooke—

This Sabbath morning brings to a close our direct connection with you as our Sunday school teacher. As you are about to leave us to take up your work elsewhere, we the members of this Young Men's class wish to express to you our gratitude and appreciation for your splendid work among us.

We believe that your interest and enthusiasm in the Master's service is excelled by no other and we regret keenly our having to part with you.

We would like you to convey to Mr. Cooke our thanks for his help to the class at different times. We will always follow your lives with interest. We ask you to accept this gift as a remembrance in the years to come of our class.

Signed on behalf of the Young Men's Class, Mr. McCutcheon, President.

At Sunday School on Sunday morning also Eileen Cooke was presented with a week end bag by the girls of Mrs. Barnett's class which she was a member.

The following address accompanied the presentation:

Dear Eileen—

We have heard with regret that you are about to leave us. During your stay here, we have learned to consider you one of the faithful and willing members of our class.

We will miss you in our discussions but feel sure that you will make friends for yourself wherever you go.

In order to show in a small measure the esteem in which you are held by the members of our class we ask you to accept this small gift.

It is the sincere wish of the class that you will meet with success wherever you go.

REV. E. B. COOKE GIVES FAREWELL SERMON IN TWEED

Tweed United Church was comfortably filled on Sunday evening last when Rev. E. B. Cooke preached his farewell sermon before leaving the community where he has laboured during the past four years to enter upon his new duties in Cobourg.

The music for the evening service maintained the same high level of the morning. The choir sang "Sun of My Soul" by Edmund Turner, assisted by Mrs. Parker and Miss Dorothy Sager of the choir of George Street United Church, Peterboro. Dr. A. C. Locke contributed a violin solo "Cavatina" by Raff. Miss Dorothy Sager's fine voice was heard in "The Day is Ended" by J. C. Bartlett which seldom obliges by Dr. Locke. The ladies' quartette consisting of Mesdames Cake, Cooke, Connor and Grier sang "Heaven is my home", unaccompanied.

Mr. Cooke chose a portion of verse twenty-one of the twenty-second chapter of "Job". Acquaint now thyself with him and be at peace" on which to base his thoughts.

As a people we must learn to acquaint ourselves with God and learn to have peace in our lives. The richness of one's life lies in its acquaintances, but of surpassing worth is acquaintance with God. With some of us our knowledge of God is but superficial as it often is of persons. We may know God only through the benefits which we receive at his hand, or we may have a warm friendship with Him and live with us so that we may creep out of the darkness of this life into the warmth of His friendship.

Certain obligations are placed upon us through this acquaintanceship with God. We must show a courtesy to Him. As in this life we keep our friendships by the little courtesies which we show towards our friends from time to time, so in his with God. We must "take time to be holy." As we trust our earthly friends and are loyal to them, so we must be loyal to God though we may not understand his ways. For God we always have a friend. In all the struggles incident to human life there is the assurance that God is concerned in our well being and that he provides for us. In our failures we need one who will come to our aid. We do not know what the future holds for us, if we know God, we need not fear the future.

Mr. Cooke expressed his appreciation of the kindly associations which he had enjoyed with the friends from other churches and of their presence at the service. He paid a beautiful tribute to Rev. Wm. Johnston and the debt he felt indebted to him at all times. In conclusion Mr. Cooke said the soul holds sway over three realms in life: the past, the present and the future. The empire of hope rules over the future; the sceptre of reason, over the present; the empire of memory, over the past. The memories of these four years will always be a source of encouragement and pleasure in the days that are ahead.

GARDEN OF EDEN FOR LEAF-CLAD DOUKS

Victoria, July 13—Nature has been kind to the Doukhobors who are to be interned on Pier Island, and to their dislike for modern ideas of dress a fig tree has been discovered blooming amid the forest cover of the island.

According to officials supervising the construction of compound huts, the sons of Freedom may, if they desire to abandon modern dress, supply themselves with similar garments to those favored by Adam and Eve.

Just where the fig tree came from, or who planted it, is a mystery to officials, but they claim it is large enough to supply a generous quantity of leaves for the clothing of the new residents.

WHY BOTHER WITH A SECOND-CHOICE TIRE WHEN GOODYEARS COST NO MORE?

Shock and strain of modern braking defied by body-balanced tires

When you jam your foot on the brake pedal of your modern car there is no question about what should happen. Your car should stop—instantly.

The oftener you use your brake, the greater is the shock to your tires. Unbalanced tires will not stand these constant strains. There may be separation of carcass from tread—friction—heat—perhaps a blowout—ruin.

In Goodyear Tires, the carcass and tread are one complete, harmonious unit. Layer by layer the tough elastic-like Supertwist cords, protected by Goodyear-processed rubber, are built up by hand and moulded into a frictionless whole. Every atom of material in a Goodyear tire takes its share of driving burden and hazard. There can be no chafing—no separation—no undue stress anywhere. The shocks and strains of modern braking are defied.

Of course, you want to enjoy the ease of mind, the safety, the extra mileage and the economy offered by these balanced tires—made by Goodyear—the greatest name in rubber. Get ready for a season of rare driving enjoyment. See your dealer now.

St. Lawrence Waterway For Many Years a Dream Now to Become Reality

Construction of Gigantic Development is Assured

800 MILLIONS

Dominion's Share Lessened by Expenditure on Welland Canal

Ottawa, July 14—In complete agreement on every point of negotiation, Canada and the United States Wednesday stood ready to sign a treaty for the construction of the long promised St. Lawrence waterway.

Sharply at 2.45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Premier Bennett summoned Ottawa news correspondents to his office in the east block and announced, through a secretary, that a draft treaty had been concluded and that the two governments would sign the formal pact at an early date.

Of the highest national importance, constituting what will may be a landmark in the development of Canada, the official statement announcing the successful termination of negotiations was a model of brevity. In less than 80 words it gave Canadians news for which they have waited under successive Governments since before the war.

"After a long period of intensive negotiations," said the statement, "an outline of a treaty was concluded the middle of June. The final terms were settled yesterday. A formal treaty is now being prepared and will be ready for signature at an early date, at which time a full statement by the governments concerned will be issued."

The definite announcement was taken here to imply that the Dominion and Ontario Governments are in agreement regarding the power development of the seaway. It has been held in authoritative circles that no international pact could be signed until Premier Bennett and Henry Governments were in accord regarding Ontario's contribution to the cost of the work and the provincial share of the water-power. This harmony is now apparently reached.

To Get 1,000,000 Horse-power

Ontario's contribution to the project, it is understood, will be in the neighborhood of $70,000,000. For this expenditure, the province will receive between 900,000 and 1,000,000 horsepower of electric energy. This power will be cheap. Experts figure that it can be produced for $18 per horsepower at the development and delivered in Toronto for $18 a horse power.

The amount of Canada's total contribution to the cost of the development could not be ascertained last night. The Premier's office was silent, except for the brief announcement, while other officials familiar with the negotiations declined to amplify the statement. The total cost of the project will run into several hundred million dollars, but Canada, comparatively speaking, will come off lightly.

This is because of Canada's previous expenditures on the Welland Canal, the St. Lawrence with its canal deepening and other Great Lakes waterway projects. All these figures are put into the present agreement international development being regarded for the purpose of negotiation as merely a link in the whole seaway scheme. Moreover, as it is understood, divides the cost of the present development equally between the two countries, but Canada's share is lessened by the subtraction of the amounts spent on the Welland Canal and the other projects.

The Federal Government also benefits by Ontario's power contribution. It is computed that the cost of the works common to both power and navigation will not exceed $110,000,000. If Ontario puts up $70,000,000 this will leave not more than $40,000,000 which the Federal government itself must pay. Canada, however, the same people pay taxes to both governments, this difference after all, is a minor matter as far as Ontario residents are concerned.

From the economic standpoint, it is doubtful if any more opportune time could have been chosen for the construction of this vast project.

QUEBEC GOV'T IGNORED IN ST. LAWRENCE PLAN

Quebec, July 14 — The Quebec government has been completely ignored in the St. Lawrence Waterway negotiations, Premier L. A. Taschereau declared yesterday on hearing that terms of the treaty between the United States and Canada had been settled.

"We have been completely ignored by the Ottawa government," the Premier said. "Since the last election no correspondence has been exchanged between Ottawa and Quebec, and it would appear that the St. Lawrence matter concerns only Ottawa, the Province of Ontario and the Washington government."

GRAFT CHARGE AT TEMPLE

Los Angeles, July 14 — Revelations of alleged petty graft and charity racketeering by members of Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson on Hutton's Angelus Temple congregation prompted an investigation by the City Social Service Commission yesterday.

HIGHLIGHTS

Cost—Between $750,000,000 and $800,000,000.

Division—Equal apportionment, with Canada being credited with $130,000,000 for existing deep canals and other navigational works.

Hydro-power—Five million h.p. will eventually be made available. In the International section, 2,000,000; and in the Quebec section, 3,000,000. (The latter includes the Beauharnois development).

Power distribution—The international section development of 2,000,000 h.p. will be divided equally between Canada and the United States. Ontario will take all of Canada's share.

Navigation—The channel will be 27 feet deep.

Time—From the beginning of operations until the first power is delivered—three years. For completion of the entire deep waterway—seven years.

EIGHT STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Escape Death as Bolt Makes its Way Through Elm

Toronto, July 14.—Eight persons suffered either shock or injuries yesterday afternoon when a bolt of lightning struck a great elm tree on the bank of the Humber River, near the Lambton Bridge, under which they had sought shelter during the storm. One of them, particularly, had a seemingly miraculous escape from death.

Those who suffered injuries and were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital were: Ian McSwain, aged 17, of 20884 Dundas street west, shock and abdominal pains; Vincy MMand, 4, of 3 Boler street, temporary paralysis; Jean Vella, 6, of 2345 Dundas street west, shocked; and Carella Micallelf, 4, of 2340 Dundas street west, shock and numbness of feet.

Dolores Micallelf, 9, of 2343 Dundas street west, who was unconscious and unable to walk immediately after the accident, was picked up by Robert Rhing, 34 Boxwalls Ave., and driven to the office of Dr. Hugh Norman, 25 St. John's Road, where she was given medical treatment, and later taken home. McSwain remained in the hospital overnight, while the children returned to their homes last evening.

Three other little girls, Annie, Audry and Mary Vella, sisters of Jean Vella, of 2345 Dundas street west, were thrown to the ground when the tree was struck by lightning, but received no injuries. Mrs. M. Vella, her son, Joey, and Oonella Micallelf, who were also members of the picnic party taking refuge under the tree, were also unhurt.

The accident occurred about four o'clock. Witnesses observed a blinding flash and a cloud of blue smoke, which seemed to shoot off from the tree under which the group of people stood. A tremendous crash accompanied the flash. One observer described the flash as "a huge ball of fire just rolled down the tree." To the horror of witnesses occupying cars in the vicinity they saw all of the members of the party fall to the ground immediately after the flash.

DOIG WILL DO FIFTEEN DAYS

Driver of Car Which Strikes Bridge Near Madoc

Frank Doig of Peterboro, appeared in the County Police Court at Madoc Wednesday morning, and pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving Doig while driving between Madoc and Bridgewater on Highway No. 7, some six miles east of Madoc, ran into a bridge late Tuesday night, damaging his car almost beyond repair and injuring his lady companion to some extent. Doig admitted in court not having a drivers permit and it was also proven that he was driving in a manner dangerous to the public. Prior to striking the bridge, Doig had rounded a corner and was driving on a slight downward grade when he hit the bridge.

After pleading guilty Police Police Magistrate Casement sentenced Doig to serve fifteen days in County Goal on a charge of reckless driving. Provincial Special Constable Hill of Madoc laid the charge and lodged Doig in the county jail Wednesday afternoon.

PRISONER AN INCORRIGIBLE

So Witness at Inquest in Death at Sudbury Declares

Sudbury, July 14—That Frank Smith, alias Rosen, 38, of Toronto, died at Surwash Industrial Farm of bronchial pneumonia, and that he was an incorrigible type of prisoner was the evidence given at the inquest before Coroner J. S. McKessock of Sudbury, at the farm Monday night. A verdict of death by natural causes was returned.

Smith had been given three strokes of the strap and was put in the dark hole when he refused to work, it was testified. He was sentenced in June from four to ten months for false pretences.

Claimed Paralysis

On June 10th he claimed he was stricken with paralysis, saying that he could not use his legs, but later, it was testified he was seen walking to his bed after getting a smoke against orders.

After serving his time in solitary confinement, he still refused to work. On July 2nd he complained of a pain in his chest and an X-ray examination was made by Dr. Donald Gunn, the Farm physician. It showed signs of fluid in his lungs and the prisoner was placed in hospital on July 4.

PROVIDES 27 FOOT CHANNEL AND 2 DAMS

Sites of Dams Near Ogden and Barnhart Considered

CREDIT FOR WORK

All Arrangements as to Settlement of Cost is Made

Washington, July 14—(AP) — It was definitely established Wednesday that the agreement reached between Canada and the United States to build the $800,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway provides for construction of a 27-foot channel throughout and stipulates that there shall be two dams. The seaway stretch of the river has a total drop of 225 feet.

The dams would be located near Ogden and Barnhart, but the sites have not been fixed finally. Between the two a total of more than 2,000,000 horsepower is expected to be developed and divided equally between the U.S. and Ontario, which will share the costs of the project with their respective nations.

The treaty will not name a definite figure for the total cost of the project, Canada is to have a credit of $120,000,000 for money expended in rebuilding the new Welland Canal, which is open to Americans on the same terms as Canadians.

Both Canada and the United States are to have credits for improvements which they have made in various parts of the waterway. After all credits are made the cost of the total payment is to be divided equally between the two countries.

SIDNEY TOWNSHIP

STAPLEY—TUFTS RE-UNION

The Seventh Annual Stapley-Tufts reunion was held in the usual form of a picnic on Wednesday, July 6, at Oak Lake, Stirling, and registering. The day was ideal for such an occasion but due no doubt to the previous continuous wet weather some felt it necessary to stay with the hay, berries and so on and as a result there were over forty less in attendance than last year. The loads began to arrive at 11 a. m. and continued till the middle of the afternoon. Those who didn't arrive in time for dinner stayed for supper, while some who had dined and supped again and one would almost wonder how, when the viands that disappeared at noon hour be considered. There were people present from Stirling, Toronto, Belleville, Tweed, Campbellford, Conway, Thomasburg, Madoc, Desoronto, Fairport, N.Y., Foxboro, Trenton, Midland, Campbellford and other points. Preceding the dinner a short missionary service was held by Mrs. P. Hall.

After dinner the gathering was called to order by the president, Mrs. (nee Leah Nixon) of Milwaukee, a daughter, Joan Nixon. On behalf of Mr. and Mrs. John Lyons (nee Vera Cook), a son, Everett John; one death; that of the year old daughter, Mary Lillian, of Mr. and Mrs. George Palmateer of Sidney, on February 7th; one marriage, that of Jack Nixon and Gertrude Dewey, both of Toronto. E. C. Tufts, of Madoc, was then called on for a few words, also the Honorary President, James Stapley, of Stirling, the oldest man present, 78. Mrs. Bessie Staples, of Deseronto, the oldest lady present 82, who seem to enjoyed the gathering more than any one else, spoke a few words testifying to the event, their cause, and joy found in the service of the Master and enjoining all to "Be on the watch." The secretary's report given by Mrs. Howard Clark, of Campbellford, was adopted and recognized by a hearty clap. According to the idea of last year, that the secretary and president be changed every two years and revert from Tufts to Stapley and vice-versa, this was the year for the change of secretary. So, as there was satisfactory and Mrs. Clark's mother being a Stapley and her father a Tufts, she was nominated and re-elected for the office for the coming year. A collection was taken after which the program of sports run off was as follows:

Youngest Baby Present— Everett John Lyons. Plate and cup and Largest Family Present—Mr. Geo. Palmateer (12). 2 dozen bars soap.

Girls' Race, up to 8 years—Lily Clark. Vanity case.

Ladies' Sewing Race—John Stapley. Silk hose.

Men's Sewing on Button, were all done so well and speedily that the judges could not decide, so it was unanimously agreed that the award, a silk tie, go to the oldest man participating, Jas. Stapley, 78.

After the races, ball was played, many enjoyed themselves in the water and other conversing and seeing. The gathering broke up, though reluctantly, about 5 o'clock.

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS

Present and Prospective

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Capitol

TREMENDOUS DUAL BILL FOR THE WEEK END

Pepped up to the cadence of rip-ping Gershwin rhythms, a galaxy of brilliance of comedy, opening Friday at the Capitol Theatre is that all-star comedy "Girl Crazy".

The film which marks the rebirth of film comedies made under the new ideal sound reproducing conditions, presents one of the finest all-star comedy casts of the season in a screen rendition of the famous Broadway extravaganza of the same name.

Heading the imposing array of talent are the inimitable Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, who start the film as city slickers and wind up as rough and ready westerners. Eddie Quillan carries the romantic lead of a girl crazy junior who transforms a respectable cattle ranch into a whoopee dude resort. Mitzi Green, Hollywood's child prodigy wonder, plays a pestiferous little sister and the romance and heavy love business is handled by Dorothy Lee brigade is headed by Dorothy Lee, Arline Judge, Kitty Kelly and Lita Chevret. Jimmy Fields and Chirpy Phil Martin play the short and rum villains.

Belles of West

Besides this uproarious comedy satire of this modern dude-ranch West, and the gay buffoonery of the best the picture is the music by the Gershwin brothers, George and Ira, who add to the entertainment of the film with such song hits as "I Got Rhythm" "Sam and Delilah".

While music is a prominent factor in this elaborate production, it serves as atmospheric backing in the telling of the amusing story of a dude ranch run by city men for tired business barons and their blonde playmates.

The film tells the story of a playboy, Eddie Quillan, who is sent to supposed hardship on a ranch because he is girl crazy. However, he chases the cows and bulls off the place and turns it into a resort for pretty girls and invites his friends.

Bert and Bob as Bert Wheeler and Woolsey makes the most of this rich field for comedy and soon turn this dude ranch into the best point in the west for the funniest comedy situations of their careers.

The story is farce throughout, with an abundance of novel comedy episodes which rise to extreme heights when the inimitable Wheeler and Woolsey, dressed as accountles, fling amorous gauntlets into the faces of frosted bad men.

Director William Seiter has wedded the two separate arts of music and comedy into a pleasing whole, beautifully mounted with striking sets and peopled with some of the prettiest girls seen in pictures.

SWEET KITTY BELLAIRS

"Sweet Kitty Bellairs," the Warner Brothers talking and singing romantic comedy in Technicolor which comes to the Capitol Friday, is an adaptation of the David Belasco stage play which was inspired by the novel by Egerton Castle.

Beautiful Claudia Dell enacts the title role, while the all-star cast includes Jirresi Torrence, Walter Pidgeon, Perry Askam, June Collyer and many others.

"Sweet Kitty Bellairs" depicts the sensational adventure of the most intriguing of all coquettes in the gay town of Bath and in London.

Alfred E. Green who directed "Disraeli" and "The Man from Blankley's" directed the picture. J. Walton Alexander did the screen adaptation. The tuneful melodies of the piece were written by Walter O'Keefe and Reggy Dolan.

Coupons for the free Radio soon to be given away at the theatre will be distributed to adult patrons on Friday and Saturday.

At The Belle

REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM" HAS CHARM . . . AND APPEAL

The amazing adventures and glorious romance of "Rebecca Of Sunnybrook Farm," as vivified in the Fox production featuring Marian Nixon and Ralph Bellamy, will be brought to the screen at the Belle today and Friday, Matinee daily.

The picture of dainty appeal, sparkling Miss Nixon and tall, handsome Bellamy to enact the leading roles in this delightful screen picture came, it is said, as a result of the splendid work in recent successes.

Miss Nixon, it will be recalled, scored individually opposite Charles Farrell in "Arizona" Tomorrow" then repeated her success in her brilliant performance with Warner Baxter in "Amazing Lady." Bellamy, who until now has had the up-hill struggle of establishing himself in unsympathetic, or "heavy" roles was given the comfortable part of Dr. Adam Ladd because of the capable manner in which he portrayed the German officer in "Surrender"; his important character study of the Juvenile Lead in "Disraeli" and his depiction of the "heavy" and his depiction of the "heavy" and his depiction of the incorruptible police captain in "Doctor's Diagnosis."

Settings Are Lavish

Lavishness of production in both locale and settings is promised in the Fox production of Kate Douglas Wiggin and Charlotte Thompson's famous story. It was filmed on a specially reconstructed Sunnybrook Farm, Canada locale, Canada, with the reproduction of a New England hamlet in which the romance occurs.

Briefly, the film story recounts the main adventures of Rebecca, as materialized in Miss Nixon, returning around her intense desire to win the regard of Dr. Adam Ladd, her guardian, and in obtaining a wedding ring for the unwed mother-to-be, Emma Jane Perry, for whom Dr. Adam Ladd, Miss Nixon's leading man, and Claire Windsor Hale, as Aunt Miranda, portray the aged spinster aunts of Rebecca.

Lovable, sweet "Daddy" Alfred Santell, whose last success's triumphs, directed "Rebecca" for the screen from a scenario written by S. N. Behrman and Sonya Levien, considering the highlights of the famous drama to be the scenes of Virginia Charlotte Thompson. Alan Hale, Sarah Padden, Alphons Ethier, Enia Clive, Charlotte Henry, Claire McDowell and many others constitute an important supporting cast. Edgar Kennedy in "Mother Is Lost", Buddy Valee in "Kitty from Kansas City," and the Bells Boom News, with the latest news events garnered from every where, precede the exhibition of the feature offering.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Thousands who have itching, bleeding or protruding piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine, neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower rectum causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel weakened—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study, found the real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it in his 1000 patients with success in over 900 cases. He then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription at his money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when HEM-ROID, the internal Pile remedy of money refunded if they do not end your Pile misery.

INFORMAL PARLEYS HELD ON CONFERENCE SHIP

Belleville Likely to Benefit By St. Lawrence Development

CANADA LEADS ENTIRE FIELD IN 2ND STAGE

Two Score 146 Out of Possible 150 and Will Shoot Off

BURKE OUT

Nine Qualify For Last Stage of King's Prize

Bisley Camp, England, July 15 (C.P. Cable)—Two Canadians, Capt. J. W. Stoddart of Sherbrooke and Sgt. Alec Parnell of Verdun, Que., led the entire field in the second stage of the classic King's Prize this afternoon and a shoot off between them for the silver medal.

Houlden and Parnell had totals of 146 out of a possible 150, led the 300 eligibles fired in the second stage.

Among the 100 qualifying for the final of the Empire Service Rifle Shooting classic tomorrow are nine Canadians, with scores of 140 or better, when Q.S.M. H. Kisik of Ottawa, with 139 shoots off with 41 others for tenth place and last.

Lieut. Desmond Burke, winner of the Kings Prize in 1896, and winner of this year's grand aggregate, was eliminated from the contest with the blue riband by shooting 137 today. The only woman ever to win the Kings Prize, Marjorie Foster (gold medallist of 1911) was also eliminated with 139.

Capt. Houlden, Sherbrooke 146
Sgt. Parnell, Verdun 146
Sgt. Gosse, Innisfail, Alta. 143
Sgt. H. F. Parker, St. John 142
A. R. Evans, Shaughnessy 142
Lt. H. A. Molecey, Winnipeg 141
Lt. Noble 141
Sgt. F. V. Shepherd, Ottawa 140
Lt. R. A. Sweet, Hamilton 140

Those eliminated are, besides Burke, Captain Kerr, of Toronto, with 139; Lieutenant Hall, of Montreal, 138; Lt. Maichett, Hamilton, 138; Lt. A. G. Rogers, Regina, Commandant, 136; and Lt. J. T. Downey, of St. John, 125.

Canada has no King's Prize winner in tomorrow's final but there are four English gold medallists remaining in the shoot: Sgt. Arthur Fulton, only man to win the King's Prize three times (1912, 1928, 1931), with 141; H. G. Burr, 1909, with 143; A. G. Hale (1928) with 141, and Sapper A. Smith (1930) with 140. One woman qualified, Miss A. Badcock with 140.

JOHN BRACKEN IS RE-ELECTED

Carries The Pas Over Labor Candidate by Big Majority

Winnipeg, July 15 (CP) —Continuing its record of consistency, which carried its Liberal-Progressive government to a sweeping victory at the Manitoba general elections, on June 14, Premier John Bracken today stood re-elected in his own constituency, The Pas.

His new provincial colleague, Hon. Mac Pherson, had, the beginnings of a comfortable lead as early returns from the voting in Rupert's Land came pouring in.

In The Pas and Rupert's Land, two vast sparsely populated constituencies, they comprise the entire northern hinterland of Manitoba, the decision was deferred until yesterday.

Both the Premier and Mr. McPherson had three-cornered fights. Mr. Bracken's chief opposition came from the Labor candidates, N. S. McDonald, who, in the sixteen polls so far reported, had 1,858 votes to 1,858 for the Premier. H. F. Muldoon, Independent Conservative, was a poor third with 168 votes. The new sergeant of Churchill had only 73 votes for the Labor man to 61 for the Premier.

100,000 MILES IN 1913 AUTO CHARIOT

Woodstock, July 15—Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman of Tavistock have just returned home from their vacation the took the form of an extended motor trip to Cleveland, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Buffalo, Ind. They had a real good trip but the most unique thing when one learns that they made it in a 1913 model touring car, which rolled up its 100,000th mile during the jaunt.

Belleville Sees Vast Expansion of Trade Likely as Result of River Deep Waterway Development

Opinions Gleaned About City Shows Optimistic View is Held

WHERE TRADE GAINS

Dredging Necessary in Bay For Ocean Vessels

Belleville to Liverpool and Southampton!

Hall-encircled argosies of golden commerce, fresh from the rolling oceans of Atlantic swells!

Not a visionary's dream! Not a peak into what might happen in the dim future now, but a clear-cut picture of what will happen when the Waterway Scheme becomes a reality! Such a vision gained from men who are familiar with the waterway to the ocean as a possible benefit to Belleville.

What will all this mean to Belleville? The reporter sought opinions from leading men in the city of Belleville. He pried over many cups and cakes of local waters, and he recorded some opinions.

"There is no conceivable reason why Belleville should not benefit under this scheme as well as any other," hailed up through. It will mean a great deal to this whole district," said Mayor Marjorie Foster (gold medallist of 1911) was also eliminated with 139.

"From this district even now, with the competition we have in the Northern States, there is a good trade. Belleville ships in the neighborhood of two-hundred hundred cheese a week. That is approximately one hundred and fifteen tons of that single commodity. Butter also amounts to staggering figures when the total liability of amount shipped is taken. Owing to circumstances, however, conveyance is a neglected export. That will be remedied by transport which will be available when "boats come through with Ocean vessels. Products from this district will easily make up most of a cargo, which will be completed by calls to other nearby ports."

Dredging Probable

Practicality of the undertaking: "The angle of the harbor will be examined with a scarcer. "There is nothing to hinder this harbor being dredged out enough to allow the largest ocean freighters to call at this port," declared Mr. Scarcer. "Trade is deepened the boats can't go up the bay, but that is a minor detail. The cost would be negligible."

Not one of the men questioned their district would enjoy would be the fact that with such speedy and unbroken communication, the rich harvests of dairy products particularly, the closer contact with and co-ordination between British buyer and American producer would react favorably to the whole Province and Dominion. "Cheese would be graded at Belleville and shipped directly to the Old Country. It would arrive fresh and sound. Consequently, the no such lamentable hitches as has sometimes occurred in the past when which this country suffered." ..... Many other opinions of the result were quick to answer this one. Along the docks in the city there is no such thought as that of any delay ever. They are talking of things larger lately.

"We could save our customers plenty on coal alone," declared an English coal deliverer. Unbroken transport of coal with no necessity to handle and rehandle is means savings. Savings in that way mean savings to the family pocketbook of people in Belleville."

Savings in clothing? Things you eat and wear? One thousand ocean miles of water is a step to open up the necessities of life are crammed in the hold of the throbbing leviathan of the sea, and the inland channels inland. To swing them off as foreign goods, to cost more closer the tie and bond which knits the Empire. More valuable products of goodwill from a new country return in the life stream of a Mother Country over charted courses of unbroken churning main.

So giant freighters with hatches battened over all manner of things from the factories and workshops of the British Isles, in exchange for Canadian cheese, butter, products of Canadian fields, factories and of mines! Unbroken cargoes coming and leaving in unending stream. Red and black sides of Britain's pools glistening in the mid-afternoon sun as they lie at ease in the no longer peaceful Bay of Quinte. Staccato snorts and hissing of steam trailing off to the shores of Prince Edward..... Diminutive tugs, hard, important, snorting and puffing as they warp the ocean liners to their berth in the deepest channels of the Bay, in the harbor. The pilot-boat plying to-day another challenge through the hawsepipes as they anchor to await their turn at the busy docks. The barn on the side of the endless procession of freight cars, and they back onto the wharf at the government dock. Men and noise and activity. Men. And goods piled mountains high.

Storm's Havoc Takes Lives Property Damage in Germany

BERLIN, July 15.—Storms of exceptional violence have caused the loss of several lives and extensive property damage in Hesse, Thuringia and Saxony.

Last night five persons were killed by lightning and a number of farm houses were set afire. Floods washed away houses and barns and an undetermined number of persons were drowned. Railroads were washed out, roads were made impassable and communication was interrupted.

Near Weimar, a freight train was derailed. Hallstorms pelted part of Hesse, battering down trees and ruining the crops.

EXPERIMENTS PROVE FUTILE

Starlings Destroy 35% of Cherry Crop in Western Ontario

London, Ont., July 15—Various experiments have been made in this district to prevent the destruction of cherry crops by starlings have proven futile and already the birds have destroyed 35 per cent. of the cherry crop, according to information received from H. N. Wheaton, Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Unless some means are found of controlling the increase of starlings, it will be impossible to raise cherries in Western Ontario after the present year, Mr. Fruit growers are becoming alarmed over the possibility of the starlings attacking the apple crop this fall. It is said that they did some damage last year. They eat their bill into the ripened sides of the apples, perhaps taking only a small piece of the fruit but breaking the skin and ruining the apple for market.

18 Months Old Babe Dangles Legs Eavetrough 20 Feet Above Ground

Thursday when painters knocked off for the day they left a tall ladder leaning against the house leading to the roof of kitchen, 20 feet above ground. Jimmy sensed with ambition in excess of his height. Moreover, cleared up the ladder some few moments later, mounted to the roof top and cheerily surveyed the world below him with chubby legs dangling over the eavetrough.

A summons to evening meal a la the later reached the youngster. Mr. Cook searched the yard in vain for the baby. Just as he was about to extend his search to some other section of the neighborhood a hail from above attracted his attention. There sat Jimmy upon his lofty perch, waving to his chum below.

An efficient rescue was made, but in future ladders when not in use will be placed elsewhere.

FAILURE NOT THOUGHT OF AT MEETING

Sir Herbert Bruce Makes Declaration on Landing

COATES HOPEFUL

Conference Will be First Step to World Recovery

Victoria, July 15.—"The arrival in Canada of the Australian and New Zealand delegations to attend the Imperial Conference is the first in Canada on an historic occasion," declared Right Hon. Stanley Bruce, head of the Australian delegation. He was speaking this afternoon given by the government of British Columbia following the arrival of the delegations on the liner Aorangi Thursday. "Never previously," Mr. Bruce said, "has such a conference been held out of Britain, and that one of the great Dominions should be the location of the present conference is another indication of the constitutional evolution of the British Empire."

Two Objectives Seen

"At the conference we will have two objectives," Mr. Bruce continued. "One is to endeavour to promote the further development of intra-Imperial trade. By this means each member of the Empire will be assisting other parts in regaining prosperity, in placing their people back in trade and in lifting the depression which at the present moment hampers us all.

"That it will be possible to achieve much by mutual good-will and co-operative efforts cannot be doubted. The strongest augury of success is the fact that Canada, Australia, and New Zealand have been able to arrive at trade treaties which have been mutually beneficial.

"Those treaties are between countries which are all agricultural, zealous with, in great measure, similar production, how much easier should it be to arrive at a basis for reciprocal benefits where, as in the case when the whole Empire is brought into the picture the production is in great measure complementary.

"In addition to what we can achieve of benefit to people within the British Empire we trust we may by our example give an inspiration to the world. The present financial and economic crisis we are all passing through is affecting all countries and only by international co-operation can it be overcome.

Watched by the World

"The people not only of the Empire but of the world are looking hopefully to the Imperial Conference for inspiration and a lead out of our present difficulties. It is unthinkable that it should fail. May our statesmanship prove equal to the task. Failure will be a blow the British race give to the world one more than the world can bear. It will mean leadership in a time of crisis.

"May hope is that the Ottawa conference may be a triumphant success, that it may bring to the people co-operation and mutual helpfulness that will emanate from it. That there may be a spirit of goodwill in conference and find a way out of the present difficulties for the betterment all peoples at the present time.

Premier Bennett and Right Joseph Chamberlain fought a great fight to bring about Imperial preference at the conference held in 1926 and 1926 conferences, strenuous efforts were made to achieve something, but little resulted.

Three Reasons Given

The reasons for no action being taken during the last thirty years were:

1. A general prosperity which prevented a realization of the necessity for action.

2. The adherence of Great Britain to her traditional policy of free trade.

3. Since the way the pre-occupation of many of the Dominions with constitutional questions to the exclusion of economic ones.

"Now the whole position is altered. The constitutional questions and that of the status of the Dominions have been solved to the satisfaction of all parts of the Empire, with one greatly to be deplored exception.

The 18-foot snake lay dead in one corner, while in another corner, placidly coiled was the victor. A huge bulge in his middle indicated that he had won not only the death battle but the pig as well. The pig was, in fact, the first meal the python had eaten in 18 months.

The animal made no attempt to move as the car approached him, but when the machine finally stopped it scuttled off into a nearby hole. A close view of him was obtained, however.

The little animal was pure white, resembling in color only by a very black small nose and eyes.

Mr. Wilkes may have been justifiably pardoned if he had murmured when he saw it: "there ain't no such animal". Records show there have been different ones sighted on rare occasions in the past few years, however. The skin of the animal is highly prized by amateur naturalists.

ENUMERATORS WORKING HERE

Checking Traffic on Various Highways in District

Government enumerators are at present stationed at various points along the many provincial highways throughout Ontario for the purpose of checking and counting the number of vehicles using Ontario Highways. On Highway No. 2 one enumerator is stationed at the Point Anne lane entrance and he counts all vehicles passing him, both directions, in a day. Another is stationed at Marysville on the same highway, while another is working at Foxboro on Highway No. 14, and still another at Crookston on the same highway. An enumerator has been placed at the cemetery crossing on road between Belleville and Trenton as well as a few miles west of Trenton Highway No. 2. Periodically the highway department of Ontario station men at these posts to ascertain exactly how heavy the traffic is at various points throughout the province. The places where heavy traffic is in evidence naturally needs a heavier and more substantial roadbed than one where the traffic is somewhat lighter. The enumerators will be on duty for a period of one month and take the census of the traffic vehicles from 6 a.m. until 10 p.m. each day.

CHANGING THE FACE OF MAN

One man who made tonsorial history has gone to his last rest, King. C. Gillette, inventor of the safety razor. How many men who use the protection against gashing their faces have never thought what they owe to this monarch of invention which has revolutionized the barber trade, made for more frequent shaving, has also made millions for safety razor firms and created a fortune for countless millions of blades, which have caused so great a problem that everyone wonders when some safety depository for old blades can be found.

Nicked faces, with cross patches as if to say "X marks the spot where the straight razor slashed my face" used to be common. Even yet it is possible to take the crown off a pimple or if shaving carelessly to cut oneself with a safety, yet the faces of men have been less gashed and bloody since Gillette came on the scene.

This is only the year 1932 and the safety razor is but 29 years old. In 1908 there were only 51 razors and 14 dozen blades produced. In a year the company's production had climbed to 90,000 razors and 15,000,000 blades. Today Gillette's factories turn out twenty million razors a year and one billion blades. Civilization's whiskers are going away and even the darkest (that is in civilization as well as in color) peoples use safeties. White, black, red and yellow men have in the short space of less than a generation turned to this new device.

Gillette would not have been possible in the whisker days of several generations ago. Today like ancient Romans men and boys believe in the bare face and make their way accordingly with safety razors.

While safety razors have taken much business from barbers, they have doubtless led many people to have the barber shave them with greater frequency. Besides clean faces make a man think of a short haircut for long locks and smooth faces did not agree, so the long locks went to the barber's in like manner days who cared if his hair was an inch or two longer. Hair tonics bloomed after the safety razor came.

A safety razor of clippers for use on one's own head has not been devised and is not likely to be. Men like to visit barber shops even if the chair gives a faint hint of a dental operation.

Gillette's invention made a lot of money for Gillette, and for druggists and other vendors of razors and blades. It took money from the people for blades and gave them more than value in a cleaner-faced generation of men.

Back of this razor revolution was an incident in Gillette's career—he once tried to shave himself on a swaying train. Then was born an idea and later came the invention.

FAMILY MEETINGS

Summer is the great season for family reunions since it is the time of visiting and the time when people can get very close to nature and mankind.

Queen Victoria and Prince Edward Counties themselves are among the richest in the numbers of ancient families who if these had been feudal days would have dukes and lords of manorial domains, but who being born in democratic days and being the sons and daughters of Loyalists had not such thought of power and land aggrandizement.

These are the forbears whose descendants walk on our streets and drive our highways, grow our grain, produce our cattle and build up dairy trade and our business concerns.

EXPECT LOCAL BENEFIT

The development of the St. Lawrence Waterways does not leave Belleville unenthusiastic. It means the development of the eastern part of Canada and a natural reflection of this development in Ontario. Greater ease of access to the British markets for the products of this section is the natural consequence.

The development will be probably the greatest single event in the history of the East.

CHECKERBOARDS

Any plan which will reduce the casualties upon the roads is to be commended.

Making of checkerboard backs for trucks and trailers as recommended by the London Suburban Area Commission has been taken up by the Department of Highways for Ontario.

The ordinary signs at curves gave the hint to the London commissioners.

Ramming parked cars is another type of accident which is causing loss of life and property.

Those in authority have to be devising means of safety for the drivers of cars and cannot let up in the search for devices to protect limb and save life.

MID-SUMMER LOVE SONG.

By Aline Michaelis

Now when Summer is at flood
Not a leaf must change,
Not a color in the blood
Lessen and grow strange.

Life has granted perfect love
At this perfect hour;
Let no bluebird's bright wings move,
Let no new rose flower!

Add no silver syllable
To the vows now made;
By no glance which speaks too well
Let love be betrayed!

Joy today is potent, sure,
Time's shadow withdrawn;
Hearts could no fresh bliss endure,
Not a breath's increase!

WHERE ADVERTISING WINS

That the firms that maintain persistent advertising pressure are having the greatest success in weathering the economic storm has been clearly shown by a survey conducted by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Its findings are illuminating.

For example, the bureau has discovered that one umbrella concern which increased its advertising budget by 33 per cent in 1931 was able to report a 40 per cent increase in sales during the year.

Similarly, a manufacturer of electric refrigerators who spent $200,000 last year in newspaper space and found that his dollar sales for the year were 460 per cent of the sales in 1930.

Four well-known tobacco manufacturers used greater newspaper space, and three of them had larger earnings in 1931, while the fourth had only a small decline from the high net profit of the previous year.

These four companies jumped their advertising from $20,000,000 to $26,000,000, and their total earnings climbed from $105,200,000 to $113,800,000.

On the contrary, four other tobacco firms which cut down their advertising appropriations found that their combined net earnings dropped by 45 per cent during 1931.

The lesson to everybody who has something to sell the public should be plain; newspaper advertising is necessary at all times, and never more so than during a period of depression.

SAFETY FIRST

King C. Gillette dies, leaving a monument in safety razor blades to prove that there is always room in this country for someone 'with a new and a good idea. Thirty years ago he foresaw the end of the "whiskers era," and using the experience he had gained in the hardware business, he invented the safety razor. For it was looked upon as just a funny gadjet by gentlemen who had been used to the old-fashioned long blade razor, but Mr. Gillette was not to be discouraged. The first year his company operated, in 1903, only fifty-one razors and fourteen dozen blades were sold. But Mr. Gillette stuck to it. And he advertised. The next year he sold 90,000 razors and 15,000,000 blades. When the idea caught on he established factories in many parts of the world. Now his company sells 20,000,000 razors and a billion blades a year. That's business. And remember that all this was accomplished by a man who started life working as a boy with nothing but a common school education.

KEEP GLANDS IN ORDER FOR BEST HEALTH

If Glands Are in Balance Whole Organism Functions Well

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

LOUIS E BISCH

Yes, there are such things as glands and there must be in order if we are to continue to have fair health. Nor is the term "glands" used loosely here, for the glands all seem to depend one upon the other. Each is like a separate cog in a big wheel. If one cog is slipping or worn out is not only affects that cog as well, but likewise the progress of the wheel as a whole.

If our glands are in balance, each contributing its part with the powerful chemical substances it secretes, then the bodily organs function best, the nervous system has its proper tone and the mind is alert and efficient.

If one gland produces either too much chemical, or too little, the effect of such over-production or understimulation produces a direct as well as an indirect result; the direct result being symptoms of disorder traceable to the misbehaving gland itself; the indirect result being remote changes in other associated glands or distant organs.

Let us take the thyroid gland by way of example. This is the one most people seem to know about. When the thyroid is enlarged it usually is evidenced as a swelling in the lower or both sides of the neck, somewhat below the Adam's apple cartilage or Adam's Apple.

Now, this thyroid secretes a powerful chemical substance known as "thyroxin". This, as well as all other secretions of the glands is spoken of as a "hormone". Too much thyroid hormone, produced as a result of increasing general nervousness, palpitation of the heart, clammy skin and perspiration and protruding eyeballs, as well as other symptoms. But the direct result is the effect on the other glands which may be thrown out of balance because, apparently, they try to regulate themselves and make compensation for the over-flow of thyroid in the system.

Disorders of other glands, like the adrenals, etc., may therefore be noted in a similar case. What's more, the cure of the overactive thyroid may have to include attention to other glands besides.

To be sure, the thyroid may be underexciting as well as overexcreting. In that case one gets an opposite picture, with the patient inmentally sluggish instead of excited all movements are slow instead of quick. The skin is often coarse, not moist and smooth—and there are no eye symptoms. What might be termed a lifeless expression.

Recently we have been hearing about new discoveries in reference to the adrenal glands mentioned above. One such gland, about the size of the end of the little finger, is surrounded by fat and perched on the top of each kidney. That is why the adrenals are often referred to as the supra-renals. "supra" meaning above and "renal" indicating the kidney.

A curious fact about an adrenal gland is that it is composed of two distinct parts, a cortex and a middle portion or medulla. Extracts made from each seem to have an antagonistic action, from the medical point of view, toward each other. That the adrenals have much to do with keeping up our blood pressure and otherwise vitalizing the body there can be no question. Research work will continue to discover marvelous functions of the adrenals.

The reason for stressing the complicated nature of glands and their inter-relationship too soon. Always remember that each person is an individual and special study.

SANCTUARY

To all that's old and lovely and remote,
I, in my utter weariness would go
Back to a world of half-forgotten things,
Where dark and ancient waters flow.

Still are there gardens by whose crumbling walls
The oleander blooms her divinely fair,
And little fountains sparkle in the sun.
Scarce heard amid the silence there.

Time has but lightly touched that slumbering land.
The palaces and courtyards still remain,
And in the dusk sing amorous nightingales,
As in the days of Charlemain.

Miss Mattie Kenyon, of Wellwood, Ont., is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. Hampton, Isabella Street.

The carrying away of a span of the Bay Bridge by the steamer Corsican on Sunday is still the talk of the town and daily large numbers of citizens visit the scene of the accident. One end of the span knocked from the piers came to the surface shortly after the Corsican had passed over it. A temporary space is expected to be in place in a few days. In the meantime passengers are being conveyed from Prince Edward county and the city by means of the steamer Armenia. Of course this causes considerable inconvenience as vehicles cannot be carried. However, it is the best arrangement possible.

40 YEARS AGO

Mr. James Neilson, of Chicago, is visiting his mother at her home on John Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Huffman are in the city. Mr. Huffman is the genial new proprietor of the Dafoe House.

The members of Mr. F. E. O'Flynn's Bible Class will have their annual outing next Wednesday. They will visit Deseronto, Glen Island, Glenora and Picton.

50 YEARS AGO

JULY 15, 1882

A number of boys who were in swimming in the harbor yesterday afternoon set fire to the island, and had the flames gained full sway it is probable that all combustible matter on the island would have been burned up. The Harbor Master, however, happened to see the smoke and with the assistance of a couple of others the flames were extinguished after a space of about forty square feet had been burned over.

Fifteen cars of cheese and ten cars of flour were shipped from here yesterday to the Lower Provinces and Montreal.

Miss Gilmour, a visitor of this city, has obtained a Provincial Second Class Professional Certificate at the recent session of the Toronto Normal School. Miss Linn is to be congratulated.

27 HOGS STRANDED ON BROKEN TRUCK

London, Ont., July 15—Overcrowding of hogs and cattle on trucks for transportation over considerable distances has aroused the ire of Humane Society officials to such an extent that the Provincial Police have been asked to assist in a check-up.

Inspector George Tustin, of the local Humane Society, said that complaints were altogether too numerous.

Yesterday morning he said a ton and a half truck loaded with 27 hogs had a flat tire east of the city. It took two hours and a half to jack the truck up so that a wheel could be changed.

The hogs could not be let out of the truck so that the weight would be lessened. Mr. Tustin said 27 hogs on a ton and a half truck was an outrage even without a breakdown. The breakdown just added another two hours and more cruelty to the animals.

Mr. Tustin said Inspector Lucas of Provincial Police had promised help round up shippers who overload their trucks.

UNIVERSITY MAN IS SENT TO JAIL

Cobourg, July 15—Found guilty of the theft of five cows and two calves from his employer, Alex. MacGarva, Scottish University graduate and former farmhand employed by David Crawford of Grafton, was sentenced to six months' detention and an indeterminate term he appeared before Judge L. V. O'Connor in County Court here yesterday afternoon. Col. F. D. Boggs, K.C., conducted the Crown case. A. R. Willmott was defence counsel.

FIVE BUILDINGS ARE DAMAGED

Brockville, July 15—Fire on Thursday destroyed a sawing, planing and millinery shop and two barns at Jasper, near here, and damaged three other houses before firemen, assisted by a detachment from Smith's Falls, could extinguish it. The dwelling and stores were owned by Boyd Gibson, while one barn was that of H. B. Mosfatt. The damaged houses were those of Alexander Smith, S. Kennedy and Wilbert Mallia. The fire originated over the roof of Gibson's house, supposedly from a defective chimney.

INDIANS AND SENATORS PUT ON WIN STREAK

Yank's Lead is Cut to 8 1-2 Games as Cleveland Wins

ROOKIE WINS

Bill Swift of Pirates Moved His Team Further in Front

(By Gayle Talbot Associated Press Sports Writer).

Winners of their last six games, the best spurt they have made since the first month of the race, the Washington Senators seem to be getting along very nicely without their leading hitter, Carl Reynolds.

Dave Harris, who stepped into Reynolds' right field berth after the latter's leg was broken by "one pancake" Dickey of the Yankees on September Day, has been playing a lot of baseball and has had a prominent part in the present winning streak. He and Joe Kuhel, who is filling in for Joe Judge at first base, are doing so well in fact, that it will be difficult for Bill Johnson to get them back to the bench when the ailing regulars return.

Harris hit a homerun with one aboard and Kuhel scored a run yesterday to give the Senators a 5 to 4 victory over the Red in 12 innings. It was only the second victory for Washington in nine bouts with Cleveland this season, indicating they are doing at least as well as usual.

Indians on Streak.

Cleveland Indians, meantime, went right on with their campaign against the "big three" clubbing the Yankees into submission, 11 to 3, in the opener at the stadium. That made it five straight for the tribe and 11 out of its last thirteen games. Babe Ruth's 28th homerun supplied the only cheering note for the Yanks.

Jimmie Foxx still plugging after the Babe's record of 60 homers, banged No 35 with two on base to help the Athletics defeat Detroit 9 to 3. This blow was the 13th of a seven run uprising against Sam Bridges in the seventh inning.

The Boston Red sox were stopped short of their goal, a three-game winning streak, when the White Sox nosed them out 8 to 7, in 11 innings, Sewell Jolley, who still is not batting as an outfielder but whose hitting has gained him a berth over with Boston fans, kept the game alive with a clout run after two were out in the ninth.

National League.

Bill Swift pointed out another good reason for Pittsburgh's leadership of the National League, when he set the zooiom Braves down 6 to 1, to move to the top by only four hits and allowed but one runner to get third in registering his sixth straight win.

The Chicago Cubs remained two games back by beating the Brooklyns 4 to 1, behind Guy Bush. Right Stephenson played the starring role, knocking across the winning runs with a double in the eighth and cutting off at least two Dodger runs with a sparkling catch in the seventh.

The Cardinals' run of four straight wins was ended when the Giants piled into Jelly Dean in

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the tissues into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement; gradually forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Chick Hafey returned to the Cincinnati lineup but his presence failed to impress the Phils who shaged Correll and Copen for an 11 to 6 victory.

CIACO GIRLS WIN AT ROSLIN BY 19-9 SCORE

In a friendly game of girls' softball the local CIACO girls team of the Belleville Ladies' Loop played an exhibition game at Roslin on Thursday evening, defeating the "homesters" by the score of 19 to 9. Manager Bob White of the Corbyville crew selected his youthful pitcher, Doris Morgan on the hilltop. The latter's control was not in the "big time" and her efforts were well rewarded. Vera Dier and Beatrice Doolittle also hurled part of the game. The locals were far too experienced for the Roslin "Red Wings" and could have piled up a much larger score had it been necessary.

HORSE RUNS AWAY FOUR ARE INJURED

Belmont, July 15—Mrs. Lewis Underhill and Mrs. Fred Underhill were still seen injured when the horse they were driving ran away down Underhill's hill. The occupants were thrown out of the rig against three mail boxes, that were side by side.

Mrs. Underhill received a broken right arm and is suffering from bruises and shock. Her son Jack, and one daughter, Jean escaped with minor injuries. Another daughter, Peg, was picked up from the creek unconscious and the extent of her injuries are not yet ascertained. They were taken to the home of Ernest Underhill, and will remain there indefinitely under a physicians care.

Knocks and Boosts

The season opened last evening. What season? The protest season of course. Baseball has been going along in a very smooth manner in all local leagues until last evening when Jack Adams of Trweed and his battery mate Art Adams of Tweed were declared ineligible to play for the Belleville Victorias.

A special meeting of the Bay of Quinte intermediate loop was called last night with President A. G. Meagher in the chair. The Picton delegation protested the eligibility of players Tweed and Adams. The Picton delegates stated, that the two players Mr. Campbell had received a change of address from the O.B.A.A. On the other hand the players do not need a change of address as due to the fact that they are still living at home in Tweed. Both players applied for a waver release finish Meaher, there being no baseball in Tweed this season and it. Then they signed a certificate to play for the local Victorias. According to the O.B.A.A. constitution and by-laws page 09, under the heading of "Players to qualify under the residence rule" section B, it distinctly says, that all a player needs a release from his nearest O.B.A.A. club but he has a ONLY one such and next near est club in the section of province. Trenton Madoc and Campbell get their release and have surely complied with the rules and by-laws set down by the O.B.A.A.

The entire meeting had the "poo poo" aspect. It looked as though both Picton and Point Anne clubs were a little sore and they felt the Vics had procured the services of the two ex-Tweed players. Picton may have had a sick spell why Point Anne quickly backed the Picton protest made the meeting look as though "every thing was in the air" and the matter was left holding the strings. President Fanning of the Vics is not a man to be trifled with and is appealing to the O.B.A.A. for a final ruling in the matter. According to the O.B.A.A. rules, Campbell and Adams are eligible to play in Belleville.

When the Belleville Nationals asked the Kingston executive to delay their postponed game of June 19th on Friday evening of this week the Feny moguls did not like the idea of facing the locals twice in one week. Well they may want a favor done some day. Next Monday evening would be an ideal time to play this game though. The time is quite long to play a football game to be played in Belleville.

Umpire Ken Codling was so anxious to get to Kingston on Wednesday that he forgot one of his spiked shoes. A little bird tod us that the reason he was in a hurry was the fact that the Kingston executive promptly dared him to come there to umpire a game after losing the game of the week previous to Carleton. It is too bad that the present Kingston executive were not affiliated in the C.O.R.L. under neutral umpire system. They would have learned a few lessons under the neutral umpiring system we imagine.

Due to the fact that a number of the younger boys, who participated in the Juvenile Series on last, failed to give a complete statement as to their correct age when posting their entry, the trophy for the youngest entry completing the swim could not be awarded. Since then all those swimmers who were involved have had presented their birth certificates and the committee have been able to determine the winner.

To John Forster, son of Dr. and Mrs. Forster, 41 Victoria Ave., goes the honor of being the youngest entry to complete the swimming of the one way course in the 1932 Y.M.C.A. series of swims. Master John deserv es plenty for his performance as he was opposed by one of the largest Juvenile entries that has ever been held and in addition to this was forced to swim against very unfavorable weather conditions.

With all section winners now determined, the 1932 Bantam relay for the R. J. E. Graham shield will be procured and disclosed to the public for at an early date. The various other winners in the pool will be announced following the race which was held on the morning of December 30th last.

Two years ago when Babe Ruth signed his contract for $80,000, the late Bill Hanna, veteran sports writer, asked him why he signed. Hanna wasn't of the sentimental type and Babe was surprised. But explained: "You've just signed a contract for the highest salary base ball will ever pay. Neither you nor any other ball player will ever draw that sum again. I'm sure of it. I want the pen." The Babe handed it to him, with the remark that two years from then he would be throw the pen in the waste basket signing for $100,000 and be cold for a new one. Too bad Hanna wasn't around to hanging to see his prophecy come true.

All cars passing on the highways will be kept track of for a week and records will be sent to Toronto for compilation. No returns on the traffic on the London district highways will be released until the end for the whole province has been completed.

NEWARK MAKES RUNAWAY RACE OF BALL LOOP

Bears 5 1-2 Games in Lead and Winning on Road

LEAFS TRIUMPH

Win on Orioles After Losing Eight Straight Games

By Gayle Talbot, A.P. Sports Writer

The Bears are going to town right now, Al Mamaux's Newark Bears are threatening to make a runaway of the International League race for they are winning where it counts most—on the road.

The Bears proved early in the season, that would win at home but they had to prove themselves on the road, and they have, definitely and decisively, on the currents trip into the Queen cities as for they have won eight games out of nine with Montreal, Toronto and Buffalo.

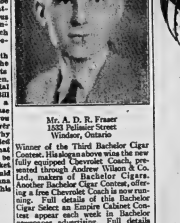
Win Double Bill.

They dealt Buffalo's title hopes a neat blow yesterday when they snatched both ends of a double-header, 6-3 and 6-5. The Bears clinched the opener in the first inning, when Jimmy Brewer got four runs. Harry Solozlak pitched brilliantly until the ninth, when he weakening and was replaced by Zellhoefer. The second game was a tight duel decided by Jim Moore's home run with one on in the sixth. Ollie Chamberlain was 4th baseman in the opener.

Baltimore kept losing only one game, moved into a virtual tie with the Bisons for second place as the Orioles were trimmed by Toronto, 8-3 as the Canadians pounded Curtis Davis in the third and Smythe even harder in the seventh to score seven of their runs in that frame on two frames. Selkirk and Henry collected three hits apiece for the winners while Guy Cantrell pitched steady ball all the way. It was Toronto's first victory after eight successive defeats.

Royals Get Rapp.

The Montreal Royals made it five straight by trimming Jersey City 6-3, Cowell Claset receiving credit for his 11th victory although he moved for a double hitter in the seventh. In that frame the Royals collected four runs and scored the two-run Jersey City lead. Fresco Thompson collected a double and three singles for the losers.



Reading failed to get enough hits and Rochester earned a 4-2 decision in a well-played game. Wilson pitched for the Rajahs in a difficult chance to give the visitors their second straight but Frame, Sheridan got three of the Redwing's eight hits off Al Shealy and drove in two runs.

MUSIC IN SCHOOL IS CONSIDERED

Roslin—The Roslin Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ed. Cochrane on Wednesday afternoon there were thirty present.

The leader for the meeting Mrs. Arthur Bates occupied the chair. The meeting opened by singing the opening ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer. The roll call was "My favorite musical selection". It was decided to have Sunshine Bags for the next meeting and each member bring the contents to the next meeting. It was decided to see what could be done about getting supplies wholesale for the school. It was decided to help boy and the highest girl at the Judging Competition to Guelph for the short course.

Mrs. H. Palmer and Mrs. W. Harrison were appointed to be on the Flower Committee for the next three months. It was decided to see what could be done about having music taught in the school. After the business was concluded all joined in community singing.

Mrs. Peterkin gave an interesting paper on Teaching Music in the Home. Mrs. Chamble gave a paper on cheerfulness in the home, and after more community singing the meeting closed by singing the National Anthem after which a dainty lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Women's Interest In The Home

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

NOSES HAVE THEIR TROUBLES, TOO

Noses, like ears, are more utilitarian than decorative. Find a girl who accepts her nose as a satisfactory feature and you'll find an easy-going person who takes things as they come and doesn't kick up a fuss about trifles. Everyone is a nose critic, not of other peoples' noses, but of his own. Yet how seldom sees a human beak that is disfiguring.

Young girls are distressingly nose conscious, regarding that efficient organ in the mirror until the mirror must be heartily sick of its job. The nose is too big or too short or too wide or not wide enough. Silly! It is an old acquaintance that should be forgotten. Nothing less drastic than surgery will remodel it and that's a serious and expensive beauty indulgence.

There are little ills of the profession that do call for attention. Blackheads, for instance, that give way under applications of baking soda ground lightly into the pores with the fingers. Soda starts up an intimate friendship with greasy plugs in the pores, helps to dislodge them. Treatment must be repeated every other night for a month or more. And there's the rub. The beauty urge falls into a coma after a few attempts at reform. That's the usual story.

Enlarged pores are a blemish. They are a burden carried by the woman who loves good groceries, who can't finish luncheon or dinner without pastry. Treatment: call for ice rubs and applications of witch hazel.

A nose that flaunts a misplaced blush can sometimes be coaxed back to the shades of perfect behaviour by the use of ointment of zinc oxide. The blushful one, the one who plays persistently in a condition of flamboyant health should be examined by a physician. The glands of the nose and surface are sanguine; it is not unusual for a chronic skin disease to start up business there.

Sluggish circulation and digestive disturbances are responsible for oily noses. Some oily powders make matters worse instead of better. They harden into the pores by vigorous manipulations of the old powder pad—which sometimes, alas, it isn't. Any too sterile—and the effort of the sweat and sebaceous glands to free the pores of their unwelcome burden the skin surface becomes thoroughly well buttered. A change of powder diet may suffice to reform a nose that shines like a headlight.

An excess of coffee, or alcoholic beverages, may be the cause of appearance of the nose. How do I figure that out? It is easy.

They had a bad effect upon the digestive organs, cause disturbances when they are not constipated, producing what is known in the medical profession as intestinal spasms, a common trouble with nervous individuals, or those who are constipated. Ask your doctor. He will tell you.

As for this business of nose remodelling by means of surgery, common sense will assure any woman that it is only in the most unusual case that this step should be taken.

Serve Criso Cookies With Fresh Fruits

Give Flavor to Light Foods During Hot Summer Days

When Summer brings her luxury of fresh, appetizing fruits, the housekeeper must plan careful accompaniments to the desserts. Criso cookies, flavorsome and light, add just the right note.

The housewife who is also a real home-manager chooses the type of cookie that is quickly cooked so that she does not overheat her house and herself—both conditions that spoil any summer day.

To accompany any summer fruits, and satisfy masculine appetites are old-fashioned sugar cookies. They keep crisp for a long period and may be made any day the oven is being heated to 400 degrees. This recipe makes 4 dozen cookies.

Old Fashioned Sugar Cookies

3 cups sifted cake flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup butter or other shortening 3 1-4 cups sugar, 4 eggs, unbeaten, 1-3 cup milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, mixing after each addition until smooth. Roll 1-4 inch thick, cut with large cutter, and sprinkle with sugar; or, press out into each cooky. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) 5 minutes.

As easily and quickly made are delicious Almond Slices. This recipe makes 6 dozen slices.

Almond Slices

2 1-3 cups sifted cake flour, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 1-2 cups hot melted shortening (part butter if desirable); 3 eggs, slightly beaten, 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1 cup almonds blanched, toasted, and chopped.

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and sift again. Combine remaining ingredients in order given, then add flour, mixing well. Pack tightly in paper lined pan. Chill overnight. Remove loaf from pan cut in half and slice crosswise in thin slices. Place on greased baking sheet and bake in hot oven (425 degrees Fahrenheit) 5 minutes.

Beatrice Fairfax Letters

WROTE LETTERS SHE REGRETS

DEAR MISS—FAIRFAX:

I am a young married woman, and during a period of misunderstanding with my husband I imagined myself in love with a young man in my acquaintance, who professed to love me. I very foolishly wrote him sentimental letters and while I hardly believe he would ever use these letters to harm me I now realize the enormity of the things I have done, and would feel very much grieved if I had them back in my possession, or knew they were out of existence. Do you believe it wise to ask for their return?

Young Wife.

If the man is a gentleman you have no cause for worry, as no one but an unspeakable cad would ever show them or use them in any way. Why not write him and ask for their return, if he has not burnt them. Surely he will be glad to set your mind at rest.

SHALL SHE INVITE HIM?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been reading your column for a long time, and it has proven a source of comfort and assistance to me a number of times. Here is my problem. I went with a young man for about three months last year, then through no fault of standing we discontinued our friendship. I now find I like him very much, but know he is going with another girl. I would like very much to ask him to a party. Would this be wise?

M. L.

By all means ask him to the party. Even if he should happen to have a "previous engagement," he will be pleased that you should remember him. And, who knows? Perhaps you'll make up and be on the old friendly footing again. That's what old one my furnace man is always quoting—"Nothing beats a trial but a failure."

BROTHER'S CROWD ARE PETTERS

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My brother had been talking about me so much to his crowd that the girls decided to make a party and invite me, just to see what I was like. While at the party the boys wanted to pet and kiss me. I didn't let them, for that isn't my idea of a good time. My brother gave me a dirty look. After that we began to sing and dance, which is more my idea of a good time, while some of the extra dumb ones necked and kissed. Since then I have not been invited by his crowd to any more of their parties. He doesn't seem to care if they're good enough, and I like them and would like to be one of them, but don't want to change my ideas of a good time to suit theirs.

Bashful

There are plenty of young people who, like yourself, do not think immediate and promiscuous petting is necessary to a good time. One man girl writes me this morning and said, "to begin petting any place or minute the moment you start out, proves you're even too dumb to be late."

Sooner or later, you're bound to meet boys and girls who have the ideas of a good time that you've quite right to be discriminating. Wait till the right one comes along and you'll be happier that you haven't been too free with your favors.

Her PRIZE WINNING EXHIBITS CERTO MADE

Read what Mrs. A. H. Campbell, Duncan, B.C., writes about Certo:— "It is wonderful in making jams and jellies—particularly jams as it saves time and jam does not get that strong flavour from long boiling. I won prizes at three different Fairs."

No failures—no waste
Your jams and jellies will be just as successful if you use Certo.

With Certo boil just a few minutes — you'll always get a perfect set if you follow directions carefully. No failures— no waste—10% more from a given amount of fruit. With Certo you can use any fruit —fresh, canned, dried — or fruit juice. There's variety for you!

The Certo recipe booklet under the label of every Certo bottle is famous for its recipes. Be sure to follow directions exactly. Use any available fruit, even fruits that never before would jell.

Don't be perplexed by any problem of jam or jelly making. Should you desire any information whatsoever, write to the Consumer Service Department, General Foods, Limited, Cobourg, Ontario.

FINANCIAL NEWS

AS DULL AS IT WAS ACTIVE

Market Undergoes Natural Reaction After Big Splurge

Toronto, July 15—As dull today as it was active yesterday, Toronto stock exchange market was undergoing the natural reaction to a wild splurge. Stocks came down from their close on Thursday, though the creation did not witness anything like the volume which accompanied the advance. Bids were dropped as the enthusiasm was off and occasional profit-taking sales were made on the way down, which gave the market a soft appearance. However very few losses exceeded a point and the list was not without its points of strength.

The construction shares had enjoyed a freedom of movement yesterday were more restricted and better today. Canada Cement common maintained its position as 5 or slightly better but the preferred broke to 30, off more than 4 points. Canadian Dredge eased 1-2 point to 12 3-4, and Hayes-Steamer dropped 1 1/2 points to 44. Consolidated Smelters sold off again, reaching 4 points to 49 this morning. Ford of Canada, Shawinigan, Montreal Power, Corcauzit Plow Steel less than 1-2 point each. Nickel, Bell Telephone, C.P.R., Brazilian, Massey Harris were unchanged. Most of the oils were on the same level as their close, though a couple of the leaders eased slight ly.

Walkers was inactive. Canada Malting firmed to 51. Goodyear Tire preferred moved up 3 to 84. The common was sotter though no sales were made.

SMALL LOSES ARE RECORDED

Light Profit Taking is Well Absorbed by List

Toronto, July 15—Standard stock and mining exchange market had an irregular appearance in the Avenue today, small recessions predominating among changes in most groups at midday. Action was marked by underlying strength, however, with light profit taking well absorbed.

Stock flights on ex-dividend 15 cents, fell 18 to 24.77 and Skoze, ex-dividend 4 cents, dropped that amount to 28. Mackeys was active and higher at 38, however, and Dome, Wright Hargreaves and Hollinger made small gains.

McIntyres turned at $18 up 35, following declaration of a dividend of 5 per cent, plus an extra of 3 1-2 per cent, payable in United States funds September 1 to shareholders of record August 1.

INVESTMENTS

Now is the time to check up your holdings, exchange bonds payable in American funds for those with higher interest rate, payable in Canada, and formulate an investment plan for the future. We will gladly assist.

Corby Library Alterations

Striking Changes Made in Appearance of First Floor

Alteration work on the interior of Corby Library has been completed and the library has been opened for circulation. Patrons visiting the building will find a striking change in the appearance of the first floor. The central desk has been removed, and the temporary partitions of the office torn down. The visitor is impressed with the grace of the central arch and the beauty of the library's stained glass window which were somewhat obscured by the former arrangements. The tall columns give the impression of great space and the whole effect is charming.

Miss Margaret White, librarian in explaining need of this adjustment pointed out to the Ontario Intelligencer that the library has been originally planned for the "closed shelf" system of book distribution. Formerly it had been the custom for the librarian to chose the books, the public not being allowed behind the desk. When the "open shelf" system was adopted, and especially with the increased circulation of recent years, the desk arrangements was found unsatisfactory. The alterations just completed give more space and better facilities for handling the books. The circulation desk being in an alcove formed by the stairs.

The library will now be open for circulation continuously from ten until six o'clock as well as during the usual evening hours.

MILLIONAIRES DEFAULT GAME

Exhibition Game With C.P.R. Just Workout For Railroaders

TRENTON, July 15.—(Special)—The game between the C.P.R. and the Millionaires scheduled for last night was given to the C.P.R. by default. Lewis who has been pitching for the Millionaires so far during the season was released by them to go to strengthen the Shamrock team, who are sadly in need of a pitcher. Lewis' release was to go into effect tomorrow, which is the last day to sign players under the rules of the O.S.A. The idea was that he was to pitch the game for the Millionaires, who if they won still had a chance to get in the play-offs after a good deal of argument, it was decided to concede the game to the C.P.R. They then decided to play an exhibition game. Westfall going in the box for the Millionaires. The C.P.R. found him freely for the entire game piling up a total of twenty one runs during the game to the Millionaires six. R.C.A.F BARRACKS ARE NEARLY READY

Misses Catherine Layton and Gladys Finnegan have returned to their duties in Whitby after spending the holidays with their parents.

Mrs. Clare Sine and little daughter, of Kingston, are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers of Frankford.

Mrs. J. S. Lane of Guelph, spent the week end with her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Stewart.

Mrs. Zella Chase and child is spending a few days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Terry.

Mr. Lorne Sanderson is spending the week in Toronto.

Mrs Marion Radway has been visiting her relatives Mrs. Powell and Mrs. H. Orr of Frankford.

The greater portion of the Frankford to Trenton road is now oiled and is a big improvement. The Carrying Place road, that was to be paved is now in worse condition, than it has ever been. The new road has been surveyed but to date no work has been gone on it. The old road has been allowed to go to pieces and it certainly has. The rocky road to Dublin is a boulevard in comparison to it.

Barracks Nearly Ready

The new barracks at the Trenton Air Base are rapidly nearing completion. The final touches are being made and every effort has been made to make the building modern in every respect. Tarvia has been used over the concrete base on the floors and over the Tarvia is laid a composition of Tarvia, brown in color which will polish as nicely as a hardwood floor. The rooms for the men in the ranks are made to accommodate five men, there are eight of these rooms on each floor all outside rooms, the rooms for the non-commissioned men are in the main corridor all these on each floor. The rooms are all finished in a dark green and give in place a real homey look. The barracks is expected to be ready for occupancy early in August. The grading of the grounds will be started in the near future.

FOOD 9 CENTS A DAY WOOD-CUTTER'S BILL

Sudbury, July 15—Sixty-five year old W. H. Cowles, north-country woodcutter, is bidding for the title of the most economical housekeeper along the frontier. "Old Cowles" as he calls himself, is half employed and without steady employment, but he eats regularly and keeps his food bill down to 9 cents a day.

"Keep away from the cities and towns," is his advice to jobless. "There is real unemployment there —and no free rent, fuel, wild berries or fish for the catching. There is work and a living for every man in Canada—millions of acres of idle land ready to grow food."

Since 1930, 21 wolves have been killed in the organized effort to free the game refuges of the Ontario National Forest of these pests.

PROBLEM FOR LEGAL LIGHTS TO WRESTLE

MAY POSTPONE TRIALS

Hamilton, July 15 (CP)—A downpour of rain at noon today threatened to cause postponement of the Broadway Canadian Olympic track and field trials scheduled to start late this afternoon.

Officials in charge of the meet said, however, unless an exceptionally heavy shower broke this afternoon, the trials would be held. The track is almost certain to be slow.

PRESENT GIFTS TO BRIDAL PAIR

Madoc—On Thursday evening, June 3th the home and grounds of Mrs. Frank Reynolds, Cooper, were invaded by a host of friends neighbors to welcome back from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parks (nee Keitha Reynolds.)

The bride and groom were presented with a complete set of ivory colored enamelware, and the following address was read by Miss Stella Moorcroft.

Cooper, June 30, 1932

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Parks, Jr.

Dear Arthur and Keitha:

Another happy occasion has presented itself when we gather here to welcome back from your honeymoon two of our most popular young people.

We have known you both since childhood and have watched with interest the development of your romance. Needless to say, we are delighted that you are remaining in the old home and that we are not losing you from the community.

Arthur, you have always been a jolly good fellow, a leader in sports and athletics, a good son, brother, neighbor and friend and now it is your privilege and duty to be a good husband as well. And Keitha, you have endeared yourself to all by your winning personality and your consistent Christian character. In church, choir and league, in Sunday School as valued teacher as well as organist. In W.M.S. and Womens Institute, your help has been unstinting.

Don't know why we like you,
Really couldn't say,
Maybe its your kindness,
Maybe its your way.

Don't know why we like you,
But we think it's true
That are really like you,
Just because you're you.

And now we have not forgotten the proverbial adage, and to read our excuse for this invasion. We ask you to accept these gifts as a sincere token of our regard for you both. We hope you will enjoy using them and that they will prove of real service as well as reming you of your host of friends.

Signed, Stella Moorcroft, Mrs. W. R. Rollins, Mrs. Melvin King.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks each replied very suitably after which lunch was served and a social time was enjoyed by all.

BRASS CARTRIDGE ENTERS CHILD'S SIDE

Kingston, July 15—William Dennee, a boy living at Inverary, is suffering from a wound inflicted by a revolver cartridge. During the absence of their parents the lad and his brother Frank obtained their father's revolver and were playing with it and the cartridges. One of the cartridges exploded and some of the brass entered the child's side just below the heart. The children hurried to the home of their aunt Mrs. T. E. McKnight a few doors away and the injured child was rushed to a doctor. He is doing nicely.

Vitamin C is now known to consist of two factors, tentatively called X and Y, which are as necessary to each other to produce the vitamin C effect as Siamese twins are to each other.

PRESIDENT SIGNS

Washington, July 15—President Hoover late yesterday signed the $390,000,000 war department appropriation bill, the last of the big money measures to be enacted for running the United States government.

The measure was finally enacted by Congress after the House abandoned its demand that 2,000 officers be dismissed for economy.

Tetanus or lockjaw is particularly apt to follow the urep wounds caused by blank cartridges. Such wounds should be treated by a physician. Tetanus antitoxin, if given in time, prevents death from lockjaw.

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

COPYRIGHT 1931-32 KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

Lily Lou sprang to her feet. "Oh! I forgot—"

She ran into the cabin, clattered down the stairs, down the flights and flights of stairs, to the baby.

"Bubchen, darling! Was he forgotten? The precious bubchen! Mother's here now, darling, don't cry. See! It's mother!"

And on the deck Tony Scharlatti stood where she had left him, holding onto the rail.

"My darn lame leg," he told the steward.

"These new mamas are forget sometimes." And then, every inch the competent French steward, he noticed that the lame gentleman was not quite himself.

The ship, she rock too much, Herr? Ah hien, monsieur—you take my arm!"

* * *

"You didn't know I had a baby, did you?" she asked Tony, next day. "No, I had no idea." he said, "I'd like to see the little fellow, that is, as soon as I feel up to navigating. I've had a little bilious spell—"

"Smaick!"

But she was sorry for poor Tody. But she was sorry for poor Tony looking so green around the gills. Terrible thing, seasickness. Last night Tony looked almost like a boy, and now he seemed old and sort of off with life again.

"I tell you. I'll bring him up on deck for you to see. He's such a darling. And I know how you feel, because I was simply flat on the way over, but of course that was partly because I, well—I was going to have the bubchen."

"Is that what you call him?"

"His name is Robin, but he was born in Vienna, and one of the sisters, or somebody called him the Bubchen—it means little man or something like that—"

She stopped, because he seemed not to be listening. He kept tight hold of her arm. She knew what he was thinking. But she had made up her mind, there would be no explaining. People would think as they liked, take her or leave her.

"If did not know that you were married," he said, after a long pause.

"I wasn't. That is, not since you've known me. But I was married, once. It came to New York."

"Husband die?"

"No separated."

Another long pause.

"Didn't you go by the name of Miss Lansing, Lily Lou?"

"I don't know—I suppose I did —I resumed my maiden name—but why? Do you think I ought to—to—"

"Yes, I would. Mrs. Lansing, I think."

"Mrs. Lansing," she repeated after him, and it sounded cheap, unreal. They had called her Madame Lansing, of course, but everybody did—but that was different. "Mrs." sounded like her mother, dignified.

She did not know why suddenly she was holding to Tony's hand, how pleasantly she was resting on his thoughts.

Tony surprised himself by leaning over and kissing her, rather clumsily, on the forehead.

"I'm sorry. I didn't mean anything at all—"

He couldn't finish. Lily Lou had the sick feeling that he was offering her his hands, and his protection.... proposing to her....

Poor Tony! Poor, sweet Tony! She mustn't let him....Swiftly she turned the subject, assumed her most practical, matter-of-fact manner.

"I'm going to want lots of things, Tony. I've wired Gwin and he says I can come back to him, but I'll need help in finding a place to live, and I suppose I'll have to board the bubchen. I haven't a great deal of money—"

They discussed it. Tony was matter of fact, and business-like, too. Probably she had been wrong. She looked at him anxiously. Tony mustn't get to care too much for her....poor old Tony....

Tony helped her with the bubchen the remainder of the voyage. He stayed with him while she went to meals. Pronounced him a beautiful baby.

Lily Lou beamed.

"He has your eyes," he said presently, "your lovely, long brown eyes, and the great sweep of pencilled brown. He will be a beautiful child."

She turned away. She had been thinking of his ears, his delicately molded chin....like Kevin....

She had been terribly afraid that people would pity her because she had a baby, draw away from her, perhaps even point her out as an outcast. It had seemed that way, at first.

But it wasn't so hard. She had to put him into a nursery at first, there was nothing else to do. But she made no secret of him, talked about "my baby....you didn't know I had a baby, did you?"

"Heavens no!" Wanda Pillsbury said. "Didn't even know you were married!"

"I'm not. I'm separated from my husband."

Maybe that explained it, and maybe it didn't. She called herself Lily Lou Lansing, without any "Mrs." or "Miss." Gwin forced to designate she said "Mrs." —"I'll be called Madame Lansing before long, anyway,' she thought.

Dwight Gwin knew about the baby of course, but he did not speak of it for several days. When he did, it was as if he had always existed. She was grateful to him for that.

Tony went with her frequently on her visits to the nursery, dangled the baby, made faces to make him laugh.

Tony was actually a member of the Metropolitan orchestra now. It was heartening to see how delighted he was. He must have hated his job in the Bronx movie as much as she hated her first New York job in the chop-suey palace.

While she was still at the Pennsylvania hotel where she had gone on landing, Maxine Rochon, in a neat blue silk coat suit and a new hat, called to see her.

"My dear, I've just heard you were back. I bumped into Waldo, and she said you were here and all set to start work with Gwin again. So I rushed right over. I want you to come and live with me again—"

"Oh! But I couldn't—Mrs. Manchester would never take—"

"Manchester? Oh. I split up with her right after you left. Frances got a job in Chicago and when I brought in Olive Hanauer—Olive's really a good egg, but a little lively —she had a fit. So the two of us walked out on her—just ahead of the sheriff, and Olive and I took an apartment on Fifty-seventh, right next door to where Manchester used to live—"

"Used to live!"

"Sure. She left for Europe right after. You didn't meet her by chance, did you? Well anyway, Olive and I took this apartment—nothing elegant like Manchester's —a mere three-room affair, neat and free, all but the gas and electric and telephone—"

"Maxine Rochon! I never in my life saw such a girl for getting things free!"

"No? Well, you're not so slow yourself. You did pretty well by yourself, little Red Riding Hood, with your eight months gadding all over the continent at Madame Nahlman's expense, and then falling back on Gwin, with free sessions, and I suppose a salary only clothes I have are the grand evening things Madame Nahlman gave me, and I can't wear them on the street."

Maxine grinned. "Oh, something will turn up!"

Back home in Woodlake, if she had read about a girl coming to New York and falling into the sort of luck she had had, she wouldn't have believed it. You either had luck, or you didn't. Maxine, who practically lived by her wits, being seemingly enough, by methods good girl, took everything, and gave nothing but her personality.

She and her small circle were the sort whom traveling salesmen from Columbus and Cincinnati invariably meet and take to dinner, a show, and roof cabaret afterward. The number of blind dates that Maxine accuring was something that never failed to astound Lily Lou who steadfastly refused to accompany her.

"Why not? Free meal, good show—it makes 'em get the best seats, and pick the shows! Dance a bit afterward if they can dance, eat some more, and then leave 'em. Not so bad—for a plain looking girl! And you—with your looks—"

Lily Lou laughed. "No, I couldn't, just couldn't go in for that! I don't know—Early bringing up, I guess."

The next few months would be ghastly. Even doing all her own laundry, and all the cleaning in the apartment, and cutting her food down to almost nothing, she didn't see how she'd manage.

Gwin was staying at his Long Island home during the summer months, and only came in one day a week to teach. Lily Lou hesitated when he made out her first weekly check. "I can't take a week's pay for a day's work," she said dejectedly.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion Find Few Cases Incurable

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by excess acid stomach," says well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis or stomach ulcers. Don't close an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a tasty Bisurated Magnesia. It not only will the pain vanish but you will feel like eating a hearty meal. Nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia, sweetens sour acid stomach so quickly. Your stomach aches at once and in just a few minutes Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

JULY 15 — MR. AND MRS.— A CHAPTER IN HOUSEHOLD ECONOMY

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

TARZAN, No. 75

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

A full day's march ahead of the Big Bwana who trailed them hour by hour, five young Arabs were returning homeward to the tribe the Sheik ruled. They had been far inland on a successful ivory raid. A handsome, sinister youth rode at their head when they sighted some fleeting object in the distance. Forward he spurred his hunter! Thinking always of possible ransom money, Abdul Kamak put yours to his horse and rode toward it.

Meriem, after eluding the Swede, roamed the forest several days before she was aware she was lost in its dense maze. Her ammunition was exhausted searching for food, when she came abruptly to a small clearing where once had stood a native village surrounded by its fields. All unconscious of immediate danger, she was making her way down its deserted street to the jungle when she noticed a cloud of dust on the horizon.

Rapidly it rolled toward her until she made out a horseman in flowing white coming straight across the plain. Like a startled doe Meriem sped for the jungle, but ere she could reach its safety Abdul Kamak had won the race and she was his prisoner. The young Arab saw that the figure clad in the riding boots and breeches was a woman—a young and lovely one too. Here was a gift from Allah! Swiftly he swung her to his saddle.

Two more days the men rode with their fair prize until the girl saw the Arab tents on the yellow desert sands. Vaguely it all seemed strangely familiar to her as with shouts of greeting the wild youths led them directly to the presence of a tall grim old fellow who glared down upon her from the folds of his burnoose. All the fears and terrors of her childhood returned as Meriem stood before the Sheik and knew that he recognized her.

L. TASCHEREAU CALLS SEAWAY PACT A CRIME

Quebec Not Consulted In Any Way Says Premier

FOUR REASONS

Government Will Defend Integrity And Rights in Matter

QUEBEC, July 13.— (CP)— Premier L. A. Taschereau today described the St. Lawrence waterway agreement between Canada and the United States as a "national crime."

It was a "grotesque proposition," he said, in a statement reiterating his contention that the Government of Quebec had been ignored in negotiations for the deal.

"We can be sure of one thing above all others," he added, "the Government will be found ready to defend in every way possible our integrity and our rights and our constitutional rights." Mr. Taschereau did not explain the import of these remarks, but added the following:

"The whole project seems to me to be incomprehensible and I cannot think that the representatives of the province would consent to it.

Cites Four Reasons

"1—It gives the United States 1,000,000 horsepower when, if they were deprived of it, they would quickly come into the province and establish industries—as they have already done in Lake St. John and in the St. Maurice district in the eastern townships.

"2—It adds millions of dollars to Canada's debt when her citizens are already heavily taxed, possibly more than they can bear.

"3—The benefits to the Province of Ontario 1,000,000 horsepower on conditions far more favorable than those of other provinces, seeing that this enormous quantity of power would go to the Ontario Hydro, whereas our electric power companies are heavily taxed and the commission authorities have refused to put them on the same footing as the Ontario hydro system.

"4—If this waterway ever became useful for navigation by sea-going vessels, severe competition would have to be faced by Montreal, and the railways are now at the end of their tether."

In reply to a statement made at Montreal by Hon. Clifford Dubois, Minister of Marine, to the effect that the province of Quebec had been kept advised of negotiations leading to the St. Lawrence Treaty, Mr. Taschereau said:

"I do not like to tar Mr. Duranleau with bad faith, but his statement is positively contrary to the facts. I have been kept advised I would say Mr. Duranleau has fallen any correspondence on this subject which has been exchanged between the

"We had heard so little that on the 26th of May last I wrote a long letter to Hon. Mr. Bennett, in which I pointed out clearly to the project and the letter was published in all the newspapers. I received no reply.

"Hon. Mr. Duranleau says that during a recent visit to Ottawa by himself, Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Lands and Forests, Charles Lanctot, K.C., assistant attorney-general, and Col. Ernest Lapointe, K.C., the Lawrence Canal project was submitted to us in its entirety. This visit was made in the month of March last, when Mr. Duranleau admitted that the province of Quebec would have to contribute to the project.

Proposal Grotesque

"The proposition submitted to us on that occasion was grotesque, when it was known that our province objected to the principle of the project and Mr. Duranleau has reason to say that we refused to accept it emphatically.

"Mr. Duranleau further says also personally that the Hon. Mr. Bennett has never kept us informed of these negotiations and that were in progress between Washington and Ottawa.

"We do not yet know what the treaty is, and Messrs. Duranleau, Dubois (Hon. Arthur Sauve, Postmaster General) were very careful in speaking of it during the recent election in Maisonneuve, when it would have been easy to take from the people of Quebec into their confidence.

"I take occasion to declare, during the last session, that this canalization was a national crime, and I withdraw nothing from what I have said.

"It is true, as Mr. Duranleau states, that the province of Quebec will not be called upon to pay for any part of the works that would be carried out in the international section of the river, but Mr. Duranleau forgets that the Dominion and our citizens would accept hugely local waterway. It is not whether they liked it or not, work

Forest Ranger Killed and Wife Wounded by Unknowns

Tragedy Believed Caused By Vigilance Against Poachers

Rossburn, Man., July 15 —Lawrence Cross, young Dominion forest ranger, is dead and his pretty bride of five weeks lies in Clear Lake Hospital, Thursday night, as the result of a murderous raid on a Forestry patrol station in Riding Mountain Forest Reserve, fourteen miles north of here.

Late Wednesday night the ranger was murdered when unidentified assailants fired through the window of the station, the shot piercing his back.

A few minutes later the slayers entered the cabin as Mrs. Less was telephoning police officials. They ruthlessly shot her down, then built a fire over the body of her neck.

Police Organize Search

A man-hunt was quickly organized by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and last night an intensive search throughout the reserve is proceeding.

Poachers in the National park are suspected by police of being responsible for the slaying, following recently developed among some residents of the district, resentment because of Less' strict enforcement of poaching and timber regulations in the park. Mr. and Mrs. Less, seated at the kitchen table in their cabin, were enjoying a light lunch before retiring. The room was illumined by an oil lamp. Without warning, a shot was fired and Mr. Less fell forward in his chair. The bullet entered his neck and he died almost immediately.

Mrs. Less ran to his side, but found he was beyond assistance. Then she lifted a rifle from the wall and fired through the window at forms lurking in the darkness.

Shot While Telephoning

Rushing to the telephone, she called Clear Lake. As she was describing what had happened, two men entered the room, and one fired before she could turn and raise the rifle, which she still held in one hand. Her screams as the bullet imbedded in her neck and the sound of the shot carried over the telephone to the listener at the other end of the line.

CORNWALL LOOKS TO BE GREAT CITY

CORNWALL, July 14.—Envisaging Cornwall as a Great City, leaping its place among the most important industrial centres of the Dominion, local residents received with jubilation the announcement last night that a definite agreement had been reached between Canada and the United States in connection with development of the St. Lawrence River. Premiers of citizens agreed the waterway and power project was of enormous benefit to the town, and foresee an increase of population and consequent property as an immediate result.

PRESIDENT ONLY CAN CALL TROOPS

Veterans at Washington Continues Their Long Vigil

Washington, July 15—A ragged regiment of far western World War veterans, tramping endlessly in single file back and forth in front of the Capitol for several weeks days, goaded Congress almost to the point of invoking martial law Thursday night.

Amazed at the persistence of the veterans, led by Roy W. Robertson of Los Angeles, a cripple, with his hand held rigidly in a steel and leather brace, capitol officials telephoned late yesterday to the United States Marines. Vice-President Curtis, according to unconfirmed information, was said to have given the word to call the Marines.

Two companies of the khaki-clad sea soldiers were sent to the capitol to establish a guard. They were withdrawn five minutes later when somebody realized that only President Hoover can order soldiers on riot duty.

Police were ordered to clear the capitol square and remove the air-front to Congressional dignity. But two hours after this order was issued it was rescinded, and late last night the veterans, after a major tactical victory, were tramping still back and forth, tired, hot, hungry, their feet blistered, but going strong.

ODDS FAVOR THE GOVERNOR

Roosevelt Has Best Chance of Any Democrat in 30 Years

New York, July 15—If betting odds are an indication, Franklin D. Roosevelt has a better chance of becoming president than any Democratic candidate in the last thirty years.

The odds today against the New York governor are 7 to 5. Even when Woodrow Wilson was a candidate to succeed himself in 1916 the midsummer odds were 2½ to 1 against him, according to John McGovern, who has been placing bets in Wall Street that run into five figures for nearly 30 years.

"I've never heard of shorter early season odds and I think I can safely say that there have never been any more favorable to a Democrat," McGovern said.

"Four years ago at this time odds ranged from 2½ to 4 to 1 against Smith. In the first two weeks of September 3 to 1 was about the best a canny Smithite bettor could get, but after the campaign began in earnest the odds against him rose steadily.

Toronto, July 14—"On the evidence presented there is no proof of any dishonesty or graft on the part of any employee of the city, and no inefficiency except such errors and mistakes of judgment as would be to disclosed in the affairs of any large corporation," is the finding in a statement of Judge J. H. Denton, in his finding published today in the case of Control today, on the charges made by W. J. Haire, which the Judge investigated.

Haire had alleged graft and inefficiency was the rule in civic administration, and the investigation was ordered.

Toronto, July 13—An experiment in an effort to find a new and cheap solvent for rubber ended yesterday in a violent explosion which burned Jeremiah Sullivan, 50, and his two-year-old baby Kathleen.

ROOSEVELT TO BACK LEHMAN

Believes He Will Gain All New York State Party Moves

Marion, Mass., July 15—(UP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt had plans last night to begin his campaign for the Presidency and indicated that he would back Lieut.-Governor Herbert H. Lehman for the Democratic nomination for Governor of New York.

These political matters were broached at a conference with newspaper men after the Democratic nominee, on a vacation cruise with his sons, anchored his yawl in Sippean harbor shortly before nightfall.

The indicated backing of Lehman by Roosevelt was regarded by political observers as a bold bid for New York State's support for the Presidential ticket. It was also recalled that when Lehman was elected Lieutenant-Governor he obtained a larger majority in New York City than Roosevelt, and Roosevelt's backing of Lehman would be expected to aid the presidential ticket greatly in the metropolis.

Roosevelt refused to answer all questions regarding his tilt with President Hoover over the development of the St. Lawrende River, Governor, who alternated unsuccessfully to gain a decision with Mr. Hoover on the Project, perused two bundles of data on the development submitted to him by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York power authority.

END OF TRUCK CROSS PUZZLE

Moving Checkerboard Idea Adopted by Dept. of Highways

LONDON, Ont., July 15.—If one of those ominous black and white checkered signs marking dangerous curves on Ontario highways should start dancing before your eyes, don't run for the cellar, it will merely mean the Department of Highways has adopted the suggestion of the London Suburban Roads Commission.

Taking note of the excellent results which followed placing checkerboard signs at sharp turns, and the fact that many accidents are due to hurtling motorists piling into the rear of slow moving or parked trucks when visibility is poor, the road commission suggested converting the rear end of trailers and trucks into checkerboards. The plan is to dash the road commission's own trucks in black and white at the start and extend the campaign to other vehicles if successful.

"IF IT'S CITIES SERVICE . . . IT HAS TO BE GOOD"

No danger of carbon from oil that passes this tough test

Faltering power—knocking on hills—big bills for valve grinding and new head—that's the way you know that the oil you have been using has too much carbon. The chemist's test for carbon is the complicated apparatus shown above. He places a small amount of oil in a porcelain dish. This goes into a crucible, which is torn goes into a second. Careful application of heat—never too much, never too little—will evaporate the oil in about thirty minutes.

Then comes the most exacting part—for the carbon residue that remains must be weighed with extreme precision. A variation of five thousandths of a gram may mean the difference between acceptance and rejection of the whole run.

By thus checking every run of oil from Cities Service refineries, Cities Service chemists make it easy for you to avoid the risk of excess carbon. The Cities Service emblem on any grade of oil certifies that it has been tested and found well within rigid limits for carbon-content—for it is has been found to have the proper body, the proper pour-point, the proper resistance to heat.

These chemists test every run, of both gasolene and oil, and rejectany that do not "measure up." That's what we mean when we say "If it's Cities Service, it has to be good!"

At The Belle
TRICK SHOES, NOSES WITH FORTUNE FOR COMICS

Fortune may lie in a sneeze; fame may rest upon a pair of crossed eyes and steady work may be derived from clever manipulation of a toothpick.

Such strange trade marks were revealed recently in a survey of the specialties indulged in by the screen comedians who are appearing in "Million Dollar Legs," Paramount's Olympic Games comedy, which comes to the Belle Theatre Saturday and Monday, matinee daily, with a cast headed by Jack Oakie, W. C. Fields, Ben Turpin, Lyda Roberti and Andy Clyde.

The survey was prompted by the fact that there are more than 100 expert and well-known funsters at work in Hollywood studios, and, with few exceptions, each one has an individual trick not duplicated by the others. Take, for example, Harold Lloyd's horn-rimmed glasses; Charlie Chaplin's tiny moustache and shoes; Charlie Ruggles' hie and stagger; Buster Keaton's frozen face; Charles E. Butterworth's drollery; Stuart Erwin's bewilderment; Joe E. Brown's mouth and handsome face; and the differences in comedians, in fact, ranges all the way from Groucho Marx to fast-talking Grouchy.

When the roster of comedians appearing in "Million Dollar Legs" was examined, many obvious examples of trade-mark humor were found to be Billy Gilbert's, who has made a fortune out of a comedy sneeze; Ben Turpin, the crossed eyes have made him world famous, and Tenia Adams, the constant desire she has because he gives character to a toothpick.

Ranging from stars down to the minor players, the other comedians and their specialties are: Jack Oakie, fast wisecrack patter; W. C. Fields, perennial round nose and corner-of-mouth talking; Andy Clyde, walrus-mustached Scot; Lyda Herbert, movable eye-brows; Lyda Roberti, dialectician; George Barbier, eyeglass wiper; Hank Mann, hair-comb his trade-mark; Irving Bacon, "Mac" Clarke, Dell Henderson, pop-eyes; Dickie Moore, mischievous kid.

At The Capitol
MIRTH, MELODY, ACTION MARK THE GIRL CRAZY

George Gershwin is the young composer who startled the music world some years ago, when his now universally famed "Rhapsody in Blue", he added to this fame with the creation of "Girl Crazy" the brilliant stage success which ran on Broadway for more than a year and which now comes to the screen of the Capitol theatre with Wheeler, Woolsey and an outstanding array of Hollywood's ace comedy talent in the cast.

"Girl Crazy" which brought Gershwin great popularity, is interpreted on the screen as a merry mélange of melody and gay antics of the modern dude-ranch west.

In its cast are comedy stars, a child prodigy, Broadway beauties, Hollywood cowboys, Mexican celebrities, the gun men, and polished villains. The action shifts from city lounges to western dude ranch and Mexican resort and ranges from riproaring stunts to rhythmic dances and tender love scenes.

Heading the imposing array of talent are the two great stars, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, who start the film as city slickers and wind up as rough and ready westerners. Eddie Quillan carries the romantic lead; Mitzi Green, Hollywood's child mimic wonder, plays a significant little sister and the romance and beauty brigade, is headed by Dorothy Lee, Arline Judge, Kitty Kelly and Lita Chevret. Stanley Fields and Chris Pin Martin play the chief gun run villains.

The story deals with a girl crazy youth who is sent to the quiet of a western ranch to cure him of his weakness for beautiful women. He imports a snappy girl band, a bevy of beauties, dancing girls and the cowpunchers in dinner jacket, tie and evening dress, and into a playboy's paradise.

Sweet Kitty Bellairs

On the same program Manager Chris Holmes has selected a worthy second feature in "Girl Crazy" in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs", the all color comedy of errors of the eighteenth century.

The contrast in these two pictures is exceptionally striking in spite of each being a musical comedy, and proves if the Capitol Theatre will derive enjoyment from every moment of the big week end program.

Coupons affording further chances to secure the free dinner (soon to be given away) will be presented to patrons at all performances today and Saturday.

Lost Flier Found Alive but Starving And Unable to Speak in Dense Jungle

Mexico City, July 15—One of two fliers, who have been missing since June 27, when their aeroplane disappeared over the Mexican interior on the way to Panama was reported alive today, but it was impossible immediately to ascertain, which of the two the survivor was.

The men were Clarence McElroy, Marysville, Ind., pilot of the plane and Roy Gordon, resident of Tegucigalpa, Honduras.

Despatches from San Geronimo said an Indian woodsman found the survivor, starving and unable to speak, five miles east of there.

He made signs, however, indicating he had been in an aeroplane accident, the despatch said, and that his companion would be found deeper in the jungle.

A relief party was sent out from San Geronimo and found the dead body of another man.

Indians See White Chief's Mark Advance of Pullman Monster to Port Win Bags Flour as Prizes Canoe Race

Moosonee, Ont., July 16 (CP)—Four hundred Indians here today are recovering from their wonderment at the monster, a Pullman train, whose visit to Moosonee marked the completion of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. The Redmen came by canoe, some for hundreds of miles, to see Premier George H. Henry and many other white chiefs celebrate a new advance in the conquest of the north.

Twelve bags of flour were distributed to them in the sports program after the opening ceremonies. Both white men and Indians took part, but the latter excelled at canoe racing. Now they are looking forward to the annual payment of treaty money some time next week, though it amounts to only $4.00 a man.

The Pullman train, yesterday's centre of interest, is now speeding southward with the large party of government officials and business men who attended the opening of Moosonee. Citizens of this little seaport, just past its first birthday, are confident the visitors will return when Moosonee is better known as a tourist resort and transportation centre.

The first business transacted in part embodying requests of the meeting to the government, was laid before the meeting:

Memorandum.

"Canada is an agricultural country. Forty-seven per cent. of her people are on the land. Farm people as a class buy more goods produced by industry than any other section of the country. On other words, the farmer is the nation's best customer, and when his purchasing power is crippled business stagnates and unemployment increases. Naturally, then, there can be no return to permanent prosperity in this country until the buying power of the farmer is reported.

"The Canadian farming community desires improved trade relations within the Empire, and views Great Britain provides the greatest single importing market in the world for agricultural products in particularly request closer trade relations with that country.

Dollar at Par.

"In view of the fact that the present unfavorable rate of exchange against our Canadian dollar in the Old Country market seriously handicaps the Canadian farmer selling in that market, and marketing at home at prices ruled by that market, we request the immediate adoption of international agreement being arranged as for the eventual stabilization of currency on a world-wide basis, and in the meantime the immediate of immediate relief for our Canadian farmers the placing of our Canadian currency on a par with the pound sterling."

Miss Agnes Macphail, Progressive member for Southeast Grey in the Dominion House, declared that Canadian delegates to the Imperial Conference should endeavor to see that the Canadian dollar was brought to a parity with the British pound at once.

Applause greeted this declaration.

EXCHANGE RATES.

Exchange rates at the close today were:

Pound sterling in Montreal, 4.08½, U. S. dollar in Montreal and Toronto, 99½, pound sterling in New York, 3.34¾, Canadian dollar in New York, 96¾.

BROKE JAIL FOR SMOKE HE CLAIMS

Lindsay, July 16—Questioned by jail officials when he was brought back after less than a day's liberty, following his "break", George McLaughlin told the officials the reason he made the break was to get a smoke. That was the only excuse he could give, it is claimed. No tobacco of any kind is allowed in the jail here.

McLaughlin, apparently a very heavy smoker, must have felt the need for the soothing of Jack Nicotine and somehow his mad flight to that. He was captured early yesterday morning and will probably be brought up on a further charge of escaping from custody in addition to the one on which he was sent and which he was remanded to jail in the first place.

Garfield, president of the institute of politics, which will convene in Williamstown for its annual summer session on July 27 indicated today that the Lausanne accord on reparations and the United States invitation to it would be the chief subject for discussion.

"The Lausanne accord like a modern day miracle," he said, "has sent a thrill through the nations of the world. What it will pass; or will the United States rise to a great opportunity?"

JUST HARD LUCK.

Carl Junction, Mo., July 16.—Volunteer firemen who rushed to answer an alarm discovered the town's only fire truck had no oil in the motor and no gasoline in the fuel tank. Then they learned that the fire chief had gone fishing. In the meantime, the fire was through the walls of a nearby house and threatened two others.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT LIABLE TO HAPPEN

Several complaints by motorists who have been using the thoroughfare that children dash from the curb in the way of passing cars on North Front Street, reached a climax Friday evening when a car being driven by one of the aldermen of the city narrowly missed striking a small child, who had darted in front of the moving car. Other narrow escapes have been recorded on that stretch of road. Children, oblivious to the passing traffic, have been found playing ball and otherwise using the street for a playground. A serious accident is bound to result if the practice is continued.

UPPER BRIDGE WALL IS BEING REPAIRED

GLOWING TREE IS DISCOVERED

Welland, July 16.—Travis boys of Welland county, who have recently returned from their annual camping expedition at Cedar Bay, discovered at the edge of the campus a freak of nature which might be described as a glowing tree. Some of the boys having tripped over a root of an elm tree, started to remove the root when a light was noticed radiating from the place where the root had been cut. Other roots were notched and the same results occurred. It was found, although the entire child had glowed in the dark, that following two or three days, when the chips had dried out, the glowing stopped. It is understood that mining and in the water caused the unnatural radiation. A well dug in the vicinity showed that the water there was strong with sulphur and it is believed that other minerals are present.

SIX MEN FALL WITH SCAFFOLD

Kingston, July 16—When the scaffold broke on which they were working with four other men at the Old Arts Building at Queen's University, W. R. Shelton, 254 University Avenue, sustained a dislocated shoulder and Theodore Alexander, another workman, suffered sprained ankle in the fifteen foot fall. The four other workmen were badly shaken but escaped with minor cuts and bruises. The two injured men were removed to the General Hospital where they are reported to be progressing favorably.

DAMAGES SETTLED BETWEEN PARTIES

A slight motor accident, which occurred on Front street, was settled to the satisfaction of both parties concerned.

Mrs. Roger Porter, Dunbar street, was backing her machine out from the curb at the same moment that the car belonging to Mr. W. D. Embury was passing the spot. Both cars collided. Damages which were sustained by the Embury car included a damaged right rear fender and a right rear tire. An adjustment was made on the spot.

MANHOLE COVER BROKEN BY LOAD

Weakened and fractured by countless wheels, which passed over it during the many years it had been down, a manhole cover on upper Front Street collapsed this morning just as a heavy truck had rumbled across it. Public works department employees are replacing it.

MERCURY RISES TO 80 MARK

A marked difference was noted in the local temperature, when the mercury dropped as low as 43 early Saturday morning, Friday's temperatures were 77 high and 51 low. On Saturday, however, an almost perfect balling to its low mark of 43 soared under the rays of the early warm July sun to reach 73 at noon. The murphy was steadily rising and typical summer weather was predicted for the week-end.

DOLLAR COSTS FOR LANGUAGE

Opening of Gate Alleged as Cause of Use of Words

"One dollar and costs should be enough punishment as there seems to have been a little misunderstanding in the matter," said Magistrate Mikel, imposing that fine on Fred Rogers of Point Anne in the police court on Saturday morning.

Rogers was charged with using blasphemous language to Gilbert Thompson. Rogers pleaded guilty to the charge but assured the court that he had been "egged" on by Thompson opening a gate which allowed his cows to wander about on the highway. Rogers told the court that after opening the gate Thompson had laughed at him and that (Rogers) had then used the profane language. After meting out the fine His Worship Magistrate Mikel informed the two men that they should take the matter up in a higher court if there was any more trouble in regard to the opening of a gate for passage purposes.

FRUIT OF ALL KIND OFFERED

Eggs Rise in Price While Vegetables and Fruits Steady

Under a sweltering sun, Saturday's market was one of the most largely attended of the year and more than usual trading was in evidence during the few hours of business.

Eggs were perhaps a cent dearer in price when they sold at 17c to 20c a dozen, the latter price being asked during the final hours of trading. Butter sold at 22c and 23c a pound, the price not varying to any extent. Many chickens were offered to the purchasers ranging from 20c to 30c apiece according to size and weight. Small young broilers were soon disposed of at 30c each or 1/. same cases 50c the pair. Home made cooking was offered at the prevailing prices.

Vegetables were in much more plentiful and brought 35c a small box; huckleberries selling at 30c and blueberries at 25c to 30c a small basket; gooseberries at 3 quarts for 25c; strawberries 10c a box; red currants at 10c box and black currants at 15c a box, comprised the fruit market, which was one of the outstanding features of the day.

The vegetable market vendors offered a large assortment of all, when their wares were highly in demand. New potatoes brought 3c to 35c a peck, while green shelled peas were offered at 15c and 20c a quart. Plenty of other green vegetables, such as beets sold at 3 a bunch, also carrots, radishes, lettuce and cabbage. Cut flowers were also offered.

Several loads of hay at $8.00 was the only other commodity handled of cordwood.

Other meat market quotations were as follows:

Veal, weaners 3 1-2 to 10 for cows; 7 1-2c stews.
Beef (hind quarters) ... 10-12 1-2c.
Hogs, 150 lbs. up ..... $4.00 to $5.00
Hogs dressed cwt. ..... $7.50-$8.00
Lard, per pound 7c
Lamb, per pound 14c
Mutton, per pound 10c
Hides, weaters, per pound 3c
Hides, cows, per pound 1c
Horsehides, each ..... $1.00 to $2.00
Sheepskins, a piece 10c

"HOGGING"

An automobile driven at a fast rate and "hogging" the centre of the highway successfully saved a car containing five persons taking to the ditch on the highway near Bl. Placide all the occupants being injured. This offence is altogether too common and motorists are not noting the dividing white marks at curves and on hills, apparently confident that they will be permitted to continue on their selfish and perilous course by other drivers who are fearful of risking their lives by driving their cars off the left side of the highway. Traps for these offenders should be in order, and drastic punishment upon conviction of driving to the danger of others.—Montreal Gazette.

A TOO COSTLY FUNERAL WORKS HARDSHIP

In time of distress few people have the thought or inclination to question cost

Many people choose unwisely in a funeral that is too expensive and thereby add a real hardship upon them when the time comes for reckoning up. Their own fault, perhaps — but a share of the responsibility must fall on the shoulders of the funeral director who fails to offer a fitting service within the means of every family.

Strangely enough, at Tickell and Browne's we have found that for its beautiful service to actually cost less than many family finds protection. Here a definite effort is made to avoid expensive items that are limited.

After all, the splendid facilities of Tickell and Browne's are always available and are devoted to every funeral regardless of cost.

ONE NUISANCE ENDED

Elevation of the rate of letter postage in the United States to three cents, bringing it to equality with the Canadian rate, will not end at least one nuisance to which the people of this country have been subjected. That is the delay in the despatch of letters sent to Canadian destinations by our American cousins, a great many of whom persisted in attaching only two-cent stamps to their Canadian communications when a three-cent rate was ordered.

Now that three-cent letter postage is general throughout the United States, applying equally to letters for Canada as for the United States, there ought to be fewer of them being returned to the senders for additional postage or, in lieu of any means of identifying the senders, going to the Dead Letter Office. And there ought to be even fewer of those letters which, having reached the scrutiny of the American postal officials, persistently Canada bearing only two-cent stamps, and requiring the recipients to cough up the extra postage, perhaps on some circular letter of neither interest nor importance to them.

No person care particularly about paying postage upon communications which they do not send. Nor are they anxious to have their mail delayed days or even weeks in the Dead Letter Office. That is why introduction of three-cent postage throughout the United States will be hailed with something approaching both glee and relief by a considerable number of Canadian citizens. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

BREAKFAST SERVICE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please explain to me the uses for the silver utensils that are placed in the enclosed picture?

Hostess

This place is apparently set for breakfast ... with its gay breakfast cloth and small napkins, its flowered china, (or pottery) breakfast plate and bread and butter plate, and its tumbler of apparently dark colored glass. The small spoon on the extreme right is the spoon for the half orange or grapefruit. Next nearer the plate on the right is the tea spoon for the cereal. Next, still nearer plate, the dessert spoon, for the cereal. And then the knife on the right, nearest the plate, and the fork on the left, is for the main course, bacon and eggs, probably.

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted to her.)

BATHER IN NUDE IN POLICE NET

London, July 16—Dodging about among the bushes near Gibbons pool without the customary bathing suit—or any other kind of suit—a North London resident created considerable excitement among the more conventionally clad, and the subsequent chase by police and public-spirited bathers caused even more of a furore. The quarry took refuge in a thick clubbed purchasers to be an unfair advantage but managed to bring shallows to an island, where he hid among the bushes. P. C. Baker and Miles, who finally made the arrest were well soaked in mud and water before they did so. The centre of attraction will appear upon a disorderly charge in city police court.

DREDGING IN PROGRESS IN PICTON BAY

Picton Public School Be. Pays Teachers $1000 Less

Dredging operations are being carried on in Picton harbor this week. A dredging outfit owned by the Hall Company of Kingston arrived on Tuesday and started work in front of Colliver and Hoyt's wharf, near the bridge. Water at this point has been very shallow for a number of years, due to mud deposited from the marsh, and it was difficult for lake freighters to dock there. The dredge is a combination affair. No moves are used. It loads itself from barrels and clam and when loaded is towed down the channel to a point near the new pumping station to dump. Bert Judson has been engaged to move the outfit back and forth with his motorboat.

The tug Prince towed a barge loaded with 600 tons of coal to the Napanee River last week. The reason was that this is the largest boat to enter the river in many years. Capt. McCullough has been connected with coaling and freighting vessels for many years and made regular trips with his boat, the Lyman Davis, up until a few years ago. For the past few years he has been the first shoot. Much result is due to the engineering. Capts. McCullough and Ken. Pybus, who navigated the barge and tug up the difficult river bend, is very shallow in places and filled with weeds.

Youth Recovering

Raymond Foster, nineteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Foster, is improving nicely in the Prince Edward County Hospital, and is able to be out on the balcony daily. The improvement followed a very critical operation performed by Doctors Harris and Philp on the young man's skull. Previous to the operation he lay unconscious for a couple of weeks following an accident which occurred June 28, 1931. His new regained consciousness, is able to converse and takes his meals regularly.

The Hospital also reports that Mrs. Elmer Thompson and Mr. Ivan Fort Holt, both of whom suffered severe burns in motor mishaps, are well on the road to recovery.

"Rides in motor-busses are the rewards which natives of Uganda consider most attractive and which they earn through the growing of cotton which they deliver to the cotton-gins in charge of the British district agents in exchange for merchandise transportation from place to place," said Mr. R. A. Gayer, in the course of an address to Kiwanians this week.

Farmer Carman

Mr. James Carman, of Green Point, was called to his eternal rest in the early morning of Thursday, June 30th. His painful illness was borne about three years with exemplary patience. He was a naturally cheerful and were a smile rather than a tear or sorrow. Deceased was borne 83 years ago in this county, coming to Sophiasburg and homestead of his father, Mr. Henry Carman. His parents, also a family predeceased him. He was a very competent farmer, also a very kind and obliging neighbor. He was a devoted father and husband, a true and faithful friend, dedicating his life to make those about him happy. Mr. Mr. Carman resided in the farming service when required of him.

Some Americans come to Canada to get "wet" and a party of them got really wet on Sunday when their Hudson coupe, bearing a New York license, sank in the sand up to the hubs while they were driving in the water at the Outlet Beach. The water lapped gently against the engine hood while frantic efforts were made by several people to relieve the distress. The car refused to budge, in fact it settled right down to business. The heavy rain made things worse for everyone concerned. Two cars with a tow rope which was slashed to the bumper also tried but they were unable to move the car.

One kind-hearted man rolled up his pant legs, took off his boots and stockings and got behind to push. When the car wheel spun around the man was showered with wet sand and water, his immaculate white pants and shirt being badly spattered.

Relay Team

The Toronto relay team who last year returned home from Wellington with the Canadian Legion Trophy, unbeatable of their victory in the 11½ mile hockey relay between Picton and Wellington, have signified their intentions to again send a team this year to defend their laurels. The same team of last year will make the trip with the exception of Harold Windle, former Trenton boy, who under the doctor's orders must cease all activities. Windle will be replaced by Bill Janeway, one of the original runners on the team that made the trip two years ago.

The team, captained by Dave McKenzie, will run under the name of the well known Monarch Athletic Club. The Monarchs are not expected by any means, to win an easy race over the same Belleville and Wellington teams who last year gave them a great battle all the way. It is expected that much opposition this year will come from the Colborne team captained by Cummins, stellar 5 miler from that town. This team turned in a nice performance last year and should with more experience to their credit provide stiff opposition to all teams concerned.

Kingston and Peterboro may send teams.

Bloomfield

Bloomfield is one of Ontario's most fortunate villages. Its tax rate has just been decreased five mills, being now 12 mills. There is no debenture debt, and does not owe a dollar—in fact has a surplus. The Prince Edward County rate has also been reduced three mills.

$1000 Saved

One thousand dollars less for teachers' salaries in Picton Public Schools for the coming term.

At a recent meeting of the School Board, the maximum salary was set at $800, and the minimum at $700. All teachers were asked to accept the cut and the staff next year will be the same as in the past.

The principal's salary was cut $300, now being $1,800. This salary ranged a cut last year, hence the larger reduction.

Estimates passed by the Board were as follows:

Teachers' salaries $13,000
Other salaries 1,500
Fuel 1,000
Supplies 500
Repairs 1,500
Insurance 200
Miscellaneous 300
Total estimated expenditure $18,000.

Chicken thieves are busy in the County of Prince Edward, and several cases of theft are reported.

On July 2nd, D. H. Pope, of Consecon Street, Wellington, had chickens stolen, and is offering $15 reward for the arrest and conviction of the thief or thieves.

On July 4, Mrs. George Ward, of Hastings Corners had about eighty White Leghorns and Plymouth Rock chickens stolen. A reward of $25 is being offered in this case.

Two Year Term

On Saturday Harold Garrard, 27, was sentenced by two years in the Kingston Penitentiary on a charge of theft, having pleaded guilty to stealing a revolver, an automatic Colt, the property of Percy Wilson, at Bloomfield early in January. The revolver had been sold to a Picton man by one of the boys Garrard's companion in the Penitentiary breaks, and traced back by the police. Garrard admitted stealing the revolver and stated that the young man had driven him to the city. This young man was also charged with being an accessory and given two years suspended sentence, bond of $200 and one year's probation the same amount being given.

Wm. Post, 19, of Marysburgh, was given two months in county jail, for contributing to delinquency. His bail will be released on bond for good behaviour, which, if forfeited, will bring a sentence of one year in jail.

Tug Runs Aground

The steam barge N. Sicken went aground near Stony Point about four miles from Deseronto lighthouse in the Napanee River last week. She freed herself when a line was run ashore from aft and a windlass used to haul her off at the stern. The boat was en route to Owens Sound from Montreal and also had discharged a cargo of coal.

Rev. Cook Inducted

Rev. E. M. Cook, for four years pastor of Consecon charge of the United Church, was inducted at his new charge, Bloomfield, on Thursday, July 7, the service being conducted by an old college chum, Rev. H. McMillan, B.A., B.D., of Keene.

Presentations to Rev. and Mrs. Cook previous to leaving Consecon included a purse of gold of over four dollars (Consecon; gold piece by Hillier Church; gold piece by Bloomfield; lovely quilt; Consecon W. A., a silver tray. The children, David, Myrtle and Helen Cook, were presented with gifts by their Sunday School classes.

Services of exceptional interest and power were held in the United Church last Sunday. Large congregations were present both morning and evening. The occasion was the first visit of Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Prior who sail on the 26th returning to their mission field at Dandi Angoli, West Africa.

Relay Team

The Toronto relay team who last year returned home from Wellington with the Canadian Legion Trophy, unbeatable of their victory in the 11½ mile hockey relay between Picton and Wellington, have signified their intentions to again send a team this year to defend their laurels. The same team of last year will make the trip with the exception of Harold Windle, former Trenton boy, who under the doctor's orders must cease all activities. Windle will be replaced by Bill Janeway, one of the original runners on the team that made the trip two years ago.

The team, captained by Dave McKenzie, will run under the name of the well known Monarch Athletic Club. The Monarchs are not expected by any means, to win an easy race over the same Belleville and Wellington teams who last year gave them a great battle all the way. It is expected that much opposition this year will come from the Colborne team captained by Cummins, stellar 5 miler from that town. This team turned in a nice performance last year and should with more experience to their credit provide stiff opposition to all teams concerned.

Dominion's Hopes Raised As Bert Pearson Equals World Mark for Sprint

Hamilton Youth Wins Distance in 10 2-5 Seconds

WILSON STARS

Breaks Canadian Record in 400 Metre Event

Hamilton, Ont., July 16—A couple of tow-heads with flying feet boosted Canada's Olympic stock to a new high level for the year as they outclassed brilliant fields at the Canadian Olympic track and field trials Friday. They equalled or neared world records and more than made up for a sorry showing by the sprinkling also trying for positions on the Dominion team.

Between them, blonde Bert Wilson, of Hamilton, as great a sprinter as the east has ever developed, and Alex. Wilson, Montreal scissors-legged lad, put on a performance almost all the glory on the track and field program to decide the squad Canada will send to the Los Angeles games.

Bert Wilson, the 18 year old school boy, won the 100 metres event in 10 2-5 seconds, equalling the world record and equalling the world's record as fast as any man ever has careened over the dash distance with the exception of Percy Williams, Vancouver's double Olympic champion, whose 10 3-10 seconds time has yet to be recognized by international track authorities. Out of his starting blocks like a flash, driving low and hard to the finish, Bert Pearson edged everyone to be faced in the two heats and the finals. Edmonton's great dash star, Buster Greene, and Harold Wright, finished as a team behind Pearson in the first heat, Greene winning.

A distinct menace to the world's records was Bert Wilson in the second heat, Wilson won the first half of the two-event run in 10 4-5 seconds, but only in the finals. He soundly trounced Jimmy Bell and Stanley Glover in the metric route, broke Bell's recognized Canadian record of 48 3-5 seconds, negotiating the distance in 46 1-5 and finished in a walk.

Ball, who won the event at the Manitoba trials less than a week ago in the same time as Wilson recorded yesterday, made a gallant finish to take second, but was beaten by Lewis, Hamilton colored star. The fourth place when he reached the stretch, Ball thundered down to the tape in the Nassau River last year. He caught Lewis 10 yards from the finish, but lost him by a foot, but Wilson, never in danger of losing, won the race in front of Ball at the end. Bill Fritz, Windsor, Ont., was a fourth; H. F. Hart, of Montreal, fifth, and Ed Martello, Trail, B.C., sixth in the final.

Softened somewhat by a steady downpour of rain during the first three hours in the afternoon, the track was fast as a billiard table by the day, when Pearson and Wilson scored their record-smashing trials. Rain fell intermittently during an hour before the first event took the track and the field quailed.

The only other trackman to make the Olympic grade was Lloyd of four thousand think in terms of Olympic trials; Jackson, Toronto Scot distance runner who won the 10,000 metres in 31 minutes, 43 second. Jackson's time is not fast by the Olympic committee standard demanded by the Canadian body for the Canadian record for the distance but was good enough to make the Olympic record.

Bridge had no trouble beating a field of 17. He finished 300 yards in front of Ray Oliver of New Glasgow, N.S., and Riley Reynolds, Galt, who staged a sensational battle for second place. The Brantford man's shoulder to shoulder with the little Galt veteran over nearly the full length of the race, and 200 yards from the finish left him flatfooted with a brilliant sprint.

Art Navendale, Cobourg, was an easy winner in the 190 metre steeplechase, being caught in 15 2-5 seconds, 2-5 seconds above Canadian standard. The Cobourg ace, who runs for Macdonald College University, ran away from H. M. Baker, Montreal policeman and Bob Cooper, Cobourg high school boy, in the final after winning his heat without trouble.

Phil Edwards's victory in the 1,500 metres was hardly as impressive as his pre-Olympic performances in 1932. The dusky, long-striding Bermuda Guiana negro, was a formidable threat to all middle-distance runners was forced to the limit to win from two up-and-coming young stars, who came on strong in the stretch. Les Wade, Montreal, and Eddie Dyer, Hamilton, finished in that order, scarcely two yards in his wake. Edwards time was a sensational 3-4 minutes, but standard set by the Olympic committee was 3.50 2-5. Earle Moore, Hamilton Central Collegiate star, was a good fourth.

Weightmen Fail Down

Jumpers and weightlighowers failed dismally to show the form necessary for Olympic competition. Charles Hemeon, giant six-foot-four from Glace Bay, N.S., was the only double winner of the day, but his throws in the discus and shot put were far below Olympic standards.

Herman tossed the discus 130 feet, his highest effort short of the world mark. George Laughren, Glebe Collegiate, Ottawa, was second, and Gus Kyriacos, Hamilton, third. Herman put the 16 pound shot 41 feet, 11½ inches, falling short of the Olympic record by 11 inches. Laughren was second, second to Herman, in this event, and H. Walls, Fort William, was third.

Slim Kirkland, Hamilton school boy jumper, won the Canadian Jump with a leap of 23 feet 6¼ inches, defeating the British Empire champion, Len Hutton, of Montreal by three inches. Ken Richardson, of Lethbridge, Alta., was third. But Kirkland's jump was disallowed Wi-fi-foot standard of the committee.

Another Nova Scotian win was recorded. He was the hop, step and leap by E. Ryan of Truro. His best jump was feet, 2¼, inches. Ryan was required to stretch the measure 46 feet to assure himself a berth on the Canadian team. Jack Secker, Winnipeg, was second, and Ralph Clever Gerry, Fort William, took fourth place.

Pearson, who matches sprinting made the crowd forget all about Percy Williams, Canada's greatest his work for the day by running the anchor leg on the Hamilton Olympic Club in the 400 metre relay, and finishing first in the event. Ernie Ritchie, Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. to the tape. Pearson started four yards back of Ritchie and won by a wide margin.

The Hamilton youth and Brown and Wright, only serious Western contenders, definitely established themselves the best of the 28-man field that started in Quinton (100) metre honors. Pearson won his first heat in 10 4-5 seconds, Brown in the same time, and Wright in 10 9-10.

Don Rivers, of University of Western Ontario, London, took the other in 10 9-10.

5 Year Plan to Restore Butter, Cheese Industry Announced by Minister

Whole System to be Re-organized to Reduce Overhead

STORAGE PLANTS

Cheese Factories Reduced From 774 to 150 in Ontario

TORONTO, July 16.—Tackling a tremendous task program of reorganization in the dairy industry of the province, leaders of agriculture in Ontario have pledged themselves to a five-year plan by which they aim to capture the cheese market in Great Britain.

Under the plan, Ontario cheese factories, now totalling 774, will be reduced close to 150. This is to be accomplished by a series of amalgamations and elimination.

Some 500 storage plants are to be created in a movement toward concentrating dairy industry in building up the export business.

Every encouragement is to be offered farmers to insure increased production.

According to Col. Kennedy, the plan will be carried out quickly, but systematically. It carries the cooperation of the entire Ontario Cabinet and is announced after a full year of consideration by the department in conjunction with the Ontario Marketing Board.

On Co-operative Basis

The plan in brief as outlined by Col. Kennedy is to place the manufacture and sale of cheese and butter on a huge co-operative basis, reduce the overhead by the elimination of small cheese factories, increase the volume of milk production, create community cheese houses and build up a selling organization.

"Such a scheme has never before been attempted in the history of this province," said Col. Kennedy when interviewed at Parliament Buildings. "In England there is a market for Ontario cheese which in the matter of volume we have never been able to satisfy. We propose to fill that market as well as the domestic market by a plan which in my opinion will revolutionize the entire dairy industry."

There are 774 cheese factories in Ontario. The greater proportion are small in size with a limited output. The Government's plan, calls for an amalgamation of many plants and the erection of about 150 large cheese factories in operation. By assembling these resources, it is hoped, the farmers will produce butter and cheese at three cents per pound less than heretofore. The next move in the five-year plan is to encourage production of purely provincial matter, in the hands of Ontario farmers. Increased production per cow means so much more profit for the farmer, Col. Kennedy explained, and, ceasefully in its essentials, the farm, he will profit to the extent of many millions of dollars.

Create Storage Plants

The third step will be the creation of about 30 storage plants in various parts of the province, similar to the one which the plan plants erected for the fruit industry. When Col. Kennedy became Minister of Agriculture, he found in the fruit industry particularly in the province a lack of quick, ready system. Establishment of cold storage plants, a proper system of grading and the use of a distinctive trade name were effected with the result that Ontario apples now command a premium on the overseas markets and Ontario growers are reaping to the full the benefit of these moves.

Now the department proposes to adopt a similar principle in the dairy industry, the first offering which is looked upon by Col. Kennedy as the best backbone agriculture in Ontario.

The average production of butter in Canada per creamery is 142,000 pounds per year, according to 1930 figures. The average production per factory in New Zealand is 1,060,000 pounds per year, 840,000 pounds and in Australia, 1,458,000 pounds. In 1930 Ontario cheese factories each produced 84,000 pounds, while in New Zealand the average production per factory was 811,000 pounds. If by an amalgamation of factories and creameries and a great-in-creased production, the average production of both cheese and butter can be stepped up to twice its present volume, the producers will effect a tremendous saving in cost of production and will be in a position to compete with products from other countries. At the present time the advantage that the Canadian dollar is a handicap, but it will put a stop to the flooding of Toronto and other large centres with farm produce, and will insure to them the cheese factories and creameries.

Profitable Investment

Twenty-five years ago Ontario produced cheese to the value of $30,000,000. During the value of $30,000,000 annually, about the same as it was a quarter of a century ago. Among the number of cheese factories to approximately one-seventh the present number, large economies will be effected and the farmers will be encouraged to increase their volume of milk and obtain a higher percentage of butter fat, according to Col. Kennedy, is that

PARLEY FAILS TO PREVENT A TARIFF WAR

Fruitless Three Hour Session is Held by Leader

TRIBUNAL CRUX

Unable to Agree on Personnel—Both Leave London

London, July 16.—(CP Cable)—"Neither party was able to depart from the position taken up in published despatches."

These terse words of an official communique spelled the failure of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and President Eduardo Herriot of France to prevent a tariff war. Friday night, any formula for settling the Anglo-Irish dispute and averting economic warfare.

The conference, dramatically announced in the early hours of today following intervention of Wilfrid Laurier, Canadian leader, lasted for three hours. No progress was made toward breaking the deadlock over the composition of a tribunal to arbitrate the land annuities dispute between President Eamonn de Valera returns to the Free State, late at night after his arrival here, while Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin returned to his Scottish home at Lossiemouth.

Settlement Was Hoped For

Prime Minister William Norton of Eire plan for a four-member tribunal, announced after the earlier meeting between British and Free State appointees, was hailed as a harbinger of success the conference between the leaders led to expressions of optimism both in Dublin and London regarding a settlement. The outcome revealed clearly that no such hope existed.

President Eamonn de Valera arrived in London this evening, having accepted by telephone the invitation of the Dominion Premiers to attend the conference through Mr. Norton. He was greeted at the station in London by a few Irishmen—one shouting the "Up de Valera" and the other "Down with de Valera".

Indicative of the increased employment in many Canadian cities resulting from the present volume production of Ford V-8 and 4-cylinder cars is the factory of the Ontario Steel Products Company, Limited, at Chatham, Ontario, which is engaged in the manufacture of Ford chassis springs and bumpers. The photo above shows workmen assembling Ford springs on a moving conveyor, lubricating the spring leaves, painting the assembled springs and inspecting the finished product. OUTWORN TIRES

Fast driving with old tires, it is pointed out by a Motor League engineer, is one of the greatest hazards of motor travel today. It is not only the risk in the exploding tire, throwing the car off the highway but there is the additional threat to traffic in the road being cluttered with cars blown-out tires which have to be repaired along the roadside, which condition acts as a real menace o he constant streams of traffic moving either way. Wherever a car is parked along the road there is created an additional danger.

In these days some motorists are taking the very hazardous way of using their tires to the very last bit of good in them, that is driving them to their physical extinction.

Never is the tire at the worn tread which fails in emergency to grip a wet pavement. The smooth slippery tire is very dangerous.

Getting the last mile out of a tire is the silliest of economies. It does not pay for the sake of a mile or two to be tied up on the highway repairing tires, with the consequent risk of one's self and others and the loss of time entailed.

Common sense in the use of tires and in discarding them is essential to motor travel. He who so endangers others should be kept off the roads of the country. The man who cannot afford to buy new tires should not be allowed to ride lives.

Today the small driver with bad car and bad tires is an evil on the highways. The road should abolish him.

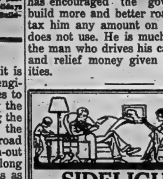
Tires can be purchased today at very lowest figures in history.

A CAT'S BURIAL

There is a real depression in Lindsay from the scavenger's- standpoint; dead dogs and cats are so few that he cannot earn enough money.

So bad there is no chance in Lindsay for higher prices even where business is falling and when a good deed remains to be done. The town council has instructed the municipal scavenger that there can be no departure from the rates set by the year 1905 when the place a cat's burial at thirty cents and a dog's at forty. Since 1905 the number of dead cats and dogs has steadily declined until there is not much money in the business.

Another complaint even went to the effect that the town has trouble to get the scavenger to pick up cats when he is notified.



An occasional dead dog or cat is found on the streets of Belleville soon to be greeted with but little interest in cars, the animal kingdom has become more elusive and manages to escape the wheels of the modern juggernauts and in addition owners have taken more care to guard their pets.

Even now is a poor scavenger to make riches in these days when every law operates against him getting a large and flowing trade! he must soon be in the class of the preventive Chinese doctor who is paid not for the ills he keeps in health without their becoming ill. The scavenger today ought to be a sort of guardian of live dogs and cats besides his other duties with that of picking up the dead ones. Then he might make a little more money.

WOULD BE MEAN

Up to June 15,620 fewer automobile licences have been issued in Quebec province because many owners are leaving their cars in the garage. Unfortunately for them the provincial act makes licences due on ownership not on driving on highways and there is some talk of levying on those who do not drive but own cars.

This certainly would be collecting with a vengeance. A man is trying to save money under adverse circumstances and deprives himself and his family of the pleasures of driving for the sake of eking out his small pittance of savings or earnings. Why should a government then soak him even though the maintenance of highways is expensive and they are there for his use and his purchase of a motorcar has encouraged the government to build more and better roads? As well tax him any amount on gasoline he does not use. He is much better than the man who drives his car on charity and relief money given by communities.

MY FINANCIAL ADVISOR tells me that Belleville folks have not got the right slant on the stamp tax on bank cheques. Sez he: Now that the city tax bills are being delivered, and before the end of the month is something, it might be as well to remind the citizens generally about the new tax on cheques. Cheques for $5.00 and under need no stamp. From $5.00 to $100. require 3c, and over $100. require 6c. The last 3c tax does not appear to be understood by a good many people.

IF A KAT HAD KITTENS in the oven they would not be loaves of bread, but if a car had kittens it would be a new verandah couch—that would be something else again, and that is just what happened this week on the verandah of a Victoria Avenue home and also on the verandah of a home on Charles Street. In both places the children belonged to a family who had left the city on vacation. In both cases the cat and kittens were cared for by kindly neighbors.

MOOSENEE IS NOW OFFICIALLY ON THE MAP, having been opened with due ceremony in modern style by radio broadcast, golden spikes, and golden speeches Friday morning in the presence of the strangest audience which ever gathered for such an event. Aside from the official party of notables and guests there were Eskimos, Indians, half breeds, trappers of every nationality, a polygot lot gathered together at James Bay, near the top of the world to witness the official opening of the new railway extension of the T. and N. O. R'y from Cochrane to James Bay, the terminal, formerly Moose Factory, now called Moosenee. In addition to the usual crowd at any Moosenee, few as yet, and the nomads of the Great Lone Land, the official party numbered nearly two hundred. His Honour Justice Latchford, who turned the first sod for the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway in 1902, drove the first of the last spikes; Hon. Ernest Drury, who turned the first sod for,the extension from Cochrane, drove the second spike, and Premier Henry, of Ontario, drove the final spike. The broadcast came through prefectly through CKGW. loud and clear, and each speaker breathed unlimited optimism in the future of Moosenee as a thriving community, through which the produce of the great clay belt, mineral wealth, forests and its fisheries, would pass down to older Ontario. Canada has its growing pains to be sure, but the opening of the railway to Moosenee is just another indication of Canada's continued progress and assured future prosperity. Canada the last great land of opportunity, the last great land of adventure — imagine Moose Factory where that gallant company of Adventurers, The Hudson Bay Company, established a fort and trading post a century ago, where men and women lived and died remote from civilization, no radio, no mail for six months at a time, coarse food, and little variety, where an orange would start a riot—Moose Factory, where many a legend of courage, mystery and supermen centred in the days of old—now a railway terminal where the Indian, half breed or Eskimo, who has made a stake with furs or gold, can step into a Pullman car and ride de luxe to Toronto, or New York City, should he so desire, and even have a state room all to himself in which to dream of the northen blizzards, of driving dog team over the frozen tundra of sleeping in the open when the thermometer hits the low spots. Some change.

Commodity prices in Spain continue to climb.

WINNING THE WAR

One hesitates to recall the acrimonies of war. One hesitates to suggest that the firm hand of the control should be laid on the hand of Germany. Yet in the final analysis, is not the situation which has developed leading to the day when Germany will be able to say with a modicum of truth, "We Won the War."—Ottawa Times.

TORONTO DEPENDENT

—Toronto is not teaching the rest of the province anything in the way of clean business practice, and that city is making a suspicious blunder when it seeks to make its city limits the boundary of its purchasing area. Toronto does not feed the rest of the province; because people from all over purchase there, and because its salesmen have access to every corner of the country.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

ON TO OTTAWA

"After Lausanne—Ottawa," was the inspiring message given by the Right Hon. J. Ramsay Macdonald, head of the British delegation to the Imperial Economic Conference, when the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain arrived from Southampton, yesterday on her voyage to Canada. Great Britain's delegates are accompanied by representatives of India, Burma and Rhodesia. Today the Australian and New Zealand delegations are nearing Vancouver, approximately 10,000 miles away on the other side of the globe. Newfoundland's new Prime Minister, the Hon. F. C. Alderdice, and his colleagues will come to Canada in a few days' time; in fact the whole British Empire has sailed and representatives of Northern Rhodesia are about to start their journey to Ottawa.—Montreal Gazette.

COLD STORAGE FOR CHEESE

A movement has developed at one or two points in the west for holding cheese in cold storage. So far as our information goes the manufacturing of cheese by the factories is largely of a temporary nature and the assembling of cheese in the central point for the purpose of reaching those points is small. Where the costs are not high this should prove an advantage to the factories if the business is properly handled. Green cheese, however, cannot be put in storage for any length of time effectively short period without turning and receiving attention in other ways. We presume, however, that factories entering into the movement to store cheese are sufficiently familiar with requirements in curing cheese to have the cheese properly looked after.—Ontario Milk Producer.

PARKED CAR DANGER

Figures issued by the Ontario Registrar of Motor Vehicles show that last year there was a menace crossing the road from behind parked motor cars were struck and killed by automobiles, 39 pedestrians and sixty-two were injured under similar circumstances. Pedestrians should bear in mind that a parked car obstructs the view of the approaching motorist, and may render it impossible for him to avoid an accident. But some motorists also can not be trusted to observe at all times the proper caution. The obligation is upon the motorist to be constantly alert in passing cars which may or has not a clear view of both sides of the street. Every motorist is familiar with the sudden and vicious rushiness which is necessary in approaching a street crossing where the view is obstructed by trees or buildings. Ramps are frequently blocked by parked cars. In the one case it is the danger to the car and its occupants that demands caution. In the other it is the danger of the irresponsible driver that the automobile may do which should keep the driver on the alert.—Toronto Telegram.

THE UNION.

What does union mean. The United States went through a civil war to settle that question. The Southern States claimed the right to secede on the ground that the American Republic is a voluntary association. De Valera takes the same view in respect of the British Empire. What is a commonwealth? Does the free State constitution respect the authorities at Westminster to control the people's will in every state or dominion within the British Empire and to maintain the union dependently even to the extent of dispensing with the oath of allegiance and calling on a foreign tribunal to decide upon soon debatable question. Going very far indeed. It presents the possibility of a disintegrating movement which is not pleasant to contemplate, and in which few onlookers will agree with the position taken up by the Irish State Republican leader—Montreal Gazette.

The addition of Archie Campbell and Art Adams as a battery for the local Victorias seems to have worked miracles with the team in general. They surely reverted to form with a vengeance when they trimmed the Picton intermediates by the score of 18 to 6 right in their own back yard on Wednesday. The team hit the ball at a will and looked more like league contenders than ever before this season. Campbell and Shelcow had the players out to practice again last evening and as they play their remaining three games of their schedule at home they should finish well in front of the league. Now that first and second place has been cleared up the latter loop the remaining games in the league will be merely of an exhibition nature. Wellington and the champions B. A. A. kids will meet in the finals again this year. The local Association youngsters should be returned league winners again if they play the calibre of ball they are capable of playing.

Although Campbell and Adams have been declared ineligible to play for the local Victorias we are of the opinion that the "parent body" will pass these two boys' certificates over their head in the right and truthful story of the situation. Neither of these lads had played baseball in 1932 until they turned out with the Vics and as they got their territorial release from Madoc and therefore are eligible to play for the Vics. Just why the Point Anne delegates took their stand in the matter we very easy to solve: "They did not want to face Campbell and therefore backed Picton's squawk."

Out in the Thurlow Township Softball League, where all games are played on the old Albert College field, Foxboro and Canniffton, stage many a rousing battle. The large crowds present and the keen interest shown helps to add to the prestige of the league. On Wednesday night last the league standing found Canniffton in first place with four wins and two losses, College Hill second with six wins and two losses while Foxboro is in last place with one win and three losses to their credit. Each team play their home game on their own special field and a scrapping good time is usually the order of the evening. They enjoy themselves and are having plenty of recreation, to say the least.

For the following article we are indebted very much to the General sport's editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard. At least we are glad to find one person in the Limestone City who is not afraid to admit the truth even though it goes against the "home team".

Everyone threatened to be some excitement when Umpire Ken Collins absented rachet at the time, Wayne Colling was not wrong in his decision according to the ground rules as made previous to the starting of the game. There had evidently been nothing said about how the players out to practice again the circumstances and as they play their remaining three games of their schedule at home they should finish well in front of the league. Now that first and second place has been cleared up the latter loop the remaining games in the league will be merely of an exhibition nature. Wellington and the champions B. A. A. kids will meet in the finals again this year. The local Association youngsters should be returned league winners again if they play the calibre of ball they are capable of playing.

The Whig-Standard also has this to say:

"Penny" Mills was thirty-eight last Saturday and has been playing ball for a large portion of that thirty-eight years. While he used to like to give Mills the rare he is willing to respect at a ball player and has no superior as a field general. Mills is still the good catcher he was since the writer can remember him first and he is still the big man to watch on the Belleville team.

Prof Observatis, renown, well-known and expert psychologist of this city who is in constant attendance at the young ladies' softball games of the league this week remarked this morning to the sports editor of this paper that he viewed with approval, from a psychological standpoint, the outcome of Friday evening's game between the ladies of the Class and those of the Belleville Terrs' team. He believed the outcome of the battle will prove of benefit to both teams and stimulate each to greater effort. The encouragement to the Belleville Pixii ladies came at an opportune time while the defeat of the Corbyville team will urge them toward greater and more united effort.

COSTLY WIN FOR NATS

"Peenty" Mills Had Finger Badly Split From Foul Tip

Under an avalanche of hits in the seventh inning, Jimmy Bolton's Nationals pushed four runs across the plate to win a game from the Napanee Cubbies by the score of 7 to 5 at Napanee on Friday evening.

"Peeney" Mills, the Nationals' mainstay behind the bat, suffered a split finger in the last of the eighth inning when Bentley tipped one of Poirier's fast ones foul.

The locals were enjoying a rally and there was one out and one on when the accident occurred and the game was called. Before Mills left the Belleville hitters with two strikes and a single, started the visitors away in the third when he poled out a home run, scoring two runners, and crossed the plate himself on Millis' timely single.

Gibbards scon tied it up, scoring two in the third and one in the fourth. That settled the run-getting for either side for the seventh when Belleville went to bat and scored four runs on six hits, the six batting around. Card struck three singles and Stimson with a double and a single led the Napanee batters.

Manager Gerow introduced a new face into the National's lineup, when he played Carman Cook of Trenton in centre field. Cook, although he had an error, when he lost the ball in the bright sun, played a bang up game and slashed a hit through the infield in the third innings when the Nats. played one of their well known rallies.

The lineups:

Athletics—Card 3rd; Stewart ss; Gibbard c; Bentley p and lf; Prayer lf and p; Wilson 1st; Kinsella 2nd; Sweet rf; Stinson c.

Belleville—Wilson 2nd rf; Cook cf; Crotney 1st; Mills c; Ehler ss; Morgan ss, Chambers 3rd; Santiago 3rd and Pointer rf and p. Score by innings:

LORD PLUMER NOTED FIGURE IN WAR, DEAD

London, July 16 (C.P. Cable) — Field Marshal Lord Plumer, one of the greatest of British soldiers, commander of the fifth corps at the opening of the Great War and leader of the Second Army, which included early Canadian divisions, died yesterday after a lengthy period of ill health.

Herbert Charles Onslow Plumer, first Baron Plumer of Messines Ridge, and of Bilton, Yorks, was 72 years of age.

He became head of the Second Army in May, 1915, and in June, 1917, fought and won the battle of Messines with small loss, although he took 7,200 prisoners. In November, 1917, he was made commander-in-chief of the British Expeditionary Force on the Italian front, returning in the Spring of 1918 to again assume leadership of the Second Army. He took the Second Army through the closing months of the Great War and then commanded the Army of Occupation, including two Canadian divisions, across the Rhine.

In 1919 Field Marshal Plumer became Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Malta, five years later succeeding Sir Herbert Samuel, now Home Secretary, as High Commissioner of Palestine. He left this post and went into retirement in 1926.

Ontario Sets New High as Gold Producer of the World

Toronto, July 16—Setting a new high record as a wealth producer, Ontario's gold production for the first half-year of 1932 is almost $3,000,000 ahead of the first six months of 1931, according to a report of the Department of Mines, issued Friday.

The report states that the gold mining industry is now the premier asset single producer of new wealth in the Province. It notes that during June another record of production, the total value being $4,-945 for May.

Receipts of crude gold bullion at the Royal Canadian Mint, Ottawa, from Ontario mines during the month, were 394,986 crude ounces, containing 294,962.5 fine ounces of gold and 27,706 fine ounces of silver.

In June, eighteen active gold properties reported production to the Ontario Department of Mines.

The number of producers remain the same as in May, but the position in order of output among the gold producers changed slightly, the Moss Mine moving above the Ankerite, while the Minto and Parkhill reversed their positions with respect to one another, and moved above the Barry-Hollinger.

A table shows that the Porcupine area, with 8 mines, increased its output value in June, although the tonnage of ore milled showed a decrease from the previous month. The mines of the Kirkland Lake camp, six in number, also reported a gain in value from a lower tonnage milled. As compared with the figures for the six-months period in 1931, both the major gold areas reported increases in tonnage milled and value recovered. Porcupine being up $594,383 in value while Kirkland Lake showed an increase of $1,492,401.

North-western Ontario, with four producing gold mines in 1932, more than doubled its output, expanding from $400,154 in the first half of 1931 to $836,943 in 1932.

The average grade of ore treated during the first six months at Porcupine was $6.36 per ton, as against $6.31 in 1931. At Kirkland Lake the average per ton increased from $13.02 in 1931 to $13.50 per ton in 1932, while the grade of the mines of Northwestern Ontario increased from $4.30 per ton to $4.74.

The Province as a whole, the grade of ore treated during 1932 was therefore, $6.63 per ton, as against $6.40 in the corresponding period of 1931.

Grand And All Comers Fail to Splendid Canadian Performance

Bisley Camp, Eng., July 16 (C.P. Cable)—Lieut. Desmond Burke, of Montreal, today won the All-Comers' Aggregate and Quartermaster-Sergt. Tom Burton, of Calgary, won the St. George' Challenge Vase as the Canadians progressed triumphantly to the wind-up of the great Empire meeting of the National Rifle Association.

At the same time ten Canadians went into the final stage of the classic King's Prize in an attempt to complete a Canadian century by capturing the historic blue riband of Empire marksmanship. No one had better chances than two Canadians, Sgt. Alex. Parnell of Vernon, Quebec, and Cpl. Hodgson of Sherbrooke. Houldon and Parnell led the second stage of the King's Prize yesterday with 146 out of a possible 150. Houlden winning the silver medal in the shoot-off Yesterday's scores were counted in today's aggregates to determine the placings.

Hardest Test

Lieut. Desmond Burke, winner of the King's Prize in 1926, runner-up in 1928, winner of the grand aggregate in 1928 and generally one of the finest marksmen who have ever appeared at the famous old Bisley Camp, has had the greatest aggregates of the 1932—the Grand and All Comers—combined, they are the hardest test of consistent marksmanship with a service rifle the world.

Burke yesterday won the Grand with a total of 580 out of a possible 618; his total in winning the All-Comers was 574 out of a possible 570. These aggregates consist of a 500-yard match, 600-yard match, matches fired over a variety of ranges. He took first prize, Dominion of Canada challenge trophy and a nominal cash award in the Grand; a $1,000 challenge cup and $500 deposit by winning the All-Comers'. Burke won the All-Comers' last year. J. A. Crawford of Malvern, with 347, was second to Burke today.

Mercury Soared Above 100 in Some States

Scorcher of 1932's summer Friday sent the mercury near or above the 100 degree mark over most of the country, United Press said.

More than a score of persons dropped dead as hot winds swept from the sun-baked southwest.

As the first seven days were of the year was in the third day, only the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards experienced appreciable relief.

The highest temperature reported was 112 degrees at Junction City, Kan. At Chicago it was 97, one degree better than the day before, and one degree under the record for July 15.

Kansas and other plains States reported 100-plus temperatures. Oklahoma City had 107, but the year's hottest day.

In the south, it was generally hot but a trifle cooler than the day before.

Five persons dropped dead in Chicago, and a sixth victim succumbed in nearby Hobart, Ind. Five deaths were reported in Cincinnati which had 96 degrees.

St. Louis, on the trough of the Mississippi, was running a temperature of 101 degrees—two degrees higher than Thursday's record of 99. Three deaths there in two days were attributable to the heat.

Other deaths reported were: Milwaukee 2; Madison, Wis., 1; St. Paul Minn., 3; North Dakota, 1.

Scorching temperatures were felt throughout Wisconsin. Minnesota and the Dakotas, with few exceptions,

Splendid Empire Achievements

Thrilled by descriptive stories of the new Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain" that appeared in Australian papers when that giant liner was sped on its maiden voyage last year by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, Australians have taken as prideful an interest in the "Empress of Britain" as Canadians, and the picture, labelled "Empire Achievements" paid tribute to the enterprise of the Dominion and the Commonwealth. Underneath was the legend, "Sydney Harbor Bridge, opened March, 1932. Length of Arch Span 1,650 feet, breadth 160 feet, weight of arch steelwork 38,000 tons, a "Empress of Britain," in service May 1931, length 760 feet 6 inches, breadth 97½ feet, gross registered tonnage 42,000."

The "Empress of Britain" on her voyage from Canada June 18th, 1932, justified Australia's faith in her as an Empire achievement by creating the magnificent new record, Father Point to Cherbourg, in four days, seven hours, 58 minutes.

Beatrice Fairfax Letters

A QUESTION OF SAUCES

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with a boy for five months. We have been a good many places together and had very good times. Lately he has been paying quite a bit of attention to my girl friend if with me he leaves me for her. Should I go around with his friends or should I just stand around and watch him flirt with her?

BABE

My dear, when a young man acts that way it's a good time to remember that grand old maxim, "What's sauce for the gander is sauce for the goose". By all means, go around with other boys and don't stand around like a wall flower and watch him flirt with your friend.

THE NEIGHBOURS TALK

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Five years ago my husband decorated me and our two babies, and at present I don't know whether he is living or dead. My dear father took us all to his home, and we are comfortable but have no luxuries. My second cousin, who was an old admirer of mine for a very good while, has been to-do and has never married. He has come by for us all and takes us for a ride. Once or twice he has taken us out for the week-end. When he does this he always goes too, but as some of the neighbours gossip something terrible about this. Do you think it's any of their business?

Indeed I don't think it's any of their business if your cousin is generous enough to share his car with you and take you for week end trips, with your father as chaperone. They're just jealous and I should pay no further attention to them.

WANTS HER TO BUY A CAR

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 27 years old, working for my living and only three years in this country. I have a boy friend who is 27 years old, too, and I love him dearly, he says he has told me that he loves me. Now he wants me to buy a car for savings. He wants it for taking me out, as he doesn't like to walk and he has no money to buy a car. He says he will pay all his money for himself. He told me if I would buy a car he will be certain day . . he would never see me again and I know what he said he will do.

MARY

I think, my dear Mary, even if you do care for this young man, you must consider him a little more. And how anyone is going to be for you to really love, owning no such investment. Very probably you would soon discover that you had lost not only your high regard for him, but the young man as well. Let him buy a car if he dislikes walking. Keep your money, and let that young man do as he threatened—GO!

HE DOESN'T APPROVE OF PETTING

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl and go with a young man of the same age. He doesn't approve of petting parties and neither do I , as a matter of fact, but he also objects to my use of smoke, and there I disagree with him. He is always telling me to quit smoking as he thinks it very much. Must I stop smoking?

P. C.

How much do you smoke? Are you one of those girls who think you must have a cigarette in her mouth all the time? If you are, I think the young man has some good interests at heart if he suggests that you smoke less. But if you're a moderate smoker who indulges only moderately, there's no reason why you and it's possible you may bring him around in time. Do you really enjoy smoking? Some girls do, but I've actually seen them puffing dopedly, one cigarette after another, without the least sign of enjoyment, but just because they must. It looks as smart. Some women smoke as if they were doing a hard day's washing. I always wonder if they feel obliged to keep up with the smoking fashion. If you indulge don't look like a martyr.

Beauty.....

BY HELEN JAMIESON

Prepare the Complexion For Make-Up

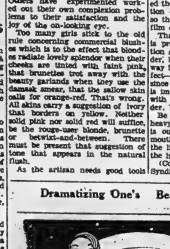
Nobody need be told that there are smart gals who use their beauty recipe secretly. They have a talent for artifice. With and without makeup, they are different creatures. The alluring touch of rouge and lipstick, the delicate clouding of the eyelids, the manner in which the powder is carefully distributed, peg the beauty of a Dresden shepherdess. Shame. We don't talk about these gals very much having nothing to say about honorand distinctions. But we do admire them.

Many of them have taken lessons from professionals, operators in beauty shops who specialize in matching powder and rouge to skin tints, who have cultivated the eye for pinkishness who know the tricks of the trade and whose business it is to pass on knowledge and technique to the cash customers. Others have experimented workedout their own complexion problems to their satisfaction and the make-up do-looking of others.

Too many girls stick to the old rule concerning commercial beauty, as which is to the effect that blonde-ness radiate lovely splendor when their hair is blonde. A brunette, that is brunettes trot away with the beauty awards when they use the damask smear, that the sallow skin calls for orange-red. That's about it. All skins carry a suggestion of ivory and hair borders on yellow. Neither solid pink nor solid red will suffice, be the rouge-user blonde, brunette or between-and-between. There must be present that suggestion of tone that appears in the natural flush.

As the artisan needs good tools to start with, so must the girl who would ply divine eloquence) find the proper elements for her face painting. She will require two kinds of powder, one the color of her skin and one less or much as she can find —and one that is slightly darker, dark for evenings, light tint for day use.

Of rouge two shades. The rule for rouge seeks the same as for powder. Sunlight is revealing. Artificial light nicely subdued—as we meet it everywhere on the merry evening—is kindly to make-up. In other words you can flaunt the old war paint as night as you can't possibly get away with it during the day.



The foundation agent has become a necessity. It prepares the skin, softens, it allays flakiness. Liquid foundations are more conveniently applied by the girl who knows and used the trick of rubbing in a foundation cream evenly, distributing it so that it forms only the faintest film over the epidermis.

That lovely porcelain-like effect is produced by using the foundation agent, by fluffing on the powder, by laying on the rouge in the way it should go to get the best effect—and that's a story in itself, since the pattern of the rouge application is important by covering the flush with another light shower of powder. You flatter a natural complexion.

Be stingy with the lipstick. The heavy smear of brilliant lip salve is out these days. It makes the mouth look large and coarse. Give the lips a bit of coloring that puts the health on—nothing more!

Dramatizing One's Beauty Points

© 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc., United Kingdom rights reserved. 7-16

S'all right to rhapsodize about the simple maiden, she who is a plain girl, helps mother do the dishes, would be caught dead with a lipstick in her purse, lives up to all the copy book platitudes, and is just hey crap sweet self! But she doesn't wear the soles of her shoes scampering to the telephone to accept invitations to grand dates. The fellers aren't fighting over her. She's good, she's kind hearted, but she's slow.

The sensitive girls for play acting, but the truth is that every attractive, fascinating, beautiful woman has a dramatic herself to a bit. She may say she makes no effort to make herself charming, but Dr. Peter won't put that statement down in his book. Shill has her own system and it works. Without making an effort a woman is pretty sure to be classed among the colorless femmes who are girls, that's all. Nobody regards them with special interest except maybe those male creatures who are themselves without vivid qualities.

There are ways of dramatizing one's personality. Some women do it by furnishing their homes in an attractive manner, building for themselves the perfect scenic background that is for them what the shining satiny background is to the cameo. They cultivate the coolness of the gracious hostess. Guests feel at ease. Sink into big soft chairs, relax, look at lovely lady and say "This is heavenly."

They go in for modes that border on the exotic. They are distinctly in the fashion, and yet individual and apart. Have a flair for wearing dress sense to do that, a fine knowledge and understanding of line and color. There is satisfaction in the realization that one can get away with an extreme, chic style that the average woman couldn't attempt without looking silly.

French woman are the only ones who dare to sport the individualistic coiffure to any extent. At the opera in Paris one will observe here and there a hairdress that, while eccentric imparts a certain degree of distinction. American women are copycats, as far as coiffures are concerned. They're pretty much alike. These hirsute arrangements of Uncle Sam's daughters.

Special make-up offers opportunities for individual style. Like the fairly pale skin scarcely touched with powder, faint blue eye shadows, and bright red lips that bear a polished, lacquered surface. The effect is theatrical, you bet what of it, if it suits the type of girl!

What may be considered beauty defects are sometimes played up, turned to account, like a mole on the cheek or little crooked tooth. Freckles aren't always disfiguring they are often piquant, sassy, the right beauty touch for the gamine type.

A large mouth can be beautiful even when it is deeply colored. Especially if red lips reveal twin rows of snow-white teeth. Which goes to show that there are exceptions to all beauty rules. And isn't personal individuality worth cultivating? Also being a carbon copy of every other woman one passes on the day's walk?

Correct Manners

INITIALING SILVERWARE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiance and I have decided to purchase some of the necessary items in furnishing our home before being married, a sive intend to go away and be married quietly. We have decided to purchase our silverware, but the question that arises is this: whose initial should be engraved on our silver? Should it bear my maiden initial, should it assume after marriage? My fiance seems to like the idea of using his initia, as it will be purchased by our own personal savings, and the silver will not be used until after we are married, at which time I will have assumed his name.

Won't you please settle this question for us?

S.

I wish that I could satisfied this question for you——but the bride's feelings must be the chief. For there are two schools of thought about the traditional custom, maintaining that the conventional way would be to have the bride's initials of her maiden name. But of course there is undeniable sentiment in the other side too.... that the bride uses her silver for all her life that it is, therefore, sensible to have it marked with her married initials. So you must, you see, leave your choice. I do, however, think that it is so delightful that your fiance should like the idea of the initials of your maiden name, and I think that very thoughtfulness might be the determining factor in your decision.

BIRTHDAY GIFT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am planning to attend the celebration of a lady's eighty-first birthday this month. I am wondering what would be an appropriate gift for her. Could you kindly suggest something?

Books probably would be an appropriate present, or lovely white handkerchiefs, embroidered, plain or monogrammed. Or a beautiful box of flowers sent to arrive early in the morning of her fete-day. Or a leather portfolio or writing-case. Or a scarf, the gift of which might be of leather or silver or crystal. Or a purse. Or gloves. Or a box of letter-paper.

PARTY INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have a friend who is to be graduated from High School. I want to take members of her class to a dinner in honor of her. She is a girl I know, and some I do not know. Should I ask them to the dinner and write them, or should my daughter ask them?

Mother.

The best form would be for you to write notes to the mothers of the girls who are to be your guests, asking them if their daughters may go with you for this party. Also, if you wish, you may also write the invite notes to the girls, inviting them to the party and saying that you have written their mothers for their permission.

CHURCH ETIQUETTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1.—Is it correct to wear a mixed veil to church?

2.—Is it correct to shake hands with the minister after church with your gloves on?

Puzzled.

1.—Yes.
2.—Yes.

The two 8-week old Eastern Canadian black bear cubs seen above were born on the Wedgewood Hunting and Fishing Club grounds at Bissett, P.Q. They arrived in Montreal accompanied by Arthur Sauvaria, well known guide. They've been called Michael and Mercy. As shown by the photograph, and photographs cannot lie, these two babies took early advantage of their first introduction to civilization. In celebration of Mother's Day, to assure her they were getting well looked after, Michael is listening in while Mary is doing the telephoning. Mary also is fond of milk since their capture, but sugar is also a favorite article of diet.

The cubs were brought to Montreal by Canadian Pacific Express and went on to New York from the Windsor Station.

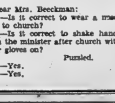
BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Out of Trouble Into Trouble

When out of trouble you may leap From other trouble try to keep.

That is Old Mr. Toad's way of warning you to look before you leap even though you be leaping from danger. There is nothing gained by jumping from one kind of trouble into another just as bad. Old Mr. Toad knows. He has had experiences that prove it. Sometimes his own hasty flights and a great deal of worry. So just heed Old Mr. Toad's advice.

He had heard the call of the sweet summer time, smelling of new-mown hay, and had needed it. Hop, hop, hippety-hop, he had started from Farmer Brown's garden for the dwelling Pool down on the Green Meadows. It was a long journey for Old Mr. Toad to make. You know he has to travel in short hops and I suspect that if you had to hop all the way from Farmer Brown's garden down to the Smiling Pool you would call it a long journey, even though you are ever and ever so many times larger than Old Mr. Toad.



He started early in the evening but he stopped so many times to hop, hop, hippety-hop, and to rest that by morning he was only at the edge of the Old Orchard and crept under a big stone and took a long nap. When he awoke it was a scarf, for he was dazzled. Had jolly, round bright Mr. Sun been shining Old Mr. Toad would have waited for the coming of the Black Shadows, for Jumper the Hare and in the heat of a bright day. But the rain made all the difference in the world and so Old Mr. Toad started hop, hop, hippety-hop.

He went down to the edge of Farmer Brown's cornfield, which had been plowed but not yet planted. He flopped along the line of the fence, keeping just outside the tangle of dead grass just under the fence. It was easier going there. Then, too, he could see where he was going. So he solemnly moved along, hop, hop hippety-hop. Suddenly just back of him, a short distance, Sammy Jay began to scream at the top of his voice and at the same time shot down toward the ground. Other birds began to hurry-over there and do the same thing and all were both excited and angry.

Old Mr. Toad stopped to listen and wonder what it was all about. Then suddenly it came to him what the cause of all the excitement was.

"It is Mr. Blacksnake!" he gasped. "I know it. Sammy Jay discovered him and now all those birds are trying to make life miserable for him and drive him away. What if he should come this way! Oh dear! I must get away from here and find a place to hide!"

Sheer terror took possession of Old Mr. Toad. He hasn't many enemies. Of those he has he fears none quite as much as does Blacksnake. So now away he went, hop, hop, hippety-hop, hop, hop, hippety-hop, hop, making each hop as long as he could. Because he was trying to look behind him he didn't watch in front of him at the same time and, of course, couldn't see where he was going. He was doing his best, his very best to hop out of trouble, but he had completely forgotten to watch out not to hop into trouble. You see he could think of but one thing and that was that behind him was Mr. Blacksnake. Nothing before him could be so bad as that.

So he solemnly moved along, hop, hop, hippety-hop

Because he didn't see where he was heading he got out of the open where the going was easy into the grass where the going was hard. This frightened him more than ever. It made him think of the cries of those birds behind him: wer: drawing nearer. Of course they would mean that Mr. Blacksnake was coming nearer. He made a frantic leap and landed all landing as he expected to be went down, down, down. It seemed to him that he never would reach bottom. Of course he didn't. He reached it with a thump that knocked all the breath from him. He was at the bottom of a pool. Old Mr. Farmer Brown's Boy had dug only the day before. Pe... what was he to do?

Fashion Flashes

Mysterious shadows often mean cartwheel hats with huge brims. A charming hat for a summer garden is of black lace orth, done on cartwheel lines, with the brim lifted over the left eye. It is trimmed with black velvet ribbon band and bow, the latter lined with pink satin.

No limitators for the woman who chooses something different from current fashions. She usually has the only original frock or wrap in the room. A short jacket that is decidedly different is fashioned of white pressed carcash. It has square cuffs and a big square collar, under which are very wide, are bordered with double frills of the same. This jacket is worn with white, solid pink nor solid red will suffice, be the rouge-user blonde, brunette or between-and-between. There must be present that suggestion of tone that appears in the natural flush.

All eyes are generally attracted to the woman wearing a novelty evening frock. Such a model is a frock of dark blue wool lace, used on princess lines. It has a girdle of cherry red taffeta and the skirt flares at the hem where it is weighted by a ruching also of red taffeta. It is worn with a fitted cape of silver fox.

Rough treatment is being accorded crepe this year not only in clothes for day wear but for evening clothes. A new model is done in rough white crepe and for contrast black crepe satin ribbon is used. The ribbon forms rippled shoulder crests and is used also for a sash with a broad butterfly bow in back.

Grand moments are those of gala gatherings when beautiful clothes abounds. A most regal wrap is made of gold metallic brocade, cut on full length lines. The sleeves have double puffs arranged from cartridge pleats from the shoulders.

Dots before our eyes in the evening. An evening frock of red chiffon is worn with a tiny cape of matching red velvet printed in large white dots.

MARKET HELD WELL TODAY

Nickel Resumes Its Advance and Large Blocks Traded

Toronto, July 16.—Considering the extent of the rise on Toronto Stock Exchange this week, the market held remarkably well in the short session preceding the week-end holiday.

International Nickel resumed its advance during morning and large block of stock were traded at advancing prices, indicating strong buying. The stock this morning reached $ 3-8, a new high on the current movement and 1-4 point above last night's close. Smelters sold off a point to 50.

In the construction group, Canada Cement Common was slightly easier at 5 and Canadian Dredge down 1 at 12½. Canada Cement Preferred, on the other hand, firmed a point to 93 and Dominion Bridge, Para Heney Tubes, Steel of Canada were firm and unchanged. Bell Telephone sold at 90, the same price at the close last night, and Brazilian was firm slightly above 10. C.P.R. and Montreal Power were easier but not under pressure. Goodyear Tire Preferred was firm at 50 while Common holding unchanged at 60. Farm Implement stocks were firm. Oils and Liquor stocks were inclined upward with B. A. Oil reaching 7 for the first time this week.

Bank of Montreal eased one point to 198 in bank of Nova Scotia advanced 3 to 250

PRICE TONE IS STILL STRONG

All Gold Stocks Show Firmer Tendency and Advance

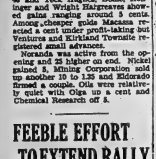
Toronto, July 16—Additional advances were recorded by leaders on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Market in today's short session, with price tone strong throughout the whole list. Sales for the day totalled 184,000 shares.

Mainstays appeared to be under accumulation in New York, was up a point and Teck Hughes Dome, Bellinger and Wright Hargreaves showed gains ranging around 5 cents. Among developed gold issues, interest a cent under profit-taking but Ventures and Kirkland Lake were registered small advances.

Noranda was active from the opening and 25 higher on end. Nickel gained 1, Mining Corporation came up another 10 to 1.35 and Aldorado firmed a couple. Oils were relatively quiet with Oils up a cent and Chemical Research off 5.

FEEBLE EFFORT TO EXTEND RALLY

Lists Close With Easy Tendency and Some Declines



New York, July 16.—The Stock Market vacillated uncertainly in today's week-end session.

There were some rather feeble efforts to extend yesterday's rally. But they were discontinued when weekend profit taking appeared. The list closed with a somewhat easy tendency and a number of declines in the leaders ranging from fractions to a point while a scattering of issues finished with fractional gains. The turnover for the two-hour session was only about 300,000 shares.

Among issues losing as much as a point were Consolidated Oil, Air Reduction, American Telephone and Eastman, while declines of one half a point or so appeared in the close in such shares as U. S. Steel, Woolworth, and Allied Chemical.

Rails were given a momentary boost during the morning. Union Pacific got up 1½ points, then lost all but a fraction, generally held up well. Consolidated Gas got into a major fraction at one time, but closed about unchanged. There was some activity in the oils.

Continued firmness of corporate bonds was one of the most encouraging aspects of the week-end market.

SELECTING ATTRACTIVE INVESTMENTS.

Many people are now looking ahead with confidence, and preparing to invest their funds wisely and profitably. But still certainly pay you at this particular time, to consult a reliable firm, who have had years of experience. Sound information is yours for the asking, in both stocks and bonds.

Conducted by
HAROLD S. EDGAR

A series of weekly articles on advertising and merchandising prepared for the Intelligencer at Belleville with the co-operation of The Ontario Intelligencer.

ARTICLE NO. 19

Merchandising Again

The subject of merchandising opens up so many different angles that it is difficult to treat each one in as full detail as one would like. However, a few articles on merchandising may be found of value.

The topic of "Special weeks" has long been one of interest to merchant, whether he approved of them or not. Manufacturers have developed them to a very high degree. There is hardly a week that is not featured by some manufacturer or Association. This has been developed to a high degree in the effort on the part of the manufacturer and retailer, for increased interest in the product. And in many many instances it has produced considerable results. Where these special weeks or days are backed up by a sufficiently strong advertising campaign, the wise retailer ties in with that campaign through his own advertising and his own store display.

There are also many successful instances of "Special Town Days or Weeks", where all the merchants agree to put forth a concerted effort to bring customers into the town from the surrounding territory and to get increased sales for this effort. When properly run they are successful, but they require the whole-hearted co-operation of every merchant. If your community puts on one of these days, go into it with the keenest enthusiasm you can muster. Don't be like the merchant who was not in favour of running another "Blanktown Days" because he had not been successful on the previous one. When asked what he had done with business into his store, he said, "I put a couple of posters on the outside and even dipped my flag." With this measure of co-operation why should he expect business?

You don't need to wait for manufacturers' "Special Weeks" or for the community to hold "Special Days". There are plenty of splendid opportunities for "Special Attraction" to be featured in the windows, your store and your advertising.—Spring cleaning—gardening,—cough and cold, "real"—football—hockey, and a hundred and one others. Your windows need never grow stale.

Even days can be made to sell. A bookstore I know places the following card in its window every Friday:

FRIDAY NIGHT

Take Home a New Book to Read Over the Week-End —
Something to Enjoy —
Something to Add to Your Library
Step In Now, and Pick One Out.

When your customers are in your store, here are a few little pointers that are worth while remembering:

Were you feeling guilty of lounging on the counter as a customer approached to be served?

Possibly you have been standing on the alert with the appearance of being ready for instant service.

Or did you ever catch yourself with your back turned to your customer, saking "Fifty or twenty-five cent size?"

When you should have paid the customer the compliment of turning and looking into her face when you asked the question.

Of course you never toss a package onto the counter, but do you ever shove a package across the counter to a customer?

When it would be much more courteous if you were to hand the package across the counter as though it were something really precious.

NEXT WEEK—"TIMELY MERCHANDISING"

PLAYER STOLE HOME TO WIN

Shamrocks Fortunate in Defeating Wooler 9—8

TRENTON, July 16.—(Special)—The Shamrocks beat Wooler here Friday night in a close game by a score of nine to eight. The Shamrocks have been slipping for some time but seem to have come back to their old strength. Free was on the mound for the Leafs and while he has pitched all the league games so far this season, he still can keep the boys guessing. Coming up in the fifth with the score six to four for Wooler, Smith of the Shamrocks connected with a long drive to the Bay scoring Bohan and McCue, McCue had scored Lewis on his hit. Wooler tied the game up by scoring the game going into the ninth, when Alexander hit a home run for the Shamrocks. A play seldom seen was enacted in the game. Reid for Wooler hit a hard drive down past the pitcher, the ball striking him on the arm deflecting off over second, where it was captured by Bohan. The Shamrock used three pitchers in the game Bohan starting, Cooper relieving for four innings, when he was replaced by Lewis, who was signed today after securing his release from the Millionaire Club, who are out of the running in the Quinte baseball serenith, when he gave over to Coughlin, who finished the game for the Shamrocks.

Line-up—

Letters from England

From Mr. G. M. James for His Former Students Everywhere

No. 13

The weather was so bright and warm that like our real Belleville summers that we could not resist the temptation to spend a few days sightseeing before settling down to say Paris after our return from Edinburgh.

We went again to Hyde Park which is not for them where we are staying. This Park from the first has fascinated us greatly because its roads, paths, lawns (not many flowers or shrubs) and grand old trees are lovely. Park Lane (very select homes like Park Ave., New York) runs along the whole length of the Park and continues through another Park (called Green Park) to Buckingham Palace. Anywhere in this region you could easily be taken for a Duke or a Countess and so we walked the Row, Rotten Row, Mall, Constitution Hill and the Piazza by the glitter and glamour that surrounded us. We saw and heard far more than we have time to tell.

Just inside the Park gates near the Marble Arch, we found the usual crowds and patient audiences listening to speakers who were chiefly noted for loud talk and scarcity of ideas. One pathetic speaker interested us greatly because on each of our numerous visits he had been in the same spot surrounded by a crowd of young men who were testing him sadly. It was an old man who was holding up dirty sheets of paper on which was written a character which he called shorthand but he managed so badly that I could hardly understand his crude explanations. The young men were very various and chivvied him with angry frown time to time like a cat teasing a mouse which it has caught.

As I have explained before Hyde Park is continued into Kensington Park forming untidily one of the largest playgrounds in London and perfectly where thousands and sands of people take their pleasure.

SIGHTS AND SCENES IN HYDE PARK

Park and then finally Kensington Gardens where many beautiful flowers and shrubs are in their full glory. Roses too are plentiful now and are very beautiful in the formal colors. In Kensington Gardens stands Kensington Palace where Queen Victoria was born and where she spent her childhood. The surrounding ground is quite level now covered with trees, arbors, flower beds and lawns. It is a very beautiful situation. The Palace is merely the palatial kind of a big red brick house without a tower, or a projecting window or anything beyond plain walls and roof lines. We paid our entrance fee to a dowdy attendant like so many we have met in England and went from room to room where more gloomy attendants seated on hard cheerless chairs. Like many of these fellows look and act as if they were bored to death doing nothing and thousands in the great park outside would be delighted to have their job. If I lived among them long I certainly would lose my cheerful disposition and forget how to smile or be civil. I must write more notes on this subject because so many other visitors and they are much more severe in their remarks. The various state rooms are named such as the nursery, the dining room, breakfast room, bedroom, etc. All the walls are finished in panels of some oak panels like those of Hampton Court and Holyrood Palace. The various state rooms are named such as the nursery, the dining room, breakfast room, bedroom, etc. All the walls are finished in panels of some oak panels like those of Hampton Court and Holyrood Palace. The walls are covered with splendid framed oil paintings chiefly of royal persons or scenes and many of them of no great interest or importance today. Some of the state rooms are not at all stately and not at all and similar things that Queen Victoria played with as a child—just nothing at all with little girls played with at that time. This was very very happy visit because we knew so much about this great, grand Queen. We went into the gardens to rest and to talk about what we had so recently seen. In the midst of our conversation a tall, handsome young woman went by and her ultra fashionable appearance halted our speech. Her manner was quietly modest but she was dressed in red hat, red striped scarf for her neck loosely pay, painted lips (deeply dyed) and tinted finger nail of a perfect hand also dyed to the deep red. Paris had come to us before we even crossed the channel.

Shortly after this I was walking along Oxford Street, a very fashionable street, close to Park Lane when I met a HUNGRY SIGN CANUCK who had actually spent his last penny. He is known first FLAVOR that I belong to almost every well known fraternal and social order and for years have been very sensitive to authority. Such lied challenges whereby a stranger brother becomes known. Usually on my living and clothing I am well and relieved in the usual way but this was the first since I left Belleville last April and my astonishment was correspondingly great. As looking young man came to my side and as we strolled along chatted in a friendly way. Then in an unsuspecting moment came the test and I met it. He gave much more grand than was necessary or safe on a public street. He had left his native land for Canada when a boy and had worked for several years as an electrician in Brantford, Guelph and Peterboro, he was wearing clothes bought in Hamilton, he had but three American coppers in his pocket, he had broken his fast on three days and at the moment he was chewing some orange peel he had picked up on the street. That interview cost me the customary donation but it was not perhaps in vain.

A haircut in London costs from twelve cents to eighteen cents according to whether it is performed by a journeyman or a master. Similarly a shave costs from eight cents to twelve cents. Safety razors are unknown.

You are never given a glad of water in any eating place in England or Scotland unless you ask for it. I have not yet found out why.

Sunday is always one of our most interesting day in London. We went again to the "City Temple" where we find our way with ease. See. The church is a beautiful stain glass and represents some Bible topic, like The Sower, Christ blessing little children, the woman at the well and many others. Above the pulpit is emblazoned the word, "The Light of the World," the original of which was painted by Holman Hunt and is in St. Paul's Cathedral. The one in the City Temple is a faithful reproduction and holds the attention. As you know it is a Congregational church and a very fine one. Dr. Dinsdale Young is his hang knocking at a strong oaken door covered by weeds and briars. It is one of the world's most loved pictures because it appeals to so much in the hearts and minds. . . This church is always well attended and the wonderful windows play an important part. If I had control of the church council one window would be placed in each door, I would cover its walls and especially the walls of the Sunday School with the walls of the religious pictures mentioned above. It may be had today at a small cost. Next to good preaching and good music, they are most helpful and entertaining. Dinsdale Young is minister of the City Temple, which is near the centre of Old London proper, has a fine appearance and manner and speaks much in the same way as Dr. Cooper of Bloor Street, Toronto. We went to the afternoon morning and evening every Sunday and at noon every Thursday. In a few of these services I have noticed help. Just a little decided study conditions there much as I have done here. His sermon on this Sunday morning was "Why Live." He showed that the darkest of clouds were under God's guidance a preparation for brighter days to come, illustrations, Cicero, Cesars and Oliver Cromwell. A clean, pure and righteous living could play a part. In the evening we heard the great preacher at the West London Mission, Kingsway Hall, already mentioned in a former letter.

A HENRY IRVING IN THE FULPIT

This man is a born actor and might easily have become another Irving. He is a Methodist and this world condition were due to violation of God's commands and that we cannot cure a patient without the aid of Nature (natural law), which is really God, and that we cannot cure our troubles without respect for and assistance from the Almighty. During the past month or two there has been an epidemic of love affairs between the seven deadly sins and the commandments. Every few days England has been startled by horrible divorce and surveillance cases. Sunday after Sunday in church England has many thousands of tender, pitying hearts for those who have loved but not kept the above all for these sins to many there is a fearful fate. Most of the gruesome tragedies have been enacted in London.

For the first time in our lives we have seen "sniper snipes," poor, miserable, ragged, dirty starved men picking up cigarette stubs that have been thrown away in the gutter. It is a pitiful sight and there are far too numerous in this beautiful old land. We rarely count the cost of vile habits until it is too late.

The people of England and Scotland are very polite and considerate in all matters but one, cigarette smoking. They stand on the pavement face if near by and never say "By your leave, sir." They never consider whether you dislike the smoke or whether blowing ones breath a victim of the habit and having broken away, the odor is a terrible temptation and torment. The situation is clearly this: "Everybody smokes; if you don't, you are a rarity and your punishment serves you jolly right. Go with the crowd or remain at home." If I smoked at all I would put some grace into it and not puff in other people's faces like a shunting engine. I would learn to emit the smoke upwards in large rings, then smaller rings inside the larger one. This would give the practice some dignity beyond its present vile vulgarity like spitting on the parlor floor. Man is a little lower than the angels but he can go down the scale just as easily as he can go up. Is he going down individually or collectively. My ancestors that I have seen were much taller and stronger than I am. Most of those I met in London and Edinburgh. I believe my ancestors farther back, who fought against the Romans in these isles and preoccupied even Britain and Wales, were similar to those ancestors I have known personally. Hence why are the men I am meeting much smaller than their ancestors? They are certainly much smaller than the average Canadian.

I found a man one day selling a London newspaper called "The Daily Liar." He was a high hat and long NONSENSICAL PAPER clerical black coat but was unshaven and otherwise dirty.

"How much is your paper?"

"Two pence (four cents), sir. It is non-political and nonsensical but contains much wit and humor."

"Is the publisher the liar?"

"No, sir. It is the people described. It takes off members of Parliament and other great people. It is just a way of making a living.

"Are you sure you do not treat serious matters too lightly?"

As there was no further reply, I went on my way.

One day recently I was standing on Trafalgar Square watching the crowds and the pigeons peas to and fro when a middle aged man spoke to me.

"Are you looking for some place, sir?"

"I am just watching the people go by."

"Come with me and I will show you something worth while."

He first took me to where Whitehall Palace once stood and from which Charles I. was taken across the street and beheaded. So he took us from place to place for two hours never once saying what I would see next until we arrived there. He was a good talker and would have been very interesting but I had seen almost everything he suggested so important and knew all the details more fully than he did. At last I was compelled to tell him so and to state that I must go now to keep an appointment.

"I am a scene shifter in a theatre and go to work at seven o'clock in the evening. I get very little pay and I am always glad to make an extra two or three bob (fifty or seventy-five cents)."

Here was a man who created an unnecessary job and then states unblushingly the pay he expected to receive for it. It illustrates the thousands of similar cases every day. Many visitors have told me much. Sometimes I have taken up a conversation for the slightest favor often self imposed. Boys of twelve meet you as you approach Buckingham Palace and volunteer to take you to places of interest and begin to tell you about them. Then a hand or cap is before you for a tip. Soon only professionals will be left to tip.

Newspapers are sold on the streets of London by men never by women because it is a recognized means of livelihood. This morning I bought one paper as usual from a man who stands at the nearest corner to where I am staying.

"Very fine morning, sir."

"Yes, indeed, this is something like summer."

Visitors are coming now and they will pick up a bit."

"How do you know visitors?"

"Generally by their talk, sometimes by their way of dressing up neat and fine. You are an American, sir?"

"No, I am a thoroughbred Canadian."

"But for a word or two you speak very good English and I would scarcely know you from a Londoner."

So far we have found Britain for Canadians, always for Americans even by those people themselves. London sees very few Canadians without compared to all others.

The elevator girls say "Going up here" for "Going up" and ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKEN "now" in exactly the same way. Many Londoners speak the purest and most correct English Canadians speak the purest and most correct English in London can be easily detected as different.

On a fifty cent theatre or movie show ticket here, the Government collects a penny in taxes (one cent) and any rental and tax is about the same proportion.

Visitors to London at first are confused when they hear Oxford Circus, Piccadilly Circus and many others. It simply means that at such a point on Oxford Street or Piccadilly there is a circle and there is a large circular intersection, much larger than at the usual street crossways. I have not be able to find out the original meaning of the term Circus but apparently it comes nor wit it was first used. All these particular intersections are among the busiest in the city nearly always requiring the services of policemen to keep the traffic moving street traffic. If at the corners of Bridge and Front Streets, there was a large circle giving twice as much space as it now does, it could be called Bridge Circus or Front Circus.

Sometimes I have been asked by Londoners on the streets and have questioned some policemen and old Londoners and have discovered that certain corners are called "Circus" because of the perfect circle there in each case but they do not know what this word "Circus" like our word "Circumference" is derived from the Latin "Circus" which means "around" or simply "round." Our word circus for a big show has not the same original meaning because it meant at first the ring where the performances were held. Some day you may visit London and you will remember and appreciate this casual explanation because it strikes all strangers as very unusual though when understood it is perfectly simple.

This letter is mailed on the eve of our departure for Folkestone on the English Channel and from there we will sail for Paris. Our next letter will be written. There will not be many more now. Best Wishes to all and thanks for many more kind letters.

DOVER, ENGLAND, JULY 4, 1932

This letter deals chiefly with Paris but there are a few final references to London and how we got to Dover.

BLACK CATS AND OTHER THINGS

Black cats are so common in London that you soon cease to notice them. Consequently a stranger is constantly in a state of worry because they cross their path so often. A news item in one of the daily papers recently stated that some people in London make a living by collecting or caring for cats entirely black or white and the longer the fur the better. This fur is now in big demand.

Recently I paid a visit to the Royal Courts of Justice where about a dozen judges were sitting in various courts and all were functioning at the same time. The building is very old but stately and dignified. Many lawyers in wigs and gowns were in the Grand Hall and in the courts run into each other. In the centre of the street at this spot now stands the monument to mark the place where Temple Bar, consisting of stone work and a gate, stood for many years. The fine building of it for a time was being tried before the Lord Chief Justice of England in London, made a living by

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

COPYRIGHT 1931 BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

"You must live. How much are you paying for the baby's board?" "Fifty."

"And your rent?"

"There's none." The apartment belonged to a girl who—who married or something. She went to Europe and the lease isn't up until November or March or April or I see." Gwyn wiped away a smile.

"So there's only the food, and one doesn't want to eat much this hot weather. I suppose I could go on carfare though—to get out to Jamaica Park to see the bunchen, but I'm hoping to get church work—"

He wheeled on her sharply. "I won't coach you if you force your voice!"

"I won't force it. I'll be careful."

"Careful, eh! I've told you what happens to coloratura who break down!"

"But Gwin, I'll be careful. It isn't as though I were just beginning. I know how to keep my voice forever."

"All right. Choose between the church that pays and the concert chorus idea. You and Tony were raving about."

Choose between them! Why, there wasn't any choice. Gwyn's going to do for pay, and Tony's a chance to learn for—

"Exactly!"

"But even you said I had to eat!"

She went home, more shaken than she had been since the old days when she first faced the bubchen's coming. If she could only have stayed with Tony until summer was over. But no use to cry over spilt milk.

Well, she'd get a job. She thought of things she could do. Waitress. Telephone operator. Pianist.

But if she took a regular job she couldn't keep Mrs. Orrin—nobody would let her off a day's week. And after his regular classes started she could conscientiously take the money. Twenty-five dollars a week and free lessons, with lessons costing twenty dollars the half hour.....

Oh, how did anyone ever do it? How did girls ever become opera singers? And even if you had the voice and the background and the language and the dramatic school training, the dancing, the fencing and all the rest of it, what ever in the world did you do for money to live on?

She'd have to have money for the bubchen's board. Tony—but she couldn't ask him for a loan, he had too many back debts—it wouldn't be right.....

There was no one else. Maybe she could write home. Perhaps they could advance her something, lend them when Uncle Kah's estate was settled..... Besides, this would be the last time she'd have to ask. Perhaps they could spare her just a few dollars, say for two months, until Gwin started full time classes again.....She got up and wrote out the message, night letter.

"Sorry to have to tell you impossible help you now. Did not want to alarm you, but mother has had the flu and now pneumonia. Asks for you constantly. Wish you could come, but no use to consider it if you are broke. Will let you know of any change. MAY."

And right on the heels of that:

"Send very soon. If you can borrow from Madame Nahlman and come, suggest you do so, for mother's wish is so strong that all the rest of family together could not cannot borrow fare elsewhere and I will manage to send you ticket. Advice. MAY."

By late afternoon Lily Lou had wired May, booked her ticket, and had kissed the bubchen a tearful goodbye.

She had five hundred and fifty dollars of Dwight Gwin's money, and how she was ever to repay him she didn't know.

She got the last message on the train.

Read it over and over, trying to realize what it would be like without mother. Said it over and over to herself.....Mother, dead. Mother, dead.....

But it did not seem real. In the midst of her worried repetition, "Mother, dead.....mother dead" there would come the thought of the bubchen. Hadn't she better wire Maxine to go see him on Sunday? Maxine was so unobserving, day? Maxine was so unobserving, though. Tony would be better, but Tony was working so hard, and Sunday was his only chance to rest.

Back to mother again.....Oh, if I'd only started sooner. If May had only told me..... but of course she only told me..... It wasn't her fault didn't know. It wasn't dirty.

Oh dear, it's so hot, and dirty.....Holsteins in that pasture..... Woolly things, Holsteins..... Wonder what they eat all that Uncle Kah's sheep? .....Mother must have known I'd come.....she must know when I'm coming now.....because those who love there's bound to be some sort of telepathy.....

"I won't see Ken of course.... Still, I might. It would be natural for him to come to see us, on account of mother. It isn't absurd to imagine that. Percy Sage couldn't object to that. He knew mother. She used to be like him.....

"Poor darling mother.....

"It would have been criminal to bring the bubchen. The heat would have killed him. Ken doesn't know he's alive anyway. Even Madame Nahlman has given a sigh when she ever saw. He's even gaining during the hot summer. Mrs. Jessen is wonderful to him...at least she seems so.....better even than to call and make sure.....

CHAPTER FORTY-EIGHT

"Well, we have to eat, and have some breakfast," Raymond said. "We've got plenty of time. The funeral isn't till two o'clock."

Raymond did all the talking. He had, he told her, given up golf, of course. He said, "I figured it was only right. Pa, he would have come, too, but funerals break him all up. You know how it is when they get going. Hates to hear the word. At the time thinking he'll be the next one. Pa's got a big heart, and his health ain't what you'd call strong. Ma, she's the same, though how many years he's got left. I know him. You can't tell, oh, can you?"

"Yes, you're pretty smart." May agreed absently. "I hope you didn't find it too difficult to come out, Lily Lou. I suppose it's a terrible bit that much money, especially when you haven't got it. You'll have to borrow from Madame—Nahlman?"

"No, she is still abroad. I borrowed from Percy Sage."

Raymond wrinkled his forehead. "You don't like to get under any obligations to those fellows. If I was you, Lily Lou, I'd pay that fellow, soon as you get back."

"With what, Raymond?"

"Well, with the first money you get. You're working, aren't you?"

"Yes, I don't know what I'm doing and living is so high—"

"That's just it," May cut in. "You ought to come back to San Francisco. New York isn't any better, Irene's friend, Leta, has a friend, a Mrs. Gleazer, who studied in New York for two years. Two years, mind you..... Well, when she came back and went to Lucy with a teacher named..... what WAS his name Well anyway, he said they had ruined her voice in New York. She never did make anything of it, after all she spent. She's selling real estate now, but with business what it is.....

"Yes, it's a long, uphill drag," Lily Lou agreed.

She thought about it, sitting alone in the back seat of Raymond's car, as they drove out San Pablo avenue, on il.. way to Woodlake.

Maybe it would have been better if she had never tried it. All the chances she'd had. Europe with Nahlman. Daylight Gwin's lessons Metropolitan chorus, and dramatic lessons there. Tony's patient help with Italian and French.....and all still miles from the goal. Still every chance in the world that she'd be just one more who tried.....

It was a hot and threatening drive, over the mountains that smelled of sage, and chaparral, giving up their spicy, aromatic sweetness in the hot, dusty wind that blew alarmingly from the sun.

How different, how terribly different from the last time, thirteen months ago, when she and Ken.....

When she and Ken.....

May leaned over from the front seat. "Don't cry so, Lily Lou. You can't help things by feeling so bad. I'm sure we all feel bad to lose mother. But after all, she was fifty-eight. It isn't as though she were younger—"

Lily Lou wept heartbrokenly then.

To think that she could have so far forgotten her mother as to cry over old memories, on the way to her mother's funeral.

It was hot and crowded in the little house. There was Bess and her husband, and the three children, the youngest asleep on the old father bed that had been Lily Lou's.

John was there with his wife, Eva and his two ugly little boys that looked like twins, and weren't.

Bess had taken charge, of course. She was so busy bustling around making sure that there were chairs enough for everybody, that every-one's children were out of mischief and would stay clear "until it was all over" that she had time for nothing more than a hasty kiss and "How are you, Lily Lou?"

Mr. Stokes, the old minister, was there, and the minister's wife and Mr. Fletcher, and Mrs. Burpee, and half a dozen others from the church.

"I don't know where we'll put them all when they all get here. I wish we'd planned to have the funeral in the church like I wanted," Bess worried. "It was my idea from the first, but dad would have it here. He said mother would have liked it here. He was the last one in life to ever know what she liked, and it worked out that way right to the end. Well! It's all we can do now.....I wish he and Ruth Fletcher would come. I hadn't been off by himself, or at Uncle Eph's old place ever since mother died. It's awfully hard on the family to have to put off a funeral for somebody coming to get here. Lord, at that child! Regina, if you dirty your white dress—"

"Yes, I know it has been hard for you, Bess, and you've been a comfort," Lily Lou said.

When the family gathered in the shed kitchen, and overflowed onto the back and side porches, Lily Lou went into the little front room to say goodbye to her mother. No one had thought to take her in. After all, she preferred to go alone.

They had covered everything except the piano.....the golden oak piano that had sat her feet on the pedals from which there was no turning now.....

The bier was near the piano. Behind it were rows of chairs. Camp chairs that the undertaker, Mr. McMother, had brought.

A little timidly she came closer to her mother.

The Lanzings, as a family, were forever afterward to date all events as before or after mother died.

For years certain scenes were to be written on Lily Lou's heart, to flash on and off in her memory, like pictured stills from a moving picture.

She had never realized that her mother was beautiful. She had just been mother, a little tired, a little shabby, altogether beloved.

Now she was to remember her, wrapped in the majesty of her dedication.

Her hands serene on her breast, her pale silver-streaked hair brushed back from her beautiful white forehead in an unfamiliar manner. Her lovely mouth, too often tightened into a worried line in life, younger and infinitely more gentle now.

All the tired wrinkles gone. All the absorbed interest in her children gone. The soul, the motherly soul of her, fled away, just the clay of her body, the body that for years nobody had noticed was beautiful, left.

Certain other things impressed themselves almost as poignantly in her memory, left.

The round eyes of Bess' three children, sitting in a row on the table that somebody had pushed in at the last moment, their fat legs straight out before them.

The little processions of cars, one behind the last a dozen drivers, winding down the unpaved road, past willow trees and the dry creek bed, to the cemetery.

Two workers who waited, blue-shirted, shovels at their feet. In the shade of a magnolia tree near the Lanzings' family plot, for the last words to be over, they could pile back the earth.

And when it was decently over, and they were driving back to the house, the women's voices became ing more natural again, not so whispery and solemn.

The children, becoming less good.

The soft fleshy smack of Bess' kiss on Lily Lou's heart, to which flesh and cloth of her memory, like pictured stills from a moving picture.

And then everyone coming in to the house for "coffee." Bess, with pitiably urging everyone, even Ruth Fletcher's wife whom she hated, into the best of the kitchen chairs. The sweaty, shiny face of the Schultz girl (so called because she had never married, though she was nearly as old as mother had been) bending over the five gallon coffee pot Bess had borrowed from the church.

Bess bringing in the baked ham from the cooler, whispering to the Schultz girl to see that everybody had potato salad and a hot biscuit.

The minister's wife crooking her little finger elegantly, as she lifted her cup, having managed by loaded plate on one bony knee.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Tantor, the elephant, flapped his big ears lazily as he slowly walked through the teeming midday jungle. Now and then he would reach for some juicy morsel with his trunk. On his broad back lolled Korak, the ape-man. They made but a few miles each day. What matter to Korak. He had no place in particular to go. Since the years before when he had lost Meriem, life was meaningless. He was content with food and sleep.

Today he had come upon the trail of the Sheik's band but it did not interest him. All he wanted was never to see a human face again. Men always brought him sorrow and misery. It had been years since he had come this far north and the sight of a river aroused him somewhat from his apathy. For a while he buried himself fishing, then curled himself in a tree to sleep. Numa, roaring beneath him, awoke him. He saw that night had fallen.

Korak reached down, clutched the figure beneath, a while he buried himself fishing, then curled him and dragged it up among the branches. Presently something else caught his attention. He listened. Was there something in the tree beside him? Yes, he heard the noise of something trying to clamber above. Then the cloth of a crocodile's jaws in the water beneath! Korak gazed downward. Against the faint luminosity of the water he saw not the figure of a man clinging to one of the lower branches. Silently the ape-man clambered toward

"MILLION DOLLAR LEGS" HITS LAUGH HEIGHTS

Opening today at the Belle "Million Dollar Legs," outrageously enough does not concern a chorus girl, but an Olympic runner and more genuine fun and more stellar names have been crowded into "Million Dollar Legs" with an Olympic games background than the flingover usually finds in half a dozen photoplays not even the various comedies in which the Four Marx Brothers have appeared reach so high a pinnacle of sheer nonsensical buffoonery as does this picture according to advance reports.

Having decided to make this Olympic comedy, Paramount took the next logical step and put into it perhaps the finest cast ever assembled for any one picture. Jack Oakie, as the pyramidic brain salesman who turns Olympic trainer, has one of the funniest roles of his entire career. W. C. Fields is cast as the president of Klopstokia, who has a hyde-dad contract engagement entirely upon his ability to wrestle down the secretary of the treasury each morning. Then there is Andy Clyde, who has to be champion runner in the weasel of the bill collectors; Ben Turpin, the official spy, who carries fields almost to distraction because the president of Klopstokia never can tell whether Turpin is watching him or looking out the window; Lyda Roberti, the blonde menace whose ecstatic wiggles almost ruin a nation's Olympic chances, Hank Mann, George Barbier and Hugh Herbert. Beauteous Susan Fleming, former "Pollies" and "Scandals" headliner, provides the love interest and emits little Dickie Moore has the role of an impish youngster who frustrates Klopstokia's spies by the simple method of shooting a barbed arrow from his bow into their—anatomy.

"Million Dollar Legs" is as hairbrained as that. But it has laughs, love interest and suspense, all deftly builded to a wildly funny climax.

Talbish Bashford Sizes

As an engineer in a tropical country Forbes is co-featured with Charles Bickford Paul Lukas and Eugene Pallette.

MYSTERY YOUTH DEAD

Simcoe, July 16.—Found on the highway in a dazed condition three months ago, a youth known as Frederick Cook is dead here. Despite wide efforts to further identify the youth, died without being able to reveal any details of his family. Cook had evidently been hit by an automobile when found, and was taken to the General hospital here.

At The Capitol

"STEADY COMPANY"

A REAL COMEDY

First of all Norman Foster is the highly pleasing leading man, and blonde June Clyde is the equally well-cast leading lady.

The story sparkles with its originality. The screen story has the trouble start when beautiful June loses the heel of one of her slippers, and succumbs to the offer of a good looking truck driver to take her to her destination. Thrills and joyous love follow as the smitten truck-driver determines to win fame for his lady love by way of the roped-arena.

The fight scenes are startling with their reality and if handsome Norman and Agreeable Jack Perry, a welter champ of other days, were not honestly using the hammer and lonsy, we admit being fooled as we never have been before. The detail of the fight sequences is remarkably accurate and a compliment to the director, Edward Ludwig.

J. Farrell MacDonald, that great artist, Zasu Pitts, Walter Miller and Willard Robertson all play their roles sympathetically with Zasu, as usual, well worth especial mention.

You are going to hear much more of Norman Foster and June Clyde. Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Hollywood's regal court of young screen luminaries. They are the most romantically radiant pair to grace our films since the film talkies came to us, and that, admitted-ly, is an extremely complimentary statement. Youth, good looks, talent, personality and pep—they possess all of them in heaping portions.

Don't dare miss "Steady Company." It's the sort of a picture that will tone up your blood, action with its exciting activity and its wholesome romance. Take the whole family Big sister will forget to be bored and little Johnny will not be bored either.

On the programme: "Trapped," the second chapter mystery will be shown together with "Medbury in Death Valley" and the Pathe Sound News.

To-Night

Wheeler and Woolsey in "Girl Crazy" and "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" will be shown for the last time tonight at 7.00 and 8.30 (Last Capital Show).

Free Radio Coupons are also being distributed at each performance.

Talbish Bashford, Charles Bickford and Paul Lukas in a scene from the tropic romance, "Thunder Below," at the Belle now, with Jack Oakie in "Million Dollar Legs."

Norma Foster, June Clyde and Henry Armetta in "Steady Company," at the Capitol, Monday and Tuesday.

NO TRACE OF HALE FOUND

Search For Former Belleville Man, Separated From Chums

L'Ascension, Que., July 15 (CP)—Another all night search had failed today to reveal any trace of Geo. S. Hale, superintendent of the Montreal Power plant of the Price Motor Company, and formerly of Belleville, missing since Monday. Hale became separated from companions while on a fishing trip. Despite the efforts of every service that is to be experienced woodsmen, no indication of the whereabouts of the gifts had been found.

Most of the deep spots in the Hall River have been explored by divers and the belief now is that the missing man is somewhere in the woods. The wooded region has been combed, and more than some 60 men are continuing their search.

SNAPPED HYDRO POLE AS CAR LEAVES ROAD

Believed to have lost control of the car, which left the machine while travelling on No. 2 Highway west of Belleville, near Graham's residence, a resident of Trenton had a narrow escape from death or serious injury at two o'clock Thursday morning, when the machine he was driving left the road, ploughed into the ditch and snapped off a hydro pole at the base with-out route. Favorable Trade Balance In Past Year, 31 Millions

OTTAWA, July 16.—In one of the most cheering statements issued for some time, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, announced today that Canadian exports reached during June the highest figure for any month this year, rolling up a favorable trade balance of more than 31 million dollars for the twelve months ending June 30.

In a brief announcement made Friday afternoon. Mr. Stevens declared that exports of Canadian products totalled $40,945,490 during June. This represented an increase of $31,086 over May and $13,969,-794 over April. The latter, as is obvious, was a bad month.

Exports exceeded imports to make a favorable trade balance of $950,970 for the month, said Mr. Stevens. For the twelve months ending June 30, exports totalled $547,285,380, as against imports of $316,347,203, a favorable trade balance of $31,038,067.

Staggered Class Plan Explained

Principal Says it Will Cut Out Home-work

London, July 16—Staggered classes, the innovation in school timetables to be introduced in Central Collegiate next fall, was explained in detail by Principal E. A. Miller to the collegiate committee meeting in the City Hall.

The staggered class system, it was explained, will enable the teachers to carry on with reduced school accommodation and will reduce expensive building programs. If successful, it provides each student with an hour more of personal instruction than is given by any other double-shift method. With the co-operation of the students, it is hoped that the staggered class system will almost eliminate homework.

HUDSON-ESSEX MODEL READY

Car to Compete in Lowest Price Field Production on Tilbury July 16—It is now considered in automotive circles as a foregone conclusion that Chrysler Canada Limited is ready and waiting for the public debut of its supersensational new car and the company's link to the lowest-price field.

The official silence continues, but the plant activity is most pronounced. The zero hour is supposed to be very close indeed.

Out of the welter of reports and rumors which have created much excitement in the industry, these facts would seem to emerge as approximately authentic, but in any case, not denied by the Canadian executives.

There is a new car. It will positively be in the low-price field. There has been an extensive survey of the buying power of purchasers in motor cars and the reported plans for production have centered on the results of the survey. There has been much talk of power-driven right rear axles and much investigation of the work of leading automobile engineers, apparently to see what discoveries in that field might be applicable to the automotive industry. Key Canadian distributors are preparing to go to the factory at Tilbury within a few days Quantity production is reported to be under way and will be ready as soon as the details are out.

Cost-of-Living Levels Higher Than Pre-War Time

Ottawa, July 16.—The cost of living throughout the world remains with few exceptions, above pre-war levels, according to international statistics, the Department of Trade and Commerce reports in a statistical review last night. Prohibitive tariffs and unfavorable exchange place to live in, as compared with 1914. Following is a brief review by countries:

Production of prisoners has been curtailed in Russia and Poland according to W. J. Campbell, district probation officer of Auckland.

Four Cathedral Windows Broken in Faction Riots

Church of England Cathedral at Liverpool Damaged

BRICKS HURLED

LIVERPOOL, England, July 15. —(Canadian Press Cable)—For the first time since the commencement of the Orange celebrations on Tuesday all was quiet in Liverpool today but civic authorities and others were regretfully viewing the wreckage of four magnificent stained glass windows of the new Church of England Cathedral, broken by rioting factions.

Orange and Catholic demonstrations were kept fairly orderly until last night when the unruly sections of the large Irish Orange and Catholic populations in Liverpool broke out of control.

Memorials Damaged

Following outbreaks of street fighting which marched on to the great new cathedral where more clashes occurred and bricks were hurled through four of the 34-foot high memorial windows of the Lady Chapel, designed by Sir Gilbert Scott, architect of the Cathedral, for which many years ago was laid.

The windows were considered among the best example of modern stained glass and were a particularly valuable feature of the cathedral, which is the largest and the newest in England. It has been in use for some time although it is not quite completed.

Police considered the warmth of feeling engendered by the Anglo-Irish controversy was a zigzag factor in enlargement of the unusual July religious demonstrations to a point where they got out of hand.

Dail Rushes Through Tariff on G. Britain

Retaliatory Measure Passes All Stages on Friday

68 TO 57 VOTE

DUBLIN, July 15.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The Dail Eireann this afternoon rushed through all stages of the House of Representatives emergency measure empowering duties on British products, in retaliation for the duties on Irish Free State products which went into effective today.

President Eamon de Valera was on the way to London to confer with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald about the differences between Great Britain and the Free State.

Majority of Eleven

The final government majority on the bill which gives the Republican administration power to impose duties of any amount was 68 to 57. During the closing stages of the debate Sean MacEntee, Finance Minister, said the powers would be used primarily to open new channels of trade, to establish new industries in the Free State and to reimburse the nation for any possible losses due to the new tariff enacted by Great Britain.

ST. LAWRENCE PACT SIGNED BY 2 NATIONS

Waterways Treaty is Duly Signed at Washington, 2 Stage Development With Dams at Crysler and Barnhart

Flooding to Canadian Farmlands and Historic Sites Lessened by Two Stage Development —Safeguard of Dominion Interests

CAPITAL COST TO CANADA $38,071,500

United States Cost $65,100,00 in Upper Lakes Section and $178,561,000 in International Section Making Total of $243,661,000

Ottawa, July 18 (By The Canadian Press)—The St. Lawrence Waterways Treaty was signed by Canada and the United States at Washington this morning. Official announcement of execution of the pact was made shortly afterwards by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

The treaty deals only with the international section of the St. Lawrence constituting the boundary between Ontario and New York State. A twenty-seven foot channel will be constructed to permit ocean ships to penetrate the North American Continent to Port Arthur, Fort William Chicago and Duluth. From an engineering standpoint. The project is second only to the Panama Canal.

OTTAWA, July 18.—(By the Canadian Press)—The St. Lawrence Waterways Treaty was signed at Washington this morning. The official announcement to the effect made by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett today as follows:

"The St. Lawrence Deep Waterway Treaty between His Majesty in respect of the Dominion of Canada and the President of the United States of America was signed at Washington at 9 o'clock this morning by the Hon. W. D. Herridge, minister for Canada in the United States of America, and the Honorable Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State of the United States of America."

In a brief ceremony at the State Department, Henry L. Stimson signed for the United States and Hon. W. D. Herridge for Canada.

Eight Year Task

Pending 11 years, the gigantic project calls for development of the St. Lawrence for a 260 mile stretch from Montreal to Lake Ontario on eight year task. It will enable one s going, seaside travel to the heart of the continent, while at the same time provide up to 2,200,000 horsepower electrical energy to be divided by the Canadian and United States sections bordering the waterway.

It is now a binding agreement between the two administrations, but yet must be ratified by the legislative bodies of the two countries before going into effect.

A minute or so after 9 a.m., Mr. Stimson penned his name, to be followed at once by Mr. Herridge.

A two-stage development with dams at Crysler and Barnhart Islands—strongly held out for by Canada as without a one-stage development proposed by United States engineers—will take place.

Costs More to Kill Bird Than It's Worth in Pie

Foreigners Love Pestiferous Starlings in Their Bird Pies

PAY CENT EACH

LONDON, Ont., July 18.—There is a market for the pestiferous starling which threatened to wipe out the fruit growing industry of Western Ontario.

Certain foreigners in Canada pay one cent a piece for them and consider them a dainty dish. Col. Emmerson, district game warden, said today.

However, as shells to kill them are worth more than that, it is not expected this unexpected market will help much in checking their inroads.

Latest reports from the district reveal that the raspberry crop is suffering heavily, one grower reporting 50 per cent loss. Even wheat fields are being ravaged.

KIDNAP HUNT GOES FORWARD

Daily Tips Are Received and Every One is Run Down

Trenton, N.J., July 18—The light of publicity no longer shines on the search for the murderers of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby, but thru the channels of the underworld the hunt goes on.

On May 12, the day after the small body of the baby was found, hollow near the home from which the baby had been stolen on March 1, President Hoover issued instructions.

"Make the kidnapping and murder of the Lindbergh baby" said the president, "a live and nevertobe-forgotten case."

His instructions were issued to members of Federal agencies, but they were applied as a welcome command by state and city officials as well.

The state police station at Alpine is still operating as a headquarters for the hunt. Sixteen detectives of the force are on permanent assignment on the case and co-operating with them are members of the municipal police forces of Newark and Jersey City.

Tips are still received daily and every one is run down.

Feeling in Ireland.

Mr. O'Kelly spoke of the feeling in Ireland toward Great Britain. He believed the Irish people are right behind his party in its attitude toward Great Britain and stated they would support the move for independence at any price. "Independence means all to us," he said "and I think if a vote were taken right now in Ireland it would go the same way as it did in 1918.

Asked if the tariff barriers recently raised between the Free State and England would be brought up at the conference, Mr. Duffy replied he said that if the Free State and England could lead any discussion this matter would most certainly have to come up.

Order Out of Chaos Aim of Conference Says Bennett

Parley to Deepen Channel of Trade Within Empire

MUST SUCCEED

Toronto, July 18 (CP)—Confidence that the Imperial Economic Conference will serve to deepen the channels of trade within and without the British Empire and bring about a way to a general betterment of world conditions is expressed by leading Canadian governmental, business and banking leaders as well as by prominent professional figures in other parts of the Empire.

Deepen Trade Channels.

Premier R. B. Bennett says in an article in the Toronto Globe under his signature the Conference should strive to bring harmony out of chaos; to devote its energies and efforts which, if successful, would be of whole hearted zeal, to deepening the channels of intra-Imperial trade and creating a larger volume of mutually profitable trade between the different parts of the Empire than now exists.

Failure Unthinkable.

These sentiments are repeated in the other articles appearing in the special edition and include that from echoing the recent words of the Prince of Wales in connection with the opening outcome of the conference —"failure is unthinkable."

Sir Joseph Flavelle do not mince words in warning that the conference must succeed. Senator Lorne Webster Eilbank and Hon. O. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London.

Morgan Marshall, who is chairman of the federation of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, says: "If this conference is a success as I full it might well mean disintegration of the Empire. It might even mean disintegration of the world."

Hugh Pattison Cecil, Lord Quickswood, who is chairman of the federation of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, says: "If this conference is a success as I full it might well mean disintegration of the Empire. It might even mean disintegration of the world."

BELLEVILLE IS EASY MARK FOR PAN-HANDLERS

NOT SO HOBO

"Suckertown."

One hundred and thirteen miles east of Toronto; two hundred and forty west of Montreal. Bounded on the south by the peaceful Bay of Quinte; on the north and west by patches of bush, alive at night with the flickering blaze of transient camp fires of hobo jungles, from which in-short forays they make their daily raids to back down of quiet streets in the city, to return to the little dug-outs with arms laden with parcels of meat, and bread and other eatables dispensed by kindly housewives.

A fire flickers cheerily. Men lie at ease in the bare patches of ground, framed with tall weeds. Over the fire hangs a pot; in cans of various descriptions compliments the outdoor kitchen. Fowl feathers lay in profusion among the tall grass, and small piles of new potatoes, beets and other farm and garden stock Mulligan stews for breakfast.

The Hobo

So much for the hobo, the tramp, the bindle-stiff or whatever else you care to call the men who beat their way by back door begging from one cone coast to the other. They are not the men who greet this city the sobriquet she enjoys.

It is the bindle-stiff who treads the softest palm among them. He who is the elite of progress. Not for him are the stony jungles, the open fires and the hard beds in the weeds. He is a specialist, an acquired through rigorous training, following in the footsteps and pastmasters who have gone ahead. A psychologist, trading on the softness of human nature, the sympathies of sister-brotherhood for all to whom he can give his spiel. And nowhere has he found a more willing audience or a more tender nature than among the folk of Belleville.

Hardluck Stories

They size you up on street corners and from hallways as you walk along. They have an air about them that defies you to imagine they are mere bums. Their story that they have had "hard luck" means credence. "Just a nickel for a 'cuppacawfee,' mister ....." Or if you look like a "tin touch"—if you wear in its pin that sparkles, and have a certain air about you that lends the impression of easy-come, easy-go, then their sales talk assumes different characteristics. Then they are tourists who have become stranded. They need fifty cents to telephone a friend..... "a sick wife, perhaps, or even a college student who is trying to get enough money to visit his parents in some other city some distance away. They convince you, you dip in your pocket and you shell out. But you feel like a goof for doing it. You've nothing to show. You learned their talk and learned it well.

Silver Into Bills

Two neatly dressed young men entered a local restaurant on Front Street. One of them hauled his pocket handful of silver for which he requested paper money in exchange. They ate a meal and left. But, between their talk the waitress managed to glean the information that Belleville was "easy pickin's". One of them confided in the waitress that he had made four dollars so far that day—Saturday.

Another youth approached a motor car. To the driver he told the same hard luck story of being stranded with his car, which needed repairs. The driver gave the man fifty cents—and had the pleasure of having the same man approach him with the same request an hour or so later. What his feelings were on the matter has not been recorded.

Those who know the activities of the city's police say that the present period lends itself to them rather than discourage the donations which the soft-hearted folk so freely. They trade on the depression. At times when work was plentiful they had no such excuse as being unable to raised a few dollars by work to visit their ailing mothers, or with the old folk at home. But with work at a premium, and soft-hearted citizens of "Suckertown" shelling out as freely every time they are approached, bonanza times have struck their ranks.

"How is Belleville compared with other cities?" "Belleville is the best 'spot' between Toronto and Montreal," they solemnly declare, as they rattle pockets which jingle silver and tend to bear out their assertions.

Yes. The ratio is about 60 per cent for adults and 15 per cent for children.
That means that millions of persons are not as they should be?
Yes, and it means that because of that fact they do not do many other things in life as well as they should. Children do not study as they should. Many persons do not READ ALL that they should. Many have trouble in and out eye strain.
This is all unnecessary?
Yes, quite unnecessary.

3 JUDGMENTS HANDED DOWN

Actions, Tried at Recent Sitting of County Court

Judgments were delivered by Judge Madden, of Napanee, in the County Court actions tried before him at the June sittings of the County Court.

Shannon v. Regent Oil Company.

The plaintiffs who reside at Marmora, brought an action to set aside their subscription for preferred stock in the Regent Oil Company Limited, on the ground that the subscriptions for the stock were obtained by fraud. Judge Madden in his judgment found that the president of the defendant company had falsely represented that if the plaintiffs subscribed for $1000 of stock, one Daniel Shannon would be given a position as superintendent of sales of the defendant company at Trenton, and gave judgment for the plaintiffs for $1000 and costs. Charles Payne, K.C., for plaintiff; W. B. Herrington, Napanee, for defendant.

Bannerman v. Mace.

An action for a declaration that the plaintiff was the owner of a cottage at Stony Lake, Cote Hill, Ontario. In the judgment in this action it was found that the substructure of the cottage had been built into the soil and the cottage formed part of the land and as the defendant in a former action had been declared the owner of the land, the cottage passed to him under the judgment in the former action.

Charles Payne, K.C., for plaintiff; G. S. White for defendant.

Trustee of McDonald Estate v. Herbert McDonald.

An action to set aside an assignment of promissory notes of the value of $4000 and $1000, preference against the other creditors of Hugh R. McDonald. In the judgment in the action it was held the defendant's wife had sufficient circumstances of his son when he advanced $1200 to them and that the defendant could not obtain a preference over the other creditors by the assignment.

Charles Payne, K.C., for plaintiff and R. S. Herrington, Napanee for defendant.

CHERRY CROP IS LARGEST
Trees Laden With Fruit in Prince Edward County
Strong spies which whipped some sections of Prince Edward County all day Sunday did not cause as much damage among cherry and apple orchars as at first feared.
Broken branches, heavily laden with the ripe cherries, lay dragging on the ground under the trees, bearing mute testimony to the force of the strong wind which blew throughout the day and the weight of the fruit most of these broken trees were observed in the south of the peninsula.
"We have had no trouble in our section," declared Mr. S. R. Orser, leading cherry grower in the section, who resides near Wellington. "The crop this year is the best we have had for years. We marketed to a downtown dealer in supplies and fancy fruit, and he and other cherry growers amplify the statements that this year's crop has been the largest they have had in some time. Some sections, however, note an abundance of the fruit that there is some fear some of it will go to waste before it can be picked and basketed. Many farmers are exporting the crop to outside canneries.

TRENTON HOME IS ENTERED

Necklace of Rare Design And Two Handbags Taken

TRENTON, July 18.—(Special)—The home of Mr. E. J. Carr of North Byron street, was broken into while the family were down town for the Saturday night shopping. Mr. Carr on returning home discovered the break-in and immediately notified the police, who started work on the case. The robbers gained entrance by the front door, leaving a pantry window at the side of the house. A black beaded necklace of a rare design was stolen and two handbags. The drawers and closets of the entire house was ransacked, the thieves were evidently not of the petty variety as they touched none of the food staffs in the pantry. Broken branches, heavily laden with the ripe cherries, lay dragging on the ground under the trees, bearing mute testimony to the force of the strong wind which blew throughout the day and the weight of the fruit most of these broken trees were observed in the south of the peninsula.

WATERWAYS TREATY

it will materially reduce the velocity and heights of the embankments to the greater safeguard of downstream interests". A head of twenty-five will be produced at Crysler Island, with sixty feet at Barnhart Island. The National or Quebec Section of the St. Lawrence River will be developed by the Dominion with Canadian Labor and materials. No contracts for supervision, direct or indirect, will be asserted by the United States over this National undertaking.

Cost To Canada

Next new capital cost to Canada for the waterway section will be $37,500,000. The Prime Minister announced. This total is made up of $23,230,000 required in the International Rapids section on account of property damages, rehabilitation of the Lock Navigation canal at Crysler Island, $12,270,000 for the locks and canals in the Welland Canal section bring within the Province of Quebec, and $4,000,000 for the locks and canals in the Welland Canal section bring within the Province of Quebec, and $4,000,000 paid by Ontario to the Dominion on account of power in the St. Lawrence international section —giving a total net cost to Canada of $33,270,000. This total may be decreased by $4,333,000 if the necessity for a fixed channel deepening and other necessary works in the Upper Lake section, plus $2,000,000 in the international Rapids section, giving a final cost to the United States of $343,661,000. It is understood from the State Department at Washington, that a reduction of eight and one-half million dollars will be effected in the Upper Lake channel due to savings already achieved expected, by the United States. The United States includes the cost of the Unit-ed States Power Works.

Equipment Costs.

Figures given do not include the cost of installing the power house machinery or equipment necessary for the development of power in the international rapids section as this is to be financed independently of the treaty—in the case of Canada, by Ontario. Power will be developed on estimates of the joint board of engineers made as of 1926. The figures represent the cost without interest during construction.

Awaits Approval.

Ratification of the treaty by the United States Senate will take place before the pact is placed before the Canadian Parliament for approval, Prime Minister Bennett stated. The United States Senate resumed its session on Saturday, will convene again on the first Monday in December. Ratification by the Senate early will go before Congress in December or January. It is likely start on the project early next year immediately after the treaty is ratified, ratifications between the two countries.

International Control.

An international body—"St. Lawrence International Rapids Section Commission"—will be set up. This commission will have charge of the carrying out of the scheme in the international section. The treaty was prepared in Ottawa.

Terms of the agreement between the Dominion and Ontario Governments will be made public later. The cost of $67,000,000 approximately will be paid by Ontario to the Dominion government for the power works. Cost of the power machinery and super-structure is to be independently financed by Ontario.

POLICE COURT

Dorothy Smith of Lindsay and Irma Wright alias Marie Bellanger of Oshawa were both have pleaded in custody for the past three weeks pending an investigation as to their previous history and character appeared in the police court this week, the local police court Monday morning. Both girls had given their ages as 21 and were charged with vagrancy from Windsor.

The Wright alias Bellanger girl was arrested three weeks ago Saturday on a charge of vagrancy by the C.N.R. police, as she was loitering about the norris station. The girls put up a fight with the police, but after some attempts received information from the Wright girls father in Oshawa, who stated that he did not seem at all interested in his daughter.

When they appeared in the police court this week it was thought by His Worship, that these girls should be split up as they were not now under the old light road, it was pointed out, that the girls had been "hoboing" in Windsor this province. In court the Smith girl admitted that she had come from Windsor but had been born in Lindsay. Her parents are dead. His Worship thought that a remandation to be provided for the girl and she sent to the Girls Industrial or the authorities of that town will be advised of her arrival.

In order, that these two girls may be separated, the Wright girl was remanded for one day and it is expected, that she will be sent back to Windsor. The sending over of the girls out of town on Monday and the Smith girl on Tuesday or Wednesday, the court was of the opinion, that perhaps it might have a tendency to break up the companionship between these two young girls.

Detroit, July 18—Several hours after a speedboat had struck a launch on the Detroit River, causing the drowning of a small child, it was found grounded on Peche Island, 14 feet back from the shore line. The pilot is believed to have been lost, probably in the coldness of the water.

The child, drowned was Frank Dyer, about two years old. His father, Henry Dyan, another man and two women were rescued. Charles W. Thiel, owner of the speedboat, is missing.

New Irish Parley or Offer of Arbitration is Held Out by Britain

Parley Failed Because Ireland Refused to Rescind or Default

NO WORD

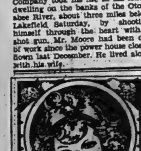
De Valera Has Not Expressed Self on New Offer

LONDON, July 18.—(CP Cable)—The British Government Saturday extended an offer to the Government of the Irish Free State for suspension of the special duties on the Free State imports providing the Free State paid the half-yearly annuities defaulted on June 30.—The offer was contingent on agreements regarding the terms of reference for arbitration of the annuities, or—and this was a new step—agreement even on further discussion of the dispute.

The conference between Prime Minister MacDonald and President Eamonn de Valera Friday night ended in failure because of the Free State's refusal to rescind the default. Otherwise Britain would have agreed to a four-member arbitral tribunal whose members would be evenly divided.

No Word From de Valera

Meanwhile there was no word from the Republican Government indicating any move by President de Valera to reopen discussions. William Norton leader of the Irish Labor party who arranged the conference between the British Prime Minister and President de Valera on Friday night, believes that negotiations by the two governments. The British duties are to be paid to the Republican Government is generally expected to impose retaliatory duties as soon as the Senate has passed the duties-empowering bill, which caught in blocked in the Free State's upper chamber.



Boycott Placards in Dublin

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, July 18.—(AP)—The capital of the Free State awoke Sunday to find almost every shop in Dublin plastered with signs reading "Boycott British Goods". One large streamer with those words had been strung across the principal streets of the city.

While the residents were going to mass this morning, the police went about systematically removing all the signs at the request of the Free State Government.

JOBLESS MAN SUICIDES

Peterboro, July 18.—Despondent because he had been unemployed for more than six months, Walter Jones, 56, former operator of power house No. 2 of the Canada Cement company took his life in his lonely dwelling on the banks of the Otonabee River, about three miles below Lakefield Saturday, by shooting himself through the heart with a shot gun. Mr. Moore had been out of work since the power house closed down last December. He lived alone with his wife.

GREED BRINGS DEATH TO TWO IN LOG CABIN

Carlsor, Ont., July 18—(CP)—Bits of a smile and a mouse hang today from the cabin door of a veteran newspaper man—jokingly greed brings doom to animals as well as men. Lured by the aroma of roquefort cheese, the mouse gnawed its way into the log cabin. Later, it fell prey to the snake, which had followed through the same aperture. The snake was found dead, its distended body jammed in the entry hole during a hurried exit-attempt.

CAR FAILED TO MAKE TURN

J. M. Mackenzie Dies When Pinned Under Car

Lindsay, July 18—Joseph M. MacKenzie, aged 46, son of the late Sir William and Lady MacKenzie, was fatally injured early Saturday night, when his car failed to negotiate a turn on the Victoria-Ontario Counties boundary road, near Bolsover, and crashed into a ditch. MacKenzie died within a few minutes, before medical aid could reach him.

Mr. MacKenzie left his farm, nine miles from Kirkfield, at about 7 o'clock Saturday night, after announcing his intention of driving to Meaford. He started at 9 o'clock a bridge crow on the Trent Canal cocking Bolsover, near an automobile turning a curve in the road about 200 yards distant, at a point where the road began to parallel the canal. The motor car swerved to the left of the road as though it were out of control, skidded and crashed into a ditch.

The canal workers ran to the motor car and with the assistance of motorists, extricated MacKenzie from beneath the car. The car was badly smashed in front, and the body of MacKenzie was found beneath it. A telephone call brought Dr. Wm. Scott of Bobcaygeon to the scene within a few minutes later, but MacKenzie was already dead.

The possibility of a tire bursting blown out and caused the car to swerve, will be investigated today by Coroner Dr. G. Dowsley of Bobcaygeon, who performed the inquest. The road was in excellent condition, and the spot where the accident occurred, the police stated. Witnesses stated that MacKenzie was driving at a rapid speed.

For several years Mr. MacKenzie had managed the Mackenzie estates and stock farm of his late father, Situated on the shores of Balsam Lake, the estate was also the Summer home of the sisters, Countess Jacques de Lesseps and Mrs. Scott Griffin of Toronto, both of whom were at their Summer cottages when the accident occurred. Mr. MacKenzie had spent the past winter in Toronto, but had returned to the farm recently to be in close touch with its affairs and management.

Following the accident the body was removed to Stoddart's undertaking parlors at Woodville where Dr. Ross performed an autopsy, the report of which will be presented at the inquest and which discloses that death was due to a broken neck.

The funeral will be held Monday from the estate.

Speckled Trout Hooked At Nipigon is Beauty

Hydro, July 18—S. W. Hindson of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, stationed at Hydro, Ont., may be the winner of the Nipigon Trophy this year. At noon on Friday, he hooked and landed without aid a speckled trout weighing seven pounds two ounces. The fish was taken just below Virgin Falls, where record catches were made during the day. It was noticed that the fish were travelling down the river on Thursday, and a sudden return brought hundreds up to the pools at the foot of the falls below the Hydro dam. The trout landed by Mr. Hindson is only a few ounces below the weight of the trophy winner last year. The largest trout taken from the Nipigon and winner of the trophy about a dozen years ago, weighed over eleven pounds. J. N. Stanley of Hydro, who was with the party on Friday, says that the large quantity of water flowing from the dam this year may have had some effect on the fishing season which is reported to be especially good this year. Mr. Hindson's fish will be mounted by Mr. Neil Macdougall of Nipigon Lodge.

TWO WORKMEN SUCCUMB TO ACID FUMES

Unable to Leave House They Were Fumigating in Toronto

BOTH DEAD

Believed to Have Hurtled Down Stairs After Being Overcome

Toronto, July 18—Poisoned by deadly hydrocyanic gas from their own fumigating bowls as they were about to leave an upstairs apartment at 302 Eglinton Avenue west, two fumigators Saturday evening were found dead at the foot of the narrow entrance hall. Both inside the door leading to the street and the spoils of fresh air.

Underneath their disclosed bodies lay the large red and white placard reading "Dangerous Gas Out," which they evidently had ready to place on the door preparatory to leaving the place.

The dead men were later identified as:

William Beatty, aged 51, of 31 Craig Avenue.

Thomas E. Beatty, aged 20, of 330 Royce Avenue, the elder man's nephew.

Found by Woman

When found by Miss Phyllis Tully, 440 Roselawn Avenue, the two men were lying huddled at the bottom of the stairs, their heads and shoulders so wedged against the door that it was impossible to open it more than a few inches. Further examination by police investigators indicated that they had succumbed to the effects of the gas at the top of the stairs and hurtled head-first down the steps.

According to information gathered by police, the elder Beatty was engaged by Glande Pearce, owner of the building, to get rid of vermin infesting the apartment at the rear of the first floor. The ground floor is occupied by a hairdressing establishment, and the front part of the upper floor by a dentist.

Mrs. Mary Horner, occupant of an apartment told police last evening, after arriving back home to discover the fatal results of the fumigation, that the men had arrived at the apartment about 9.30 a.m. yesterday, accompanied of an adjoining building noticing them drive up about this time and unload their equipment, including the crockery bowls into which the sulphuric acids are put. During the day they noticed a faint odor of the gas, and did not notice the men leave.

Marble was introduced into Roman buildings no earlier than the first century B.C., and was reviewed askance as something associated with Greek luxury.

50 PER CENT PREFERENCE IS BEING SOUGHT

In Return Car Industry Would Buy Material in Br. Empire

HELP PRODUCTION

It is Believed Agriculture Will be Aided Before Anything Else

Windsor, July 18—A 50 per cent tariff preference throughout the British Empire for Canadian automobiles over United States cars is sought by the section of the Canadian automotive industry represented in the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, at the Paris Makers' Association.

The Canadian Government has been asked to place this proposition before the Imperial Economic Conference which opens this week at Ottawa.

Production in the Canadian industry will be increased an estimated 25 per cent. if this preference is secured, it is said. In return, the Canadian industry is prepared to increase within other Empire countries its purchases of materials wherever practical by diversion of purchasing power from non-Empire countries where these materials are now bought.

Uniform Content Asked

A uniform content of not more than 50 per cent. Empire material and labor throughout the Empire will also be asked. At present these requirements which do not give a tariff preference to Canadian automobiles have varying standards of material and labor content specified as the level which must be reached in order to qualify for preference. Uniform tariff of content would enable production of Canadian cars for export within the Empire to be standardized.

D. R. Grosiman, president of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, gave this outline of the case—already presented in brief which has been filed with the Dominion government.

Ford's Attitude?

"We have made separate representations to the government," explained Wallace R. Campbell, president, "whether Ford was joining the rest of the industry in urging the 50 per cent. preference," Mr. Campbell replied he did not know whether or not Ford subscribed to the 50 per cent. request or to give details of the company's proposals.

However, when Mr. Campbell returned a few weeks ago from England, it was indicated that Ford was prepared to demand at the Conference on the basis of a 75 per cent. content of Canadian material and Canadian labor.

Mr. Grosman expressed surprise at a despatch from Ottawa that Premier Bennett is "extremely antagonal" at heels from large manufacturers and associations of industrialists, which call for the utmost in high protection for Canadian industries, regardless of the markets of industries in other parts of the Empire."

Agriculture First

The despatch forecast that first consideration at the conference would be given to agriculture; that the Government will not adopt the tariff arrangements and trade agreements proposed by industry because the government recognizes the demands are so extreme as to bring inevitable failure of this conference.

To this Mr. Gossman replied: "I don't know anything regarding Government thought fashion regarding the briefs filed by Canadian industries. Of course I was only concerned with filing the brief of the automotive industry in the Canadian Automotive Chamber of Commerce."

LORD LYTTON'S LIFE HAS BEEN THREATENED

TOKYO, July 18.—Lifting of censorship restriction permits disclosure that two Koreans were arrested at Dairen about two months ago on charges of plotting against the life of Lord Lytton, British chairman of the League of Nations commission of investigating conditions in the Far East. The police are said to have found one small bomb and other materials in the possession of the prisoners.

London, July 18—Dolores, the famous dancer and artists' model, is seriously ill at a nursing home and will undergo a dangerous operation.

The story of Dolores' life, as told by herself, reads like some lurid fiction, across the pages of which flit princes and dukes, diamonds and limousines, and a host of awfully passing lovers. At least one suicide is laid at her door.

GOUGING TOURISTS

Toronto Mail and Empire refers to a western locality which is reported to be the scene of gouging of tourists and one correspondent states that there is a cure —to bring any case of overcharging in cafes to the court, that is, by forcing the cafe proprietor to prosecute an accused in the court where publicity would not do him good if overcharging was found.

But then what tourist wants to bother his head about a court action and lose time! As the Mail says he goes away with a bad taste in the mouth.

Raising rates on tourists is merely killing the goose which once laid golden eggs. The last of the golden eggs was laid in 1931 and if Canadian hosts, those who rent lodges and rooms and give meals in private houses or in cafes treat them fairly the tourist goose may lay another golden egg in this year, 1932.

It is surely a shame when municipalities all over the country are doing their best to provide entertainment for tourists, to have irresponsibles such as mentioned lies but in some one section or more destroying the good work for all by overcharging or gouging the tourists.

But really overcharging is not confined to the tourist season. Some people try it all the year round with the result that few years go round before there is a change in management. Their gouging finds them out, though they may wonder why they do not continue to receive the old patronage.

A MOMENTOUS WEEK

A momenous week is in store for the British Empire and three quarters of the world, who will look upon from afar or through official observers.

The solar eclipse has its great, vast imperial cabinet on the seas or already on Canadian territory. Mouthpieces of various components of the vast confederation will deliver their opinions and those matters which concern all or part of the extended empire.

What a host of men who stand ready to try and solve problems which to many seem hopelessly baffling but which it is hoped to solve, otherwise the conference would never have been held!

PAN-HANDLING

The pan-handler is an ubiquitous nuisance. Many have found him as in Belleville and word comes that other cities are pestered with this callous individual whose sustinance is gone.

The professional pan-handler as known in Belleville is a rather bold type of individual who brazenly asks you for a dime or more.

Resist the pan-handler. He is making money hand over fist. He is taking advantage of others' generosity and using his experience and skill to rake in shekels which other men perhaps ought to have. Watch the pan-handler go into a restaurant, he does not order teacups for his hungry anatomy, he wants and gets the steak.

Here is what the Hamilton Spectator says of him. Those who read it ought to meditate and ponder over giving to this type of man who does not deserve. They are professionals. The article says—

"They are accosting passers-by on street corners and presenting themselves at residences. Most genuine cases appear to be reaping a substantial harvest of nickels, dimes and quarters from generous folk who are led to believe they are doing a charitable act. Householders who, in their kindness of heart, take into their homes for meals the deserving who are hungry and destitute clothes and shoes for the destitute are rendering a commendable service, but they will be well advised to turn a deaf ear to the overtures of those who request a dime for a cup of coffee' or 'a quarter for a bed,' the probability being that the supplicant, if it has been a normal day's take, has the means in his pocket to provide himself with a full-course dinner and a hotel suite, if his fancy runs in that direction. Householders need have no qualms of conscience about giving a definite and curt refusal. The relief agencies which are functioning make it unnecessary for the deserving destitute to beg for money and if there is general protest against the practice the professionals who are infesting the city their stamping ground will soon become discouraged and move on to new fields. There have been several prosecutions, in one instance two brothers, their pockets musically jingling with silver coins, having been caught working both sides of a street simultaneously, so as to give it complete coverage. Now the story is told of a citizen overhearing a conversation between two young hustlers of the pan-handling racket, during the course the course of which one boasted that he had made $9.50 that day. It is such as these that the authorities would like to trip up and householders, who are approached can simplify the police task by reporting to headquarters when the begging gentry appear in their neighborhood."

THE FUTURE'S PLEDGE

By Aline Michaelis

How strange a thing it is to think
Today's bright hours, so like a drink
Of sweet and sparkling wine must pass,
Swift drop by drop, till time's drained glass
Is empty of the treasured bliss
Of tranquil song and tender kiss!
How strange to know the years will steal
This ecstacy our hearts now feel;
That this enchantment, too, must end
And with all bygone things will blend.
The fallen leaf, the faded rose,
Our rapture will be one with those!
And yet, how sweet to know that we,—
In hidden realms of years to be
Will taste new joys, undreamed, unguessed
And clear as those today possessed!
The brave heart's dower of delight
Is pledge the future will be bright.

A LOST ISLAND

Where is Sarah Ann? The astronomers want to know. For the island of that name may be the only chance of observing with scientific usefulness an exceptional total eclipse of the sun on June 8, 1937.

She was once confidently marked on the charts of the Pacific Ocean just north of the equator. In recent years the name of Sarah Ann has not been on maps for Sarah has been listed among the missing. She is a lost island. Says Wallace Walkem, editor of Science Service, a tri-weekly feature (Washington):

Charles Prof. James Robertson, director of the Nautical Almanac of the U.S. Naval Observatory, plotted the path of totality of the 1937 sun's eclipse, he found that it will fall about nine degrees north of the equator across landless Pacific waters. Sarah Ann Island seemed to be the only possibility of land within the zone in the instruments of astronomers who are eager to journey around the world for the opportunity of seeing the moon hide the sun for a few minutes. The U.S. Navy's Pacific Fleet has been asked to search for this island that has disappeared. Probably the German will also try to locate it, for the U.S. Naval Observatory has made special computations for the 1937 eclipse at the request of the Germans.

"The 1937 eclipse will have the longest period of totality in recent years, lasting for 7 minutes 3.5 seconds. The longest duration possible is 7 minutes 31 seconds, but the total phase of the eclipse of next. August 31, which will attract thousands to northern New England, lasts only about 1½ minutes. The next total solar eclipse after that in August will be in 1934, visible from the Pacific Ocean, and exceptionally long duration as a test year of the Einstein theory of relativity. In 1936 there will be an eclipse in Japan. Future total eclipses of the sun visible from the United States occur in 1953, 1970 and 1979."

HAIL AT ITS WORST

"A violent hailstorm," writes S. D. Flora, of the U.S. Weather Bureau, "has to be experienced personally to be appreciated." Official reports of storms in past years contain statements that seem scarcely credible to a person who has never been in the path of a hail, either while it was falling or shortly afterward.

"Crops on which the livelihood of a farmer depended have been after time after been pounded into the ground, total losses. Houses have had roofs shattered and weather-boarding stripped of paint. Every severe hailstorm of late years has left a trail of automobiles with tops punctured, and in many cases windshields smashed, and even bodies and fenders dented. Says Charles Fitzhugh Talman, in his Science Service feature, Why the Weather? (Washington):

"In his last annual review of such visitations in the United States, Mr. Flora tells of one that occurred near Warsaw, Missouri, early in June, 1931. The region was visited by a correspondent of the Kansas City Star soon after the storm. He found a scene of desolation seven miles long and from a mile to a mile and a half wide in the Ozark farming community of Pasco. The storm was reported to have lasted forty minutes. Stones as large as baseballs fell with such force as to strip houses of weather-boarding, kill poultry and live stock, and pile up four feet deep in the roads.

M.P.'S ACCOMPLISHMENT

The latest example of what northern-bred initiative is able to accomplish is now exemplified in Cochrane, where Joseph Bredette, M.P. for North Temiskamings, is now a full-fledged Bachelor of Arts, leaving graduated, at the age of 46, with the aid of correspondence study. Commenting on Mr. Bredette's attainment, the Northern Tribune, of Kapuskasing, makes the following interesting aldelight:

"This is a very creditable accomplishments for a member of a Canadian pioneering family whose scholastic opportunities in youth were strictly limited, one who came to the northern frontier in earlier days and shared fully in all its vicissitudes. Joe has now taken up a secluded wood-and-water lot a few miles from Cochrane, accessible only by canoe as a protection to himself for the duration of this year; and there we can imagine, the wood and ring with his musical pre gun forestal eloquence addressed to immortary judges and juries.

History records no more striking example of men who have become giants by reclamation of the forest or imploring the waves of the sea. Even Winston Churchill, in his brief period of 30 or 40 years, has already produced a creditable showing of his own as a public high rank in the councils of their fellows. But Joe Bredette has generations of the north's own aristocracy are being laid.—Sudbury Star.

RESTAURANT PRICES

Complaints are being made that patrons of roadside restaurants in the Niagara Peninsula are being overcharged excessive prices and one caterer, by whom prices are charged by an indignant tourist, is reported to have replied that he could get rates by pointing out that it was a short season, and he had to make hay while the sun shone. What is the effect others of his kind overlook, of course, is the loss of trade in the future for themselves they are damaging Ontario's reputation as a place to be toured that if price regulation is not possible, a little more self-restraint on the part of those who plain-ly serve, thus acquainting the public with the fact that the province is not to be criticized. If he believes small patronage will suffice he can in to be preferred to large patronage and small returns, that is his privilege. The highway caterer however, who attract patronage by misleading signs and then by exorbitant charges, should be shown the error of their ways. The Ontario Restrines Standard, commenting on the complaints from the other day in nearly every city on the continent, the other day, says that this talk on a big drop, food prices have been going on for the lowest level in decades. That makes it hard on the tourist for his meals all the more reprehensible and the future more irrevocably other legitimate business without regard to "service and service why," is an old and true adage. It might be a good thing for their ordinary requirements were for their way, they surely will not be disposed to be overcharged for anything out of the ordinary such as we would be. All of the tourist features is the bad advertising they get. "Don't go there" is the cry on return.—Hamilton Spectator.

ONE IN FOUR AT SCHOOL

School boards, faced with increased enrolment of students, sometimes wonder where all the children come from, when population of the community shows little gradual change. Indeed, there is probably a widespread impression that a much higher proportion of the population is attending school than was the case a few years ago. But that collegiate enrolment in the province generally has increased substantially in recent years, but even more in the secondary, due in part to effects of the Adolescent Act, the annual report of the Department of Education reveals that total school enrolment has accordingly not shown much increase in population.

Total enrolment at elementary and secondary schools and every type of classes in 1931 was 814,401, as compared with 840,236 in 1930, a gain of 174,156, but the population also grew rapidly and the fact remains that the 1930 school enrolment was only one in four of the population.

The actual percentage for 1930 was 25.9 as compared with 24.3 in 1920.

The percentage of population at the public schools has decreased from 18.43 to 17.56. This may partly made up for by an increase in the percentage at separate schools from 2.90 to 3.04. Meaning the total at elementary schools at 22 per cent. of provincial population, as against 21.33 in 1920. Enrolment of vocational schools was a factor contributing to the advanced increase in enrolment at secondary schools, and the total was 104,244, the latter in 1930 was a gain of nearly 6,000. This was only about one-sixth the total increase. Enrolment, however, and while as a percentage of population it has grown in the ten years, it constituted only 3.29 per cent. in 1930. Attendance at evening classes grew slightly faster than population, being 1.31 per cent. in 1930 as against 1.22 in 1920.

HAVE BANDAGE READY, KNOW HOW TO USE IT

No One Can Tell When Accidents Will Occur

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

LOUIS E. BISCH

Since one never can tell when an accident may occur, it is a wise precaution not only to have a supply of roller bandages on hand but also to learn the use of them. The medicine kit at home should be at least a half dozen, also a package of sterile gauze, to say nothing of first-aid antiseptics like mercurochrome, iodine, etc. To be on the safe side, it is likewise well to carry similar articles in the automobile.

Roller bandages vary in width. For an injured finger, for example, a three-quarter inch bandage is desirable. Two-inch bandages are best for the arms or legs. Three-inch widths are for the thighs, head and even the chest.

When bandages are required and the regular sterile variety is to be sought in any drug store they are available, a towel or sheet or even a handkerchief may be torn into long ribbons of the desired width.

Sometimes a sling is required to support an injured arm or to help prevent moving parts of the body injured part. Such slings are improvised by folding a handkerchief or towel in a triangular manner, the knotted ends being tied around the head and the injured arm hung inside the bandage, as in a hammock. Pins should be used for immobilizing purposes. Flat, narrow splints are placed under the arm or leg and bandage fairly snugly to hold them in place. Care must be taken that wounds are left open for drainage.

When winding a bandage around the hand the first 4 inches should be left free and the winding should more or less take its own course, so that it runs under the palm and the edge may lie flat and fit snugly. If the bandage is applied to the forearm slips and comes off.

Care must also be taken not, in the excitement, to wind bandage partially unrolls or fails to the floor or the ground. All bandages are held lightly in the hand, to roll being unrolled as the bandage is applied to the roll below. In cases where a bandage is made from a sheet or similar material it should first be rolled before attempting to apply it to a wound.

When finishing the application of a bandage, one must carefully secure the end which comes over the head or under the arm at the beginning. These two ends can then readily be tied together, obviating the need for safety pins or other fasteners.

When a bandage is placed over a particular joint, it is necessary to prevent the dressing from moving to be to bind the roller bandage a few inches below the joint and then bring it around once or twice to "anchor" the bandage. The joint should be wound fairly tight, bringing the successive edges of the bandage as closely together as possible. The joint should be left free to the verse direction. This prevents the bandage edges from slipping and is an added protection.

When bandaging of the forearms and legs, the fingers and toes should be left free if not themselves injured. The blood circulation should be wound fairly tight, bringing the successive edges of the bandage as closely together as possible. The joint should be left free to the verse direction. This prevents the bandage edges from slipping and is an added protection.

THINKS U.S. WILL COME TO TERMS

We have enough confidence in United States to believe that nation will not long continue its disclaiming on of the German war debt stands, and that they will be open to negotiation looking for a severe revision of all amounts which were based on the primary understanding that Germany would pay. The whole situation is interesting and it is brighter than it has been for years.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EXCITEMENT AVOIDED BY PRESENCE OF MIND

S.S. Empress of Britain at Sea, (by Wireless to Canadian Press)—July 18—Excitement started in an electric wire in a room of the ship last night. Investigation revealed a flurry of excitement, which was avoided by the presence of mind exhibited by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, president of the British delegation to the Imperial Conference.

The passengers were gathered for the usual concert in aid of the Seaman's Orphanage Fund, and the programme was almost completed when smoke was seen curling near the end of the room.

Mr. Baldwin, who was presiding at the concert announced quietly: "Just wait the programme."

The crowded room was emptied without a sign of disorder. A waiter hose and chemical extinguishers quickly ended the fire.

CENTENARY WON 1ST GAME IN PLAY-OFF

The Orange celebration at Frankford brought out a crowd from every direction. Over three hundred cars passed through the fifth concession during the forenoon. For the last few years the Twelfth has been somewhat overshadowed by the July 1st rain favored the Orangemen by staying off till after the celebrations. Practically everybody from this district attended. Tuesday was probably the largest crowd Frankford has ever seen.

Deep sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sova of Wallbridge, on the death on Wednesday afternoon. The little one had been sick for some time. She was buried in the Stone Church cemetery on Thursday afternoon.

Centenary softball team beat Wallbridge 10-4 after a long and tedious game. Wallbridge boys played well but not well enough to beat their opponents. Keller, pitcher for Wallbridge; Mindchiffe, first base, and "Happy" Ketcheson, catcher showed excellent form. Batting was the main weakness of Wallbridge. This is one of the three playoffs of the Quinte Softball League.

After the ball game the Ladies' Aid held a pie and ice cream social in the Town Hall. Everybody sitable fill and community enjoyed the evening. The Ladies' Aid donated two softballs to the Wallbridge ball team. Eighteen gallons of ice cream were consumed. The takings at the door exceeded fifty dollars.

Farmers in this district welcomed the sunshine. Hay weather has been rather scarce.

CAREFUL ABOUT OTHERS

New York, July 16—Aaron Lipschitz, 50, was careful about other people's lives even though he didn't value his own very highly. Before he jumped out on the gas he printed a sign "Don't light any matches" and hung it on a door.

NEWARK WINS 16 OF LAST 20

Have Four Full Games Lead and Are Going Strong

(By The Associated Press)

Only Ray Schalk's Buffalo Bisons are staying within hailing distance of the flying Newark Bears these days and 'open water' is starting to show in the International League standings.

Although the Bisons won a double header from the slipping Baltimore Orioles yesterday and picked up a half game on the Bears, they still were four full games behind. Newark has won 16 of its last 20 games and has been the big surprise in the current interscholastic series between north and south. Baltimore, a contender most of the season, now has lost seven of its last eight games and now is six and a half games out of the lead.

Buffalo had to fight hard to win the first game from the Orioles, 6-5, but cinched the second in a romp, 8-2. Bubbles Hargrave's bone run in the ninth decided the opener as the two clubs collected 27 hits. Schalk's pitching staff, however, was charged with the defeat. Bill Gould went the route for Buffalo although walloped for 13 hits including two home runs by Buzz Arlett. Jim Poole, ace Buffalo flinger, benched, led Schalk's crew to their victory in the second game, clouting two doubles and a home run. Hoosier Lieberthe stopped the Orioles with seven hits, two of them for home runs.

Newark moved out Rochester, 5-4 in a tight fought battle in which Rochester lefties tied the score only to lose out in the ninth. Jim Weaver's relief pitching saved the Bears after Rochester had tied the score at four all in the eight. Dixie Walker's homer with one on in the first was the batting feature.

Heading three Bill McAfee to cover in the second inning with a three run outburst and defeated Montreal 4-2. Chuck Wilkie was effective every frame except the first when the Royals scored each time. Jean Rabbit Whitman led the batsmen with a double and two singles.

Jersey City and Toronto had an off day.

Sunshine and pure mountain air distinguished those places in the near East where wise villagers go by preparation of attar-of-roses.

CURRENT SPORT

Knocks and Boosts

Thanks to the Cobourg Fusiliers the Belleville Wallenads are perched in second place in the C.O.B.L. once again. The Cobourgites rose to great heights on Saturday afternoon last defeating the Peterboro seniors by the score of 11 to 4 in Cobourg. Carlyle Walkley of Port Hope was on the hilltop for the home team and it was "Dad his day" that's all. Walkley threw the little pellet past the Peterboro batters just like "nobody's business" and forced the Petes beak into a tie with the Wallads.

Jeff Hardill returned to a Peterboro uniform on Saturday to start his first senior game on the mound in three years. Hardill was found wanting however, as the Cobourg batters hit his offerings high up and far away. Ernie Holmes, youthful right hander of the Petes, was rushed to fill the gap but the Peterites had no respect for speed or curves that day and knocked Ernie's sweeping curves so far so they did not return. The Petes did not have Russ Kitchen with them on the trip but later word, Jemmy Foley, their star centre fielder to the hilltop to assume the duties of the duties. The change has been done and the game is now history. Cobourg is now in fourth place in the C.O.B.L. but they have the Stadleites having scored one of the greatest number of runs that have been scored by a team in the Central Ben this season. Or in many seasons previous also.

Saturday's win will give the Cobourgites plenty of encouragement when they meet the Belleville nine Wednesday afternoon next. The Nationals, after hosting the rest of Saturday's game, will be put through a strenuous workout on Monday when Manager Jerry Foley will toss Carl Casey in against the Fusiles Wednesday while he is there that either Walkley or Trey they will draw the pitching assignment against the locals. "Peewee" Mills will be on the receiving end in the game, as it was later found he had not split the finger in Napanee and merely raked the nail on the middle finger of his right hand. Carman Cook, the Nats new outfielder from Trenton, may be in the game on Wednesday. Yesterday, Cook looked O.K. the other day in Napanee and Manager Harrow intends giving the lad a thorough trying out.

Plenty of girls' softball will be played at the Armouries Lawn this week. Wednesday will be playing night for Tuesday and Thursday with exhibition games on Monday, Wednesday and perhaps Friday. On Saturday the Kingston Frontenacs meet the local National Maids while the Maids also entertain the Quinte Cowboy All-Stars on Wednesday evening. The Friday night's game is still in the balance, however.

The proposed play-off dates in the Hastings County Junior league between Wallbridge and the league leading B.A.A.A. kids, are July 21th, July 30th and August 3rd. Both Wallbridge and the Moose have rebooked games in the local junior league so the dates set down for the playoff berth they will take no chance in the matter, and these games as practice games for the Moose in keeping in trim.

In the Bay of Quinte intermediate loop, the league which disbanded after the game at Campbell the other night, things are kind of a standstill until the O.B.A.A. executive can make a final decision on the protest for next week. We heard, unofficially that the Bay delegation know that both of these players were eligible but they merely raised last week's "alibi" so as to have the game thrown out. (They succeeded, for the time being at any rate). The game in question was played last Wednesday when the Belleville Victorias trimmed the Picton club 16 to 6 and right in the Prince Edward County back yard.

With the acquisition of Bert Pearson of Hamilton, the Canadian Olympic team have two formidable sprinters now. Pearson coupled with the "Peerless" Percy Williams should make Canada almost sure standing in the 100 yard dash and the 200 metre sprint.

Today's question: If R. B. wants to know if with runners on first and third bases with one man out, and no third can score if batter hits grounder between first and second base that touches base runner.

No. It is a dead ball, although batter is credited with a hit. Rear ners are not allowed to advance on a dead ball.

Correct Manners

BANQUET SILVER PIECES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am invited to a banquet, which is to be held in a short time and I would like to have these questions answered.

1.—When someone drinks a toast to a person, what is the correct way to say?

2.—As a cocktail cake with a fork or spoon, and how is this fork or spoon distinguished from other spoons or forks at the table?

3.—How may I distinguish a salad fork? Is it always the same type.... but shorter than the other forks at the table?

4.—Will you please tell me the use of the knives and forks and spoons in the enclosed pictures?

5.—When meat, chicken or anything is served on a small covered platter, how is it transferred to one's plate? By fork and knife or spoon? I can never seem to get my chicken cut apart without messing up the plate.

6.—How should shoe string potatoes and asparagus be eaten?

7.—Are more than three forks ever used.

8.—When my husband brings his business associates home and introduces them to me, must I offer to shake hands?

If you will answer these questions it will help me so much to enjoy myself instead of worrying as to whether I am doing this or that as it should be done.

H.

1.—The person to whom the toast is drunk puts his glass, and not the glass, raises it slightly, bows most graciously to the person in front of the compliment, and says, "thank you", or thanks you in words to that effect. "Thank you. That is most kind".

2.—An oyster or shrimp or crabmeat cocktail and others of this type, are eaten with the oyster fork. The small fork with the three prongs and the three prongs close together. The placing of a soup fork at the place setting is the rule that we place forks on the left of the plate, the fork for the meal course on the left of the plate, usually on the extreme right, since usually the course for which it is placed is the first course.

3.—The salad fork is usually most conveniently eaten with a spoon since the bulge with it as celebrated that we must use it. The spoon is usually the tea spoon, but many people use, and as I think, rightly so, full service it is.....the five o'clock tea spoon is usually smaller than the regular tea spoon. As a matter of fact, some of the silversmiths now refer to the tea spoon as the "fruit cocktail spoon". Since this course too is placed at the right hand of a meal, the spoon for it is usually to be found at the extreme right of the plate.

3.—The salad fork usually has a shorter bowl than the regular forks, and the tine part is heavier looking, broader, and not as erect. The design of the fork is different from different manufacturers, but usually the end tines are wider than the two centre ones, and the two centre tines goes down farther than that between the two. The tines of the fork usually project up more than those of the salad fork.

4.—In the picture that you sent me, the knife on the extreme right of the plate.....the silverpiece that would be used in the first course.....is the soup spoon. The next one to the left is used as an ice or fish course, and for that we would use the knife on the right of the plate, and the plate then the spoon, and the fork on the extreme left of the plate. The meat course would be the roast course, and for that we would use the knife and fork next nearest the plate, the knife on the right and the fork on the left. Then we have left the salad fork, on the left, nearest the plate. The dessert is rarely set, except that I would like a salad knife too, spread on the right. The dessert silverpieces are brought in usually on the dessert plate with the finger bowl.

5.—We serve chicken, or meat dish, place it on the side of the underplate, carving the part of the meat or chicken to our plate with the serving spoon and fork. I always the correct serving piece.

6.—With a fork. Not in the fingers.

7.—Yes. There really isn't any rule about this. Usually we place the silverpieces necessary for the course to be served, course. If, however, we have many courses and we feel that the table would look too many pieces of silver on the table to begin with, we may, with correctness, place the silverpieces for the salad course before it is served.

8.—Yes, but the hostess and the host shake hands with a guest as he or she arrives or leaves.

Your questions were exceptionally interesting, and I shall be happy to chat with you about any other questions that are in your mind. You are right in saying that the knowledge of what is correct..... and why.....is so fortifying.

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted by readers.)

RUSSIAN FOUND HANGING

Making Beauty Points Count

Glamour is what the girls are after. You know, the kind of beauty like the night" all that sort of thing. Sultry, the handmaiden, illusive no-word-for it splendor that requires the dapper male paleface to take notice. Glamour is the stuff of his eye. Oh, yes, they'll tell you they hate to be made up. It is not true.

The ingredients of glamour are dress, make-up and snappy carriage. Subtract to a high degree these three beauty factors, turn the trick. Clothes must be right. They must be carried with verve and distinction. That's easy enough for a smarty female. But make-up isn't so simple. A lot of girls who are doing the beauty rainbow trip up there.

Makeup that is blatantly false is a harsh note in the composition of pulchritude. Instead of enhancing, accentuating, it mars good looks to a state of perfection it purposes. And a distorted what nature has bestowed is the height of beauty blessings.

Make-up should be illusive, subtle. Public for the beauty secrets—but not for that line of talk. Deep-looking girls who spend a long time busy-work carry complexion pigment that is about as subtle as the band wagon in the circus parade. You recognize one as quickly as the other.

But facts are facts, and it's amazes to consider them jokes. There's a certain pale-of-heavenly and lustful eyes that go unnoticed because they are redder than a stop light and cheeks have been given the husband, Dr. Whittard, for Easter.

In working out a make-up design it is a wise and elegant idea to look over that woman in the looking glass, to have a confab with her. What, exactly, is her best feature? The mouth, let us say. Very well. Then she is neglited to best limited and justified if anybody tries to take it away from her. A pretty mouth can take a lot of lipstick punishmen.

But perhaps the queen of the facial features is the lovely brow. All right. Concentrate then on eyebrows, and the skin surface of the forehead. Make for the perfection of individualism that form a graceful hirsute lamberquin over the soul windows. The arrangement of the hair depends upon the forehead, or should. The outstanding expanse between hair line and eyebrows is still pretty much out in the open. Ought not to be if there are lines that streak across to the temples.

A heavy coating of powder and attention to a nose that didn't get a happy start, a power slightly dark, or than the skin, fluffed on discreetly, treated with a camel's hair brush, and the nose ceases to become appear self-respecting.

Slap-dash effects with the contents of the make-up kit don't hit the mark, remember that the aim is to achieve a simulation of youth and loveliness—and it is, isn't it? Doing the family washing and ironing won't make a woman look as fagged as careless amount of dark rouge on either cheek or dab of eye shadow that have become enterprising and straggled away from first base.

Remember, you are a national face washing day and we'll all start again at scratch. Learn how to paint properly and have the bedizened misers dragged before the beauty jury.

Making Vacation Time Helpful

(By Constance Cameron)

"A long about this time every year," complained the mother of a nine-year-old boy, "Jack gets so ugly there's no living with him. I can't understand it. He has the whole day to do just as he pleases and plenty of him, but he's a good time. I welcome his friends, yet we go through this each summer."

Well it's my personal opinion that Jack has a problem for pride of saturation in trying to find pleasure, unguided? No, I don't believe so. I think children are just like adults, who sooner or later discover that fun crowded in for excess jobs is fun, but even a few weeks of idle excitement by trying to have a good time gets boring and disappointing.

A Systematized Life

Children like the rest of us, thrive best when their daily life is systematized; when there are daily tasks, regular bedtime, something to be done before we can play.

What Jack needs is a little responsibility around the house and yard; a few jobs that are HIS, either because he is an integral part of the family and is expected to help carry on, or for his weekly spending money. Jack's father owes a man to cut the grass, and while I should hate to suggest putting any boy-size cut of work, there are some similar things that could be assigned to the youngster as a regular daily job.

He could keep the lawn mower in good shape for the gardener. He could be asked to help the man, so that the man could get through more quickly and make more work the same day.

To Make Play Worth While

A child doesn't need to be paid for doing things that he knows are a few moments of intelligent explanation to arouse his sympathy and cooperation with the man and people.

But Jack and many other Jacks need definite tasks during the Summer or Winter. They need to know that bedtime is bedtime, Summer and Winter. They need contrast to make recreation play, to make that play worth while and thoroughly enjoyed

MANAGER OF STORE SLUGGED OVER HEAD

Sudbury, July 18—Red Owens, manager of the government liquor store at Capreol, is recovering last night from injuries inflicted by a single blow.

When Owens was making out his bank deposit slip Saturday, the thing entered the store and slugged the manager over the head twice with a seven-inch iron eye-pin. He escaped with $270 in bills and a number of money orders and small amounts. Owens was alone in the store at the time. He was unconscious on the floor when an assistant returned from an errand.

CHINESE OATH

St. Thomas, July 18—A new type of oath was administered in court when John Pow, Chinese witness against Chief Gunston and cafe proprietor, proposed to tell the truth by writing his name on a piece of paper and then burning it in the courtroom.

PANTS BURGULARS STIR HAMILTON

Hamilton, July 18—The elusive pants burglar who has visited Hamilton homes in the past week is abroad again. An alarm was received from 14 Bold Street and police responded.

The neighborhood was aroused, and a window at 30 Bold Street was found "jimmied."

While the officers were combing the neighborhood, Eleanor Street west, notified central station that a man was trying to break into his home. The officers were dispatched to the spot, but the burglar had vanished. Before dawn broke, several other alarms were turned in to headquarters, but no arrests were made.

Out of 9,000,000 pounds of figs offered for import to eastern United States last year, food and drug officials detained almost one-quarter as because of low quality.

The Beauty Box

(By Helen Follett)

Flowing locks, flying tresses, are only for the pert young. Every day's coiffure must show evidence of thought, time and attending to grace. Not only that, but sleek, smooth perfection. It must bow to professional touch; every woman—no matter what her station—seems to feel that she needs to the beauty shop and have her hair set, dressed, permanented, marcelled in the curl quality, but that isn't all to the modern woman. After each shampoo there must be given the finger wave which produces wide, solid undulations that could not be correctly arranged in what is known as bobbed hair. Fluff and pretty curls are. Fluff is out again. Severity and simplicity is the call for service.

Contributing causes to acne as a diet that is not balanced, constipation, malnutrition, lack of fresh air and exercise, intestinal fermentation, sluggish circulation, and hygienic practices that make for a strong constitution and abundant health will have their stimulating effects upon the speckled complexion. Local treatment calls for plenty of soap and hot water, but not too much friction, a solution of boric acid and baking soda in equal parts. These substances cleanse the pores.

What kind of a walker are you, modern reader? Do you use a rhythmic gait, swinging along easily, breathing in lungfuls of fresh air, or do you put scuttle to get there, finding seems to be the most popular method; it is not beautiful. Two miles a day of brisk marching is necessary woman if the beauty rule, Sauntering isn't exercise. To gain complexion and freshness to aid health, the whole body should steam up, be highly energized.

When dust is flying and the eyes need protection from contact with it, try a boric acid in a cupful of water and apply with an eye cup. Almost phenic dust can kick up a lot of trouble with sore eyes.America.

Dust what produces fever blisters nobody knows for certain, it is best not to tamper with them, since it is easy for the finger tips to spread infection. They get along best when they have no attention.

GERRY BREAKS HEART OF ELEPHANT LIFTER?

New York, July 18—Maria Parra the Pirate, who lifts elephants for other people's amusement, was telling Mrs. Gerry O. Gerry had broken her heart and how it was healing. Then he kissed Mrs. Gerry. He asked me to leave the room. Then he kissed me and gave $100 a week. I will see him at the trial." Gerry, a New York manufacturer, was named 10% a rhumocera even, has entered a general denial to the strong woman's suit.

DRIVES WITH ARM AROUND WOMAN

New Toronto, Ont., July 18—Walter Bush appeared in police court. The charge was negligent driving. Witnesses said he had his arm around a lady.

"It was my wife," explained Mr. Bush.

So the magistrate took a lenient view of the case. "It is not very often a man takes his wife out and he can generally do his hugging at home," he said.

But there was another charge. Walter, it seems was driving with his arm around Mrs. Bush, but he was twisting only 15 miles an hour. The magistrate let him go to drive nearer 20, and smiling indulgently, watched Mr. and Mrs. Bush leave the court.

MOTORIST ALMOST DRIVES OFF DOCK

Windsor, July 18—Dr. William Bell Dewitt, 50, nearly owed his life to prompt action by Police Constable Ernest Mills, on the waterfront police force.

The officer saw an auto moving up Mill Mill Street towards Queen's dock. On his motorcycle he gave chase but the car dropped it just a few yards before it would have plunged into the river.

Reflected lights, it is stated, confused Dr. Dewitt, and he did not know the street ended in a dock.

BOY'S CLOTHES ARE TORN OFF IN BLAST

Maple, Ont., July 18— Three youths were injured, one seriously, as a result of an explosion that occurred when they were experimenting with chemicals near the United Church here.

The boys were carrying out their tests in front of the church, and when an auto approached, one of the group, Norman Robinson, threw the mixture and started to run with it. The bag was dropped, and a flash of flame followed blew the clothing off Robinson's back. He is suffering from severe burns.

KILLED BY SHOTGUN ON OPENING GARAGE

Revere, Mass., July 18—Anthony D'Amati, who police believe came here from Toronto a few months ago, was shot and killed as he was opening the garage doors at the rear of his home.

A burst of shotgun fire blew his head off, police said, the shot coming from a passing automobile, and the assailants got away.

BRITISH PICTURES

British pictures are gaining ground in Canada, and deservedly so. But all British pictures are not good pictures; some are decidedly inferior; and it is nonsense to judge all British films by those made to see and applaud pictures simply because they are labelled "British." That sort if imperialism does not prove ruinous. — Ottawa Journal.

The insect known as the "walking stick" has lately changed from green to a reddish tan, a very serious pest, menacing particularly oak forests in Michigan.

"Alice: Come Home. All Is FORGIVEN"

Few advertisements in your newspaper start that way. Yet most of them are just as personal, and almost as promising.

Manufacturers and merchants must know your needs and wants, or go out of business. They must know, for instance, that about the first of next month you'll be very much interested in a new hat, new dress, new shoes, or a new lamp, or new towels or many other articles, useful or ornamental besides the week-end prices on food products. They must foresee your wishes—and have what you'll want when you want it.

And they do—constantly striving to suit, at the lowest possible prices. Then telling you in advertising of the gifts they have brought from the far corners of the earth, to please Your Royal Highness.

Read the advertisements in this paper. They are addressed to you—personally. They bring you news of better things to have and easier ways to live. Intimate news, of immediate interest.

WHAT! YOU HAVEN'T TRIED IT YET?

Then hustle yourself to the grocer's and get a package of this great, brand-new breakfast delicacy, golden flakes, crinkly as popcorn—rich with the grand old "Grape-Nuts" flavor and, like "Grape-Nuts" Cereal, full of vital nourishment. — 66-2

CAUGHT IN RAIN RELEASES SHOE

King, July 18—Becoming stranded in the reins of a runaway horse with which he had been driving, Charles McLean, 13, Lansky, narrowly escaped possible death on Friday.

The boy had the presence of mind to unhook his shoe and set himself free after being dragged across a field. Saturday he was out convalescing from fatal, little the worse for the experience.

GENERAL LIST LIES DORMANT

Activity Confined to C. P. R. Shares on National Nickel

Toronto, July 18—Activity on the Toronto Stock Exchange, Market this morning was confined chiefly to C.P.R. and International Nickel with a few other stocks participating to lesser extent. The rest market lacked the zest of last week, the general list lying dormant.

C.P.R., a prime favorite in London lately, and more in demand in New York on account of the strength of the senior securities, advanced another fraction, holding just below 13. Nickel was up slightly at 21 at the finish; Smelters at 43 was up ¼ point. Brazilian was lightly firm, Bell Telephone, unchanged.

All the oils were unchanged from last week's close, but trading was on restricted scale. Banks, steels and chain store stocks were firm.

MCINTYRE HITS NEW HIGH 1932

Interlisted Shares Meet Brisk Demand on Market

Toronto, July 18 (Noon mining)—Higher priced issues, particularly interlisted ones, met brisk demand on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Market in the forenoon today, several stocks moving into new ground and approaching previous highs for the year. General list was firm with volume comparatively light.

McIntyre featured trading, the premier issue touching a high for 1932 of $20.25 and standing up at that when taken at mid-day. Dome sold up 55-16 12.15, Hollinger 15 to 8.80, Teck Hughes 9 to 4.30, and Wright Hargreaves 6 to 3.35. Lake Shore did not respond to an odd lot changings hands at 245 on.

Other sections displayed buoyancy, Mining advancing 18 to 1.10 while Preperties rose 13 to 1.47. International Nickel and Norands formed 11 pieces to 14.80 and 13.80 respectively, but Sherritt Gordon reacted 5 to 35. Oils were inactive.

GRAIN PRICES

Winnipeg, July 18—Prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange at ten o'clock were:

Wheat—July unchanged at 53½; October unchanged at 54¾; December ½ higher at 57¾.

Oats—July ⅛ higher at 33¾.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS OF PROGRESS

A forgotten artist, too modest to sign his name, and a second-hand dealer form the strange combination that brought to light one of the best examples of the growth of Canada's trade with the Orient. Forty-five years ago the first ship ever to fly the house-flag of the Canadian Pacific, a flag that has since found its way into practically every port in the world, set out from Port Moody, B.C. She was the barque-rigged steamer "Abyssinia", and, such a marvel was she that the modest artist referred to transferred her graceful shape to canvas with painstaking detail.

Another artist, chancing upon the picture, imposed it upon a photograph of the latest Canadian Pacific ship in the Orient trade, the magnificent Empress of Japan. They are shown above in exact proportion as they would have appeared passing each other on the broad wastes of the Pacific.

Some idea of the development of shipping in the 45 years may be gained by a comparison. The "Abyssinia" was 363 feet six inches long, 45½ feet wide, had a tonnage of 3,376 and a speed of 15 knots. The "Empress of Japan" is 670 feet long, 87½ feet wide, has a tonnage of 26,000 and, during her record-breaking passages between Vancouver, Victoria, Yokohama, Shanghai, Hong Kong and Manila has developed as high as 23 knots—more than half as fast again.

A strange coincidence is that the "Abyssinia" was chartered from W. G. Pearce, who later became the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company which famous Clydeside shipyard built the Empress of Japan two years ago.

EGG MARKET DULL AND EASY

Any Price Change is Held Within a Narrow Range

Ottawa, July 81 (CP)—The egg market at the past week has shown no visible improvement from the dull, easy position which it has occupied now for almost three weeks states the weekly market report of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. At Montreal and Toronto the general tone of the market has continued quiet, with any price change held within a narrow range. In the west there has been some reaction to the quiet eastern market. Under a slow demand for eggs, and for carlots, prices at some producing centres in the west have reacted downward slightly.

Improvement of eggs into storage during June, amounting to slightly over two million dozen, was slightly more than double the amount put away last year, although considerably lighter than any other recent year.

BIG MARKET SEES SELLING

Failure of Market to Respond Dampens Enthusiasm

By Claude A.-Jagger
Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, July 18—The adjournment of Congress, for which Wall Street had long awaited with manifest lack of enthusiasm, brought more profit-taking sales than fresh buying into the stock market today.

The brightest aspect of the securities market was further improvement in bids, but shares generally turned downward, after some hesitation when offers were put through those issues which had enjoyed the greatest advance. Selling was in extremely light volume.

Lose a Point

Among issues losing a point or more were Consolidated Tobacco B, Liggett and Myers B, Consolidated Gas, Dupont, Public Service of N.J., Coca Cola, Case, Brooklyn Manhattan Transit, Santa Fe, and American Telephone. Goodrich silk dropped 3 points. The U.S. Steel shares held up fairly well, and Westinghouse Electric sagged only a fraction despite its interim 2nd quarter earnings report. Union Pacific was firm for a time, and McIntyre Porcupine rose to a new year high of 1932. Detroit Edison and Homers of Chicago, however, dropped 3 points, but the latter lost much of this.

Some quarters were disappointed at the market's failure to respond with enthusiasm to the ending of legislative uncertainty, but brokers pointed out that the market had been well discounted by the fair recovery of last week and that with the adjournment out of the way, there was little stimulus to private capital to inspire fresh buying. What with industry still in the grip of midsummer dullness and with a number of second quarter earnings statements about to make their appearance.

3 LOSE LIVES AS STREET CAR STRIKES AUTO

Struck at Intersection and Thrown Considerable Distance

Montreal, July 18—Three persons lost their lives in a collision between a street car and an automobile in the east end of the city today. The automobile was collided with the street car at a street intersection and was tossed to the sidewalk by the impact, burst into flames immediately.

Homeo Blais, 30, was killed instantly, crushed in the back seat of the car. His wife, Yvonne and his Edgar Chouette, two of the seven injured riding in the tonneau, died a few hours later. Jacque Beaudoin, Wilfrid and Gerrard Chouette, Paul Blais and one other child, whose name was not learned, were in hospital, three of them in a critical condition.

The automobile, according to witnesses, was crossing an intersection in the path of the street car and the motorman was unable to stop his car in time. Nobody on the street car was hurt.

ANN HARDING IN SPLENDID MODERN ROMANCE AT BELLE

Hate writers usurped the place of preachers in moulding public opinion on morals?

Twenty years ago the views men and women held on such subjects as marriage and divorce were mostly the outgrowth of their religious training. Today, sociologists claim best selling novels, motion pictures and plays exert the deepest influence on the ethical standards of the great majority.

It this is true, many women will find a rare consideration of their problems in "Westward Passage," coming to the Belle tomorrow and Wednesday, matinee daily.

Ann Harding, who brings to every role she plays an honesty which appeals to men and women alike, is the star of this film RKO-Pathe Pictures has made from Margaret Ayer Barnes' sensational novel.

In "Westward Passage," a young wife divorces a sulky, selfish husband to marry a man who offers her a mature affection and respect in place of the lost stable but more passionate romance of her first love. Although the security of this second marriage brings the peace and contentment she had sought, the woman learns the old lesson that first love never completely dies.

The happiest and the safest course for a woman in love with two men is the intriguing problem presented in "Westward Passage," and the dramatic solution of the picture offers some sound advice to every husband and wife whose marriage has become tangled.

Laurence Olivier, Irving Pichel, Zasu Pitts, Irene Purcell and Juliette Compton support the star.

A splendid array of short gems have been arranged for presentation on the same program and include Thomas Todd and Zasu Pitts in "Strictly Unreliable," the popular Metrotone News, and "Strange as it Seems," revealing everything that's odd and different.

Double Program Tonight

Jack Oakie and ten of Hollywood's funniest comedians appear on the Olympic games feature comedy "Million Dollar Legs," which is being exhibited for last time tonight, with "Under Below," featuring Tallulah Bankhead, Paul Lukas and Ralph Forbes, a funny Krazy Kat Kartoon and Pic News add to this variety screen program.

One railroad reports that it cut coal consumption of passenger locomotives four per cent. that year by increased efficiency in equipment and firing methods.

"GIVE HIM ANOTHER CHANCE" SAYS JUNE CLYDE

And her belief has infinitely greater weight than the theoretical dictum of the usual sophisticated movie star to her interviewer. She proved it conclusively in her own famous romance, and now she offers her own well-established domestic domain by way of substantiation.

In fact, they never quite stop talking about June Clyde's romance in Hollywood. It is the golden sort that, one might well confess with the delicious "pooh" courtships that the beautiful picture actress lives with her various leading men on the screen.

Miss Clyde was a picture luminary of no little importance when all this happened. She had emerging from a brilliant career in musical comedy to garner new laurels in such lilting "The Coo Coos," "Hits the Deck," "Tanned Legs" and others — although she boasts of only 22 years of existence at this moment. Binding her to a long contract was raised as a coup that was credited to R. K. O.

Then came United Artists' elaborate preparations for its huge musical spectacle, "Whoopee" — and Eddie Cantor and the moguls of the producing company determined to leave absolutely nothing undone to find the proper leading lady for the picture. Hundreds were tested and equal hundreds were rejected, and the producers were very nearly despairing when someone suggested that negotiations be opened to "borrow" June Clyde. There was a matter of loan to be made — and finally, pretty June was summoned.

And the man in the case here makes his entrance — one Thornton Freeland, the youthful and distinguished director of a long list of our picture successes. He was assigned the direction of "Whoopee" and it was to him and his entourage of cameras and microphones that the young lady was instructed to report.

There were a few moments of waiting and a few inconveniences that were to the liking of Miss June Clyde, and she told Mr. Freeland so in no uncertain terms. The director was certain he recognized a fit of temperament, and a scathing scolding ensued.

June literally threw up her hands and started off in a resulting huff.

"I wouldn't work here for a million dollars" she stormed to the producers. "I wouldn't be directed by that man if he was the very last director on this earth" — and so on and so on. And June Clyde never as much as consented to a test for the leading feminine role of "Whoopee."

And now — believe it or don't believe it — June and the director are two of the busiest married people in Hollywood — or any other place for that matter.

They point blankly refuse to divulge the details of the all-important interlude, but June, whose picture career is being daily enhanced by such films as "Steady Company" at the Capitol has this cryptic advice to give to the young ladies of the land:

"Always give him one more chance!"

"Steady Company" also stars Zasu Pitts and Norman Foster, and is supported by mystery, comedy and Pathe News.

RITUALISM IS CAUSE OF RIOT

Wild Scenes as Cathedral is Dedicated at Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, Eng., July 18.—(CP Cable)—No Further Rioting or demonstrations disturbed Liverpool Sunday as the new Anglican Cathedral was being dedicated. Members of the Protestant Reform League demonstrated around the edifice, four of whose stained glass windows were smashed last week in protest against "high" Anglican tendencies of the church.

The trouble was not ended until police reinforcements were called up to quell several ugly rushes by the crowd.

The Bishop of Liverpool, Rt. Rev. Albert David, dedicated the edifice, which is the largest cathedral in England, and while the bishop and clergy and choir were passing around the church in procession, singing hymns, members of the Protestant Reform League, gathered in large numbers and the competition "Dare to be a Daniel", and the old Reformers' song of the Ironsides.

The chief Protestant speaker during the service was Lord Beverly protest "against Popery as prated by the clergy of the Church of England." Despite police appeals to him to cease speaking, the leader persisted in addressing the hostile crowd and finally he was pulled off his platform and escorted from the neighborhood, which led to angry demonstrations by the crowds and the calling of police reinforcements.

WHEN COWS STRAY HOUSE TAKES FIRE

Howl, Wolves, HOWL

Jim Curran, Editor of the Sault Daily Star, believes with Old Man Kipling that "a man who says he has been at by a wolf is a liar."

Jim Curran, as all the world knows, is an expert on wolves, so much so, indeed, that he has persuaded Sault Ste. Marie to hold a Wolf Week, July 25-30. That is the kind of a week it's going to be. Jim Curran, the wolf expert, says it will be worth attending; that the Sault is the friendliest town in Canada, and that respectable strangers will be welcome.

Plug hats will not be practical headgear during Wolf Week at the Sault. This is a warning, and is understandable at a show where the background is daily composed of timber wolves, Hudson Bay Barbecues, Indians and whiskers.

Jim Curran and his fellow-citizens of the friendliest town have cornered the world's best professional long distance swimmers for some real racing, and have persuaded the Ojibway Indians to produce a riverside version of "Hiawatha."

A survey of the Wolf Week programmes reveals a combination of sentiment and excitement. Governor Roosevelt of New York State has presented the citizens with a Tall Flag taken by the U. S. troops when they burned the Sault in 1814. The flag will be Dunked with appropriate ceremonies. The excitement comes in when the visitors will be hurried to amuse themselves running the Sault Rapids in canoes, attending Algoma Wolf Club dinners, and sympathizing with the unlucky winner of a bear, which animal, Jim Curran proposes to raffle in lieu of one of his beloved wolves. The Algoma Self-Denial Club has added three pleasant features to the programme. The members of this club never deny themselves anything, and they advise that there are no pearish cops in the Sault; that their city is only an overnight ride from Toronto on the Canadian Pacific's luxuriant train, and that they still serve cheese with the apple pie in the Sault, which Jim Curran says is both bodie Lete Superior in the great Algoma forest, near the timber wolves.

Now you can buy on faith

"I talked with grandma the other day," said the young housewife. "I told her I dreaded this daily shopping — that I hardly knew where to begin. And she made me feel ashamed; she actually did!"

We know just about what her grandma told her. "In my day you would have dreaded shopping much more. It was a real chore then. From place to place you went, looking, looking, tasting this, sniffing at that, buying on suspicion and not on faith. You didn't know who made the things you bought; they didn't have labels; most of them weren't in packages.

"Now you know by name most of the things you buy. You buy a can of So-and-So's Beans today, and you know they'll be just the same when you buy them again. You read the advertisements in your paper, see where the best values are offered, make up your list, and out you go and get it over with in a jiffy! Count your blessings, my dear — they are many."

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

COPYRIGHT, 1932, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

After a week Lily didn't seem to slipped her head beside Gary's shoulder as she turned to when she heard Mrs. Jensen's voice behind her. "Oh, I'm sorry to disturb you," she twittered, standing in the doorway, wrinkled nose, her red, deeply-rouged whilst smiling. "But where has my son gone? I thought they were to spend the afternoon together. Why, I'm positively heartbroken—"

"The last I saw of them were they her. I always said you were more my side of the fence, Lily."

She said nothing, reflecting, as Mrs. Jensen went on, "Really, it was years since we had the chance to speak to each other. We were in school, being taught by the same preceptress at the same desk, and now we're neighbors, living, working, and marrying him—"

Lily's face flamed and then paled with anger.

"And someone that memory is fading, calling her Dolly, stayed with her to comfort her, long after the mother remarried, left Dolly and vanished with them.

It had been dead that she had been most afraid of. His talk about a shotgun, how hard-boiled he'd take a case like this and the kind of hole who had done some dastardly thing.

The morning she had dreaded at last dawned after the fearsome night she had tossed her, and going out to shop accordingly.

"And you see I was the only one who asked no questions. Just held her hand, said, I always thought you were more my side of the family, Dolly—"

"Hey—Raymond, May and she—walked in. Dolly didn't sight. Dad had taken a look at this one to the hole who had done some dastardly thing.

SIR H. THORNTON'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

Hon. R. J. Manion Announces That Sir Henry Has Resigned Presidency Thornton Gives Reasons for Action

Retiring General Manage r Feels That Official in That Post Should Have Support and Confidence of Every One toMake C.N.R. a Success

STATEMENT OF HON. R. J. MANION

Directorate of C. N. Railways Has Accepted Resignation of Thornton—Hungerford Will Fill Post For Present, Dr. Manion States

Ottawa, July 19 (By The Canadian Press)—Sir Henry Thornton has resigned as President of the Canadian National Railways, Sir S. J. Hungerford, Vice President will be Acting President.

Questioned today, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, made this announcement. Both the Board of Directors and the Government have accepted the resignation of Sir Henry.

It was stated that Sir Henry Thornton has resigned his position as President and Chairman of the Canadian National Railways," Dr. Manion stated. "In a letter written to me as Minister of Railways he says:—

Public Criticism

In my opinion a publicly owned railway can only be successfully directed if the management has the complete confidence of the owners of the property, which, in this case, is Parliament. I have referred indicated that such confidence is, at least, not general, and in this period of financial depression, and, in view of the further fact that a royal commission is investigating the whole railway situation of the country, I feel that I should tender my resignation.

Both myself and the Directors of the Government have accepted the resignation of Sir Henry, the minister said.

"Until a successor is appointed," Dr. Manion stated, "we expect the Vice-President in charge of operation and construction, Mr. S. J. Hungerford, to carry on as acting President."

Sir Henry's Statement

Montreal, July 19—In announcing his resignation as President of the Canadian National Railways, Sir Henry Thornton issued the following statement today:

"I have had under consideratio the railway situation which has arisen largely by reason of published criticism of the expenditures of the Canadian National Railways during my regime. I feel it is only fair to point out that all capital expenditures were only made after careful consideration by myself and the chief officers of the company, and represented our views of what was necessary for the welfare of the enterprise. These expenses were, of course controlled by the Government. It however, feel that the unfortunate criticism of this enterprise can only be carried on if the country as a whole is behind the management, and in my view it is only fair that the possibility of the Government wishing to consider their policy I feel that, in order to give them a free hand, I should submit my resignation."

Devotion Shown

Sir Henry paid tribute to the men and officials with whom he had been associated for nearly ten years on "the loyalty, enthusiasm and ability which all have given with a generous hand to the enterprise and myself. I shall always cherish the happiest recollections of my contact with those in the service of the company, and I may say with truth that whatever has been accomplished has been very largely due to the cooperative spirit displayed by all, from the highest to the lowest.

"I am quite certain that the same devotion to duty and the high principles which have characterized the management will continue under any incumbency in office will be extended with equal fidelity to the succeeding administration.

"I bid you all farewell; I wish to you happiness and prosperity with the hope that the future will bring to you that good fortune which fine service merits."

Criticism in 1931

Ottawa, Ont., July 19—(Can. Press)—Considerable criticism of the Canadian National Railways administration about a year ago came to a head during the last session of parliament when the whole matter was referred for review to the House of Commons committee on railways and shipping. Headed by R. B. Hanson, this committee sat for several weeks. In the course of which the Sir Henry Thornton was subjected almost continuously to gruelling examination.

Service of Over 45 Years From Machinist to President

Montreal, Que., July 19 (CP) — Samuel J. Hungerford, who today became acting president of the Canadian National Railways, is one of Canada's best known railroad operating officers. "And these," said Mr. Bennett with an introductory wave of his hand to the reporters, "are the newspapermen."

"Purveyors of the truth," remarked Mr. Baldwin jocularly as he cast his eye over the ranks.

Mr. Bennett smilingly demurred. "Well you know they're the sources of that," he said.

"Truth has many faucets," Mr. Baldwin reminded him, and the two passed on down the platform.

Honest Newsboy Turns in Gold Piece Mistakenly Placed in Newspaper Box

Toronto, July 19—When J. Brennan, Rosetle Park, N.Y., a recent visitor here, bought a newspaper, he put a five dollar gold piece in the paper box instead of a copper.

Over a week later, he wrote to the newspaper, asking if they had the gold piece. The paper was able to return it by mail to Brennan because the boy who emptied the boxes had turned in the gold piece for the owner.

The boy is Bob Boegtle, 18, who said he knew he could have turned in a copper and kept the gold piece "but I decided I wouldn't."

Tomorrow he will be the subject of a special article in the newspaper for which he collects. The article will say Bob has been "suitably rewarded."

Probe Into Death of Prisoner Is Ordered

1912 Model Ambles on Tour Over Pavements

John A. Burke, Detroit, scorns such modern gadgets as free-wheeling, rumble seats or electric starters. When he wants to go places he simply gives the engine a twist or two by the hand crank, climbs into the Model "T," open-air job or vintage of 1912, and gets out. Dark roads are illuminated by kerosene carbide lights enclosed in shiny, brass-plated headlamps, and warnings to clear the way ahead are given by an old bulb horn with rubber bulb. Brakes are good and the steering gear quite satisfactory, and shaky, is still good for many more years of active service, according to the grinned old driver of the machine.

Late Monday evening the old wheels of the ancient vehicle rolled to a stop on Lower Front Street, where the driver, accompanied by his wife, took the occasion to rest the horn. A score of local citizens viewed the equipage with surprise, wonder and a little awe. For a short time Mr. Burke pointed out the various "features" of the old machine, which he has had in his possession for a good many years.

Belleville is the first lap of a tour of Ontario, which will end at Cornwall, where the crossing of the St. Lawrence River will be made, with a return trip by Detroit through New York State and Ohio with begin. The several years Mr. Burke has followed this same trail almost annually. Tempting offers by garages and owners of other business establishments have been made for the machine but to all of the them the owner has turned a deaf ear.

SAVES CHILD FROM WATER

William O'Brien Effects Rescue at Victoria Park

An effective rescue of a little seven year old girl, who had slipped and fallen deep water at the west shore of Victoria Park, early Monday morning while playing on the banks and shore of the park, was greeted by none from the child to her rescuer, William O'Brien, no address, who had wandered to the park, observed the child tumbling in a few moments after she had left some of her young companions, and rushed to the spot in time to wade into the water clothes and pull the little girl to shore.

"Mummy, I'll speak me!" sobbed the little girl as she surveyed her dripping clothing, oblivious to the fact that she had almost drowned. An enquiry as to her name went unanswered.

Advice offered by her rescuer that she run to a nearby clump of bushes and wring out her clothing was ignored and when and the garments later were spread out to dry in the sun. It is pobible after all this has ended, we never know what fate almost befell her small daughter.

YOUNG BITTERN IS FOUND IN GARDEN

A young bittern (commonly known as a crane) was found Monday afternoon in the garden at the home on East Dundas Street. Two small dogs of the owners had located the bird. It was trying to feed itself and was at first mistaken for a porcupine but the householders were greatly worried lest the dogs would find their way home badly full of quills. A Boy Scout was summoned and did his daily good deed by removing the much frightened bird to a nearby marsh on the bay shore. At liberation it hastily made its way toward the shelter of the tall weeds, much the worse for its visitation to the more immediate habitation of human beings.

It is seldom that one of these local visitors of the feathered type is seen in the city. The young bird, probably driven by flight from some nest along the shore of the bay.

Tells Story of Dominie's Horse

Told in Verse by J. Lewis Millagan to Belleville Rotarians—U. E. Loyalists Honoured in Verse.

"Practical Misunderings," was the subject of an interesting talk by J. Lewis Millagan, of the Department of Mines, Toronto, formerly addicted to journalism, which was given at the weekly meeting of the Toronto Club of Rotarians, and one of The Belleville Intelligencer, Mr. Millagan discussed poetry and prose in humorous manner, saying that many poets were lost in the world because they had followed the line of least resistance and become lawyers, ministers or business men. Anyone who said that there was no poetry in Dutch makings told a lie and the truth was not in them. He related his experiences in coming to Canada from England, having decided to enter the ministry. He was first stationed at Ashcroft where he purchased a horse and buggy but for his lack of knowledge of equines he was taken great trepidation for the latter he got the horse he bought, was certainly a horse on legs. So moved was he by this event that he wrote several verses describing his sufferings and his quandary. Two years was sold him the animal. These verses were recited with great success at a fitting memorial to the departed steed, and occasioned much laughter. Several other poems by this composition including a very stirring one on the Canada in honour of the sacrifice and achievements of our United Empire Loyalists, were read and appreciated. The rabbits and rodents responsible to the club by Rotarian Joe Short as a former colleague on the Toronto Globe was very appreciative. Thanks was ably expressed by Rotarian Chas. W. Bishop.

SUN PEERING UPON GLASS STARTS FIRE

How forest fires originate, and many other buildings suddenly burst into flames for no apparent reason, was amply demonstrated in the window of a store on the east side of Front Street, early Tuesday afternoon.

Among the goods displayed in the window which had been newly dressed only that morning was a large glass bowl with contents bottom which reposed in solitary and sparkling grandeur among lesser specimens which surrounded it. Crepe paper formed a background for some of the dish. Overhead and through the window a strong sun beamed, the bowl of glass and water concentrated by the convex bottom of the bowl into a fine point and was reflected on the paper directly behind it. Slight signs of smoke, which were fortunately observed by a passerby started to rise from the charred paper. Employees of the store were rushed in time to remove the now ...ire burning glass.

CORN OFFERED AT 30 CTS. DOZ.

First Offering of Season Two Weeks Earlier Than Last

Fresh green corn was offered to the citizens at 30c a dozen on Tuesday morning's Belleville market. Green corn this year is at least two weeks earlier than it was last year, according to information by farmers living in the district. The quality of green corn were on the market and their wares were of a fairly good quality for this time of year.

Raspberries were also quite in evidence, the latter variety selling for 25c a box, as did the red raspberry variety. The blue raspberries were 5c cheaper selling for 20c a box. Blueberries sold for 20c a quart, while strawberries brought 10c, the single box or three boxes for 25c. Cherries sold for 25c a box, 40c a small basket and 75c a large basket. A few green apples for cooking purposes were also sold for the early season.

New potatoes selling at 30c a peck were quite in evidence being of good size and fairly free from scab. Other fresh seasonable vegetables such as carrots, beets and cabbage were sold at 5c while shelled green peas brought 20c a quart.

Considering that the market was of the mid week nature it was largely attended by both purchasing citizens and farmers alike.

BICYCLIST HURLED 12 FEET IN COLLISION

Rumor bruises about the body and slight abrasions to hands and arms are the result of a bicycle mishap, early Monday morning, when Lloyd Smith, 15 years of age, of Belleville, was thrown from his wheel to the hard road at the intersection of Front and Dundas Streets, Dufferin Avenue, early Monday evening, when the bicycle he was riding collided with a large touring Michigan license plates. Defective brake on the bicycle which was undamaged by the impact with the front bumper of the heavier machine, was said to have contributed to the cause of the boy's failure to stop when entering Dundas from Dufferin. No blame was attached to the driver of the car after first assistance had been rendered the youth, and again resumed his machine and rode off.

TOURIST CAMP IS VERY ACTIVE

Registrations Heavier as Warm Spell Hits District

Registrations at the city tourist camp continue, given added impetus by recent warm weather, which has caused travellers of the open road out in greater numbers than ever. Many dusty drivers and passengers of the many cars, which crowd their halts in the city there are who do not stop at the camp on East Dundas street and avail themselves of the many shower baths and other comforts of the camp. Many of the tourists on Clay stays in order to visit scenic attractions of surrounding territory, which they had already become familiar with through the medium of folders sent to all parts of the continent by the local Chamber of Commerce. Others from far distant points south of the American border show a growing surprising familiarity with many local features in and around Hastings County, and have unhesitatingly stated, that such advertisements of county resources have been more conservative than warranted. The camp superintendent has stated that he will welcome the northern parts of the county.

HOW TOURISTS LOSE MONEY

Reluctance to Exchange Money a Canadian is Cause

American tourists reluctant- to have their own money changed by Canadian banks, is the difficulty through which they travel are leaving several dollars behind them in this city each day of stay and above the amount actually spent by them on the necessities they purchase while enroute Exchange rates which they would ordinarily receive in banks in each city are not being given since the gasoline filling stations stores or other places where money is spent by them, and it is a common thing they are unwilling but apparently cheerful losers. Many tourists, especially those in special store owners and gasoline station men, that we find a real American tourist with Canadian money. Why the tourist should be so reluctant to avail themselves of the considerable amount they would receive at the bank, and which they do not get elsewhere, is something which local gasoline men and owners are not worrying over unduly Questioned as to whether or not any of them ever considered even one-half of the fees received no premium on their purchases, service men say the complaints have been few and far between.

DIVERSION OF OGOKI RIVER IS ONE PLAN

This Would Shift Flow From The North to Great Lakes

OFFSET CHICAGO

Move Would Add 450,000 H.P. to Resources of St. Lawrence

Toronto, July 18—A potential power development for Ontario from the St. Lawrence waterway project of 1,460,000 h.p., or nearly 50 per cent greater than hitherto publishing estimates, will be recognized as available to Ontario under the St. Lawrence waterway agreement between the province and Dominion, it is learned in information reaching The Mail and Empire from official sources.

To-day's 1,000,000 h.p. is without doubt a 1934,125,000, according to figures from the same authority of this total, 287,200,500 is set as Ontario's share of resident power and navigation work on the international section of the St. Lawrence, either by the Dominion or by the international commission to be licensed by United States.

The remaining 934,921,000 is the estimated total of the unspecified which will have to be made by Ontario for power houses, operating machinery and similar work.

The additional flow of 450,000 h.p. potentially ceded to Ontario is the ultimate of power resources that will be transferred to the settled and accessible portions of the province by a diversion of the Ogoki River, contemplated under the Chicago water diversion plan of the United States. Figures were not available yesterday to show what this diversion would mean in dollars, but it would be covered by the figure already put at Ontario's portion of the St. Lawrence waterway costs.

Canada Gets Half

As shown in the Dominion-United States agreement concluded yesterday, Canada is given control of half the total flow available for power purposes from the development in the international or Ontario-New York section of the waterway and this total flow makes possible a potential power development of 1,460,000 h.p., and under the Dominion-Ontario agreement it is understood, Ontario will be apportioned full right to the use of Canada's share or to a flow equal to possible development of 1,000,000 h.p.

HOGS RAISE FARM VALUES

00 Million Already Tacked on U. S. Farms

Chicago, July 18—One of the most significant signs of the change in the economic situation is that which deals with livestock. In the Chicago yards a steady advance toward higher value of hogs has been closely watched, together with a gain which has made cattle the first commodity by 1931 cent prices.

And on the farms, although an estimated $100,000,000 has been added to valuations by these gains, a stampede to sell has developed.

Sees Chance of Setting Example to World by Breaking Down Tariffs

Crowds Line Cliffs to Welcome Overseas Delegates

MANY GREETINGS

Liner Docks at Quebec in First Stage of Historic Parley

Quebec, July 19.—Every steamer whistle in the harbor screamed a welcome Monday night at the docking of the Empress of Britain, leading delegates to the Imperial Economical Conference.

Official greetings to the delegates were made by Dominion, Provincial and Municipal officials. As soon as the gangplank was lowered the official party went on board meeting representatives of the delegations from Great Britain, Northern Ireland, India, Australia, Rhodesia and South Africa.

Included in the official party were Premier J. A. Thacherean of Quebec, Hon. C. H. Cahan, Hon. Alfred Duclos Fournier, Hon. Arthur Sauve of the Dominion Government; Sir William Clark, the British Trade Commissioner in Canada and Mayor Lavigueur of Quebec.

Thousands of people lined the historic cliff behind the dock, waving handkerchiefs, hats and cheering and otherwise sounding a royal welcome. And for the first 25 years in almost exactly the same spot—another group of Britishers, summoned that time, climbed the same cliff to plant the British flag on Canadian soil at the scene dedicated at Wolfe's Cove.

Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British delegation, sbunded the keynote of the conference when he said, "We have come here to work out co-operation, to bring about an agreement with our fellow-delegates" and he added prayerfully "May your and our hopes not be disappointed."

Mr. Baldwin handed out a prepared statement regarding the conference.

The deliberations at Ottawa can reach agreements which will increase trade between the different parts of the British Empire without the greater well-being of every unit of the Empire in mind," we also believe that by the methods we propose we can help all people to the whole world in breaking down obstacles to commerce, in aiding a revival of international confidence in trade, and so bringing peoples safely through the trade depression."

Greetings From Afar.

Hon. N. C. Havenga, South African Minister of Finance, brought greetings to Canada from the people of the southern union. Sir Atul Chatterjee, head of the Indian delegation, brought a touch of picturesqueness to the short proceedings, but he was no less diverse in expressing his hopes for the success of the British Empire conference. H. W. Mofatt of Southern Rhodesia echoed similar hopes.

For an hour or more after the ship docked, hundreds of people thronged the dock to catch a glimpse of the delegates. Stanley Baldwin was cheered as he stepped down the gang plank. So was "Jim" Thomas as he give him his official title Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas. The picturesque Indian delegation commanded attention but a crowd being what it is, many delegates from distant parts of the Commonwealth slipped through unnoticed and unsung.

The starboard side of the flow of the liner bore mute evidence of the collision early this morning in the lower St. Lawrence with the freighter Briar Wood. The liner was not damaged, but the Briar Wood is still striking a glancing blow about the bow.

For the most part, the trip across had been uneventful. The first few days she had rough seas yet her average run by one day to day; on another 620, the record being on the stretch between Bishop Rock and Belle Isle, in 5 hours 2 minutes. But hope of breaking her own record to the St. Lawrence disappeared in a bank of fog beyond Belle Isle. With the floating about, speed was slowed down and time lost.

Still to Be Rushed.

The Emergency Duties Bill passed through all stages in the Irish Eireann Friday, a few hours after the British Government had begun to enforce its new duties of 20 per cent. on the principal imports from the Irish Free State by the passage by day Mr. de Valera's conference in London. Prime Minister Cosgrave and my MacDonald failed to settle the economic war dispute and the Irish State refusal to pay land annuities.

It is the Government's intention to rush the bill through its final stages that, if "economic war develops against British goods may become effective.

Dublin leaders of the Irish Republican army have declared that they were directing and encouraging a boycott of all known British goods. Yesterday almost every shop in the Capital was plastered with boycott slogans but they have been removed by the police.

London Analyses Figures.

London, July 19.—A statement by President Ramon de Valera that the 8,000,000 pounds annual annuities payable annually by the Irish Free State to the British was the equivalent to a payment of 200,000,000 pounds by this country, if taxable capacity be taken into consideration, has not been allowed to go unchallenged.

An authoritative analysis last night shows that the annuities of the 1,000,000 pounds are land annuities not mentioned in the Irish State Budget, and only chargeable thereto if remaining unpaid by fault on their payments. Similarly further 250,000 pounds is payable to the British Local Loans Fund and represents money advanced to local authorities.

The net burden on the Free State Budget, according to the analysts, is only 1,400,000 pounds instead of 8,000,000 pounds, made up of pensions to Judges, civil servants and the Royal Irish Constabulary. No less than 3,000,000 pounds is returned to pensioners resident in the Irish Free State, another 2,000,000 pounds is paid by Great Britain to Irish war veterans and 250,000 pounds to retired army men.

IRISH STATE PASSES BILL TO RETALIATE

Measure May Become Effective This Week

NO RESTRICTIONS

Chief Cause of Trouble Composition of Tribunal

Dublin, July 18—Without a division the Senate of the Irish Free State Monday night passed the second reading of the measure empowering the Republican Government to impose duties of any amount on British products. And rejected a motion to take up the remaining stages of the bill that night. The bill was introduced by the Government as an answer to the British duties on Free State goods in effect since July 18.

As a money bill the measure could not possibly be blocked by the Senate, Mr. Bealdiel, brother of de Valera, rose to his defense in the debate last night. The Free State constitution permits a Minister to speak in either house.

Refuses to Pay "Tribute."

"I have gone out of my way to meet the British," declared Mr. de Valera. "I have done everything possible except surrender the rights of the Irish people, and I am not going to do that. I have done so to avoid sacrificing in Great Britain as well as Ireland the declining but enormous paying "the enormous tribute" of 8,000,000 pounds a year.

The President agreed the only way out of the difficulty was by arbitration. "But let us have no restrictions on the composition of the tribunal," he added. "It is his view the principle laid down by the British Government in this point completely misrepresented the whole intentions of the peoples gathered at the Imperial Economic Conference.

Driven by seek alternative markets, people of the Free State who had been hungry and in dire distress longer, declared Mr. de Valera, for there would be no more of that in the country, and it was the business of the Government to see that hungry mouths were fed.

JOHN HUGHES CURTIS IS RELEASED ON BAIL

Flemington, N.J., July 19.—Released on bail, John Hugh Curtis, Lindbergh baby kidnaper was free of his jail cell today for the first time since his arrest in May. He was believed on his way to his home in Norfolk, Va. The bulky shipbuilder, who was arrested on May 16, is a year in prison and a $1,000 fine for hindering the arrest and conviction of his sudden freedom. He was admitting to bail of $10,000, after a secret hearing before Judge Adolph O. Hobbins, who sat at the trial and passed sentence.

Mr. Hoover went to his Rapidan Camp. Later a statement was issued in his name saying that "although there are some secondary features of the measure to which I have objection," he would sign the relief bill tomorrow.

Flowers that Kill

All Flies or Mosquitoes with a Perfumed Mist

Some years ago it was discovered that a certain few flower grown in Japan drove away winged insects. A shipment was sent to America for testing and research laboratory. Here an extract was made from the flowers and sprayed in a closed room filled with flies and mosquitoes. Every insect perished at its touch.

Now that extract is the basis of Fly-Tox, developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Dr. Kenneth Fallowfield. Ten years and over $100,000 have been spent by us in perfecting it. This Fly-Tox, used as directed, fills the room with a perfumed

FLY-TOX ONLY

A Rax Research Product

Use Fly-Tox only, and always in a new-type Fly-Tox sprayer. Every lot is tested on flies in our laboratory. The results are guaranteed. The odor is pleasant, the extra strength makes it very mist, at a cost of only 1 or 2 cents. That mist is broken by specks, stainless to anything. But every fly or mosquito that it touches dies at once. And they don't escape it when the room is filled.

These pests are deadly, for they carry the germs of over 100 diseases. They deposit those germs on food or in the food streams. Many thousands of children die every year from this cause. Fly-Tox rightly used, frees your home and keeps it free, in an easy, certain, economical way.

Think what that means to you and yours.

Baldwin Expresses Hope For Success of Parley In Prepared Statement

Prays "That All Our Hopes May be Amply Fulfilled"

ONE OBJECT

Hopes Obstacles to Trade in World Will be Shattered

Quebec, July 19. — Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British delegation, sees in the Ottawa conference a double opportunity, in the statement issued as the Empress of Britain arrived in Quebec Monday night. Mr. Baldwin's words follow:

"The opportunity at Ottawa to make agreements which will increase trade between the different parts of the British Empire without the greater well-being of every unit of the Empire in mind," we also believe that by the methods we propose we can help all people to the whole world in breaking down obstacles to commerce, in aiding a revival of confidence in trade, and so bringing peoples safely through the trade depression."

Example to World.

But there was also another opportunity. "We believe," Mr. Baldwin said, "that by the methods we adopt we can set an example to the whole world in breaking down obstacles to commerce, in aiding a revival of confidence in trade and so bringing peoples safely through the tragic depression of recent times."

Mr. Baldwin's statement follows:

"I am glad to have this opportunity of expressing, on behalf of the United Kingdom delegation, our pleasure at arriving in Canada on our way to Ottawa. Ottawa conference will be one of the most momentous gatherings in the history of the British Empire. We look forward a delightful passage across the Atlantic, and to a short period of rest and leisure, and, indeed, luxury, such as we can enjoy only on board ship. Our Colonial Conference was held in October, 1930, three years ago. We would have thought 3 months, even only a few years ago, that we could have been consulted by communication, during five days at sea, not only by telephone but by telegraph with both sides of the Atlantic, and that delegates from the Dominions and United Kingdom could travel to Canada without ever feeling that they had lost touch with their colleagues in England.

"We are deeply grateful to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and to Captain Latta for the comfort in which we have spent the last few days. We are proud that the British ship should lead the world today, as British ships have led once in everything that can minister to the health and safety of those who travel by sea. The Empress of Britain, built and designed in Great Britain, launched in Belfast, owned by a Canadian company and flying the flags of Great Britain, South Africa, India, Southern Rhodesia and Canada, is a splendid symbol of that economic interdependence between all parts of the British Commonwealth which we hope to establish yet more firmly at Ottawa.

Progress Already.

"We have done much useful work on board. Not only have we conferred constantly among ourselves and with the industrial advisers whom we have brought with us; we have also had the pleasure of conferring with our fellow delegates from other parts of the Empire, and I am glad to say that we have made progress already in the spirit of helpful co-operation in which we have met together in a good augury for the larger meetings which will shortly take place.

"We have also had the pleasure there is little that you will expect me to say at this moment about the fact that so many of us from the United Kingdom have come to Canada. Canada is evidence of the importance which we attach to the part which we attach to it. We recognize a double opportunity. First, the delegates at the Ottawa Conference will undoubtedly have a delightful passage across the Atlantic, and, indeed, luxury, such as we can enjoy only on board ship. Our Colonial Conference was held in October, 1930, three years ago. We would have thought 3 months, even only a few years ago, that we could have been consulted by communication, during five days at sea, not only by telephone but by telegraph with both sides of the Atlantic, and that delegates from the Dominions and United Kingdom could travel to Canada without ever feeling that they had lost touch with their colleagues in England.

Rumored Thornton Leaving C. N. R. Before Term Expires

No Surprise at Ottawa as He May Have Other Post in View

Ottawa, July 19.—Sir Henry Thornton, president and managing director of the Canadian National Railways for the past three years, Mail and Empire learned authoritatively Monday.

Sir Henry's knight's contract with the Government, under which he draws a salary of $50,000 per year, does not expire until October, 1933. In circles close to the Government, it is regarded as certain that he will not complete his term. When he will resign, however, no one can say definitely, though next October 1 has been rumored as a possible date.

Sir Henry's plans are not known here, but it is believed that he already have another high railway post in prospect. His reasons for completing a departure before the expiration...He is, therefore, considered to be displaying a measure of wisdom in getting out before his term is up.

There is possibly also another reason. According to all indications, the Liberals will be in control of Commons will open a new battle against the high salaries of the publicly-owned system at the next session.

Sir Henry was never the man to run away from a fight. His worst enemies pay tribute to his courage, but a continuance of such criticism, if it were followed by the Government's unwillingness to renew his contract, might conceivably place him in a position where other railway posts communicated with his experience would not be open to him.

For these reasons, the word of his anticipated resignation heard in Ottawa Monday was received

RAIN DELAYS HAY CUTTING

Although Hastings County Had Favorable Haying Weather

Toronto, July 19—Rain has delayed cutting of hay and fall wheat in many Ontario counties during the past week, according to the weekly report of the Provincial Agriculture department. Other counties have been favored by the moisture, Renfrew and Lambton report improvement of spring crops since the rain and the downfall in Essex has been of "inestimable value" to the corn and tobacco fields, which have been backward this year.

Depredations of the Hessian fly have been told in a number of counties. The insect is blamed for a 50 percent loss of the fall wheat crop in Welland and a certain amount of damage has also been sustained by Elgin and Peterborough.

In Central Ontario, Muskoka and Parry Sound, York and Prince Edward counties reported fall wheat crops at least as good as the average. Hastings received favorable weather for haying and the first cut of hay is harvested there with good results. On the Belleville Cheese Board 3048 boxes were sold 9 3-16 cents.

Leeds and Lenox and Addington, Essex and Kent counties, west like Hastings, exceptions for the generally good weather and harvested a good portion of the crops. On the Cornwall board 2,217 boxes of white and 260 colored were offered for sale and 1135 white and 135 colored sold at 9 1-4 cents. On the Lennox and Addington Board 1,200 boxes were and 310 of colored sold for 9 1-4 cents. The remained on the Napanee board boarding, 1922 white and 418 colored, 9-16 were bid but only 95 white sold at this price. Prominent reports of the crops at Picton and Belleville.

JULIU MANIU NEW PREMIER

Peasant Party of Roumania Wins 300 Seats in Election

BUCHAREST, Roumania, July 19 —King Carol's arch enemy and his fellow friend have been placed, each of the parliamentary picture in Monday's general elections on the basis of the latest semi-official returns Monday night.

The former was invited to form either Premier Juliu Maniu and his National Peasant Party, which has 300 of the 390 seats in Parliament.

The National Liberals, Premier Georges, long a friend of the King and recently premier, will be unrepresented. Latest returns of a revival of Averescu, severe critic of Carol, and Carol's friend have given the latter four of these groups received the prescribed minimum of 5 per cent of all the votes cast.

Under Roumanian election laws every party which gets a majority mandate must have this minimum, or forfeit the right to representation in Parliament.

Next in strength to the National Peasants were the National Liberals with 72. Duca with 40 seats and the straight Peasant Party won 14 seats and Georgey Bratianu, who ruled Roumania for many years, won 10 seats.

Secrecy surrounded the movements today of Maniu who was regarded as the coming premier.

NEW CHIEF FOR GYPSIES CHOSEN

Will Turn Back on Traditions, Centuries Old

DETROIT, July 19.—Even the gypsies are going modern. Turning their backs on tradition, they have elected as their king a commoner, Steve Stanley, a resident of Detroit's York City College, over the heir apparent, Joseph Lee Boswell, of Lake King Steve.

Upon his coronation, yesterday, the new king Steve served notice of drastic changes in the customs of his people. He will encourage education in trades and professions to the place of fortune-telling, horse-trading and coppersmithing as means of a livelihood. They will be encouraged to discard their tribal garb for more conventional dress. He has announced his purpose to the highest bidder is taboo, and will not be tolerated in his realm.

Equally as drastic was King Steve's announcement that after he has ruled for 10 years, his subjects shall be permitted to vote again on a ruler.

MUST GIVE AND TAKE IN CRISIS

Manufacturers Must Face Competition Says Henry

Toronto, July 19.—Unless Canadian manufacturers are prepared to accept competition from other parts of the world and give away something of what they had long been protecting, and unless the spirit of give and take prevailed, the Imperial economic conference might just as well be called off, Premier Henry declared Monday night.

Speaking at a dinner held following the opening of the new Woodbine bridge, Premier Henry declared that the principle of wishing to sell to a country without taking what that country has to sell in return, would have to be entirely abandoned if the deliberations were to be successful.

"We must throw overboard many of our old beliefs," said the premier. "Empire trade commissioners, like foreign trade commissioners and consuls, must be sent to all parts of the world to study the needs of the people and the products. Primarily we are an agricultural people and I believe that even agriculture must be prepared to face competition from other parts within the Empire.

"Canadian manufacturers must allow themselves to come into competition with goods from sister Dominions, for we cannot expect others to buy from us unless we are prepared to buy from them what they have to sell. If the conference in Ottawa succeeds on a basis of give and take, then it will achieve results. If not, then the efforts of the statesmen of the Empire around the conference table will be wasted and there will be nothing but some things in order to find a market for our surplus products.

The erection of trade barriers had been a mistake, he declared, but what they have to sell. If the conference in Ottawa succeeds on a basis of give and take, then it will achieve results. If not, then the efforts of the statesmen of the Empire around the conference table will be wasted and there will be nothing but some things in order to find a market for our surplus products.

UNION SERVICES

Union services in the churches seem to be working out well, it would appear from the evidences of the six churches which this year are observing the Sabbath by two services a Sunday with one service in one church in the morning and in another in the evening.

Of course the total attendance does not equal that of the two congregations in the case of two churches holding union services. That is hardly to be expected in summer months. But the holding of union services in two churches gives an opportunity for the members of one communion to attend service in other churches of the same denomination and the greater freedom felt at this time allows many an opportunity to visit churches outside of their own communion. The change of ministers which the dual-church service on Sundays allows is not an unfavorable point in the situation for in the meantime the other minister of the two churches is recuperating, attending services in some other centre and doing so with mind, body and spirit. While he is doing so, the other minister is looking after the double charge or parish at home.

ADDING LIFE TO YEARS

A new method of rejuvenation does not add to the years but adds to one's years so much as it adds life to years, according to Dr. Benjamin of New York City, mentioning one thousand cases of successful treatment.

"Good results consist in a certain restoration of mental and physical vitality, possibly improvement of the diseases of old age, a better sense of wellbeing, improved nervous equilibrium, in some cases more acute eyesight and hearing, improved circulation and high blood pressure, and occasionally new hair growth or better of pigmentation. There is improvement or disappearance of various individual symptoms of senility like vertigo, tremor, asthmatic pains, etc."

Lengthening of life without zest is worse than a theft of years and accordingly the new method of juvenation is to be preferred to one which adds zestless years. It is doubtful if the lengthening of life's span may be possible within narrow limits but not indefinitely.

To add zest to life is the main thing. Some secure that additional interest without resort to medical treatment, but most people would need treatment to get out of the ruts.

After a certain number of years nothing new is attempted and nothing of course is achieved, life becomes a mere passage of years with a progressive weakening of interests. Mental stagnation is the result.

So the man who can add life to the years of people at any stage of life is doing a good work. Zest is what people desire and need for the sake of their mental health.

WATERWAYS PACT

Publication of the terms of the St. Lawrence Waterways treaty signed on Monday has brought general praise of the manner in which the negotiations were carried out of the guarantees and protection which the people of Canada have had in their premier and minister to the United States. The Toronto Globe insists the setting up of a joint commission as a means of removing the waterways from possible influence. The Globe would also praise the evidence of fair-dealing and sincerity on the part of the heads of the United States and Canada. Toronto Mail and Empire sees lifelong drainage of water from the Great Lakes forever ended by the signing of the treaty. This paper declares that in the past the rates favorable to Canada than any previous arrangement ever made with the United States. Canada will get four million horse power and the United States one million, out of the development.

ÖN LOCH LOMOND

Two great names, one with a romantic past, Loch Lomond, and the other of a man with a great past, a fine present and a greater future, Kaye Don, were linked up in a record-breaking speed with a motorboat on this historic stretch of water. His morning speed was 117.43 miles per hour. later yesterday he made it 120 miles per hour.

How different from the scene on the Detroit River last year when a rival tricked him into capsizing before the grandstand! There was no knavery at Loch Lomond, there was a good sportsman at work honestly striving. Guile was put away when Kaye Don cut through the historic waters.

No one could try to trick at Loch Lomond. The spirit of smartness and "win at any price" is not native to Loch Lomond nor innate in Kaye Don. He is the world's champion indeed.

How fierce that meteor's shine!

Unless the dense crowds screen us,

THINGS BEING THE WAY THEY ARE here's a prescription for non-worry days and sound sleep nights: Make up your mind when you wake in the morning just to live for the day, forgetting the past and letting the future take care of itself. Make up your mind to do the best you can in your sex this day, two meals is enough if your work is not hard, that also goes for drinks. Make up your mind to face the world with a smile and carry it bravely all day, if possible, against all odds, including the stings and arrows of outrageous fortune; be the master of your fate and the captain of your soul. After the usual light exercises to get your arteries unhardened and your liver lubricated read Robert Louis Stevenson's grand morning prayer. At noon repeat the Twenty-Third Psalm, and at night Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." Remember to-morrow is another day and may be a good deal better than yesterday — also remember that today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday, and how your mountains melted into molehills when you approached them with resolute mein and brave. Then sleep and dream that you are riding on the crest of the wave. In case you don't know them here are the gems of living literature referred to above, and when you repeat Robert Louis Stevenson's lovely prayer think of that brave soul coughing out his life on that lone mountain in the South Seas and you are regarded by the natives as a white god:

MORNING PRAYER

The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties. Help us to perform them with laughter and kind faces; help us to play the game, that we may learn how to play it industry. Give us to go blithely on our business all this day, bring us to our resting beds weary and content and undishonored, and grant us in the end the gift of sleep.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

THE TWENTY-THIRD PSALM:

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

CROSSING THE BAR
(By Alfred Tennyson)

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell When I embark.

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face When I have crost the bar.

Other Papers' Opinions

KILLING THE GOOSE

The number of automobiles registered in this province is substantially smaller this year than it was last year. Many cars, still in their owner's possessions, are laid up pending the return of better times and the government is in the unenviable position of getting the revenue from them that it had last year and that is apparently anticipated.

There is nothing particularly surprising in this state of affairs and nothing peculiar to Quebec. The same thing is true all over the world and the total losses to all governments collecting motor licenses will be very great.

Mr. Taschereau is, however, apparently surprised, worried and a little hurt at the decision of many car owners to lay up their machines until the clouds roll by. He is, it is reported, toying with the idea of taxing those idle cars by some means or other so that the depleted revenues may be in some measure made up. Understanding the economically-minded motorist prevented from using his car by economy at the public expense.

Has Mr. Taschereau ever thought that one way—and the only way in his control—of getting these machines back on the road and paying licenses is to make it easier for the owner to get that license? In other words, that the traditional Quebec policy of economy is not one that the traffic will bear out of the motorist who has no way to object? Mr. Taschereau ought to know that one of the surest ways of stopping the wheels from turning, the factory, the office, or the highway is to tax them to support all the grinding brakes of excessive taxation.—Montreal Star.

TWENTY-MINUTE SERMONS

One of the problems of the churches these days is lack of attendance at the Sunday morning service. Often the night congregation is less because of the "full house" of the morning service. Many factors no doubt contribute to this undesirable state of affairs, but the most important reason, we believe, is the sermon. Many ministers are apparently have the idea that it is necessary to preach half an hour or even forty minutes. The result is a good deal of boresome padding and unnecessary repetition. Anyone who does much public speaking of any kind has a tendency to run on and on to verbosity. For instance, a young minister often preaches a sermon worthy of words. Gradually he learns to elaborate simple ideas very artificially. In the end he may become so proficient in enlarging upon his theme as to be entirely lost beyond the requirement of the occasion. In fact, humble as it seems, the speaker who can present a message in twenty minutes usually does the best hearing and usually has said something.—St. Mary's Journal-Argus.

SLOW JOHN BULL

Mrs. Barney has been acquitted in London of slaying her lover. The crime was committed in London, Ontario, in the South Seas and they are regarded by the natives as a white god:

TOO SERIOUS VIEW MENTAL TESTS RISKY

Serve Only as Guide, Not Total Valuation of Mind

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

LOUIS E. BISCH

The term "mental tests" implies, of course, a test of the mind. When a person knows and draws in response to the questions and the directions giving it all mental tests is supposed to determine, with precise scoring, the intelligence, if you will—of the individual in question.

It stands to reason, however, that no series of questions or directions, no matter how long or complicated, can possibly cover all the manifold phases of anybody's mind. Not even can a mental test tell everything that is worth while of form. Many years of such a subject's life, millions of answers and ideas have already been recorded, most of which absolutely defy discovery.

The object of any mental test is not, however, to evaluate all of a person's mentality, but only a few of his faculties, nor all of his traits. Not one of the tests in current use pretends even to measure every thing that can be found out about any single faculty.

All that mental tests really seek to accomplish is to elicit responses and performances from the subject that can be rated with a fair degree of accuracy, and that will give a fairly good hint of what the general mentality is like.

No one, therefore, should take mental tests too seriously. What they reveal is an objective measure of the subject's degree of intelligence which he or she was able to command at the time of the examination. Mental tests fail, for instance, to give credit for the amount of information which the subject possesses and tested is capable. Nor do they test the emotions, those most powerful agents in the lives of all of us. Nor do they, in the main, analyze, reveal the diagnosis—in other words, the mental type even in a general way said individuals. Averages in mental equipment, below the average, or above the average.

I am stressing the importance of not being upset by the results of mental tests, whether upon yourself or your children because such tests are being used more and more of late because misunderstanding their real function throws discredit upon the whole procedure which it does not deserve.

Remembering what mental tests are for, and what may actually be expected of them, we can't expect too much; while at the same time we need not be in the least fail. Nor does he make the error, so often met with of a test of ability not adapting for a child in testing intelligence, and vice versa. Often an adult will fail where a child will excel, like the Sinai, because that test is immediately related to training and experience. Nor will he use the Binet-Simon primarily in testing languages for a foreigner, or attempt to apply it to persons suffering from defective physical factors, without considering physical factors, with the result. If you don't do as well on a test as you think you should have, ask to be tested on other scales of intelligence.

But use tests whenever there is opportunity. They can even give you a valuable guidance in the job you are best fitted for.

ONSLAUGHT

Here fall the blossoms of the stream
And here the flowers of dream;
The waters in the night are white
And a white moon blows over.
The gauze black memories of
Are channeled by the falling
Alleys of water, blooms of water
Are loosened and become asunder.

Oh, look your hands upon your heart
Lest that remembering thing be ravaged
By vanished springs when flower of foam
Broke into petals frail and savage;

And let its lovelines be cherished

Than he who hungers for the perished.

6 MONTHS IN CATTLE THEFT

Farm Hand Sold Cows While Owner is in Jail

Port Hope, July 19—Found guilty in county court, on a charge of theft of five cows and two calves from Thomas Cooper, Alec MacCharles, Scottish farm hand and university graduate, was sentenced to six months determinate and six months indeterminate in the reformatory by Judge L. V. Chenner.

Crown witnesses related that MacCharles had purchased from letters from Crawford, his employer, by impersonating him authority to sell the cattle. The cows were in Welland jail serving time for smuggling cigarettes into Canada.

The letters were all signed "Alec. Crawford," and proved to be so stated that he signed his letter to MacCrawford under the latter's name, because he was in jail. The letters all under MacCharles' name. RUTH OUT FOR 3 WEEKS WITH LEG INJURY

Pulled up Lame After Chasing Short Fly Ball

SENATORS STOPPED

Pirates Lose Ground by Dropping 11 Innings Tilt

BY GAYLE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The stanchions that carried him to baseball's heights finally gave way under the strain, Babe Ruth today faced the prospect of ruin-quishing his home run title in Yankee Four without a struggle.

Even before his right leg collapsed while going after a fly ball yesterday, it was extremely doubtful if the slugger home would catch his youthful adversary. He was 12 homers behind Jimmie Foxx and not still was hoping he would get "right" and put on a spurt that would put him back in the thick of the fight.

There's scarcely a chance now. The Bambino will be on the bench for probably three weeks, physicians say, and in that time Foxx should add himself far out of reach. Foxx, in fact, is a full month ahead of Ruth's great 1927 record right now and has every chance of eclipsing the Babe's mark of 60 homers. He had 30 today.

Absence Felt

Ruth's absence doubtless will be felt by the league leaders. The big fellow has taken part in 8 of the Yanks' 86 games and, while not possessing the batting eye he had in abandon, had been hitting well over the .300 mark and had knocked in 58 runs.

The Babe's injury, a torn ligament above the left knee, occurred when he pulled up too short after missing Sheriff Fly in the seventh inning against the Chicago White Sox. The Yankees won 6 to 5 thanks to round trip wallops by Gehrig, Lazzeri and Averill.

Washington's winning streak at nine straight was well broken by the Detroit Tigers who won both ends of a doubleheader, 8 to 6 and 2 to 1. Gerald Walker "blew up" right nervy, slamming five hits during the afternoon and driving across the same number of runs.

The St. Louis Browns suffered their eighth consecutive loss when they were set down 8 to 1 by Tony Freitas. Alvin Crowder "had" Tony Freitas' sixth straight victory. Led by Jimmy Johnson, the Boston Red Sox trimmed Cleveland, 4 to 2. Talley's two doubles provided the winning runs.

National League

The Pittsburgh Pirates, whose ability to win extra inning battles fast was becoming a legend, finally came a cropper in the 11th and moved down into the Phillies 4 to 3 in 11 frames. Hal Lee's single, scoring Don Hurst from second, put up the contest.

Chicago failed to take advantage of the leader's reverse, dropping a 12 to 3 decision to the Cubs. The Giants combed four Cub pitchers for 20 hits and entered eight times in the eighth inning.

Timely hitting by Rack Wilson and Glenn Wright gave the Brooklyn 4 to 4 win over the Cardinals. Wright cracked three hits, including a homer, drove in two runs and scored three times. Wilson's double with two on provided the winning runs in the seventh.

Cincinnati and Boston were not scheduled.

MAIDS STAGE 5 RUN RALLY TO WIN GAME

Put on Batting Splurge After One Away in Ninth

FRONTENACS LOSERS

Kingston Presented Well - Balanced Outfield — Marion Grass Hurt

Staging a five run rally in the ninth innings, the local National Maids defeated the fast Frontenac girls team of Kingston by the score of 12 to 11 at the Armouries Lawn, Monday evening.

The Maids deserved their win even though they were trailing at the better part of the game. They got off their Kingston rivals to a flying never quit trying with the added feature of the pitching of Jean Stewart who relieved the veteran Molly Gray, who started on the hilltop for the Maids, at the seventh frame.

The Frontenacs only managed to squeeze out one run in three innings from the deliveries of Jean Stewart while they hit the offerings of Molly Gray for 11 hits scoring 10 runs. "Smiler" Melchoir was the big triumph for the Maids helping herself four hits out of six times at bat. Every Maid on the club got at least one hit, while D. Rowbotham had two the circuit in the eighth innings, scoring the final run of the innings. The Maids bagged eight of their 12 runs in the last two innings when the game seemed lost. Their opponents never made their win possible over the final frame.

W. Frederick started on the mound for the visitors, but took over next to "Maisy" Walker, who hurled excellent ball until the final innings when the heads of the girls were getting high up and far away to all corners of the lot. Fraser with four hits, two of them home runs, was the big hitter for the Frontenacs while seventh Maids Grass each got two hits. Misses Kingston, G. Gallogly, the first batter in the game, had also pitched ball over the fence for a homer, getting a free ride around for the circuit. The Frontenacs presented a well balanced team of players and had they not been late in arriving the Maids feel would have displayed a much better brand of ball.

Box Score

Frontenacs—G. Gallogly, North, Grass, Fraser, Kemp, L. Frederick, W. Frederick, Walker, Compeau, Ferguson, Sinclair, L. Gallogly.

National Maids—Kelleher, Melchoir, Empey, I. Thrasher, Gray, Stewart, Trulle, Knoss, Gray, Rowbotham and Stewart.

CURRENT SPORT
Knocks and Boosts

Things are beginning to look a little more optimistic for the Belleville Natchaks. The Maks to date have enough hard luck for one season and they are hoping that Lady Luck decides to turn her face to them and give them her long looked for smile. Previously the Peter and the Peelers got their two games this week and the Naks got two. Results from the Cobourg outfit then everything will be "jake" with the Naks' camp. The Naks will not only be well strengthened but the players will be within one game of the new league leading Kingston Frontenacs.

The Naks' last contest victory over the Peterboro setters the Cobourg Maroons a ball of pep and vim when they invade Belleville to battle the Nationals on Wednesday afternoon. Manager Gerow had the pots through a stiff practice on Monday evening and Captain "Frenchy" Mills reported that Bill Church was ok, the rest of the players seemingly, have a new lease on life, now that they are united once again with the Peter, and the fans should see some splendid ball when these two teams clash on Wednesday. Carl Casey will no doubt draw the pitching assignment and will be opposed by "Lefty" Gibson or "Cy" Gibson. If Gibson throws as good a game on Wednesday as he did in his last appearance in Belleville, will the Naks be in for a real bout.

On Thursday evening the Belleville Intermediates entertain the Canada Cement nine at the Fair Grounds. The Victorias started the season off with a bang by winning their first two games, then they fell under the load by losing the next seemingly have returned to form and the Vics have to win their remaining three games at home to assure themselves of first place in the local intermediate loop. The Vics of Art Adams and Archie Campbell, the two Vic players who the Pirates club protested last week, will be decided before the game on Thursday night by the O.B.A.A. The acquisition of Campbell and Adams the Vics look like invincibles.

We noticed, with pleasure, the following article in the Oshawa Times recently: An old ball player has come back. Lindsay has again come back to O.B.A.A. competition and will be represented in the playoffs for the Ontario title. And we have a real town hardball league in the northern county which has been serving up a nice brand of ball this summer. The players, however, are making good use of it on the neighbouring city of Peterborough which is in the O.B.A.A. Such was the feeling of the fans and players alike that a league division was sent in to the authorities in Toronto for an O.B.A.A. title in intermediate section. This was granted and all that is left to be done is the signing of certificates and amateur cards. The winning of the title by Lindsay will put it into the provincial eliminations."

Accompanied by 11 expert pedestrians, Instructor Ralph Meeker of the local Y.M.C.A. left on an extended canoe trip up the Trent River to Lakefield and return this morning. The paddlers leaving Lindsay seven or eight days ago. During the trip and special correspondence will be published in the Ontario Intelligencer accounting for the activities of the boys while on their journey. Some 8 or 9 persons in all are required to be carried by the canoeists on the trip north-west. The party left at 7 o'clock this morning and will be met all advertisers that may befall them on such a trip and will feel in the highest of spirits when they pushed off early this morning.

The champion B.A.A.A. kids added another victory to their long list of wins last night when they trimmed the Cement Company aggregation to the tune of 9 to 7. Erie Smith was the pitching star of the heights to hurl a game worthy of note. Smith has been piloting excellent ball for the Association kids while his team mates have been playing just as good a brand of ball behind him. No team can expect to come out victorious over such a combination of pitching and fielding. The Cement Co. have a nicely balanced team and will be watching the fall. Red Willing, is in charge of the Cement Co. team.

Prairie Dog Pat, the winners, hit for the circuit while Jimmie Fellows slapped out the longest hit of the night. Tots got three hits, two of them being doubles. The Wellington aggregation have a fast crowd trickling also. In Bob Greer they have what the fans think is the best in the local junior ranks in quite some time here in Belleville. He was outshone by "Dizzy" McKinnon last evening, "Dizzy" collected three hits thereby leading his team mates in hitting. The return game will be played Wednesday afternoon.

With the loss of Babe Ruth the outlook of the New York Yankees is not quite as rosy as it was perhaps one or two days ago. There is an old saying "As Ruth goes, so goes the Yankees." Well, with the Bambino out for two or three weeks the Yanks will be able to be certain just how strong the Yanks are without the services of Ruth.

Due to the fact that there is a game to be played at the Fair Grounds on Tuesday evening the Belleville Victorias will practice on Monday evening and Thursday night and at the Fair Grounds on Wednesday evening. A last minute notice was just received that the Cobourg team that will use Campbell and Adams against the Victorias, Cement that here on Thursday evening.

CENTENARY NINE WIN TROPHY
Sidney Softball League Closes After Successful Year

On Thursday evening, July 14th the second and final game of the series of soft ball between Wallbridge and Centenary was staged at Wallbridge with Centenary winning 19 to 6.

Interest was high for Centen, they had already won the first game of the play-off on Friday evening, July 8th by a score of 11 to 7.

The game was called by Mr. Pollard and Mr. Purdon acting as base umpire. Centenary went to the first bat in the second and scored by either side during the first innings. In the beginning of the second inning Centenary scored two runs and game really began. The home team, Wallbridge, in their fourth inning when one player crossed the home plate. Another in the sixth innings and four in the seventh, the visiting team here several paces ahead during the entire battle, scoring three runs in the fifth, three in the sixth, two in the seventh, making their total of 19, against six for the Wallbridge.

Centenary team has won all the league games played this year as well as several exhibition games with different teams. One game with a city team closed with a tie which has not been played off.

On Sunday, July 13th, Centenary lost to Wallbridge at the Millages with a score 11-10 which necessitated another game to decide the champion but good losers which Centenary left their sportsman ship.

All the softball season officially closes in Sidney tonight with the grandiose Centenary team on winning the cup.

KID BERG WINS A CLOSE ONE
Defeats "Kool" Chocolate in 15 Scorching Rounds

New York, July 19—Jackie (Kid) Berg, tireless little Britton, was right back in the thick of the scramble for Tony Canzoneri's lightweight crown today. Last night he halted the latest pretender to Kid Chocolate, the Cuban Negro, to take a decision after 15 rounds of punishing fighting.

It was Berg's second victory over the Cuban this year. Twice before when Chocolate was at the zenith of his meteoric rise he'd had come to be regarded as unbeatable, Berg met him and took his measure.

The justice of that decision has been the subject of much dispute, however, and there were indications today that Berg's latest victory over the Cuban will end the argument. The verdict was unpopular with the spectators.

Though there were no knockdowns, Chocolate scored the more telling punches and had his opponent in distress twice. Berg's ceaseless boring in was his constant line of attack gained favor with the judges where Chocolate's more flashy style.

LEAFS SIMPLY HAVE BUSTED

Have Only Won 33 of 93 Played and Seven of 14 in July

(By The Associated Press)

In contrast to the Buffalo Bisons climb from the 1931 cellar position to second place in the International League standings, the Toronto Maple Leafs are travelling full coast as fast in the opposite direction.

The Leafs finished fifth last year, only three games out of the first division, and decided to stand pat on practically the same team, a 12-3 decision over Montreal. In scoring his second shutout of the season over the Royals, Yerkes was only eight well scattered hits. Only two Montreal players reached second.

DESCENDANT OF ANNIE LAURIE DIES

When Colonel Ponton was Grand Master and the four British delegates from the Grand Lodge of England attended the grand meeting in Massey Hall, Toronto, the Grand Master, as illustrative of a point that came up, recited how all the soldiers in the Crimea, of whatever race, sang together in a lull of fighting, the well known Scottish song of Annie Laurie. The late Sir John Ferguson, one of the delegates, then Prov. Master of the United Grand Lodge of England, sprang to his feet and declared he declared himself to be a lineal descendant of Annie Laurie and said that if for no other reason than to hear her praised as an example of a fundamental Masonic doctrine of good fellowship and harmony, his trip to Canada was more than worth while. Those who heard him will never forget his speech on the occasion. His death at the relatively early age of sixty-two was announced by yesterday's Associated Press despatch. He was for many years president of Lloyd's Bank, and a noted financier.

Beauty.....

Keep Tooth Brushes Clean, Girls.

Sound teeth are pearls of great price. They are treasures to be fairly clean by rinsing in cold cherished, not only for health's sake water before and after using. but because they help to build the foundations from under the temple of beauty. Dentists tell us that good care will preserve them—there are insidious enemies at work all the time but they do believe that teeth that are kept meticulously clean have a better chance of fighting invading bacteria than teeth that are neglected. There is the matter of the tooth brush, which is important. Have a fresh one. Rock the new brush in a strong solution of salt water for two hours before using. That's the rule. Salt acts as a mild antiseptic and hardens bristles.

Don't place the brush on the window sill or wash bowl. Hang it so that moisture will drain away before disposing of it, give it a thorough rinsing in cold water and shake it. Never use hot water. Hot water is the dentist or digging enemy. Germs love a moist tooth brush so go to house-keeping there, raise families of little germlets that creep into abrasions of the gums.

Since jaw formations and dental arches vary in form, no one brush will suit every outfit of teeth. Find the type that will clean each tooth front, back and sides—and so manipulate it that it will pass over all the dentine surface. It is particularly necessary to send the bristles between the teeth close to the gums.

A large brush is usually best, but choose it at a small one that burrows into corners and crevices. Bristles of varying lengths and tufted groups are more efficacious than those set solidly together. And a brush with an officer when she goes into brushed that character can be kept the water and reports in the same when she comes out.

(By Helen Follett)

Now we have pink gloves for pale toes.. All the little jags get their comeuppance and can put on the same dressing that pretty ladies pay on finger nails with a camely hair brush a preparation that has qualities of endurance that are surprising. The action of the gloves has also discovered that filling toe nails with lacquer from getting thick and heavy while cutting doesn't. The only danger in both cutting and filing is getting the nail inturned too close far down on either side a condition that invites ingrown nails and their attendant miseries. Trained feet are a delight to see but don't fall to take along a bottle of liquid protector for corns because that goes on easily, that brings away the dead of travel, that is removed in a jiffy with no cleaning to clean. Road dust is hard on any complexion, but the dainty powders are not give way before soap and water as it does before an effective preparation. Talcum powder patted into the skin during the journey is refreshing, protects against the ravages of strong winds and glaring sunlight.

Some of the new short bobs have a cap-like appearance and are so smugly at the rear where upturned curls form a decorative motif. Bobbing is not the only way these effects are produced by moistening the ends of the hair and then ringlets curling and drying. Instead of being permanent as bobs, they stay as they are created.

Why won't the oily-skin plaintee realize that plying the old powder pads affords nothing more than temporary relief. Shine soon comes by lavish use of witch hazel and cold cream. Both ingredients used by deleting fatty foods from the diet—rich gravies, fat meats, pastries and chocolates. Fruits and salads are a tax on sebaceous glands, and they help overtime.

Alcohol and castor oil, equal parts, form a first class medium for that oil treatment of the scalp which should be given the night before shampooing. Both these are elements that coax dandruff to the surface where it belongs. Rub the odor by adding a few drops of peppermint.

Men, Their Friends

Perhaps it is true that men are only boys grown tall.

Certainly they do well to ponder that statement.

There is a quarrel, lean, when husband suggests that he would like to go to the golf links with his friends.

The assertion that wife is to be left at home unescorted, the fact which many silly statements are made, pro and con.

Then we may make some serious accusations.

The husband who leaves home after that sort of scene is more than likely to find that his friends think will live up to his wife's opinions expressed so emphatically.

Or he may feel so badly about her objections that it spoils an otherwise delightful occasion.

Some men entertain men friends at their homes, others never invite from their wives.

Others cannot do so without a quarrel over it and the assertion from the husband that he intends to carry out his intentions.

Guests sense such an atmosphere and it is not surprising that men who have so much unpleasantness when it's their turn to reciprocate need little time at home.

Campfire Memories

Company Three, Belleville Girl Guides Return After a Delightful Outing at Carruther's Point, Kingston

Company 3 Girl Guides came in on Thursday from their two weeks' camp at Carruthers' Point, four miles from Kingston. There were twenty-eight in the company. The camp is very beautiful, in the woods, surrounded by Lake Ontario, and campers think perhaps it was a good thing the weather was cold and rainy, with only a few real summery days, for it gave them a chance to get in such a difficulty, and they passed the test with flying colors. A wonderful spirit of helpfulness, team work and happiness reigned throughout.

The Third Belleville Company carry out an organized camp programme every minute of the day was planned and the programme of the Girl Guides, together with cooking and the work was carried out without a hitch. This is a sample of a camp day.

Sunday Services

The Sunday services were led and so beautifully, by Miss MacKay, Camp Lieutenant, and Miss Mary Kye. The campers will long remember Miss Mackay's helpful reading talks and the hymns which filled into the talks she gave. Sunday is a day apart, a day that stands out. Miss Mackay, of the General Hospital (Camp "Tiny") trained the Guides in ambulance, which they proved continuously what a life of value it is. Miss Mary Kye (Camp Tufts (Camp "Turchy" gave such a wealth of giving in her dramatic readings that they will be long recalled in them!

Margaret Grant ("Midge") had charge of swimming, a most refreshing time for those out with much quiet efficiency. Swimming tests are conducted by Captain of Belleville Camp. The officer in charge has her Silver Medal from the Royal Life Saving Society and so has Ann Schuster, lieutenant. Each Guide receives a Bronze Medal from the Royal Life Saving Society.

Swimming Rules

On shore, when the girls are swimming, there are pickets who give undivided attention to watching heads. Each Guide registers to keep always.

Induction Service is Held at Tweed Church

Rev. R. R. Nicholson of Queensboro Inducted to New Charge

Tweed, July 18—The beautiful and historic Presbyterian church of the United Church was conducted on Friday night by the Rev. G. W. Rivers, Madoc, Chairman of the Induction Committee of Belleville Presbytery, assisted by Rev. Dr. Rowland, Stirling, Rev. J. F. Evenson, Queensboro, and Rev. Herrington, Thomasburg, when Rev. R. R. Nicholson, former pastor of Cannington United Church was formally inducted into his new charge.

The sermon was preached by Rev. J. F. Evenson who chose as his text, Ephesians 11:21, "Grow up in every work that he began in the service of the house of God and to keep the law and the commandments to seek his God, he did it with all his heart and prospered." Remembering king of Judah, though he was the last of the kings of Judah, the people was surrounded by a corrupt environment. He was a good king. He was a good king. He was a good man and not because of influences round about him but because he chose to be good or bad. We are prone to think that we are a double standard of life, one for the pastor and another for the people. But the rank and file of the congregation are under an obligation to live right just as the minister and the church officials. Then again we cannot be long followers of God unless we attend the House of God where we can feel the touch resting upon us. Hezekiah was not a half hearted Christ but he did strive earnestly to follow God very day. We should do so too and make our religious lives a real business in which we are deeply concerned.

Rev. G. W. Rivers delivered the charge to the minister and the duties which a congregation looks for in a minister but that he should be good, that he should be a student and keep abreast of the times, that he should be a leader in thought. He should not fail to visit his people. He should remember that a house-going pastor makes a church-going people.

Rev. R. W. Rowland addressed the congregation, impressing them to accept the pastor's leadership and co-operate with him in Christian work. His cited instances of patriarchs of Bible setting on great conventures with God in which they prospered and he urged the congregation to accept the challenge. Rev. Rowland set out the needs of foreign and home born Canadians into closer relationship with Christ.

A reception for the minister and his family was held in the Sunday School room at the close of the induction service. Rev. Nicholson spoke briefly thanking the congregation for the warm hearted reception which had been accorded them. Lunch was served by the Women's Association.

BUYING POWER VERY FEEBLE

List on Wall St. Steadies a Little After Monday's Drop

By Owen Clarger

Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, July 18—Restricted speculation by floor traders gave the stock market a semblance of activity today, as the list steadied after yesterday's setback.

A somewhat better tone in principal commodities, notably wheat, and announcement of bull power in the share market was rather feeble, however, with few exceptions these made scant progress.

Tobacco were pushed forward, gains of around a point appearing in American Tobacco B, Reynolds B, and Liggett & Myers B. Other departments served to give the new York Securities Co. a boost. Manhattan getting up nearly 2 points. Yesterday's selling in Duquesne was to have stirred up, and that issue improved fractionally. Slight gains also appeared in such issues as American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, Coca Cola, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe and Union Pacific. U.S. Steel was down a point. Public Service of N. J. was a soft spot losing more than a point before meeting support. Columbia Gas dropped a major fraction and Pennsylvania Mining lost a couple of points.

THURLOW MAN THROWN HEAD LONG INTO CAR

Joseph Clews is Injured About Head And Face

NO FRACTURE

Taken to Hospital Where He will be Confined For Few Days

Joseph Clews, of the 5th concession of Thurlow, was seriously injured on the highway leading and rushed to the Belleville General Hospital, where he was thrown head-long over the handle bars of a motorcycle which he was riding into the windshield of—an approaching car immediately after the intersection of the Dundas and Old Carrying Place Roads on the Canniffon United Church.

Mr. G. D. Cronk of this city was called to the scene of the accident and after rendering medical aid took the injured man, in his own car, to the Belleville General Hospital.

Strikes Windshield

Clews was driving south and coming up to a car proceeding in the same direction. The latter car was passed by him. At the same time, a car driven by Donald E. Cozier of Campbellford, and by his wife and daughter were travelling north, intending to stop at the United Church, which congregation was holding its annual picnic from that church on Tuesday to Crow's O'clock Point. Clews attempted to get back to his side of the road after passing the car, when he collided with the approaching Cozier car. Clews was hurled through the air when the two machines collided and struck his head on the driver left hand corner of the windshield. Due to the fact that the windshield of the car was made of shatter-proof glass, the latter did not break it and thus saved the unfortunate young man from receiving any bad cuts from flying glass.

Car and Cycle Damaged

Both the motorcycle and the car were somewhat damaged, the left front head light, left fender and the doors of the car were badly damaged, and the windshield was cracked quite badly but had not broken. The motorcycle's front wheel was damaged beyond repair, while the front forks and headlight were also badly damaged. The accident occurred in the afternoon on its journey under its own power.

After Clews had been rushed to the hospital, Dr. Cronk thought it advisable that the injured man remain in the hospital for a few days, as he was suffering from a bad shock. He did not think a fracture had been sustained. Clews received several cuts and bruises about the face and minor cuts about the right leg. Traffic Officer Byles and the Provincial Police arrived at the scene shortly after the collision and Officer Byles is investigating the case. A number of eyes witnessed the smash-up so the chances are that charges will be laid.

St. Paul's Church at Brighton Sponsoring Project

Trenton, July 19 (Special) — St. Paul's Church in Brighton, who are holding their annual church picnic in conjunction with the Junior Farmers' League this year on the 30th are making every effort to make the day a success and one that will be remembered by those who attend. A monster program of sports has been arranged with attractive prizes. The Leavers' Bros. will be on hand with their airplane, which includes an Autogiro, the only one in Canada at the present time. Parachute jumping will also be a feature of the day. The outing will be held at Presqu'ile.

Burglars Active

Burglars who broke into the home of Mr. R. J. Carr, of Byron Street, Saturday night and chased the heart as the stolen articles were found in a field near the scene next day. The articles were placed in a bag and bundle and nothing was missing.

Mr. Gerald Bowe, Toronto, who appeared in police court here today to answer a charge of breaking into the store of Mr. Cohen on Hendricks gas station on the York Road, pleaded guilty. On making restitution he was given a four-year suspended sentence.

Crashes Into Car

Yesterday morning at H. Huxtable, of 120 Harris St., Oshawa, driving west on Highway No. 2 about three miles east of Trenton, pulled up behind another car which was standing on the highway. The other car coming west also was unable to stop and crashed into the rear of Huxtable's car, doing considerable damage to the back of the car as well as shaking the occupants up. Too much care cannot be exercised when stopping on the highway to pull clear of the pavement.

Late John Corbett

Mr. Richard Corbett aged 77 years 6 months passed away at his home in Sidney township on Saturday. Mr. Corbett was of Irish descent and had lived in the vicinity all his life being engaged in farming before retiring until the last few years his health failed him. ORANGE TOPPLES THE THREE LINKS

Softball Game at Trenton Full of Thrills and Spills

Trenton, July 18 (Special) — A creaking of joints and numerous applications of liniment will be the order for the day for the men. After the game played here last night between the L.O.L. and the Orange fellows.

Those who had had a ball in their hands in years were down to try out their old form. Those who should be signed up by the local league teams by the way they looked. It was a real old time game the league games so the boys decided to give the game only exhibition of how softball should be played. The Orangemen won by the score of 17 to 14. The game was filled with laughs from start to finish. Harold Stinson in the field for the three links, despite his bulk, can certainly get over the field. He was on the mound for the L.O.L. and had the best control and his slow ball, which he claims to have learned while playing with Frank Merriwell. Howard Jarrett was in the box for the three links and the way one could tell Jarrett is that he had copped off the only sweater in the crowd, but by his behavior and deserved it as he pitched a pretty fair game.

The line-up:

L.O.L.—Pole, c; Baker, 3rd; Farrar, 2nd; Onyon, cf; Weese, ss; Fairbanks, lf; White, rf; Taylor, 1st; Carr, b.

Oddfellows—Burt, c; Stinson, lf; Cunningham, cf; Combs, 2nd; Jarrett p; Stacey, rf; Ward, 2nd; Larry, 1st; Hoffman, ss.

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

COPYRIGHT 1932 BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

Don't stop me, I adore you. You know that. Always and always. Me and now this hellish poverty. Hell, debts, bills! Nothing to offer you.

Lily Lou's mouth twitched. She didn't know whether she was going to laugh or cry. Tony, poor blessed, darling Tony.

He loved her. Not because she was pretty or because she had the beginnings of a career, but just for herself.

She found her eyes filling.

"Tony" she said gently, "it does not matter, do you see? Because all that—all love—everything like that—is gone for me. Dear Tony, I loved you once, and I married and I couldn't ever—couldn't ever——"

"You still love him!"

"Yes. I suppose so, Tony. Not that it matters."

"After all that is past you can still love him?"

"Yes, no matter what he did, it doesn't matter, because he's part of me."

She went through the want ads in the paper. But it did not help. Job it wouldn't begin to pay for her lessons, with Gwin or anyone else worth while. And how would she eat and what would the bobbies do?

Better to have given up—stayed in California. Rest and care for that the baby.....No, there was no going back. She'd have to go on, somehow.

She borrowed $50 from Wanda Pulsberry, hating herself for asking, hating herself for taking. It hating Wanda, for her air of never sit. Not to see it again, but I'm kind-hearted and can't refuse—"

That had been 10 days, what with her share of the month's expenses in the apartment, and the woolly rabbit with the floppy ears that she couldn't resist for the baby.

It was well along in September now. Gwin came in twice a week, and after the first of October she would work with him every day, and would be able to take the week-by check unconditionally. If she could just hold out until then—Mrs. Jensen's job was due on the twenty-first and there would be extra besides, perhaps $12 or $15.

She had started work in the Metropolitan chorus, three nights a week for rehearsals now, and soon it would be every night. Dramatic lessons, too, and Gwin told her it was time she took fencing and dancing..... watching her with that glitter in his eye.....

"What's the pouting today?"

"Nothing. Just that I've overwhelmed when I realize how unprepared I am for the little parts I'm likely to get this season if I'm lucky."

"What did I tell you when you came here a year ago—all ready to sing Butterfly, and a few pages of roles?"

"I know. But I didn't realize then. How could I? When I look back now and thing of the hopes I had and how easy it seemed to realize them when I had only a smattering of languages——"

"You mean when you knew no languages and couldn't sing English correctly—"

"Yes, and when I think of all the other girls I've known—lots of them not so young as I, nor so pretty—getting their hopes——"

Oh, Gwin, aren't you sorry for them? For all the girls who want to be singers, and are going to fail? Aren't you sorry for all of us? I am—I could weep for all of us—"

He had been sitting on the piano bench. He rose now and took her gently into his arms.

"Don't say Gwin—it's ridiculous. Say Dwight—"

"Dwight, then—it doesn't matter, does it?"

He held her off at arm's length, studying her. Her sweep of dark, wavy hair, her fabulous lily-like skin, her dark brows, her full scarlet lips. "Yes it matters. It matters a lot. You're not altogether a goose! O, you don't have to give it now—this minute. Think it over, that's all. I've got to know."

Lily Lou walked home, prepared her dinner and dishes. Canned spinach with a poached egg. Nourishing cheap.

But she hardly saw them, hardly saw what she was doing.

"Oh, gosh, spinach!" Maxine sighed, coming into the kitchen to sniff of the signs of food. "Well, never mind, I'll eat it. But let's have that can of plum pudding you were going to save for Thanksgiving. I could stand the spinach, if I

NO MORE TEARS

MRS. HOFFMAN was eighteen when her baby was born. Within a year she had a serious operation. Then the flu. Her nerves went to pieces. She cried over nothing at all. It was an unhappy household.

Her grandmother told her about the famous Vegetable Compound. That's how old and trusted a remedy is! "I have taken it for months," she says, "with marvelous results and I am thankful for my fascinating health."

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

was sure of the dessert.....well! You've been crying, Lily Lou. Is that tragedy all right, if you shed a tear, or is it something to—to—to—get whooping cough, or did your voice leave you?"

That night Lily Lou tossed in her bed. In the morning she rose at 6 o'clock, and by 7:30 she was in the bubbles, before work at the studio, Tony would help, could help her to decide. When she held him in her arms she had courage.....courage for anything.

"He's growing out of all his clothes," Mrs. Jensen said. "And I don't know as I can keep him this winter or not, because I'm thinking of getting married again.....yes, I mean, and while my husband don't approved to children none, not if they was his'that is, still he don't mind 'em, and he's terrible fond of mine."

"I see" Lily Lou said.

Mrs. Jensen was making up her mind for her.

At rehearsal that night the chorus master singled her out to sing a difficult phrase alone.

Afterwards he said, "Very good, my dear, very soon now, we shall hear from you. Perhaps even a minor part's and next season....."

"Next season?" Take care of your throat, and, be grateful! Do not force that while tone. Remember that laughter is often a singer's best friend."

But I need not say that to a pupil of Gwin.

She told Gwin what he had said, hoping to propitiate him.

He smiled, and said nothing.

He was coaching her in two scenes with Jose Rogers, Mimi and Butterfly. She already knew Rodina in the latter of Butterfly and Gilda in Rigoletto and Mignon and Manon would follow.

Could anyone expect her to give up a chance like that? Wasn't there any way? Some way.....but she couldn't think of any....

"What IS the matter with you?" Maxine demanded, that night.

"Nothing. Nothing. —Finance."

"Fudge! With Gwin to back you, and Tony in line for the big money and Wahlman—"

"She's in Europe!"

"Landed today, on the Ile de France. Don't you read your papers?"

Nahlman might not be at the Rita, of course. She might be out. She might not even consent to see her.

At the desk she asked Nahlman's room number, and was curtly refused the information.

A young man in a creased tweed suit who had followed her in the door turned away just as she did.

"Hard luck!" he said.

"Yes," she said, trying to answer his blithe smile.

She walked over to a chair to sit for a while. Perhaps some idea would come to her. Perhaps Madame Nahlman might come in, and see her. Or, she might go to a public telephone and call the hotel and ask for Suzanne Colin!

She started up. The strange young man was right beside her. "What's the hunch?" he asked her, you mean——"

"Aren't you a newspaper woman?"

"Oh my goodness, no!"

He grinned. "My mistake. Thought you were too pretty for it. I had a hunch myself. Thought I might let you in on it."

She dismissed him, smiling, wishing him luck. After a while she strolled over toward the elevators, and Lily Lou gathered courage to go to the public telephone, and ask for Suzanne Colin.

"It's Lily Lou! Lily Lou Lansing! I just heard you got in on the Ile de France. I wonder if I might——"

"Why, miss Lansing, how glad I am to hear of you.....but a moment, Madame heard me call your name. Where are you? Downstairs? Oh, Madame says, come up at once!"

Madame Nahlman embraced her, cried over her. "My dear, how I have missed you! Let me look at you. The same Lily! Oh, I have so much to tell you. Six hours. Such a hard summer. No, sit close to me—now—we can talk.

Be different from the last, cool meeting.

CHAPTER FIFTY-ONE

Once Lily Lou would have fled in dismay from the prima donna's lurid tales, and Elizabethan English but she listened now, smiling a little.....

She had come to ask for a loan, but it was never asked for. Madame Nahlman said, "You must come with me on my concert tour, go as fa as St. Louis. Wonderful bookings. Really quite the best publicity and advance sales..... Yes. You will accompany me. Selne is the waitress——"

"I accompany you!! But you——wouldn't be satisfied!"

"Not a word. It is settled. My mind is made up—and I'm tired. I was arranged. Afterward Lily Lou found out that it was the trick she had discovered last summer, of filling in the "hole" in Nahlman's voice—that covered it in the middle register.

"You are certainly not a great musician," Tony told her, "but you are accurate and an intelligent one, with more sympathy than a jigger artist would have. So do not thank her too much. You serve her purpose.

"And she serves mine. Tony, I don't know what I'd have done if his hadn't come along."

"You would not starve," he told her coldly.

She'd fat, she was beginning another ora.

It took Lily Lou just five years to reach her goal, the Metropolitan. Five years from the time she came to New York, a frightened, but determined girl.

After the contract trip with Madame Nahlman it was comparatively easy sailing. There was the matter of "the hole" in Nahlman's voice. To cover it, Lily Lou was allowed to join in two numbers, singing a high, flute-like obbligato to one, a lower crooning melody to the other. When she got too much applause Nahlman would fly into a tantrum, threaten to get a more competent accompanist, but never would the unfortunate hours. But few auditions noticed Lily Lou particularly. They had come to hear Nahlman, and old and tired as she was, with that hole in her middle register, she gave them the fire and thrill of an enthusiasm that would never die. Besides the glowing, exuberant personality of the aging prima donna, the accompanist was just a pretty, promising young girl.

Wall-Lily Lou didn't care. Not while she was earning two hundred and seventy-five every week and the Butchen was rosy and blooming, waiting for her in New York.

After that there was Toscani Opera Company, a third-rate company that played in small towns. Could be have cared for her, really? She didn't know—would never know. They shook hands.

"Goodbye, Dwight."

"Goodbye, Lily Lou."

It wasn't really goodbye. They would meet again in a few months. But it was a farewell, for all that. The last slight air of affection or feeling he was ever to show for her.

When, ten days later, she left for Philadelphia with Madame Nahlman, after establishing the baby and Mrs. Jensen's aunt, Mr. Nahlman, with the Butchen in Malkin the Prairie Provinces.

If you share your blessings with others they will be more liked to share theirs with you. For instance if you give another fellow a cupple of bites out of your apple he will probably give you a cupple of bites the next time, but if you eat your apple all by yourself without sharing any of it, and it happens to be shaky green and you get a fierce stomachic ake, then nobody will share your pease either.

Some people are stingy with popular things, such as their money, and generous with unpopular ones, such as their trubbles.

One way to tell real freeds from artificial freeds is to be so generous with everybody that after a while you wont have anything left to be generous with, and then your real freeds will come and tell you how crazy you've been while your artificial freeds aren't even bother to go anywheres near you.

It's easier to be generous when you're rich than when you're poor, the main trubble being that a lot of rich people never find it out.

Lots of people would be too proud to accept money as a gift, no matter how generous you feel towards them, as the only thing they can do and still feel respectable is to borrow it permanently.

Generous people love to watch others happy expressions when they share things with them, while miserx prefer to keep everything themselfs and enjoy other peoples jellus expressions.

This process it's impossible to have a good time without the help of others, even if his against their will.

GENEROSITY

ATTRACTIVE BRIDAL COSTUMES WORN IN "WESTWARD PASSAGE"

Smart simplicity is the new order of things in wedding gowns, according to Madame Josetta Delima, fashion authority, who designed the bride's, maid of honor's, and the bridesmaids' gowns worn by the bridal party in "Westward Passage" with Ann Harding and Laurence Olivier co-starring, that is the featured attraction at the Belle today and Wednesday.

Irene Purcell, beautiful newcomer to the screen, plays the part of Ann Harding's sister in "Westward Passage". She is the bride as a fashionable wedding; and Mme. Delima created the gown specially suited to type. Miss Purcell, a blonde with a lovely figure, wears an ivory satin gown of unusual severity simple lines. It has, however, a new and interesting departure from the ordinary gown, and that is in its sleeve design. The sleeve, of self-material, is cut out on the upper arm, and extend down the arm and over the back of the hand, giving the effect of a long glove. It is, however, connected with the dress under the arm and joined at a lace border.

Instead of ordinary gloves, Miss Purcell's fingers are encased in half mittens which leaves the ring fingers of the left hand free which is needed during the ceremony.—A problem which has confronted brides for decades.

The dress is cut extremely low in front, and is edged with Duchess lace around the neckline. The corsage of real orange blossoms is worn at the centre of the bodice. The only other trimming are two rows of pearl buttons, one on each sleeve. The skirt is long and simple, but there is a train on the newest of wedding gowns.

The attendant gowned maid of honor—Ann Harding, as it happens—wears a bat of "Horsehair" silk. Her gown is of silk lace, cut simply with a slightly higher (but natural) waistline and with its bodice lines suggesting a modern costume. The skirt is full length, and full cut. The gown is sleeveless except for shoulder puffs. Pearls are the only jewelry worn with this costume.

"A HOUSE DIVIDED" NEXT

There is more action in "A House Divided," the drama which opens an engagement at the Capitol Theatre that in half a dozen ordinary screen plays.

And "A House Divided" is not an ordinary picture in any sense. It is one which is filled with large dramas, with a high quality of acting contributed by a superlative cast, and an engrossing story which sheds new light on the age-old problem of "the eternal triangle." A most dramatic situation develops when a young man falls in love with his father's new mail-order bride, and the father discovers the condition which exists.

The three leading players in this fast-moving drama are Walter Huston, Helen Chandler and Kent Douglass, and all deliver performances which are exceptional for their strength and realism.

The locale of "A House Divided" is full of colorful interest, with the scenes laid in a fishing village on the Northwestern coast of the United States, where the rugged influences of characters are the rough, elemental men of the wild timber country.

Canadian Star

Many difficulties beset the early theatrical career of Walter Huston, who is now recognized as one of the most accomplished and versatile actors of stage or screen.

Huston was born in Toronto, Canada, and in early manhood studied engineering. At the age of 18, however, he was attracted to the theatre, and after a short time in road shows he was engaged with the brake beams" in New York where for three years he struggled vainly to secure an engagement. Later, after several years at his engineering profession, he went on the vaudeville stage, remaining in "two-a-day" for 12 years. Beginning his legitimate theatrical career in the title role of "Mr. Pitt," he finally became a star over night, and appeared successively in such plays as "Congo," "The Barker," "Desire Under the Elms," and "Desire Under the Stars."

His motion pictures are "Gentlemen of the Night," "Abraham Lincoln," "The Bad Man," "Abraham Lincoln," "The Rising Voice" and "The Star Witness."

St. Lawrence Seaway to be Built Under Commission of 10

Have Full Authority to Make Contracts and Carry Out Work

Washington, July 19—The great St. Lawrence seaway is to be constructed under the supervision of a part of super-governmental commission and on a strictly business basis.

The name of the organization, specified in the treaty signed yesterday between Canada and the United States is the St. Lawrence International Rapids Section Commission.

Its work on the $545,000,000 project will be just as ponderous as its name but the plan is to let it be as free from governmental red tape as the ordinary contractor.

Five members are to be appointed by each country as soon as the treaty is ratified by the United States Senate which meets in December. The commission, similar in most which convenes early next year.

Because of subsequent necessary delay in obtaining appropriations work on the project will not begin until some time after that. But the treaty provides that the commission will have ample authority to push the construction of 27-foot channel from Montreal to Lake Erie.

Have Full Authority

They will have authority to make contracts, sue and be sued, and generally do the things needed. They will see that wages paid workers equal those prevailing in the community.

They will not however, have the right to direct construction of the power plants to develop 2,200,000 horsepower which the treaty coordinate these with the seaway. That will be delivered as they work. When their job is done, they cease to exist as a commission.

To show that they mean these commissioners to do business, the two governments put a time stage. Any

To waive immigration laws so far as their otherwise would affect those in the employ of the commission.

To exempt them from customs and taxes supplies bought by the commission in either country.

To keep the commission free, generally, from legislative or executive direction.

To make the commission subject to the Federal courts of the countries in which suits originate with the proviso that if any claim exceeds $50,000 either government may appeal it to arbitration.

WORLD'S LARGEST CHANDELIER IN N. Y.

New York, July 19.—The world's largest chandelier, 35 feet in diameter, burning 60,000 watts, has been designed and is being built by Fredrick Cleveland, lighting engineer, for installation in the second largest theatre in Radio City.

The fixture weighs three tons and is so large that a special ventilating system has been designed to carry off the intense heat of some 400 flood lights and their special lenses.

Old Mr. Toad Lies Low

When there's no chance to run lie low;
You're likely to be safer so.

—Old Mr. Toad

Old Mr. Toad took his own advice. Hardly had he made the discovery that Mr. Blacksnake was somewhere not very far behind him, that Old Mr. Toad had decided that to get away without being discovered. But as he has traveled, hop, hop, hipperty-hop, he had kept looking behind him instead of ahead to see where he was going, and so one long hop had ended with a fall and a thump that had knocked all the breath from him, and now here he was gasping for breath at the bottom of a pool his that Farmer Brown's boy had dug.

For a couple of minutes Old Mr. Toad lay on his back, kicking his legs, gasping for breath When at last he recovered the latter he scrambled to his feet and his terror returning, he prepared to continue on his way. He made one hop and bumped his nose against the earth of the side of the hole. It was then that he understood that in trying to hop out of one kind of trouble he had rushed straight into another kind of trouble. He was a prisoner down in that hole and somewhere up above was Mr. Blacksnake. If Mr. Blacksnake should find him now there could be no escape.

Old Mr. Toad looked up. Far, oh so far above him, he could see the edge of the hole and over it high above that the gray of the sky. A few blades of grass grew over the edge of the hole. Every time the wind moved them he shivered. He feared it was the approach of Mr. Blacksnake that caused them to move. He expected every minute he would see the head of Mr. Blacksnake appear over the edge.

What to go now? Oh for wings to fly out of that hole! But he had no wings. He couldn't even climb out for that circular wall was straight and smooth. But getting out was not what Mr. Toad was thinking about just then. They would be time enough to think about that later if meantime nothing happened to him. Anyway, to get out out there was nothing to prevent Mr. Blacksnake from climbing down in. That is what filled Old Mr. Toad with dismay.

Hastily he made his way all around the bottom of that pool hole just to make sure that there was no way out or nothing under which to hide. There was all too evident, old Mr. Toad looked up again and again and in his beautiful golden eyes was a great dread. Then he backed up against the wall and there he squatted down close to the earth meanwhile staring up at the rim of that hole as though afraid to move him.

It was only a short time, a very short time later that Mr. Blacksnake, seeking to get away from his tormentors, the feathered folk led by Sammy Jay, came slipping through and under the grass at that hole. He discovered it the instant he reached the edge of it and, of course, he didn't tumble in the way Old Mr. Toad had. He had already discovered that Old Mr. Toad had been along just ahead of him and he was as much interested in catching up with Old Mr. Toad as he was in getting away from his tormentors.

Just before he reached the edge of the hole he lost all trace of Old Mr. Toad. Could he have jumped or tumbled into that hole? It would be a simple matter to find out. He slid his head over the edge and one of his body over the edge and looked down. Sure enough, there was that hole and tried again. There was no chance for him to be mistaken. There wasn't even a leaf on the bottom under which Old Mr. Toad could hide. He wasn't there. There was nothing there on that sandy bottom.

Once more Mr. Blacksnake withdrew and this time he went on his way and a little farther on found a fallen tree part in which was a hollow. Into this he glided. Once out of sight of his tormentors they soon forgot him and flew away. Then Mr. Blacksnake slipped out and glided off on his way unseen.

Where was Old Mr. Toad all this time? Lying low. Yes sir that is where he was. While he had sat down there looking up fearfully he had been busy. His mind had been hard at work digging. As fast as they dug a place he backed in and by the time Mr. Blacksnake arrived and looked down in that hole he had wisely disappeared and the sand had fallen in and covered him. He knew where he had entered.

GRANDMASTER DISAPPROVES OF LOTTERIES

W. S. Herrington, K.C. of Napanee Presents Address

NO CHANGE

Lodge Meeting Should be Held Always on Set Date

Kingston, Ont., July 20— (CP)— Unqualified disapproval of "thinly disguised lotteries" was expressed by W. S. Herrington, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, A.F. and A.M. in the Provincial of Ontario in his presidential address before the 77th annual communication here today.

"There is no room," he declared, "that many lodges experienced difficulty in balancing their budgets and were constrained to look about for means of replenishing empty treasuries. In several instances, "the matter was brought to me and I was informed that thinly disguised lotteries operated under other names. In each I unhesitatingly express my unqualified disapproval.

Dispensations were asked at the date of regular meetings will not be granted hereafter, Mr. Herrington said, unless the applicant lodge disclosed a "good and sufficient reason" for making the request. A Master of one lodge, he said, had obtained the dispensation without disclosing the reason for the request. It had afterwards been found, that some of the officers of the lodge had intended to the Master, that they could not attend upon the regular night as they were working on the shift.

Members Should Help.

Every member of the order should do his utmost in assisting in the betting about of a readjustment of economic conditions, Mr. Herrington continued, and in maintaining world peace.

"We may well be proud of the firm stand the British Empire has taken in its repeated efforts to maintain peace, and the outstanding object lesson brought to the attention of nations by the last 170 years of peace with the Great Republic to the south. It is not a significant fact, that where free Masonry has its truest footing there we find the strongest advocates for peace? Are we presuming too much in saying that free Masonry has played no unimportant part in establishing that splendid record.

"It is not, while we as a body owe allegiance to no political organization we must do our part in National or International problems and we firmly believe it to be the duty of each and every one that we have implanted in the hearts of hundreds of thousands of Masons upon this continent an abiding faith in God, patriotism, in truth and justice."

R. E. Hodgins, Toronto, Grand Treasurer, presented his report, which showed total receipts $250, 500, and a balance of $33,707.

HUSTINGS ARE DIFFERENT TO ROPED SQUARE

Columbia, Conn., July 20— Gene Tunney has found the political hustings vastly different from the ring.

"In facing a man like Dempsey, I knew what my opponent was coming from," he said yesterday in his maiden speech as a Democratic campaigner." But in facing a crowd you don't always know just where you stand."

Hold Grain for Dollar Bushel! Cry of West

TOLNA, N.D., July 20.—Across the prairies of North Dakota, expected to produce one-sixth of the United States' wheat output this year, is heard a chorus—"Hold the grain for one dollar a bushel."

If sponsors are successful, the cry will be taken up throughout the United States. Fell Willis, Tolna farmer, is chairman of the organization which has stirred the farmers in more than 400 North Dakota townships to pledge against selling wheat, effective August 1, unless and until the dollar level is reached.

"This period of low prices finally has brought us to a position where it is either sink or swim," Willis said. "Now let us get together and put a fair price on our product. We will set the price and hold our wheat until we get our price."

Organizations are perfected along township lines. As producers sign an agreement, it is dropped with the township board. Certain farmers are designated to see the pledge is adhered to.

80 YEAR OLD WOMAN SAVES GRANDCHILD

Sharon, Ont., July 20—A grandmother in her 80th year saved her baby grandchild from the flames which destroyed a farm house near here last night.

Mrs. M. Baker had been left in charge of the house in the absence of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Jones, and the child-her grandson had been playing with matches outside the house and the matches fired straw which started a blaze in the premises. Mrs. Barker made her way out of the burning house, carrying the baby.

The property loss, not yet exactly estimated, will exceed total several thousand dollars.

SAME OPENING AS FOR HOUSE

Governor General Will Arrive in State and Salute Given

OTTAWA, Ont., July 20.—Parliament Hill tomorrow will witness an ancient ceremonial enacted in accompaniment to a totally unfamiliar function when all the conservances ordinarily associated with the opening of a session of Parliament once be transferred to the Imperial Conference. Guards, pageantmen, equipped to the last boutcase, gorgeously arrayed in scarlet and gold, limes and the whole throng phantily crowned by towering bearskins, will be drawn up confronting the main block of the Parliamentary buildings. All the purpose of paying compliments to the Governor General.

Somewhere on the hill will be a battery, so that the arrival of the Earl of Bessborough may be heralded with the appropriate number of guns. Meanwhile, gaily uniformed dragoons, the sheen of their lances reflecting the sunlight and their plumes and horse-tails flirting to the breeze, will escort His Excellency to the Hall of Parliament.

Words such a gallant pageant will the Conference be formally opened.

BLANKETS IN CHILL AIR OLYMPIC TOWN

Los Angeles, July 20—Athletes of the world are getting a cold reception in the Olympic village, and it is the climate, not lack of hospitality.

Motor Boat Stalls in Storm Passengers Swim Mile to Shore

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 20.—J. F. Willett and D. Wright had a rather nerve-racking experience when they were forced to abandon a cabin cruiser and swim a mile to shore near Goulais River following the failure of the boat's engine to function. The rock-bound shore of Lake Superior at this point presented the cruiser being run ashore and it had to be left riding at anchor while its crew made a bid for land. Willett and Wright dropped both anchors and for a time allowed the boat to ride out the storm. There being no sign of help and with no tender the two decided to attempt to reach shore and town, where the necessary engine part could be obtained. They accordingly went overboard and struck out for shore, which they finally reached. They walked through the bush to the road, where a passing motorist gave them a ride to the city.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED OVERGERMANY

Von Hindenburg Moves With Military Precision in Riots

100 DEAD

Berin, July 20—(AP)—The German government, with old time military precision, moved swiftly this morning to establish a virtual dictatorship in the huge state of Prussia and to clamp down martial law on the city of Berlin and the surrounding industrial area.

Chancellor Franz von Papen announced compliance of Prussia and Lord Mayor Franz Bracht of Essen was named Reich Commissar-assistant and given the dictatorial power. Dr. Wolfgang Popitz, under Secree of martial law was issued by Dr. Karl Severing, Prussian minister of interior, declined to say if the President's first emergency decree was the last or whether he would yield only to force.

Alexandria Bay Scene Of Fatality as Blast on Boat Claims 7 Lives

Nine Injured in Premature Exploding of Blast

VALLEY SHAKEN

Motor Boats Hasten to Scene as Drill Boat Sinks

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y., July 20—Seven men were believed killed and nine were injured late Tuesday at Chippewa Bay when a dynamite explosion on the drill boat America blew the boat to bits, and shook the St. Lawrence Valley for miles around.

A ton and a half of dynamite which had been stored aboard in a drill-hole on the rocky bottom of the St. Lawrence River exploded prematurely, hurling men, machinery and splintered remains of the 150-foot drill boat high into the air.

Craft Disappears

When the smoke and flying wreckage cleared, the America had disappeared from sight. Only floating timbers and planks appeared. Upon them a handful of survivors dragged themselves to await rescue.

Many believed the explosion of the tanker on its way to the Great Lakes, where life preservers were overboard, witnesses said, then preceded on her way, leaving the work of rescue to the fleet of motor boats which scurried out from among the many thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence.

Sixteen men were at the scene of drilling operations in the American channel, about two miles from the American shore at Chippewa Bay, when the explosion occurred. Chippewa Bay is about six miles from Alexandria Bay.

Seven Bodies Sought

Those for whose bodies a diver was searching as darkness fell tonight were:

Arnold Freeman, aged 25, Alexandria Bay, driller on No. 2 drill, which had just finished packing the dynamite.

Joe Stuarisca, aged 24, a "dynamite man", also believed to be from La Salle.

William Aikin Sr. aged 44, Alexandria Bay, blacksmith's helper.

Injured in Hospitals

The nine injured were in hospitals at Ogdensburg, most of them suffering from shock, bruises, crushed and legs broken as the explosion hurled the deck of the America skyward together with the drill crew.

The injured: Vincent McLean, aged 21, Alexandria Bay; Henry Chavers, aged 36; Thomas Lee, child aged 24; William Aikin Jr., aged 24; Rowland Russell, aged 26; Dewey Russell, aged 24; Ivan Rush, aged 25, all of Alexandria Bay; Donald Raddatz, aged 20, Alexandria, believed to be from Washington, D.C. and William McLear, aged 33, Chippewa Bay.

Reports that another man, Nelson Young, address unknown, had been injured, were not verified. Russell was most seriously injured and may die.

The America, owned by the R. D. Huffman Construction Company of Cleveland, was removing rock from the channel for the government, and of local citizens and summer residents of the Thousand Islands

BOY'S QUIET SMOKE SETS BARN ABLAZE

Tobermory, July 20—When two boys tried to have a quiet smoke while the adults were away from the farm, Wesley Belrose lost his barn.

Mr. Belrose was in town at the time and Mrs. Belrose as a neighbor, one of two of the younger boys decided to try manufacturing a few cigarettes. They secured machine sat down at the rear of the barn to light their "fags". In a few moments loose straw had become ignited, and before help could arrive the entire building was in flames. No animals were in the barn at the time, but a quantity of hay was destroyed. Mr. Belrose will feel the loss keenly at this time as there was no insurance.

hurried to the scene in automobiles and motorboats, drawn by the commotion which thundered down the valley at 4 o'clock, as the hour shifts were changing.

Reports of the explosion was not known, but as the injured were brought ashore, one survivor said he thought the "loader", used for packing the dynamite in holes, fell on the cap, which would have discharged the dynamite later when the boat had been towed to a safe distance.

Sydney Brown, Deseronto, fell from a tree while employed by the Department of Highways fracturing numerous small bones in both feet on Tuesday morning.

Brown has been employed by the Department as he is an expert tree trimmer. He was pruning trees along the Bridge road west of Deseronto, when he slipped out of a tree falling to the ground. Brown landed on his feet and later fell prostrate to the ground.

Who's Going to Stop Cat Yowling? Some Pester Dog Catcher With Job

Stray tom-cats and tabby-cats about the city who have arched their backs, cleared their throats and attained new and fuller heights of nocturnal yowlings, under the light of the summer moon, have occasioned some distress to east side residents of the city who have sought relief from the midnight serenades by telephoning calls to the official dog catcher Mr. Thorne. Where they expect Mr. Thorne to do about stilling the midnight revels on the fence tops or kitchen sheds is not quite clear, or whether it matter really comes under the head of his official duties has not been very clearly defined. Suffice it to say that complaints have been lodged, batteh rez of the matter will probably come under the heading of unfinished business. Cats are cats wherever they happen to be.

Tourists Unable to Get Into Camp As Crowds Linger Upon Band Music

The Belleville Municipal Band held another concert Tuesday evening in Victoria Crescent, East Dundas street, with the usual large crowd present in the city and many cars. During the intermission Bandsman Fred Burke sang a best solo in his usual fine voice, The music of the band was of very high standard.

The time limit for the road east of the camp was blocked with cars while the extensive entrance throughout the program was unavailable for any tourist seeking admission. Just why the management should select this spot for a concert or practice is a question when so many more places are available. Tuesday evening several parties of tourists had to go elsewhere to find lodgings or a camping site for the night. For two hours each time the band plays there camp sites are out of the question and tired motorists either have to wait, or go elsewhere; while those who have camped for the night have to put up with the noise from them and a constant blare of applauding auto horns.

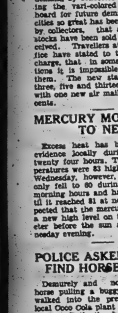
Consistent catches of bass of all sizes have been reported by the party who claim that that particular section of the bay is ever run will all sizes of the fish.

PHILATELISTS ARE AFTER ISSUES



Enthusiastic philatelists in the city have so far been the chief customers at the stamp wicket in the local post office for the new issue of stamps, which have recently gone on sale. Struck in honor of the imperial conference, the issue will be limited which explains the demand by collectors who are buying the vari-colored stamps in board for future demand. In other cities so great has been the demand by collectors, that all available stocks have been sold as fast as received. Travellers at the local office have stated to the clerk in charge, that in some western sections it is impossible to procure them. The new stamps come in three, five and thirteen cent issues, with one new air mail stamp at six cents.

MERCURY MOUNTS TO NEW HIGH

Excess heat has been quite in evidence locally during the past twenty-four hours, Tuesday's temperatures were 83 high and 55 low. Wednesday, however, the mercury only fell to 80 during the early morning hours and had soared until it reached 91 at noon. It is expected that the mercury will attain a new high level on the thermometer before the sun sets on Wednesday evening.

POLICE ASKED TO FIND HORSE OWNER

Demurely and nonchalantly, a horse pulling a buggy wandered into the premises of the local Coca Cola plant at noon Wednesday. Both the horse and the buggy seemed to be in the very best of condition but their owner could not be found. The horse seemed to be quite contented to back away from the company and nibbled away on the grass adjoining the premises of the Coca Cola plant. He was notified of the wandering horse and buggy but even after did not find the owner of the one horse power vehicle.

PERSONABLE LITTLE PUP LEFT IN BACK YARD

A personable little pup, part collie and part police dog, walked to a claimant of a new owner at the city pound. The mystery of the little animal's descent, and the description of the manner in which he was found on the back door step or a home on Victoria Avenue, just a few doors from Front Street, at three o'clock Tuesday morning. Tuy whimpering, which had been heard by a sleeping lady years attracted the attention of the owner who had finally made an investigation of the premises. Upon the back door step sheet piece of rope. He was cold and hungry, and evincing sorrow with loneliness and fear of the dark. The remainder of the night was spent in the home and in the morning the animal was turned over to Mr. Whitcher, the dog catcher, by some boy who had been ordered to get rid of the pup. Had he failed to have it adopted by leaving it in the yard so early in the morning.

PARKS CROWDED DURING HEAT WAVE

Heat waves which danced and shimmered over softening asphalt pavements and city lots, rolled green grass and other foliage in outlying sections, unrelieved by any cooling breezes which have so far this season tempered the heat of a low hanging sun, sent children scampering to parks and bathing beaches in the city, Tuesday, and mothers to accompany them, as they danced and perspired over the hot stoves and the second hottest day of the season. Wednesday was in like fashion, meter at the pump house at the 83 degree mark during the early part of the afternoon, Tuesday, fell just six points short of the record for the hottest day of the year. The 17th day of June was the hottest, with a mark of 89 then gradually climbed at a minimum, none having been reported at 5 o'clock Tuesday from observers offices. During the evening the humidity of the day, which had not been unlike a January of the smaller residents of the city to visit their favorite public under the whirling blades of countless lawn sprinklers on hundreds of lawns through which sprayed over one half million gallons of water over and above pumpage registered the day before. Until well within the night the park piety groups still continued to play over sopping lawns.

OWNERSHIP TO BE DECIDED

Interesting Case Heard By Judge Madden of Napanee

An interesting trial was heard in the County Courthouse here Tuesday before His Honour Judge Madden of Napanee The plaintiff, Mr. R. Graham, brought action against the defendant, Mr. George N. Simpson, for the sale of three transformers, that were erected on a platform supported by poles and used for motors in connection with the property on Aileen Street formerly owned by the Judge Jones Milling Company and subsequently by Belleville Milling Company Limited. Certain property was sold by Mr. Graham to Mr. Jones and the question of ownership of the transformers is to be decided by the Presiding Judge. The plaintiff contends, that the transformers were sold or conveyed and that they were chattel property. The defendant contends, that they purchased from the Trustee in bankruptcy of the Belleville Milling Company, Limited, all the property of Belleville Milling Company Limited, including the transformers. The plaintiff contends, that the Trustee in Bankruptcy could only sell the assets of the Belleville Milling Company. The defendant contends, that although the transformers were served by the plaintiff in the sale to Corp by was in addition to 50 h.p. transformer for the three in question and as the plaintiff failed to substitute the new transformer the three transformers passed to and although the sale to the Belleville Milling Company.

The defendant has said that the claims of the plaintiff are barred by the statute of limitations, the claims having been made by Mr. Graham since April 1932 until the fall of 1931 when after the defendant had sold the transformers.

The case lasted all day and after argument of Counsel, His Honour Judge Madden reserved judgment.

R. D. Preston, K.C., appeared as Counsel for the Plaintiff and C. A. Masson, Q.C., as Counsel for the Defendant.

COVER TREES WITH CLOTH

Birds Blamed From Loss in Cherry Crop

Robins are robbing local cherry orchards and destroying ripe fruit hanging from the loaded limbs, by the bushel. But robins alone are not the chief offenders although they constitute one of the greatest pests cherry growers have to contend with; there are also, starlings, crows, blackbirds and scores of other specimens of bird life, which are doing their best to make life miserable for farmers as well as orchardists. What to do with the winged thieves is something, which has given many residents of this section much time for thought Possibly one of the best solutions to the problem of protecting the fruit on the smaller trees has been thought out by pon Prince Edwardite. On a farm near Bloomfield several cherry trees have been fully covered by yards of cheese cloth. In other sections where wild fish nets have also been used to good advantage.

SYMPHONY PROVES SUCCESS IN BRASS

Montreal, July 20 (CP) — The enthusiastic applause of some seasoned music lovers has been vouchsafed Maurice Ravel's symphonic poem "Bolero," which only a few seasons ago was a novelty on the programs of the Boston Philharmonic and Boston Symphony Orchestras.

The Bolero was re-scored for brass band by Leo Ornstein, Organ, conductor of the Grenadier Guards and played in Lafontaine Park as part of an all-French programme in honor of Montreal's French colony celebration of the anniversary of the storming of the Bastille, the "birthday of modern France."

The modernistic French composer's work did not arouse the usual sympathetic patter of applause of the disgusted audience which often has been its reception, but instead, brought delighted cheers. First performances of the Bolero by a brass band in America was claimed for Mr. Gagnier by knowing musicians.

It was a venture to re-score the work and a decided mark of courage to play it in an open bandstand before an extremely mixed audience. The audience, as first hailed and then a little intrigued by the persistent and almost monotonous mono-rhythm of the drums, were stunned into appreciative silence as the conductor caught the lilt of the thing and boomed forth a magnificent crescendo.

In the opinion of many hearers—and this was a revelation—the work appeared to better advantage in the brass medium than in the original orchestral scoring. The colorful effects of the wood and brass passages, naturally, showed to much greater effect in the band arrangement and although the finale lost some of its lyrical intensity this was recouped in dramatic strength.

COALFAX BRINGS CARGO OF COAL TO THIS CITY

Deep-toned whistles warning lighter-craft out of the channel, lights flickering fore and aft, the little tugs puffing and straining at chains on deck, mingled with the busy shouts of longshoremen and the clanging of bells in the engine room as the vessel slid into the docks at the south end of the city once more gave the impression on the water front of pre-war activities as the steamer Coalfax, loaded with coal, again made port early Tuesday morning. This week the crew of the boat are busy unloading the heavy cargo which was ordered for a commercial concern in the city.

Parley to be the Spirit Of Good Cricket Eleven Says Hon. S. Baldwin

"Don't Care Tuppence Who Makes The Runs"

VICTORY SEEN

Everyone to be in Agreement For Good of Empire

London, July 20.—(CP)—Certain agreements already reached may be announced early in the proceedings of the Imperial Economic Conference, according to a report from the two representatives at Ottawa, given great promise by the Daily Telegraph today. The agreements are said to concern trade policies between Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand.

Ottawa, July 20—The spirit of the Imperial Conference is the spirit of a good cricket eleven. We don't care tuppence who makes the runs as long as the team wins through."

In these words, as typically English as the championship game he cradles, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the British Cabinet, and head of Great Britain's delegation to the Imperial Conference, yesterday summed up his hopes and confidence in the final outcome of the great gathering which opens here Thursday.

Mr. Baldwin and Rt. Hon. James Thomas, British Secretary of State for the Dominions, sat at one end of a long room at His Majesty's Laurier House yesterday afternoon and talked for one hour and a half to 60 newspapermen, representing newspapers all over the world. It was the biggest "mass" interview that Ottawa has ever seen.

Mr. Baldwin declared he "dared to think" what it would mean to the Empire if no more than that what other nations would think of people of English speech the same language talked to agree at a meeting as this."

Determination to Succeed

The determination of the British people to make the conference a success was strongly expressed by Mr. Thomas. He dwelt on the tremendous potentialities of the gathering and spoke of lifting the present world-wide lack of confidence. In one of his sayings so characteristic of him, he spoke of the world as being populated with "down-and-outers" so insidious was the psychology of the depression.

This gave Mr. Baldwin the lead for some of the banter with which the two frequently lightened the seriousness of their message. Watching his colleague on the arm of the ex-Premier declared: "Down-and-outers? But we've never suffered, you and I."

"I was just going to say we're the only exceptions," returned Mr. Thomas amid the laughter of the newspapermen.

Broad, thick-set Stanley Baldwin, who looks as British as John Bull himself, opened the interview while bespectacled "Jimmy" Thomas sat, pulling away at a pipe, crossed his legs and his thumbs in front of him, leaned back and gazed at the fur ceiling. Down either side of the big room and clustered in a group at the far end were the newspapermen—Canadians, Australians, English, Irish, Scots, South Africans, Australians, French, Danish and what else. Pencils poised, paper ready, they leaned forward in anticipation.

Carefully setting his tobacco tin on the table in front of him, Mr. Baldwin began. He filled his big cherry-wood pipe as he talked. "Well, gentlemen," he started, "I suppose you are glad to have a look at us. We're glad to have a look at you. I hope you'll all notice the English correspondents. They've proved us through fire, over the sea, through collisions, everything. Usually these big interviews open with an embarrassing pause during which the interviewers could get their brains set for questions while the interviewed stands around and wishes himself a 100 miles away. Not so with Mr. Baldwin. He began right on talking; covered all the ground he wished to cover made it plain he could say no more and quit the thing through his own nonchalant fashion.

"The last time I was in Canada I made 21 speeches in 18 days," he said. "This time there will be no speeches. We came here to confer, to get things done. Apart from that, for me to attempt to say anything about the conference now would be very bad taste. I am a guest of Canada and until I hear what the Prime Minister of Canada has to say as to the scope of the conference, it is impossible for me to make any comment or utter any criticism.

Glad Parley at Ottawa

"I am extremely pleased that this conference has been called at Ottawa. There never was an Imperial Conference approached in this one is and for two obvious reasons. Firstly, Great Britain never before was in the position to negotiate in which she is today. Secondly, there never was a conference held when the whole financial, trade and industrial position of the world was seen in so terrific appearance as it is."

Mr. Baldwin then emphasized the responsibility of the press in portraying the conference to the world. "This conference," he said, "ought to be far above parties and personalities. It cannot succeed if those considerations intervene and a successful conference we must and we know we have got by the blueprint."

He again stated that he could not say more "until the Prime Minister of Canada has given the lead to which we all look forward." Mr. Bennett, he said, would probably be chairman of the conference.

"We are proud," he continued, "to deliberate under his presidency. We have the greatest regard for Mr. Bennett and we are anxious to see more to him. We have the greatest confidence in his ability to preside over this conference."

Thomas Carries On

Smiling, Mr. Baldwin remarked that his colleague, Mr. Thomas was "very anxious to speak than himself." He stopped speaking and turned to the Dominions Secretary.

"Well in the first place," remarked Mr. Thomas, "this conference needs no speeches."

"The last debate anything has done that," commented Mr. Baldwin amid laughter.

Mr. Thomas proceeded to follow up a statement he had released earlier in the day on the Irish question. As the statement said, he would not discuss that matter at any time during his stay in Canada. He warned newspapermen that it would be wasting both his time and their own to try to question him on it.

He felt that he had a special responsibility at this conference because of his participation in the 1930 gathering in London, where Mr. Bennett made his 10 per cent. Empire preference proposal. "I'm not going to suggest for a moment that that conference was a success," he continued. "But the fact that I am here, at this adjourned conference, representing no party, is the best evidence that we are determined to make this a real success."

This conference he said, should be made a great example to the Dominions at a time when there was depression. The Dominions had felt it, but he ventured to say that the basic wealth of Canada, as serious as it has been, was nothing to the trial through which England had come in the past three or four years.

Indomitable Spirit

The remarkable support given the economy program of the present British Government, Mr. Thomas said, was an indication of the "indomitable spirit of the race." The moral," he said, "is that this people capable of making such sacrifices and meeting them in so cheerful a way, a people with those traditions and character cannot be put down at this conference, and we are not going to let them down."

Like Mr. Baldwin, he brought cricket metaphor into his description of the spirit of the conference. "We all feel, we all bat, but there is no other side," he said. "There can be no victory against any of the Dominions. The victory of the Empire as a whole is all we shall consider."

CAPLIN SWARM NFLD. WATERS

So Heavy in Places Impossible to Handle Them in Nets

St. John's, Nfld., July 20 (CP)—Caplin are swarming in many harbors along the coast in such quantities as to starve even the oldest shore fishermen. In the vicinity of Harbor Grace they have schooled so heavily that it has been impossible to handle them in the regular cast-nets. Instead of schooling a few inches deep, as usual, they have been found headland, and dip nets are used to land them.

Reports from outports have been received by the farmers during the last few weeks than they had landed during the last five years.

Premier Frederick Cahanis said that these little fish have schooled at heavy that hundreds of barrels already have been taken and are lying in carbosis, skiffs and rodneys bob up and down on the headland. Arm up the fishermen reap the harvest. The headland is lined with spectators who delight in watching the antics of the fish along the shore in shallow water.

ARMED NET IS ABOUT REBELS

May Bomb Rioters From Air With Fleet of Planes

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, July 20.—(CP)—The Government's land, sea and air forces built a ring of steel tonight around the rebel São Paulo State Tuesday night and were reported preparing to open up an aerial bombardment.

Six federal airplanes left the aerodrome at Campo Affonsoto reconnoiter over the enemy lines in São Paulo, which is in rebellion against the dictatorial regime of President Getulio Vargas.

Officials announced the fleets were prepared to bomb rebel held strongholds, but the front line correspondent of the newspaper A Noite reported that plans for a bombardment had been made.

The Government, however, desired to delay bombardment as long as possible, because of the great danger the lives of many civilians and undoubtedly destruction of valuable property if the rebel headquarters in the centre of São Paulo City were bombed.

100 troops of the capital were outlined to barracks awaiting orders to move to the front and the Government claimed to have 45,000 in the field.

Naval troops occupied the strategically important town of Formoso formerly held by the rebels, and the Government claimed it would be impossible for the rebel movements to spread through the federal network of arms. Rio Grande Do Sul and Minas Geraes, the states most likely to join the uprising, remained loyal despite rebel claims to support, the Government announced.

GEORGIAN BAY CLAIMS BODIES OF 3 CAMPERS

Presumed Canoe Upset While Boys Move to New Camp Site

Parry Sound, July 20—Three Toronto boy campers are given up for lost as a result of the discovery of the body of one of the party, drowned in Georgian Bay, near here late Tuesday.

The remains found are those of Andrew Mackenzie, aged 16, of 178 Foreman Avenue, Toronto. His companions, who the police believe also to have perished, are Jack McMillon, aged 21, of 198 Monterey Avenue and Lasalle Doughty, 30 years, of 33 Brownlow Avenue.

On July 1 the three boys hired a canoe from Donnelly's boat house here, announcing that they were going on a paddling and camping trip of at least one week. Their first stop was to be Two-Mile Point, near here.

That was the last officially seen of the three. The police learned to-day, however, that the boys spent a week at Two-Mile Point and then moved on to Lasalle Doughty, presumably for another tenting spot.

Late to-day two brothers, Leonard and Gordon Parry, Parry Sound, heading in their fishing boat from Point au Baril, saw Mackenzie's body floating near Spruce Island, 14 miles northwest of here. They took charge of the body and sent word to Coroner Dr. H. E. Lambert, Provincial Constable Treganza of Parry Sound.

The body was clothed in sweater, shirt, trousers and boots, but was partly decomposed, and James Logan, to whose undertaking morgary here it was brought by the coroner estimated it had been in the water at least a week.

Canoe Presumably Upset

From the location where the body was found the police are convinced that the party of the three boys, heading from Two-Mile Point to a new camping site at Three-Mile Bay, had paddled around Parry Island, through the Whirlpool Channels and toward Spruce Island, where the canoe presumably upset in a storm and where Mackenzie's body was found.

REVIVAL IN WORLD TRADE DUE IN 1932

Prince of Wales Makes Announcement at Dinner

IS CONFIDENT

Happier Era is Just Around Corner is Expressed

LONDON, July 20.—(UP)— The Prince of Wales said Tuesday night that he believed this year would witness the first move toward the world's return to better times.

Speaking at the West African dinner, the Prince said he hoped trade recovery was not far distant, and added:

"It is my belief that 1932 will be welcomed by the world as a year to happier and more prosperous times and a great revival of world trade."

DICTATORSHIP FOR RUSSIA

Federal Commissioner Will Have Autocratic Powers

Berlin, July 19—There were indications Tuesday that Prussia, the largest state in Germany, would be placed tomorrow or soon thereafter under the jurisdiction of a federal commissioner with dictatorial powers.

Chancellor Von Papen today summoned Karl Severing, Prussia Minister of the Interior, and Heinrich Hirtsiefer, Minister of Welfare, for a conference at which tomorrow's the greatest importance is attached.

CHOLERA EPIDEMIC BREAKS OUT IN CHINA

Washington, July 19—The U. S. State Department has been informed that cholera epidemics have broken out in Tientsin, Nanking and Shanghai, China, with nearly 300 deaths reported and more than 2000 cases.

The advices were that up to June 11 there were 2000 cases reported in Tientsin, including at least 35 deaths, all in the native hospitals.

FLORENZ ZIEGFELD'S HEALTH IS POOR

Hollywood, July 19—Florenz Ziegfeld, New York musical comedy producer, was declared by his physician to be in a "very serious but not critical condition" yesterday. Alarm was expressed by his wife, Billie Burke, actress, who ordered him brought to a local hospital from a desert sanitarium, where he had spent several days. Ziegfeld suffered an attack of pleurisy several weeks ago.

Belleville Could Easily Be Rid of the Panhandlers

Perfect accord with recent statements by the Ontario Government that Belleville had become an "easy mark" for itinerant panhandlers who adroitly ply their trade of garnering stray dimes and quarters from gullible residents to whom they spin their hard luck yarns, all the while they keep a sharp lookout for the policeman on his beat, was voiced by Chief of Police Kidd, today, coupled with a request for closer cooperation on the part of residents with the police in an effort to rid the city of this pernicious nuisance.

"With the help of local citizens who are being fleeced by these gentry we could clean out the city of these undesirables in a day," declared Chief Kidd.

The panhandler is dressed above the average of the ordinary man out of work. He gives the impression of being a casual tourist, and he is careful to keep the illusion up. They rarely stay in the city more than one day and are very careful, while they are at work not to be seen by the law, declare local police. All this acts to the advantage of the panhandler. But the people of this city can do much towards clearing them out. How? Simply by calling a police officer when they are approached for money. In a week Belleville will be cleared.

Montreal, July 18. —The gross revenues of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending July 16, 1932, were $2,661,838 as compared with $3,376,189 for the corresponding period in 1931 a decrease of $714,542.

It is estimated that in this country about one family in five moves each year.

Unprecedented!

2nd Week	402,000 increase

TOO GREAT CLEARNESS

Rev. A. Robert George of Manchester, England, preached at St. Paul's Chapel, Columbia University, New York, claiming that the clergy talked too much. "The greater the question the less use there is for logic or even the dictionary," Iowett, the great Grecian said to Asquith when he was recovering from an illness, "We must believe in God in spite of the clergy'." Rev. Mr. George's view is that there are questions in religion which cannot and must not be answered plainly.

He contended that the "high theologians have done a good work in unearthing true historical facts and the circumstances of religions today," but added that the great resultant danger is to look upon Jesus as merely a great lay figure. "I despair of people who always demand lucidity in statements about Jesus. Only clever little people are running up to demand 'What is God?' The only way to arrive at a complete concept of God is through a lifetime of devotion. It is not wish to lead to obscurantism, but I do challenge impertinence. Ministers who glibly answer such questions are better fitted to be accountants who can easily label and quickly put things in their appropriate places."

Mr. George is weary of clever people who answer difficult questions with a prescription for the easy levelling of the difficult path. In summing up his message he said, "So the answer to the question as to the nature of Jehovah, whose most beloved attributes are as Father and Shepherd, will be vouchsafed to those who partake of the nature of children and sheep. Even the stupidest sheep has the enviable faculty of knowing his master and can follow him."

C.N.R. PRESIDENCY

With the resignation of Sir Henry Thornton as president and general manager of the Canadian National Railways, closes one period of public ownership of the transportation system. Thornton was brought here in 1923 by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, then Premier, to take charge of the system and for ten years after brilliant success with British railwhich won him knighthood he has controlled the destinies of the C.N.R. under the Government.

Into his place steps Samuel Hungerford, a man who has been vice president for many years and has the entire system at his finger tips. The country is fortunate in having a man of his experience to handle the system for the present time as acting president.

The decline of prices and the untoward conditions of the past four years have been reflected in C.N.R. earnings and have provoked contentions of extravagances in regard to certain departments of the railways and led to the opening up of the entire transportation problem by a royal commission.

Sir Henry's parting words in his letter of resignation praise the esprit de corps and loyalty of the officials and other employees of the railways. Belleville remembers his visit here on one occasion when he was entertained as a special speaker at an important gathering. Cooperation of every employee towards the progress of the C.N.R. was his theme on that evening. The words of parting pointed to the success of this co-operation in spirit of all who work on the rail lines.

His farewell also notes the view of an executive that a man in his post should have the entire confidence of the owners of the line.

"I feel that the successful operation of this enterprise can only be carried on if the country as a whole is heartily behind the management, and in view of this and the possibility of the government wishing to consider other lines, I feel that in order to give them a free hand, I should submit my resignation." It is possible for anyone to read between the lines at this point.

OLD LONDON

Old London is still growing, its gain in the decade from 1921 to 1931 being 723,000 persons, or nearly ten per cent. The increase is less than that of the previous ten years and twice the percentage of increase for the same period for the entire British Isles.

Thanks to some influence legislative or sociological, the overcrowding has fallen from sixteen to thirteen per cent. This means that with the increase in population the slums are not increasing but rather decreasing. Standards of living have therefore progressed.

Old London tells the world of the present and the past something new. Growth of large cities has almost inevitably been accompanied all through the ages with increase in poverty and slum conditions. Modern sociological science has in Britain taken a good root and the results are evident.

THE WORK OF SUMMER
By Edgar A Guest

Comes summer to the world its work to do,
To bring fruition to the tiny seed;
To strew the earth with all that man may need;

To give the apple cheek its crimson hue
And the rich stores of golden grain renew;
To toil with patience, with certain speed
Without complaint o'er large or trivial deed,
And run in service here its brief course through.

I sometimes think that summer seems to know
It shall not live to see its tasks complete.
It lays its glories gained at autumn's feet,
And is content in having labored so,
As some tired father when his time is done,
Who leaves to those he loves the treasures won.

FOLKS WHO PARK their cars on, at or near a railroad track need not be surprised if the car vanishes while they are doing a bit of shopping. Car with Toronto license was found parked too near the railroad track on Pinnacle street, near Dundas, Saturday morning and was removed to a safer place by the police. Some time after a woman appeared at the police station and reported her car was missing, giving the license number she was informed the car was under arrest. "What in the world for?" said she. For obstructing the track of the Canadian Northern Railway was the response. "My goodness," said she, "I thought that was a factory siding, or something, and not seeing any train traffic thought the car would be all right there while I visited the market. According to the police parking cars on Pinnacle street in front of the market on Friday is a frequent occurrence, and the big locomotives which come down are liable to carry away part of the motor car body.

FRANKO GOLDMAN'S BAND plays open air concerts several times a week in New York City on University Heights and in Central Park. This is the splendid musical organization with a talented leader. VICTORIA PARK is looking its best as far as Nature and the Park Board gardeners can make it, but a little paint would go a long way toward improving the Senator Corby Memorial Building which is suffering from neglect in the matter of necessary repairs. The railing on the grandstand will soon be a thing of the past, and the railing over the bridge is sagging in a drunken manner. Another thing not conducive to the beauty of the park or the health of those who frequent it, or the city generally is the open sewer that is clinging to the shore near the park entrance. This should be cleaned up at once before it becomes more of a menace than it is.

"Oh, nothing," replied the boy; "only I was wondering why you kept the cakes locked up just the same as you did before I went to Sunday school!"

Other Papers' Opinions

TOO BIG; TO QUICK

A timely editorial appeared recently in The Saturday Evening Post which deserves the attention of our own people just as much as it does that of the American public. We have been barraged with the same sort of "too big" nonsense on this side of the line ad nauseam. We need to do this and we must do that and we must do the next thing if we would be big. Sometimes it is put if we would be a "nation" and then it ever stops to ask the creator for the time being what he means be a "nation" and just what benefits nation would be realized and his dream come about. The needs of "progress" the Dominion, the province, the municipality or the town is asked to commit itself to this, that, and the other thing without anybody inquiring just what "progress" means. We are implored to "boost" and in many cases means to picture things as they in reality are not and this is done on the Coue system, in the hope that if a thing is said often enough until everybody comes to believe it, it will bring about the hoped-for result. There is a grain of truth at the bottom of it, but the grain is more than covered by the trouble which it often brings to bear. "To the amount of self-deception can change eternal fact. Something leads to something and both may lead to bolstring," says the Post.—Halifax Chronicle.

DAIRY EXPORTS

Further proof of the British attitude in favor of Empire trade is found in the latest figures for the exports of cheese and butter to Britain. The Empire Marketing Board in a recent report, showed that in the year 1931, exports of butter from Canada to Britain increased by four per cent over 1930. And in 1930 there was an increase of twenty-two per cent over 1929.

In the report on cheese exports to Britain, the report says that Canadian butter in 1931 reappeared on the British market on a considerable scale for the first time since 1926. Exports to Great Britain from Canada had practically dried up since the war, but last year the Dominion sent about 150,000,000 pounds of butter overseas to the Mother Country. Added to this is the fact that Canada's exports of milk powder to Britain have increased steadily, and have been doubled since 1927.

These are indications of the trend of British buying of food products. In both cheese and butter as well as in powdered milk, conditions are turning in favor of the dairy farmers of Canada. This is worthy of encouragement. The Imperial Economic Conference pointed possibilities of developing this trade to an even greater extent than at present. And, since so much of the prosperity of Canada, and of Ontario in particular, is bound up with the dairy industry, every possible effort should be made to meet British's desire for markets for manufactured goods and in exchange for that even greater exports of dairy products may be absorbed into what is the world's greatest market for these products.—Oshawa Times.

A SILLY CUSTOM

It is about time that the silly custom of plastering a bride with confetti is done away with. Sensibly it is carried to extremes, and such was the case in London on the other day, when a friend (?) threw a handful of confetti into the bride's mouth, choking her to the unconscious. The result might have been more serious.—Aylmer Express.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

Alberta is congratulating itself that never before, since the province became a province, have the prospects for a heavy crop been more promising than they are today. Saskatchewan and Manitoba are very similar. If all goes well, as in doing now, the crop prospects in this province have the same prospects before them and the people are content and happy. Almost every locality has been revisited by the accustomed rains and the outlook is for more yet to come.—Regina Star.

THE PRIMARY PRODUCER

For the first time the Canadian manufacturer has had a sympathetic home to him that his prosperity depends basically upon the purchasing power of the Canadian primary producer. For the past 25 years have had a graphic, and terrible, illustration of what inter-dependence of Canadians and of the fact that a discouraged and impoverished West would mean a discouraged and impoverished Canada. And once the realization that the farmer and the lumberman must be prosperous if manufacturing is to be a patronize Canadian manufacturers become general, half the battle is over.—Calgary Albertan.

PAN HANDLING

When Police Commissioner Allman went for a stroll in the street of Chicago and noticed that the importunate beggars he ordered a round-up, with the result that one of the "panhandlers" taken was found to possess $35,000 in cash in the bank, and others confessed they made from $20 to $36 a day. The discovery is interesting for the reason that other cities are infested with like professional beggar, who ply their trade in boom times and in days of adversity. The public should avoid encouraging the worthless one.—Montreal Gazette.

HOW TO MAKE WEAK ARCHES VERY STRONG

Weak Arches May Cause Pain in Calves of Legs

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.
Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

Weak arches may cause a variety of symptoms. One of these is the foot gradually loses its curve, producing the familiar flat-foot condition. However, such flattening of the instep, due to separation of the bones and loosening of the supporting tissues and tendons, may not always make the sole of the foot actually flat, as is ordinarily conceived it.

The disordered arch may also cause pain in the calves of the leg and feet, cramps in the backs of the thighs, or general discomfort when walking or when standing for long periods, or nervous disorders within the pelvis, especially among women and any one of these conditions may arise in the feet are flattened.

The best way to determine whether an arch has definitely fallen, so to speak, is to make an imprint of the sole of the foot. This may be done quite simply itself. For a few seconds the individual stands on a blotting paper, then he stands on the floor. The imprint will tell the story. The advanced cases the space between the fat pads, underneath the instep, will be filled in. The main dry on the inner side of the foot, where, normally, the muscle presses down flat on the floor will be found to curve upward. The foot—the normally raised part—is not raised or curved upward, as it should be.

Sometimes only one foot has a weak arch. The blotting paper method in these cases will show the difference in the two feet in prints of the feet. Another way is to make outline with pencil around each foot while standing on a flat surface, the feet next to each other and parallel. Usually the outline of the weak foot will show differences, especially in the front third toward the toes. One must not, however, jump to the conclusion that all pains in the feet or legs are due to a fallen arch or arches. Some inflammation or irritation of the nerves may be to blame, a rheumatic condition or one of neuritis. In these cases the nerves in the legs and thighs are often tender under slight pressure. There should some sort of rheumatic affection be suspected if the joints, ankles and knee joints are swollen and tender.

To make weak arches stronger, certain exercises may be practiced in fact, its wise for everybody to do them. Stand erect and walk about on the balls of the feet with the heels raised. Turn around, tiptoe fashion. Standing that way for thirty seconds at a time also helps strengthen the feet off the ground and lowering them again ten times twice a day, is also quite excellent.

Another exercise for overcoming or preventing weak arches is to stand both feet flat and keep them so, normal, while standing, say ten or a dozen times morning and evening. Then you find your feet or legs ache from standing, relief standing still and with the feet flat, rotate the feet, moving the soles facing each other, for a few seconds every now and then.

Walking barefoot on grass and walk with the toes turned outward, is also helpful. Don't overdo this, however. In some cases strapping the feet with tape adhesive, or taping up a better arch is often beneficial. In such cases, the entire back part of the leg must be left free from strapping, however, so as not to impede circulation.

In severe cases of weak foot, fallen arches and pain, special work with the toes turned outward, is of Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond's value. In some cases strapping the feet with tape adhesive, or taping up a better arch is often beneficial. In such cases, the entire back part of the leg must be left free from strapping, however, so as not to impede circulation.

Having made what many predict was his valedictory as an active player, Rogers Hornsby, one of the greatest infielders of all time, has turned the job of winning the National League flag over to his youngsters.

The Rajah, dissatisfied with Stanley Hack's play at third base after Bill Jurges was laid up with gumshoe wounds, stepped in to play the bag, but after listening to the Chicago fans for five days decided to return to the cooling confines of the dugout.

In the last four games he played, the once powerful batsman collected only two hits, and his fielding was a thing of the past. When he made two errors Monday and failed to handle several chances properly, he must have made up his mind. Today he is on the bench, and Manager Charley Grimm, slightly Burleigh Grimes, waiting to do an expert job of relief pitching.

Rajah Gives Self up.

With the youthful Hack back in the line-up yesterday and the batting order jiggled, Cubs took a close one from the Giants, 5 to 4, and a well played game on the leading Pittsburgh Pirates, who were splitting even with the Phillies, that left the Chicagoans only two games behind.

Although he fumbled one chance, Hack turned in a creditable day, two hits and scoring twice, including the winning run in the last of the ninth. Guy Bush pitched him across with the clincher after the Giants had tied the count in their half.

Bill Swift pitched the Pirates to a 8 to 2 victory in their first bout with the Phillies. It was his seventh straight, but the eastern delegates came back to take the nightcap, 6 to 5, in 11 innings. Phil Collins won his own game in the 11th when he tripled and scored on Bartell's single.

Ed Brandt was in top form and the Boston Braves knocking Cincinnati a little decoy on the side, 7 to 0. Red Lucas allowed the Braves only seven hits, but they were to children. The St. Louis Cardinals, after being held to one hit in the first inning, beat Watty Vance from the box in the seventh and defeated Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 2.

American League

Playing without the injured Babe Ruth, the Yankees took their fourth straight from the Chicago Sox, 8 to 5, with Lefty Gomez handing up his 16th victory. The Washington Senators celebrated "Sam Rice Day" by dropping their third in a row to Cleveland, 3 to 2. Catcher Ray Hayworth singled across two of the Tigers runs and scored the third.

Wess Ferrell yielded only four scattered hits as the Detroit Indians blanked Boston 7 to 0. Ferrell thus chalked up his 11th victory which it tops for both leagues. The Philadelphia Athletics slipped out two decisions over St. Louis, 9 to 8 and 16 to 5. The Browns have lost 10 straight.

ANOTHER STAR OF THE BASE-BALL DIAMOND

One of the most picturesque southpaws in the Major Leagues is "Wild Bill" Hallahan. He earned the nickname from his ability to put the ball any place in the field but where he was asked to put it. He came into fame and fortune when he won two games for the St. Louis Cardinals in the World Series. Before graduating to the Major League ranks, he starred in the International League, and now is considered to be one of the finds rankers of the game on the mound.

CURRENT SPORT
Knocks and Boosts

Tommy Fedder, Belleville's only professional Hamilton representative last week to join Johnnie Walker's training camp at Rouge Hill, this side of Toronto, Tommy Fedder, an unknown amateur made a remarkable showing in the big C.N.E. swim held last fall when the writer was considered good enough for marathon swimming. Walker watched Fedder that year and was quite impressed with the Belleville lad's showing under, such severe conditions as enrolled at that time. Walker has taken Fedder under his wing and the lad, although he has been training quite regularly here, will be an opponent of the best swimming athletes that can be obtained in Canada. Fedder has plenty of ability and stamina, all he seems to lack is a little confidence in himself. This failing may be overcome by Walker's connection with other swimmers while in the Walker training camp. Fedder's progress in the swim world will be keenly watched by all local sportsmen.

Coach Chummy Gerow of the Belleville Victorias, announced yesterday that he intended using both Archie Campbell and Art Adams of last night's Intermediate fracas against the Canada Cement club in the Victoria park baseball grounds on Thursday night. Coach Gerow has authentic information to the effect that both Campbell and Adams are eligible to play for the Vics as far as the O.B.A. is concerned. The acquisition of these two Tweed players will add considerable prestige to the local Intermediate as Campbell always has had excellent baseball while pitching for Sulphide in the old Trent Valley loop and he commanded the admiration and respect of all Intermediate batters in the league annually.

The return of Jeff Hardill to pitching duty in Peterboro brings back to the Electrics a player who, some six or seven years ago, one of the most feared hurlers in the C.O.B.L. It has already been noticed that poor handling, rather than inability, was the downfall of the elongated Peterboro right hander. A few years ago, when but 18 years of age, Hardill had 40 that was reckoned as a pitcher, natural ball and plenty of control. Although Hardill has been out of senior baseball for several years and also admitting the fact that he made a rather poor impression at Cobourg last Saturday, we believe that were he placed on a catcher like Penney Mills the self-same Hardill would prove to form and literally stand the present day C.O. B.L. batters on their ears. For some unknown reason Hardill seems to have lost his confidence but, if he ever regains it, well, some Central loop team will be in for a fine trimming.

In a recent O.B.A.A. bulletin it was announced that the winner of the C.O.B.L. would meet the winner of the West Toronto senior league, of which Oshawa is at present leading by a large margin. On paper this selection looks to be a break for the Central loop winner. For years past the C.O.B.L. winner has drawn about the best team in Toronto in the first play-down series. Oshawa, that is to say the present players comprising the "Dukes", never set the Central loop on fire when they were members of the old league and it is a well known fact that the present West Toronto senior league is nothing to write home about in the Toronto loop. This selection of the winner of the C.O.B.L. to meet the winner of the West Toronto league should be welcomed news in Eastern Ontario.

Manager Lena Blackburne of the Maple Leafs, speaking to the members of the O.B.A.A. executive the other night, made the very pointed remark that would be helpful to Central loop fans. He says he noticed all the amateur pitchers walked to the plate without the least fear to receive the ball from the catcher and then would assume the same distance behind the rubber, step unconcernedly and then proceed to the box. In the majority of cases the pitcher out, spoils his control and adds possibly thirty minutes to the game, slowing it up and making it bad from a spectators' standpoint as well. He advises, if any pitcher cannot find it they had charge up about a foot, pitching from that spot. Lena also advises that they step off the rubber and take the return ball and step back on again, thus conserving their strength and speeding up the game. He also stressed the time taken by these pitchers, pointing out that he did not think that one game within the twenty seconds allowed by the book for delivery and catching of the ball around the infield if every pitcher did this, also leading to slow up the game. Although the winning of the game had no bearing on the league standing the Yonge-street Crystalaces of the local junior loop defeated the Maple Moose 3n 11 to 5 by the score of 16 innings. Reverend Langman not only buried a swell game for the Leafs' mates but also was that big hitter with out of five times at the bat. Dewitt Thomas, Rigby, Churchill and Hamilton all collected two hits apiece. "Lefty" Flander was on the mound for the "hedge boys" but it was not his day and Reg. Wade had his offerings for 12 hits. The Moose kids only managed to get five hits from the offerings of Langman. No Moose batter collected over one hit during the entire game. Cisco took up on Thursday evening.

BROWN HURLS ONE HIT GAME AGAINST KEYS

Second Pitcher in International this Season to Turn Trick

NO GAINS

Clubs Made Practically No Advance in Games Played

(By The Associated Press)

Walter Brown, Montreal right hander, has been one of the International League's outstanding pitchers all this season so far as dependability is concerned and today he had a new bit of glory to add to his distinction of being a pitcher, who would win if given any sort of chance.

After ploughing through half a season with a record of 13 complete games out of 20 contests, ten victories in 18 decisions and having about one hit an inning chalked up against him, he dropped out yesterday and hurled a one hit game against Reading in about as neat a bit of hurling as the league has seen all season.

Although the International League has seen a good many fine mound performances this season, Brown was only the second hurler of 1932 to get a no-hit game the full nine inning route. The first one to do it was Joe Cascarella of Jersey City.

The victory did not go far toward helping the Royals to get back into the pennant race. The first two clubs in the standings both lost but Baltimore and Rochester, Montreal's nearest rivals, came out ahead.

Baltimore's Orioles crept a game closer to the second place Buffalo Bisons by pulling out a 4 to 3 decision over Buffalo twice came from behind with big rallies in the last innings. Al Shealy's smacked Rod Lisenbee for three singles and a double in the 10th to decide the fray.

Rochester landed the league-leading Newark Bears a second straight defeat, 5 to 3, by pounding Johnny Welch and Al Shealy for nine of their 11 hits and all their runs in the first two innings. Al Eckert, who started for the Red Wings, was relieved by Welch in the eighth and Dell Wetherell finished.

Art Smith gave Providence a good pitching and good batting and the Lasts defeated Jersey City 7 to 4. Smith got his fifth victory, made two of Toronto's 13, batting hit one run and scoring another. The Skeeters contributed four errors to their defeat.

JEAN STEWART PITCHES WELL

Allows 12 Hits and Defeats Belleville Fruit 12 to 9

Displaying a quality of pitching that is seldom seen in girls' softball, Jean Stewart, hurling the local National Maids to a 12 to 9 victory over the Belleville Fruit nine at the Armouries last night. Although the Fruit lassies nicked Miss Stewart for 12 safeties control in the pinches spent defeat for her rivals.

The win for the Maids fortifies them well in first position and while the Belleville Fruit club lost, they are still one half a game back of first place and the second position in the league. Norma Cooks started on the hill top for the Fruit Girls, but was pulled in favor of Tiny Lewis after the Maids collected eight runs in the fourth and fifth frames. For the first three innings the scoring was all the Maids but later they broke out in a rash of hits that counted many runs.

Helen Smith was the big hitter for the losers collecting three hits one being a homer. Rene Dracup hit for the second most, while Agnes Galna helped herself to three hits out of five times at bat. Doris Thrasher with three hits, one being a homer, was the big hitter for her team, Jean Stewart and D. Rowbotham also hit for the circuit.

Wednesday night the Cobourg Allstars meet the National Maids at the Armouries down in a big exhibition tilt while the Maple Leafs play Cisco back up on Thursday evening.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1.—Please give me the correct form for acknowledging wedding gifts. Does one ever begin: My dear Mr. and Mrs. Blank:?

2.—How are the acknowledgments signed?.....

3.—Is this the correct form for signing a letter when one is married? Mrs. Grace Doe (Mrs. Frank O.).

4.—When staying at the same hotel at which you dine, is it proper to wear evening clothes down to dinner? Does the man wear a tuxedo? If not, would a Tuxedo be incorrect?

5.—Is hat always worn at breakfast and luncheon?

E. C.

1.—The best form is to begin your note of thanks: Dear Mrs. Blank, and then, in the body of the note, include the husband in your expression of thanks. Something like this:

Dear Mrs. Blank:

It was most kind and thoughtful of you and Mr. Blank to send us such a beautiful wedding gift. The silver candlesticks are quite the loveliest that I have ever seen, and already in our new home plans we have given them the place of honor.....

2.—The bride-to-be signs her own name to her notes of acknowledgment, but, as I have indicated above it is natural for her, and gracious, to include in her note an expression of appreciation too from her husband-to-be.

3.—No. You do not write the Mrs. in the direct signature. This is the correct form:

Yours very truly,
Grace Smith Doe (or Grace Doe)
Mrs. Frank Doe)

4.—Yes, if the hotel dining-room is a rather formal one or one in which formality is appropriate, wear evening dress. If you wish to be less formal, wear a dinner dress or a "dressy" afternoon dress..... either without a hat, of course.

If you are dressing with strict formality, the man wears evening clothes, tail-coat. If less formal, he wears dinner jacket, Tuxedo and so.

Generally speaking, it is the best thing to change for dinner, the woman wearing a dinner dress and the man a dinner jacket. This shows social accustomedness.

5.—Yes.

SHOWER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been invited to two showers, both of which I shall be unable to attend, on account of other engagements. Now someone has told me that I would be expected to send a gift whether I go or not. Is it necessary that I do this. Even if I am not attending the shower? Please tell me the correct thing to do in this case.

It is indeed not necessary that we send a gift to a shower when we are unable to attend the shower or about sending a gift to it, this proviso about attending a shower or about sending a gift to it, if we do not attend.

Of course if the bride to be is a very dear friend of yours and you really wish to send a gift, that is another matter.....then of course it is correct to send it. But it should be sent only if you wish to send it.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on good manners submitted by readers.)

MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA RE-PORTS PROGRESS

For the half year ending June 30th., The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada with Head Office at Waterloo, Ont., reports an increase in total assurances in force of over Seven and a Half Million Dollars ($7,500,000) thus maintaining the steady progress of over sixty years of business in Canada.

The net surplus earnings realized for the year to date is over ninety-six per cent of the business for the same period of 1931, and in practically every province the Company's proportion of the total life insurance issued in the respective provinces by all companies is considerably higher than a year ago.

The Company's Officials attribute this satisfactory showing to the efficiency of the Branch Office staff and Field representatives, the educational programme carried on by the Company in preparing its representatives to give sound advice to new insurers and faithful service to policyholders and to the wide philanthropic support of the Field Staff and their effect in securing the continued progress of Canada's first and oldest mutual life Company.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Sid Hunt took a walk out to the park Saddday afternoon, and when we got there Sid had his ratch him.

Presently some man sitting on a little stool painting the scenery on a easel, and me and Sid stood there and watch him paint. I was wondering if it was as easy as it looked and finally I got up my nerve to ask him different questions, me saying, Wont it be hard to paint a moving bird than what it is to paint a bird that was standing still?

The most difficult bird to paint are the ones that are flying around with their legs crossed, the man said.

Being a kind of a fat man with a big mustache, I took him for a artist, and after a while Sid said, Well hay, mister, if you waited till winter time wouldent it be easier to paint the snow because all you'd haff to do would be screw it on instead of having to paint it all to carazi like you do the grass and stuff?

No sir mister I generally lay my canvas down flat and let the snow fall rite on the same spot, he said. It saves me a lot of money in white paint, he said.

And he kept on painting, and I said, Wich cries the quickest, mister, the bird or the man in the picture?

That all depends, the man said. And he took out a cigarette and lit it with one hand with his cigarette lighter while he kept on painting with the other hand, and I said, What's it depend on? It depends on weather I leave them out in the rain or put them under a shower bath, the man said, and pretty soon I said, Well O, mister, is it hard to be a artist?

It's the easiest thing in the world, all you need is 10 times as much branes as you 2 kids have both together, multiplied by 200, the man said.

Proving he had prooberly been making fun of us all the time, me and Sid wawked away with a expression as if we was tired of watching him anyways.

Wich we was.

SEVERAL NEW HIGHS MADE

Recover From Tuesday's Reaction And Make Advances

Toronto, July 20—Recovering fully from yesterday's reaction leaders on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market resumed highs the current movement appearing in forenoon trading. General list was firm, with gains scattered throughout the various groups as midday.

McIntyre, establishing a new high for the year to date, moved up 60 to 3.85 on good turnover. Dome equalled its previous 1927 high at 12.40, up 40 from last night's final, and Lake Shore gained 25 to 29.25. Teck-Hughes recovered 5 to 84.15 and Wright Hargraves was steady at $2.30.

Lower priced golds were relatively inactive, but Granada advanced 1 to 80. Sisco, a couple to 74 and San Antonio, Manoana and Thabeikon record small gains.

Normanda was in good demand from the opening and when taken showed a net gain of 84 to 87.25, a new high for recent months. Silver were quiet and dominular rise, fractionally higher, showed 50 only change in the cheaper oil section.

SMELTERS UP FOUR POINTS

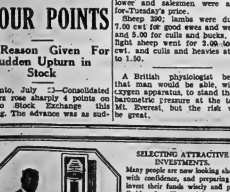
No Reason Given For Sudden Upturn in Stock

Toronto, July 20—Consolidated Smelters rose sharply 4 points on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. The advance was as sudden as it was unexpected, nor was there any accounting for the action of the stock today other than pool operations. Apart from the usual shares, which were not again in the market as at a standstill.

Bell Telephone, C.P.R., Brazilian, Page-Hersey Tubes broke off slightly but encountered no important selling. Dominion Bridge and Hamilton Bridge were both firmer and Goodyear Tire common advanced a couple of points. Oils were slightly unchanged. Nickel, opening slightly lower, moved up to last night's closing.

In the bank section, Bank of Montreal dropped another 10 points today, making a reaction of about 35 points in two days. The stock sold at 185 this morning. Bank of Commerce was off 2 at 138, the other unchanged. Trading in this group was very light, however.

LIVESTOCK



TORONTO, July 20.—Cattle 440; lambs 1,000; calves 100. Trade was dull and slow, opening prices a shade easier on early sales. Choice butcher cattle sold from 3.75-4.00 with commons downward to 3.50. A few good steers and heifers at 3.50 and 3.75. Fed claves were about 6.00 and 7.25 according to quality. Butcher cows were mostly at 3.50 for top.

Sheep 300; calves were 50 cents to 1.00 cwt. lower for the week. Choice calves sold at 6.00 to 6.50 with common vealers downward to 2.50. Grass calves sold mostly at 3.50 cwt.

Hogs 710; No hog prices were established up to 11 a.m. when they were lower and sakemen were asking one-Tuesday's price.

Sheep 390; lambs were dull at 7.00 cwt for good ewes and wethers and 8.00 for culls and bucks. Good light sheep went for 7.00 to 7.50 cwt. and culls and heavies at 1.00 to 1.50.

A British physiologist believes that man would be able, without oxygen apparatus, to stand the low barometric pressure at the top of Mt. Everest, but the risk would be great.

SELECTING ATTRACTIVE INVESTMENTS.

Many people are now looking ahead with confidence, and preparing to invest their funds wisely and profitably. It will certainly pay you at this particular time, to consult a reliable firm, who have had years of experience. Sound information is yours for the asking, in both stocks and bonds.

ADVANCES ON WALL STREET

Steadiness of Bond Mart Lends Courage to Stock Buyers

(By Claude A. Jagger Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, July 20—The advance in the stock market was quietly resumed today, as traders took courage from the continued steadiness of the bond market and the quiet drying up of liquidation in shares, which appeared Monday.

The turnover in shares remained small, but those reacting to retire their commitments found nearby offers to meet them, and prices quickly rose a point or more in several of the leaders. There was some recession from the best in the middle of the day, but the list stiffened again in the early afternoon.

Shares rising a point or more included Johns-Manville, American Can, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas, Bowden, Case, American Tobacco, Liggett, Myers B, Brooklyn Manhattan, Public Service of N.J., Auburn, Santa Fe, and Union Pacific. U. S. Steel was up a fraction. Penney and McKesport were isolated gain spots, off more than a point.

The meeting of the railway executives amounted to dismiss measures to unchange the situation of the carrier was weighed with considerable interest. While most investors feel that only a substantial pickup in traffic will serve to halt the rising tide of deficits on a lasting basis, it is acknowledged that much could be done to help the railroad economies, both individually and co-operatively.

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

COPYRIGHT 1931-BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

She never knew that Tony spent half a year's salary buying the place for her. The Trocadero Opera company did not pay its sopranos, it slowly dawned on her, and she never knew that she had to put down an additional fifteen hundred for costumes.

Uncle Eph's estate—that meant the curly, gnarled wool shawl that used to grace on Lone Mountain....door, darling Uncle Eph....paid for eight hundred of it. She scraped up the rest.

It wasn't a very successful season. Toward did little more than break even, she was mad with joy to get back to Robin—too big to be called Butchen now—beginning to totter around on his little fat legs, and to say things that nobody but she and Jim, Jr., could quite understand.

But she went back for another season, and when at the end of two years touring Texas and disbanded the company and retired to eat spaghetti and polenta in a cosy flat on Seventeenth Street—second street, she had sung fourteen stellar roles and kept her figure.

It should have been easy to crash the gates of the Metropolitan—but somehow it wasn't. Just the theme, and a few operatic parts which, she sang with charm and delicacy, of which nobody took any notice. Thanks to Tony, she was creating something of a sensation since he had been made one of the conductors, she had no difficulty in getting well paid engagements. She sang with a symphony orchestra in a tour of the southern states, then a season with a fashionable Fifth Avenue church, and then signed for four weeks at a movie picture theatre up town.

Nobody—not least of all—had expected her success at the theatre. It had been a lucky chance for her to make some money. She applause frightened as well as surprised her. Her mind had been so set on opera ....had she been wrong? Should she have worked for crumbs, leder songs? Or was she hoping for too much, and was she just a cheap singer of popular ballads?

Some of this she confided to Tony. He shook his head. "No", he said, "you are an artist, Lily, and when the artist sings, or plays the world listens. It does not matter where. No artist should really think himself good until he has made a living on the corner passing the hat—"

"I almost came to that, when I first came here in New York!"

"And I did. And when I played my fiddle the people, they stood to listen. They didn't like it as much as when they pay, because the people, they like to pay big price for what they like, but they listened, and they put the pennies into the hat, and the ten-cent pieces sometimes the quarters in my hat!"

After the theatre engagement she signed a contract to sing at one of the more fashionable night clubs, because it was late enough not to interfere with her opera appearances.

Taking a leaf out of Nahlman's notebook, she capitalized a dramatic entrance. The first number was always something showy and spectacular. She wore a white lace gown with lacquer red slippers, and the ermine wrap lined with lacquer red chiffon that Madame Nahlman had given her, later ages ago.

After the first number she threw aside the wrap, and the grand opera manner, put the pasts and ruby tiara somehow relic of Nahlman's generosity, on the piano, slipped off her bracelets which she wore, again after the style of Nahlman, banked neatly to her elbows, and sat down and played her own accompaniment to one of the ballads she had sung at the moving picture theatre. After that she asked if there was anything anyone wanten particularly....any old song ...my opera aria? The old trick of memory. The gift of playing and singing by ear if need be.

It was a success. An overwhelming success, indeed, and the proprietors mentioned her in the most republican dailies. Two of the best magazines had had full page portraits of her. Lily Lou Lansing, who just was pretty and blonde and singing....thing.....anywhere....anytime:....

CHAPTER XXIII

"You'll ruin your voice, you darn fool!" Cwin wired her from Long Island.

"No you won't" Tony said, "not while you keep true to your method and don't force it."

And after that it was easy, so easy—that it never again seemed hard.

She was singing in the chorus of Madame Butterfly. In the second act, Rose Rose de Rocco, who was singing the title role in spite of a fine lyric soprano voice, showed her self unable to continue. They hustled Lily Lou into the costume, told her what to do and she did.

She waited, cold and a little weary, in the wings, while the announcement was made. Heard the subdued hum of voices. Heard little indignant murmurs of the disappointed, who were leaving, down front, somebody said.

Her mouth have unnerved her a year ago. It did not matter so much now. Tony, in the orchestra pit, was conducting. Robin was home with Gwin, God only knew where. ....

Almost from the first she knew that the audience—that is, she left of it— was with her. She didn't have to throw herself into the part, she WAS Butterfly, waiting, believing, despairing, giving up at last.

"Bravo!" someone shouted from the gallery.

Tina brought Lily Lou the morning papers, while she was still in bed. She turned to the drama pages saw the headlines....Turned away, a little sick with the excitement. After five years.....after she had almost given up....Success.....

Young Robin, glowing and happy, after his early morning play in the park, opened the door a crack came running to the bed to throw his arms around her and to "Make Indian"—just a minute, only a minute. I promised Tina I would play, only a minute with you!"

She pressed his cold cheek against hers, hugged him until he squirmed.

"Let's play, mother-er—Let's play!"

So she submitted to being scalped, and they hunted for scouts under the pillow. After that Tina led him away, and she turned once more to the papers.

But she knew what was in them. She'd known ever since last night, almost from the moment that she made her first entrance she knew.

"Lily Lou Lansing rises from the night clubs, to sing the second act of Butterfly..... a romantic figure young, slim, and beautiful, possessed of a rich soprano voice that soars effortlessly into the higher reaches—"

The telephone began to ring. Reporters came. Strange people to congratulate her. Strange agents with contracts.

"A wonderful piece of luck," Tony said. "Dramatic, do you see? In the midst of a dull season, the new prima donna—out of the night clubs! Of course you're no more out of the night clubs than I'm out of the Royal Navy, but it makes no difference. Well, there you are made, Lily!"

"Thanks to you, Tony—and Nahlman, and Gwin and my mother and my Uncle Eph, and all the others—"

"Nonsense, Lily! People can help just so much. After that—poof! You must blow up unless you have it—the spark—the flame—

"I don't feel flaming, Tony. Just tired."

He laughed, kissed her limp fingers. "You will rest!"

She laughed, too. "Of course!" But she wouldn't tell Tony the truth—that it had been too hard, that she was too tired, spiritually, to really care. Success was just life for Robin now, education, advantages. For herself, it was all over. She had accomplished what she had struggled for, and it was not worth while. Well, no turning back ...on and on....

She sang Butterfly again to a standing room only house, sang Violetta in Traviata next, sang it with all the frail charm of which Tony dreamed. Sang Mignon three nights later, with vivacity and brilliance, then Butterfly again.

New York was mad over her. Artists wanted to paint her, Advertisers wanted her to endorse vanishing cream, toothpaste, cigarettes, and waves bobbed.

"But she knows a dozen—two dozen roles!" Tony said. "She's just starting! Didn't she troupe for two years with Nahlman?"

She had, and she did. Revivals of old Favorites were promised, Lily Lou Lansing to sing Gilda, Lucia, Tosca!....

Lily Lou was almost twenty-six, but that's the way with it.

There was a special nurse for Robin now—a fat, motherly girl who knew how to read Tina was to be her personal maid. Robin kept his own apartment, though she had it alone now. Maxine Rochon had gone back to Los Angeles, Jean sort of got in pictures.

"Friends? Oh, yes. A star has friends. And cronies—Tony, half a dozen boy friends. Happy? Lansing one really happy, she asked herself.

Sometimes she thought that after all it might be simpler to marry Tony.

Still, she didn't love Tony. She didn't want to marry. It was just what she'd been working for, and she had been so good to her.

While she was trying to make up her mind there came the chance to go to San Francisco, as guest artist with the San Francisco Opera company. Three roles, Mignon, Traviata and Snow Maiden, for the last matinee.

She hesitated at first. It would be hard to go back, and there was really no one left to care very much whether she did or not. Tina ....but he never wrote.... May said that they didn't even know where he was, half the time.

There was the matter of Robin, too. She wouldn't make the long trip without him...and if she took him....

Well, what difference did it make? What could the world do to her now? Even if they did find out her position was assured and Robin's too.

She gulped.

"Robin, we're going out, west, you'll see your grandpa," she told him. "And your aunts, and your cousins ....."

Never having met them he was unimpressed. "Will there be Indians?" I would like a little Indian to play with!"

"I'm afraid not, darling."

"Then let's not go, mother. Let's go to Coney Island instead. Shall we?"

"I'm afraid it's too late to change our minds. I'm afraid we'll have to go out west, she told him, and she knew that she was sorry, she knew that she decided to go.

"Madame Lansing, Lily Lou Lansing ,youngest Metropolitan star, guest artist with the San Francisco Opera company, registered at the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco.

Lily Lou did all about it in the papers.

She read all the notices about Lily Lou Lansing. Metropolitan star, with an avid interest that was more than half impersonal. She never felt that it was really she. She wasn't the glamorous person she read about. She was just herself, Lily Lou, who used to live in Woodlake and had a broken heart once, and a little son now.

Still it was she! She had paid all the old Lily Lou's debts with the new Lily Lou's money. She would buy the pretty things she saw in shops. A pink shaded lamp in a gardenia's window—(. Her sister May would love it. All right! Charge it to Madame Lansing....

A smocked dress for Irene's little girl charge that, too.... Too bad that couldn't buy poor little things for Robin, but he was so boyish now, a tall, sturdy 5-year-old who knew his ABC's and could count, and wanted to go to school like the other boys, please mother-er!

CYRIL MAUDE'S FAMOUS SUCCESS AT THE BELLE

Wives!

What would you do if you caught your husband of two weeks kissing a pretty girl in a night club?

Would you retaliate in kind, by arranging to have him catch You in a similar romantic clip-up? Would you run and tell Dad first? Would you sulk? Or would you just crack it off with a laugh, consider that he is just a romantic-weakling, and gaily remark, "Aren't We Silly?"

The new Gertrude Lawrence farce-comedy, "Aren't We All?" is light-hearted in spirit throughout, even though there are moments when the domestic happiness of Margot and Willie seems to be heading for the rocks of open hostilities.

With a plot that is not too complex, but just hopped up enough to keep the interest at a keen edge at all times, this feature from the pen of Frederick Lonsdale, one of the more famous of today's writers for the American and British stage and movies alike, is delightfully fascinating vehicle for the intelligent talents of Miss Lawrence and her excellent supporting cast.

Directed by Cukor who knows the field like a master—Harry Lachman, the film comedy man, an opportunity to stimulate every laugh and romance-response an audience possesses, and who began at the bottom of the ladder in the picture career as an artist, has been awarded the Paramount-on-Parade for his outstanding work in this field. Later he turned the photography in his home town, Chicago, then returned to Paris. Among this time he became associated with Rex Ingram, and established with that famous producer in making "The Nostsam" and "The Garden of Allah," transformable scenes.

In addition to its rib-tickling and heart-warming propensities, this film provides authenticity of detail which will be appreciated by audiences. There are several very lavish scenes in the production, one of them in particular, opening night in a new cabaret, where much of the action takes place. The setting has been done in a grand scale.

In addition to this the program includes a comedy entitled "Jimmie's New Yacht," another of the interesting and entertaining travel talks "Meeting the Navy Gay," Belle Sound News" of latest World events and Organ selections.

Dreamware Tonight

Tonight each lady attending the theatre will be presented with a most dreamful dreamware, with the compliments of the Belle Management, this gift is well worth obtaining and cannot be purchased reparable after tonight.

Ann Harding in "Westward Passage" ends tonight and the large audiences at the Belle Tuesday acclaimed it as her finest picture.

At The Capitol

A HOUSE DIVIDED IS STRANGE DRAMA

Seth Law, a stern and tyranical fisherman living on an island off the bleak Pacific Coast, takes the body of his deceased wife to the mainland for burial accompanied by his son Matt. Seth quietly repels all offers of sympathy, and regards his son's sorrow with brutal contempt.

Immediately after the simple burial, Seth forces Matt to accompany him to Chinook Charley's Place, a rooming house "to make a man of him." Matt flees in disgust from the place and his enraged father knocks him down and carries him out on his shoulder.

Big Mary, Seth's hired girl, hates Seth, secures a copy of "Heart and Hand", a matrimonial magazine and eventually sends a ticket to Ada Paterson, who has advertised for a husband. Matt hopes that now he will be allowed to leave and become a farmer. He hates and loves Big Mary.

During Seth's absence on a fishing trip the girl arrives, but proves to be a frail girl named Ruth Evans, who has come as a substitute for Ada, already married as the result of her advertisement. She is immediately attracted to Matt, but is afraid of his father. He finally tells her that they will be married that night. The islanders are summoned and a drunken party begins, culminating in the marriage of Ruth which time a terrific tournament will be held in the afternoon to be followed by dinner and then the ladies invited to join the throng in the dance to close the function. It is expected that the ladies were agreed to the proposition and Belleville club will act as hosts to the gathering. Nothing better will stimulate the interest in the club and in addition, the tournament will offer opportunity of meeting and making new friends. It is an excellent idea and the directors are to be congratulated on their foresight.

Delightful Programme

Not only was the address at the luncheon on Tuesday well thought out and excellently prepared, but the members were treated to as fine a programme as has been given in some time. Mr. Ray Bigelow, director of the entertainment, which included solos by Miss Lorna Bigelow, solos by Mrs. Helen Hunt Allen and solo with violin obligato by these two artists, Leo B. Riggs in each case acting as accompanist. The numbers were a delight and it is to be hoped that other programmes of a similar nature may be arranged.

Bernard Collins presided as chairman with Charles E. Hanna as secretary-treasurer. Roll was called from everybody at the luncheon. Joe Imlah and William Rankin being assessed double fines for not occupying seats of honor. So enjoyable was the luncheon that they stayed after the luncheon, walking about the beautiful grounds while others took time off for a round of their favorite game. A vote of thanks for the day was introduced by Davey Davison, while Kiwanian Donaldson was expressed by Bill Logan.

Bring Canada Together

Mr. Bigelow stated that one part of Canada knew little about any other part, but with the nationalization of radio broadcasting different parts of Canada would be brought closer together. Mr. Donaldson, the speaker, "is anything connected with the receiving or transmission of radiant energy" and he would be a disastrous procedure to allow the radio facilities to drift into private ownership. Radio knows no boundaries, but the stations across the programmes, under the present scheme. The advertising is graded according to the greatest number of people and a list of good programmes are named by a committee. Mr. Donaldson concludes such programmes and intemperate advertising. Broadcast has been a good "racket" in the United States and would be the same in Canada, had not the government seen fit to place it in the hands of a commission, appointed by them. In newspaper advertising one is free to select and read the ads, but with radio one has to sit and take it for no matter where the dial is turned the advertising simply flows in."

"Under the system as mapped out by the commission" continued the speaker "there will be five 50,000-watt stations in Canada, situated one in British Columbia, one in Manitoba, one in Ontario, one in Quebec and one in the Maritimes, which at anytime can be hooked up by wire to give a trans-Canada broadcast. There is only one 50,000 watt station in Canada at the present time, that being in Montreal but they are only using 10,000 watts. It is proposed to have a 10,000 watt station in Northern Ontario and one in Western Ontario, besides a number of 500 watt stations with 100 watt stations for district use."

CITY MAY HAVE A 100 WATT RADIO STATION

Kiwanian Carl Read Gives Address on "Nationalization of Radio"

FINE PROGRAMME

Members Thoroughly Enjoy Luncheon at Country Club

Application for a 100-watt radio station to serve the needs of the district will be made by Carl Read and several signs is near fruition, according to information imparted by him at a luncheon of the Kiwanis Club held at the Bay of Quinte Country Club on Tuesday, when he gave an address on the "Nationalization of Radio." The commission appointed by the government has been interested by Mr. Carl Read and in the near future, it is confidently expected a radio station will be established in the city, which will serve the needs of the immediate vicinity.

So delightful were the surroundings at the Country Club and so efficiently were the members served that it was moved that the question of holding the luncheons at the club for the remainder of July and August, the motion being unanimously carried. Mrs. Law and Mrs. Bigelow are to act as hostesses.

Following the luncheon, the committee appointed by the governments

PANHANDLERS LAND IN JAIL FOR TEN DAYS

Police Determined to Round up Wandering Type of Men

HEAR COMPLAINTS

Trio With Bottles of Wine Are Picked up on Street

Three pan-handlers, who evidently listened to their wandering brethren tell tales of the generous folk residing in Belleville, drifted into town on Tuesday and are now in jail.

It is understood that they did a land office business for a short time in the metropolis in fact they "pickings" were so good that they decided to make an extended stay in the city. On the morrow, (Wednesday) they again started their rounds of the local streets stopping all and every one with the same cry, "Give us a dime for a cup of cawfee, mister?" They did a fairly good business in fact their proceeds were so great that they could celebrate the event by purchasing some wine. This proved to be their undoing.

Late Wednesday afternoon an American tourist reported to the police that a trio answering the described his wife when she refused to give them "a hand-out" on Dundas Bridge street. Sergeant Detective Tymach immediately ordered out the scene of the trouble and later arrested three men as they were working on East Bridge street.

John Kenney 36; Lester Jackson 36, and Hugh Barr 39; were the three taken into custody by the Sergeant. They had a parcel with them and upon investigation the detective found that they had three bottles of wine which they had purchased. The men were taken to the police station and locked up until Thursday morning when they appeared before Magistrate Ideal on a charge of begging on a public street. Each pleaded guilty and elected as spokesman and pleader, when His Worship threatened to send them to the penitentiary for two years, after hearing the evidence of Sergeant Tymach.

Later, after giving the "beggars" a severe lecture His Worship sentenced them to ten days at hard labour in the common jail. warning them that if they ever appeared before him again, he would send them to the penitentiary.

The local police have been instructed by "Chief" to arrest all persons of Belleville. With the result that Belleville should no longer be known as the "sucker town".

LEADERS WRECKING CREWS ARE SOUGHT

HIGH POINT, N.C., July 21.—Police moved today to arrest leaders of the "wrecking crews" which Tuesday paralyzed the manufacturing industry in high point and three other textile centers here.

Twenty leaders of the roving bands of unemployed and strikers which troubled the manufacturing districts, cutting off power and forcing a general shut down, had been jailed early today.

Warrants under which the arrests are being made charge inciting to riot.

IRON BAR IS FATAL WEAPON

Coroner's Jury Holds Man Responsible For Killing

St. Leon, Que., July 21.—A coroner's jury today found Alfred Gosselin, 46, criminally responsible for the death of Mrs. Joseph Valcourt of Louiseville, who was beaten to death with an iron bar last night.

Mrs. Valcourt was visiting a neighbouring farm to buy some butter, and was met by Gosselin along the highway when she encountered Coulombe at the front gate of his farm. According to Edouard Houde a neighbour, and other witnesses Coulombe talked to the woman and their voices were raised in what was supposed to be a quarrel. Houde said he saw Coulombe strike Mrs. Valcourt over the head several times with an iron bar.

The struck down by a few minutes later from a multiple fracture of the skull.

CENTENNIAL AT STRATFORD

Arrangements Made For Celebration July 30-31

Stratford, Ont., July 21—Thos. A. Edison, the late inventor of world renown, was once counted as a resident of Stratford, and the town is maturing for the city's Centenary celebrations, July 30 to August 3, as amusing incident in the inventor's career here is being recalled. Edison, then a telegrapher in the dispatcher's office of the Grand Trunk Railway, had rigged up a device, on which an alarm clock was an essential part, that would awaken him whenever a signal came over the wires. He left out the habit of sleeping while on duty and depending on his fellow-workers to awaken him. His device failed him and, as a result, a carload of valuable grain was scorched by only a stroke of luck. Before the wrath of his superiors could fall on him, Edison packed up, left the town, and, it is believed, never came back.

This city is making great preparations for the coming of a very similar number of old Stratfordites back to the city of their former residence and an elaborate program has been arranged for their entertainment and for observance of the centenary. The outlook is very gratifying to the committee in charge of the centennial.

"HILL" BATHED IN SUNSHINE AT OPENING

Nothing to be Desired in Nature or Art at Conference Opens

STIRRING MUSIC

Ceremonial at Ottawa as Imperial Delegates Meet

Ottawa, July 21 (CP)— Bathed in golden sunshine and kissed by kindly breezes wafted over Parliament Hill from the Ottawa River, the Imperial Conference opened here today.

The "Hill" today presented a setting for the inaugural session of the Imperial Conference that left nothing to be desired. Nature, reinforced by the hand of man offered a spectacle that will go down in history.

Hours before the conference was scheduled to convene, people began to throng the great square in front of the Parliament buildings. Dearly loved by a peasant, the hill stood to their heart's desire in the half-hour preceding the opening.

Guard of Honor.

Prompt at 10.40 o'clock the stirring music of the Governor-General's Foot Guards announced the arrival of the Guard of Honor, the Ottawa Militia Band leading, and, in spite of the heavy warmth, they suffering under their bear vitals, the Guardsmen marched up and took post immediately facing the buildings. No sooner had they arrived than the Governor in the Peace Tower trilled forth a programme of National airs.

Mounted Escort.

Only a few minutes remained, and precisely at 10.50 o'clock the mounted escort, with His Excellency the Governor General arrived the main gate. Their brass helmets flashing in the sunlight and their flattering pennons dancing gaily to the rise and fall of their chargers, the Dragoons trotted up the orientical driveway. A detachment preceding and another following His Excellency.

The Governor General had driven from Rideau Hall in State, accompanied by Mrs. Bennett, a selection of automobiles and reversing to the old time coach and four. Positillions in scarlet rode the high horses, while footmen, similarly clad, were perched in the rear of the carriage.

Home Salute.

The order of the guard of honor was the signal for the artillery-men stationed on the Victoria Tower to thunder out their salute; and to the accompaniment of the booming of positillions in scarlet rode the high horses, while footmen, similarly clad, were perched in the rear of the carriage.

Home Salute.

The order of the guard of honor was the signal for the artillerymen stationed on the Victoria Tower to thunder out their salute; and to the accompaniment of the booming of guns and the tinkling notes of the carillon, His Excellency entered the Parliament buildings.

Preceded by his aides-de-camp, Lieut.-Colonel Hamilton Hall of Lume, and turned left towards the Senate Chamber. Immediately inside the door for the Governor General's entrance, a table was set up in the opening and closing of parliament are directed towards the Sen ate.

Entry is Prompt.

His entry into the House was prompt to the second. Beside him walked Rt. Hon. Richard Bedford Bennett, Rt. Hon. R. B Bennett and His Excellency's Secretary, F. O. Lacaster. His entrance was the signal for all the members of the delegation to rise until the Governor General had taken his seat—in the chair of the Speaker of the House.

Belleville Scientist Discovers Causes of Toronto Diseases, His Findings of Untold Benefit to Crops

A Belleville scientist, Dr. Garvin H. Berkeley of the laboratory at St. Catharines, Ont., has made a discovery of utmost importance to the canning industry, that tomato mosaic and streak, the two most formidable enemies of the crop are carried by the seed. Dr. Berkeley and staff have been insisting that the seed was the seed of the trouble and have finally been able to prove the correctness of their views. It has also been shown has that the seed from a diseased plant need not carry the disease.

The result of the discovery is that disease can be effected by producing healthy seed and using special efforts to keep the plants free.

The laboratory at St. Catharines is one of the finest in Canada. Disease as a result - of using healthy seeds.

In making their findings the laboratory not only grew diseased plants from seeds but took the embryo out of seeds from diseased plants and inoculating healthy plants producing the mosaic in from 10 to 14 days.

Stewart's disease of sweet corn and Kent cucumber, a similar disease extent in Elgin. The disease causes a drying up of the leaves, which turn white, giving the appearance of a badly wilted plant. Cutting at the base of the stalk will under pressure produce a yellow bacterial ooze.

Dr. Berkeley went to Kent County and identified the investigation of the outbreak.

He is a son of Mr. Berkley, 282 Ann street.

Shortly before noon on Thursday the Belleville police were informed by the police that the two stolen automobiles, one from Smith's Falls and the other from Brighton.

The car taken from Brighton was supposedly driven by a man, who gave a Brighton motor car dealer the name, Howard S. Croan who said he lived some nine miles north of Brighton. He drove up in a car and later making a deal with the garageman drove away. He gave the dealer a ten dollar pressure story about being a cattle buyer and was to return and pay for his car. Croan disappeared and the automobile dealer now has laid a charge of obtaining a car under false pretenses. The car is described as a 1931 Ford coach, bearing the markers of No. 26641 and is green in color.

High Constable Saves Women Long Walk to Their Home

London, July 21—Like a knight in shining armour, High Constable A. J. Wyman rescued Sir Gallahad to two penniless Windsor women yesterday. The pair of middle-aged woman had started out from the home of a friend in this city where the husband of one of them is in the hospital, only to learn that his condition was very serious.

After visiting the husband the two women were about to start the long walk back to Windsor when Constable Wharton learned of their predicament. The Windsor women, without money, took Sir Gallahad a good deal of the twenty miles from their home in London with an automobile until in a passing automobile. Undaunted by their wrong turn they were about to begin the long trip homeward when the high constable left a hand.

Canada Offers Increased Preferences to Great British Empire Over All Britain and to Dominions of the British Empire

Bennett Tells Delegates at Imperial Conference

Determine Plans to Continue Empire Leadership

NEEDS OF TODAY

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin Speaks in Hopeful Spirit

BENNETT CHOSEN

Recognizes Advantage in Mutual Cooperation in Trade

Ottawa, July 21 (By The Canadian Press)—On behalf of the Canadian people I welcome you. This is a proud day for Canada, for in its capital city are gathered delegates from throughout the British Empire, empowered to speak for one-quarter of the earth's population and instructed to co-operate in determining a plan by which this great empire may continue its leadership among the nations. This assemblage is unique in history—among all other assemblies of history. At no time have we been faced with greater need for unselfish and concerted action. At no time have the prospects of achievement been more certain," said Premier Bennett, calling the chair at the Empire Conference today.

World Out of Gear

"We meet in days when the world is out of gear. International finance has broken down; the old-fashioned industrial life is broken; we have grow accustomed has undergone a change. We move toward a new economic order of things. Our part in fashioning it depends in large measure upon the outcome of this conference. Since the prosperity of each depends upon that of all, we have been witness to the efforts made in many countries throughout this time of trial to recover the happiness and peace which, despite intervening troubles, we yet should claim to be the birthright of us all. And these heroic efforts, as each they failed or but in part succeeded or, do not on that account commend themselves less warmly to us. They merely serve to show that recovery is beyond the strength of

PAY HOMAGE TO WAR DEAD

Simple Ceremony in Memorial Chamber of Peace Tower

Ottawa, July 21—(By The Canadian Press)—Simple but expressive in the extreme was the ceremony carried out in the memorial chamber of the Peace Tower at Ottawa, on the first formal act of the Imperil Conference—that of paying homage to the glorious dead in the Great War—was performed, when the delegates laid at the altar of remembrance by the heads of all the national delegations.

The last to come to the stone stations of the empire deposited their wreath was Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Premier of Canada.

Briefly and in low tones, Mr. Bennett told the delegation heads that the memorial chamber was memorated the Canadians who died in the Great War and those who had died subsequently of the wounds, and they numbered 68,000. They were, said Mr. Bennett, part of that vast army of citizens of the empire who were buried in 15,700 cemeteries through out the world.

A prayer for the success of the conference was then read by Mr. Baldwin.

New Page in History Now Being Written at Ottawa Says King George in Message

OTTAWA, Ont., July (Canadian Press)—The Governor, General read the following message from the King to the assembled delegates at the opening of the Imperial Economic Conference today.

"My thoughts and prayers are with the delegates of my governmental who are gathered in conference today. To explore the means by which they may promote the prosperity of the peoples of this great Empire.

NEW PAGE OF HISTORY

"At this conference you are opening a new page of history, on which, within a few weeks, will be written the record of a determined effort to solve grave difficulties weighing so heavily not only upon us, but upon the whole world. If is my earnest hope that when this conference rises there will be a record of results worthily reflecting the initiative, the sincerity, and the spirit of helpfulness with which, I feel confident, your deliberations will be actuated.

"The British Empire is based on the principle of co-operation, and it is now your common purpose to give the fullest possible effect to that principle in the economic sphere. By so doing you will set in motion beneficial forces with the British Commonwealth which may well extent their impulse also to the world at large. I pray that you may be given clear insight and strength of purpose for these ends.

"GEORGE R. I."

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S WELCOME

The speech of the Governor General opening the conference, was as follows:

"Having delivered to you His Maesty's message, I now have the privilege, on behalf of the government and people of Canada, of welcoming to the Capital city of this Dominion those of you who come from overseas.

"My government appreciated very deeply the cordial manner in which other governments throughout the Empire have accepted their invitation to send representatives to Ottawa, and I know well that, from coast to coast, all Canada echoes that appreciation.

"You come here, therefore, as the honored guests of Canada. But, gentlemen, you all meet here—guests and hosts alike—to share responsibilities; you meet as trustees of the Empire, knowing that your deliberations will materially affect the future welfare of millions.

"Twenty-eight years ago when it fell to my predecessor, Lord Aberdeen to welcome to Ottawa a distinguished assembly of delegates from British Empire overseas, but that gathering was a Colonial conference and not an Imperial Conference, as the new meeting initiated today; for in the years that have intervened, immense and far-reaching events have occurred, affecting profoundly the development of that empire; yet they have left unchanged the spirit which animates its free peoples in their devotion to the crown, and the common ideals which have brought you to Ottawa.

WAR TEST OF IDEALS

"When in 1914 war shattered the peace of the whole world those ideals were subjected to their severest test. Our servants from the uttermost part, for the unity of the Empire, united perhaps, as they had never been before, gave freely of their best to serve the common cause. It is appropriate to recall that it is in this very building where you meet, is set the Memorial Chamber, consecrated as the shrine of sacrifice of Canada's glorious contribution to that cause; to all of us, from whatever land we come, it may well be a solemn reminder of the strength of unity, loyalty, and unity alone, can achieve.

"Today, though the shadow of war is not upon us, we are still faced with the same sombre, consequences of war; the economic crisis, under the load of which the whole world staggers. In the most literal sense.

"It is, indeed, in exceptional circumstances that the conference meets. But in one sense, at least, the present Conference has hitherto met save in London, it may well be the most momentous gathering ever held within the British Empire. The outcome may change its whole destiny; and, if your meeting achieves, as all hope it may, results that will strengthen the British Commonwealth which this troubled age has thrown in its path, who can tell ' t that the Empire, in saving itself by its own unaided efforts, may not save the whole world by its example?

"In places of worship of every denomination throughout this Dominion, prayers are being offered up to Almighty God for your guidance at this conference. Canada, I know, will join in those prayers, for Divine blessing upon your deliberations.

CONFERENCE SNAPSHOTS

Ottawa, July 21 (By The Canadian Press)—Delegates in the Imperial Conference today passed a resolution of loyalty to the King without specifically mentioning the word "loyalty." Officials here denied the word had been deleted at the request of the Irish Free State representatives. The first draft of the resolution had been acceptabel to all, they said.

The resolution sponsored by Premier R. B. Bennett of Canada and Sir Atul Chatterjee of India, read as follows:

"We,

"The representatives of the governments of the British Commonwealth assembled in conference at Ottawa, at their first meeting and before proceeding to business, desire to express their loyalty to the King and to thank him for his gracious message which has just been read by His Excellency the Governor General, for his kindly interest in the welfare of his peoples, and earnestly hope that Your Majesty and Her Majesty the Queen may long be spared to strengthen the feelings of love and devotion shared by all the peoples of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

Premier Metfalf of Southern Rhodesia closed the speeches by heads of delegations. As he sat down, Premier Bennett rose and announced receipt of a cablegram from the King expressing thanks for the message of loyalty sent to him at the opening of the conference. He asked the course of your deliberations with the greatest interest.' the King cabled, "and wish the confident hope that your labors will be crowned with success."

Ottawa, July 21 (By The Canadian Press)—The first session of the Imperial Economic Conference concluded the afternoon at 1.38 E.D.S.T. Adjournment was made until 2 o'clock when the closed sittings will begin.

London, July 21 (Canadian Press Cable)—Listeners in Great Britain this afternoon were delighted by the reception of the wireless broadcast of the opening of the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa.

CANADA'S NEED

Extension in Natural and Processed Products to Britain

SCENE IN HOUSE

Carillon Rings Out Welcome Peel And Guns Boom

Ottawa, July 21 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff writer)—Canada again led the way. In insistent phrases, Premier Bennett submitted to the Imperial Economic Conference Canada's offer of wider preferences, what Canada asked in return. No one could fail to perceive his offer made at the London Conference of two years ago and expanded it.

On the assumption that effective operation of the agreement would not be impaired by unfair competition, Canada asked increased to grant to the United Kingdom.

Proposals

(1) Extension of the free list.

(2) Retention of the existing preferences in favor of Great-Britain.

(3) Increased preferences in respect of a selected list of articles in which Great Britain is especially equipped to supply the Canadian market without injuring efficient Canadian enterprise.

In exchange Canada asked:

(1) Retention of existing preferences.

(2) Their effective extension to those other natural and processed products of which the United Kingdom is an importer.

All Parts of Empire

The proposals were directed to the United Kingdom but "in principle" Mr. Bennett added, "it is offered to all the other parts of the Empire wherever its application will be mutually advantageous."

Carillon's Welcome

DEBATING CLUB WINS RE-PLAY

A conclusive pronoucing by a margin of five runs, administered to the Continental Lifes by the Wharf Street Debating Club soft-ball team, played in Point Anne, Wednesday evening before an estimated crowd of a least five hundred people, residents of the village and supporters of both teams, who have motored from Belleville to see the play-off of a grudge game, which had ended last week in a glorious brawl at the seventh innings during which spectators and players had broken up the game, ended for some time soft ball supremacy which had been claimed by Continental Lifes, who had claimed forfeit of the last game. The score was 11-7. The old veteran "Cap" Smith distinguished himself in the pitching box and had many strike-outs in his credit. He was relieved during periods by Tommy Pointer. Opposing him on the Continental Lifes, Warden and Tuttle also pitched nice ball. Umpires were Maracle and Green of Point Anne.

TWO DOGS LOOK FOR NEW HOME

Two likely looking pups look longingly through the wire netting of the dog pound on St. Paul street for their masters or a new owner, who may happen along. Their time is getting short. One of them is a well bred bull terrier, male, marked with black on the body and with nearly white feet. The smaller and younger one is the little "mystery pup" which was left in the rear of a home on Victoria avenue, early in the morning, recently. He is part collie and part police dog, and would make a good farm dog for the price of his tax. The other bull dog seems to be from a good home.

80 LBS PRESSURE WITH NINE LEADS

Provincial Test is Most Satisfactory to Official

Clipping four minutes from previous time established recently by the city as a provincial record for the time required to test depart-mental equipment, conducted under Fire Underwriters' regulations of the Ontario Fire Underwriters' Association, Belleville fire department, Wednesday clinched for all time existing records. Just four hours were required for the department to test nine leads of hose and thirty-two hydrants in all sections of the city under the direction of fire marshal W. C. Graham, who arrived in Belleville, early Wednesday morning, unannounced, and put the department through their paces. Test runs by the department were featured during the morning. While no official statements have been made by Mr. Graham as yet it is believed that all tests carried out by Fire Chief W. Lynch and Manager Waterworks Mr. R. T. Austin, have been eminently satisfactory.

Wednesday, for the first time, the new auxiliary main, was given full pressure. This materially assisted excellent pressure readings, which were obtained by Mr. Graham from a hydrant guage at the fire hall hydrant, where all readings were taken, while nine hose leads were opened full. Pressure of main averaged eighty pounds with the nine leads opened full. Thursday is being spent by Mr. Graham in checking over the filtration plant and the new main, which is now under pressure.

HOST TO DOMINION HEADS

Canada is playing the host to the greatest array of Empire statesmen possible to assemble within her borders. In the palmiest days of ancient Rome no such gathering took place nor could such have taken place because the conference is particularly a democratic institution.

These men come with the highest hopes, though fully aware of the difficulties which lie in the way. Appreciation of those obstacles is the best preparation for success.

The ground has been well prepared, on shipboard men have discussed problems.

Confidence is buoyant. But it is realized that even after successful completion of arguments, there is much to be done. The Toronto Telegram declares that the final accounts upon the conference must rest on final results not upon incidents of the conference, not on "the running commentaries of tired men" with day to day developments nor occasional disagreements between delegates that are sure to arise, and points out that there is the danger of the human element to obtrude in news stories, rather than programs and actual accomplishments.

SEEING CENTURY AHEAD

Those who have advanced notions need not feel discouraged if they are not realized within a year, ten years, or a generation. The North American Continent has had to wait one hundred years for the treaty to put the waterway from the head of the Great Lakes to the sea.

It was in the year 1832 that the first suggestion was made. How great it is to have been able to foresee a development one century in advance! How many can tell what is going to happen in the year 2032?

The far-sighted man must realize that many an undertaking which might have been started by this time has suffered eclipse because in 1929 something happened. But the worthwhile thing does finally come to realization.

Because a thing is delayed one hundred years is no reason why the agitation should not be kept up. Continuous harping on the one string does bring results, even after a century.

FOUR AND TWENTY STARLINGS

Starlings have the faculty of irritating people. Some people say they have value, others would pay the expense of shooting them, preparing them for a pie, cooking the four and twenty of them in a pie and then giving it away to whatever foreigner is said to like such a dish that is fit for a king. "A king of what?" local readers of starlings would exclaim. Never did the robin in all his alleged cherry-eating glory ever make himself so noxious as the starling.

WHO'D WANT "AL'S" BOOTS!

Al Capone is doing one of the most useful jobs, not only in his life but in any man's life, an honest day's work, putting boots on his fellowmen. The worst of it is that Al has to be forced to do this for unless he were in the Atlanta penitentiary, he would not be so solicitious of the footwear of mankind. Al the bootmaker is a more understandable member of society, even prison society than as gangster.

HECTIC ERA

Rev. Dr. R. R. Wicks of Princeton University Chapel calls the present hectic era the most stupid in all history in its licence of self-expressionism and the tainted ethics of modern business, while Rev. T. Creese of New Britain, Conn., called the people of today believers in magic and mystery seeking a sign to serve as a talisman and dispel the depression. The latter claimed the need was a vital sense of personal responsibility for the welfare of other people and believes that the present is a hard school for the people of today wherein they must be taught values.

VALUE PRESERVED

Two years ago Edward Newton, author and book collector, of Philadelphia, had sixty thousand dollars in bonds. He sold them and bought a first folio of Shakespeare. The bonds are worth little today but the book's folio is still worth sixty thousand dollars. There is no depression in a rare book like this.

THE HEIGHT OF SUMMER

Summer season is at its height with all the freedom and joyousness which relief from the irksome jobs and cares creates. Yesterday we saw thousands enjoying the pure lake breezes at scores of small watering places in this section and despite the fewer cars on the highways the summer resorts are well patronized.

Summer is moving space and though the weather has not been comparable with that of last year from the campers' standpoint, there is enough of the attraction of the open spaces and the waters to draw people away from their homes when they do not spend the vacation out of the city.

Tinkle of ice in a quarried goblet
Is song of this northland stream;
Dusky and silent, the woods surrounding
Still in thin dawn-light dream:

Here is a pool for my Silver Doctor—
Parmachene Belle—now which?
Beauties in silver and fin, I'll wager,
Lurk in this rocky niche.

Cast. And a strike! . . . Talk of grease'd white lightning! . . . Now I can reel him in . . .
Lord, how he fights! . . . He's a gamey beggar!
Nevertheless, I win.

Coffee and bannock, and fresh trout sizzling
Briskly in bacon fat,
Browning to succulent, crispy edges—
You're jealous, I'll bet my hat!

Morning, and sport, and an honest Hunger
Sated with food like this—
Quit on your pride and your wealth; Go, sink 'em.
Here is the sum of bliss.

Dividend Cut, But Not Advertising

A significant news despatch came over the wires a day or two ago, telling of how the Colgate-Peet-Palmolive Company, rather than curtail its advertising expenditures, reduced the annual dividend on its common stock from $2.50 to $1.00 per share. This company is spending more than one million dollars a month on advertising.

There could be no greater tribute to the value of advertising in building up and maintaining business than that afforded by this incident, says the Oshawa Times. In these days of business stress, it is of more importance to this large concern to maintain its advertising expenditures, which keep the business going, than it is to maintain dividend levels. It may have required some courage to take this step. As to its wisdom, there can be no question. Judging by what has happened to firms which have reduced advertising, it is quite likely that had this concern decided to follow that course, there would be no dividends at all.

MOTOR CAR TOURISTS from the United States bowling over Ontario's wide and beautiful paved roads, through a farming country giving every evidence of prosperity and deep content must surely be impressed with the look of stability which greets them on every hand here. In their own country with banks crashing on every hand due to a faulty banking system, a high speed system of feverish haste in everything, which throws the entire economic machinery out of gear when conditions call for a slow down, they need considerable grit to stay with the game without becoming insane. What a relief to come over into Ontario where there is time enough to do things right, where banks do not break in the faces, and where even Nature seems to smile upon the efforts of the people to build up a nation strong and secure.

TOTAL ECLIPSE of the sun on August 31 is stirring the interest of astronomers and scientists generally. A favored point of observation will be Magog, Quebec, where a party of scientists hope to obtain the best visibility and secure clear photographs. Magog will have one hundred seconds of total eclipse, being near the centre of the path of totality, while Montreal will only have a few seconds totality being on the western extremity of the path of total eclipse. Scientists have travelled to the most remote parts of the world in order to secure the best possible visibility for observing eclipses of the sun, and this year Canada is favored. Professor Stratton, Professor of Astrophysics at Cambridge University, will head a party from that university.

DIETS GIVEN FOR PERSONS WITH DIABETES

Sugar and Starch Intake Must be Cut Down

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.
Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

LOUIS E. BISCH

Every person who has diabetes must cut down, of course his sugar and starch intake (sugar, starch, dehydrate) as well as protein. His body needs most part, must depend on fat for oxidizing purposes.

Even if insulin has been given you, ultimately the diet still remains an important factor.

The physician usually tells the patient how many grams of carbohydrate are allowable. Below are given diets for two complete days, as suggested by Dr. M. H. Rose. The first contains only 80 grams of carbohydrate or 320 calories. The second 75 grams or 300 calories. The protein calories in the first diet amounts to 327 and in the second to 442.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

Laxative medication should be given very sparingly to young children. Adjusting the diet is always best. But if laxatives must be resorted to it is better to give very small doses for a few days rather than a single dose all at once.

CANADA'S GOLD MINES

Out of the seven largest gold producing mines in the world, Canada has two, the Lake Shore and the Hollinger.

The individual mine which had one largest output in 1931 was the Government Gold of South Africa with 1,139,372 fine ounces. The next three were the Crown Mines, the New Modderfontein and the Randfontein all of South Africa. The Lake Shore of Canada was fifth with 533,737 ounces and the Hollinger seventh with 487,000. Homestake Mining of the United States ninth with 432,381.

In the first five greatest producing mines of the world, South Africa had 36, Canada 2, and United States 1. Besides those mentioned the other Canadian mines which ranked high were Teck Hughes, which produced 38th in the list, Fonda 35th and McIntyre-Porcupine 37th. The Dome was 94th in world output. Wright Hargreaves 48th, coming just behind the Lake View and Star, Kalgoorlie mine of Australia.—Monetary Times.

THE ERROR OF MALTHUS

The theory of Malthus, who observed that population tended to outrun subsistence, is shaken every time a government publishes the vital statistics it has collected. For the United States the birth rate for 1930 was 18.9 per 1,000. Three years previous it was 20.7 and that was decidedly lower than it had been at the time of the Centennial—Food production has shown no such downward curve, the tendency having been in the opposite direction. The population becomes more nearly stationary while there seems to be no likelihood of an absolute scarcity of food. Whatever may be the unevenness of its distribution.—Prederiction Oleaner.

Robert Alford, son of Alderman Walter Alford, was one of the Bellville boys who has made quite a name for from home. After having had a great deal of experience in connection with his father's contracting business, Robert went west and located several months ago in Vancouver where scope has been found for his talents. His latest occupation was in superintending the erection of a fine new building in Vancouver for the Canadian Bank of Commerce. This structure, which is situated on the corner of Granville street and Sixth Avenue, is of pressed brick, it is beautifully finished inside and, cost $25,000.00. Mr. Alford's many friends here will wish him continued success in his new home.

The WORLD-WIDE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH of TRADE

To consider ways and means for advancing the mutual trade interests of the members of the British Commonwealth of Nations, the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa assembles distinguished delegates from all quarters of the globe.

The Bank of Montreal joins with all Canadians and Canadian institutions in extending a hearty welcome to the delegates to this important Conference.

The Conference comes in the year that sees the 115th anniversary of the founding of the Bank of Montreal—the first permanent bank in Canada and one that from its inception to the present time has taken a leading part in providing financial facilities for the furtherance of Canada's external trade.

The Bank of Montreal has two offices in London.

The main office is at 47 Threadneedle Street, E.C. 2, in the heart of the financial district.

The other office is at 9 Waterloo Place, S.W. 1, in the heart of the shopping and theatre district.

The main office, established in 1870, has provided the Dominion from its earliest years with general banking facilities in the Capital of the Empire; it has been the Agent of the Canadian Government in London; and a medium through which many millions of pounds of British capital have been transferred to Canada for investment.

The Waterloo Place office has long been a convenience rendezvous for Canadian visitors to London.

"Peeney" Mills Hits for Ten Bases as Nationals Down Cobourg Ponies by 10-3 Score

Hits Single, Double, Triple And Homer in Contest

WEIR PITCHED

"Toey" Ibey Shelled Off Mound and Gibson Finishes

Counted out of the league race by most of the experts after four games had been played, the Belleville Nationals made a right-about-face, and at the present time are playing as good, if not better ball, than at any time in the loop. On Wednesday afternoon they delighted the few faithful with an orgy of hitting and excellent pitching by Alex Weir, and defeated the Cobourg Ponies 10-3, driving "Toey" Ibey, who started on the hill, from the hurling peak and subjecting "Hook" Gibson to a real shellacking for the rest of the journey. The Nationals by their win are still in second place and have a real chance to make the playoff berth against Kingston as the schedule from now on favors the locals. In winning from Cobourg, they also played smart baseball, bit in the pinches and fielded perfectly.

Weir's Fine Hurling

Alex Weir, who has been an all round athletic since he started in sport and a ball player that couldn't turn his hand to most any position, was Walter Gerow's choice for pitching duties and as usual, he did not disappoint. He set the Ponies down without a run in the first and the fourth and only one man reached first in the fifth on an error. He weakened slightly in the latter rounds but proved to be the superior due to his not taking his regular turn on the mound, but his teammates did much better behind him. He struck out nine of the opposition and issued but two. His fielding ball had plenty of hop and he was generally on top of the ball.

"Toey" Ibey, who holds a decision over Lou Gehrig, was the logical choice for Cobourg but he was shelled from the mound in the middle of the fifth and Gibson tried the hand but was unable to check the bombardment. The Nationals hit and struck out four in his sojourn and the hits that he allowed came all in the right spots. Gibson was lambasted for six hits in the three and part of an innings he worked, although he struck out four his control was not as good as in his other starts against the Nationals. He walked two, one of the free trips being turned into a tally.

Nine Pass To Lineup

Manager Gerow introduced to the fans another Cobourg product who will be the idol of the cash customers before the season is completed. Cook is his name and as he is a modest, unassuming boy, but how he can handle a ball has yet to get them in the outer garden. He had timely chances on Wednesday and made everyone look easy, while he hit the ball on a line at every appearance and in the third frame was robbed of a three bagger by a shoe string catch of a liner by Gibson. Although the youngsters on the team are differing for their manager, the veterans of the team are beginning to crowd them out of the picture. The most conspicuous in this book is "Peeney" Mills, who has been catching more years probably than he cares to remember. In the cold spring he did not look so hot but with the warmer weather he has begun to come and will soon be up with the leaders of the league in batting, a place he has occupied for many seasons.

He, alone, was practically responsible for the downfall of the Ponies on Wednesday. He all he did besides playing a perfect game behind the plate even with a "bunged" finger was to hit a single, a double, a homer off Ibey and wound up the afternoon's performance with a triple to score two in the eighth. Every hit was on a line with plenty of drive behind it, and he was the most tickled man in the park. He handled Weir faultlessly, besides acting as field general, while his running made Gerow, watched the angles from the bench and the combination is hard to beat. Mills is playing as good ball as he ever did and has been a world of en-

Fielded Smartly—

Outside of this flurry of hitting the game was methodical and well played. "Cy" Bartiger, who is turning in a swell game at the redlight corner, made the fielding play of the afternoon, when he rushed in fast to pick up a bunt and throw to second baseman Chas. Byrnes, while patrolling the centre field position made a sensation catch on Cook's hard hit ball. Hudson at short for the Ponies is one of the best prospects in the league and in a couple of years will stand them on their toes. Let us know what it is all about. Every game the Nationals have fielded consistionally and in so doing makes all the pitchers look like champions as the locals is improving with every game and has started to pound the horsehide. Will Cretney has not found the stride and when he starts to hit it will be just too bad for the rest of the teams in the loop.

Belleville scored a run in the first when Scarlett doubled, was tagged on a passed ball and rode home on Mills' single. Chambers sent Barriage home after he had walked, with a rousing triple and later scored when the catcher dropped the ball on the rundown. Again in the fifth Scarlett walked and stole second to be driven home by a mammoth clout to centre field by Mills, which was good for the circuit clout. This was enough for Ibey and he was derricked in favor of Gibson. Two singles and two infield outs was enough to score a run in the sixth, while in the seventh the Nationals sent two across on two hits and two errors. In the eighth "Peeney" scored on with a triple to deep right, Alex Weir singled and the catcher dropped the ball on the rundown. Again in the fifth, four runs came being a triple by Wakeley, Weir in this frame weakened a little but he was in a hole with plenty of drive behind it, and he was the most tickled man in the park. He handled Weir faultlessly, besides acting as field general, while his running made, Gerow, watched the angles from the bench and the combination is hard to beat. GIRDERS ARE NOW BEING PLACED Placement of huge girders to support the new roof which is being put on the old Tickell building on the east side of Front street, to fit it for occupancy of the local hydro office who will move from their present location following the completion of the work, was being carried out Thursday. Good progress is being made on interior changes which are also being made in the building.

Knocks and Boosts

And they try to tell you that "the old boy" is done, "Oh yes," "Peeney" Mills came into his own on Wednesday when he established a C.O.B.L. record for hitting. Mills hit a single, a double, a triple and a home run during the afternoon's performance when the Nats grabbed a strangle hold on second place in the loop. Besides these four features, which came at the younger players in the league should mark well, Peeney caught a perfect game and scored a run. Not a bad afternoon's work for a ball player who has carveted about his name for over nine years in organized ball.

Alex Weir returned to mound duty to hurl a game that was a credit to the most perfect pitcher in the league today. The only time that Alex faltered was in the eighth frame when the visitors collected three runs on four hits and an error. Manager Gerow intends to have Alex work his turn in the person of Carmen Cook of Trenton, but Cook is a regular jackhawk but will have to learn to run with a little faster. Manager Gerow also signed another junior Cobourg star, Bill Jones, from Grafton. "Shipper" Gerow is not a bit superstitious.

Down at Kingston the Ponies kept up their present winning streak by defeating the Frontenacs scorers by the score of 9 to 5. The Ponies pushed the Pirates one half a game behind the Nationals who have occupied the second position of the C.O.B.L. ladder. Ross Elliott started on the mound for the Ponies and worked the entire game for four innings. As a matter of fact, Elliott was not a bad pitcher by any means, but he was up against a real hot ball club and while pitching the centre field position made a sensation catch on Cook's hard hit ball. Hudson at short for the Ponies is one of the best prospects in the league and in a couple of years will stand them on their toes. Let us know what it is all about. Every game the Nationals have fielded consistionally and in so doing makes all the pitchers look like champions as the locals is improving with every game and has started to pound the horsehide. Will Cretney has not found the stride and when he starts to hit it will be just too bad for the rest of the teams in the loop.

Cantrell is Bested in Hurling Duel With Jones

(By The Associated Press)

The Newark Bears, back home for a short interlude, continued today proudly looked back over their successful invasion of the east studded with success as evidenced by the victories as against only five defeats.

The Bears left home July 8 leading the Baltimore Orioles by one and one-half games and the Buffalo Bisons by two games. They returned for the opening of a series at Jersey City today with three and one-half games separating them from the Orioles and six full games in front of the slipping Orioles.

Despite their swing around the northern half of the circuit yesterday, Jersey City moved on Bud Teachout and Ray Starr early in the game to defeat the Rochester Red Wings, 5 to 3 and 4 to 1. The Skeeters won the opener on the sixth on a walk, a sacrifice, an infield out and a run scoring hit to second, which netted two runs. The nightcap was a pitchers' duel between Cantrell and Jones.

Buffalo moved into a tie for third of its 17 inter-sectional games, and Baltimore, which won 10 and lost seven against the south postponed their game on account of wet grounds.

4 RUN RALLY WINS GAME

National Maids Defeat Cobourg All Stars 10 to 9

Three runs down going into the ninth innings, the local National Maids put on a batting rally to win their game against Cobourg Allstars by the score of 10 to 9 at the Armouries Lawn last evening. With two men out and the winning and tying runs on the bases in the ninth Marie Harkins, hefty right fielder for the Maids crashed the three base hit to right centre field and the game was in the bag.

Helen Slater, who hurled for the visitors, pitched a steady game for her team and had the situation well in hand, until the fatal ninth innings when the local sluggers turned the cudels of war loose and under a barrage of hits turned ultimate defeat into victory. Marie Turpin at first base for the Allstars turned in one of the finest exhibitions of ball playing ever seen by a girl in Belleville. The little lady was without a doubt one of the best place hitters ever to perform in Belleville as she demonstrated by continually knocking the ball high up and far away over the right field fence. M. Riley at short provided the fielding sensations for her team.

Molly Gray, the National's veteran hurler, assumed the mound for the locals, and although she was not quite freely at times managed to pitch a steady game. Due to the fact, that her team mates collected enough extra base hits to win the game for her. Laura Melchoir again provided the fielding sensations of the night, when she accepted all chances without a slip.

Line-ups:

National Maids—Kelleher; Melchoir; Kreper; Tuttle; E. Thrasher; Rowbotham; Knott; Sills; Gray Harkins.

Cobourg—Austin; Riley; Smith; Turpin; Clapper; Jones; Fellow; Davidson; Owens and Spry.

Fashion Flashes

(By Alice Aiden)

Making a sensation these days are some most original feather boas. With a white chiffon dress one woman wears a boa of white coq feathers, wired to curve up gracefully over the shoulders.

Ruches are rushing into fashion. One of the smartest evening frocks of the season is of white marocain crepe with a hem bordered with ruched ruching. The same ruching is used for shoulder straps.

Go out go sea wearing one of the new smart suits done in vivid colors. A most attractive model is of jade-green jersey with fine White lines running vertical, horizontal and diagonal. A white hat and white bag in a bow at the side of the waist.

How to be neat and cool in town is not an easy task. An ideal town suit is of white linen in a heavy, non-crushable weave. It is semi-fitted and closes with a pearl link at the natural waist. The blouse is of striped blue and white handkerchief linen and there is a matching pony on the coat panel. a perky bow is used to finish the deep back decolletage.

Beauty.....

BY HELEN JAMIESON

TREATMENT OF ACNE

Let a young girl discover a pimple on her face and she will start to tease it. She finds that pressing out the contents of a pustule is fascinating and fascinating pastime. As it never occurs to her that the needle she uses as a lance should be sterile, that hands should be so clean, that tissues must not be injured, she is likely to get herself in for a condition of cutaneous inflammation that may result in chronic acne.

When an acne pustule is thoroughly opened, ready for expression, the healing process is hastened by emptying the pus sac. But there are right and wrong ways of doing that. A bit of alcohol should first be touched to the clean needle—it is sterilized by holding it in a flame—and must be placed directly in the centre of the pimple, contents forced out gently with fingers that are pressed with clean gauze. Careless methods spread contagion and frequently produce scars that can be removed only by means of plastic surgery.

Blackheads and pimples are often treated by squeezing the skin between clean fingers that are not clean, which carry dust and infection. "Hand off" is a good rule except when clean hands have work to do. To touch the skin with gloves at any time is to invite contagion, since gloves pick up bacteria every where. Serious eye infections have been caught through the bad habit of rubbing the eyes with gloved hands.

Medical men who specialize in skin diseases put their acne patients on a special diet. They claim that the individual with high blood sugar is susceptible to eruptions, and that this condition is aggravated and increased by sweet foods and beverages. So it is just as well not to visit the soda fountain quite so often or nibble at the contents of the bonbon box. Starchy foods, especially potatoes, cereals and pastries are eliminated. These restrictions discourage grease glands from pouring forth an excessive amount of oily fluids, which change to solids, block the pores, form blackheads which develop into pimples.

Plenty of water, at least eight glasses a day is the doctors order. Water makes for better elimination of skin poisons and waste products of the kidney and intestinal tract.

In the matter of local treatment, the sufferer must remember that acne is fighting grease and dirt that has filled the pores. Make-up applied too generously add to the blockade. The thing to do is to soften the pore plugs with towels wrung out of hot water and to force soap suds into the very fabric of the skin, so that it will unite with the sebosis, loosen them, dispose of them.

After a pimple is emptied, it is advisable to apply a saturate solution of boric acid, made by dissolving one teaspoonful of powdered boric acid in a cupful of hot water and cooling. Go slow on creamy face lotions. At least wipe them away in half an hour's time, using a bit of old soft turkish toweling for the purpose.

Correct Manners

SILVER SERVICE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:—

Will you be kind enough to enlighten me on a point about which I am doubtful?

For a Sunday night "bite", the table was set in the following manner:

Cake and pastry in the centre of the table. On each plate before each guest, cutlery, a fork only, on a lettuce leaf.

On the left of the plate was placed a fork, with three wide and heavy prongs. (This fork I assumed to be for the cake fork). Under the fork was a fringed napkin. On the right of the plate was placed one teaspoon. That is all that appeared on the table when the guests were seated.

Was I wrong in using the teaspoon for the fruit salad, assuming that the fork was for the pastry and that an additional tea spoon would be given when the tea was served? The tea was served after the fruit salad plates had been removed. All the other guests used the fork.

Should the table have been set in the first place with tea spoons (one for the salad and one for the tea) and one fork for the pastry, and that an additional tea spoon would be given when the tea was served? Or, should one have used for the tea? Or was there sufficient cutlery for the table as it was set? The hostess returned the same forks that were used for the salad to be used for the pastry.

Charles.

1—The fork, placed on the left of the plate, is apparently a salad fork. And this fork should have been used to eat the fruit salad. And the tea spoon placed at the right of the plate was apparently placed there to eat the fruit with. And it is evident that this was the hostess's idea, for she had in mind when she set the table, since the pastry would require kind of fork for the pastry served later. As a matter of fact, the salad fork may be considered by some to be the pastry fork. A fruit salad should be eaten with a fork, not with a spoon.

The hostess really set her table properly and conveniently, for her menu. It was quite correct for her to place, for the pastry, the same kind of fork as was placed for the salad. It is correct for her to place these silverpieces after the salad course with her dessert.

There were two things about her table-setting about which I am not very enthusiastic. First, it isn't very attractive, to my taste, to place the cake and pastry in the centre of the table, even for this informality. The centrepiece should have been either flowers or fruits, and the cake and pastry should have been placed at a nearby convenient serving-table (at the right of the hostess is a very convenient position for the serving table). Then this keeps this service of this course separate from the other course.

WORD OF THANKS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:—

1—I am to be married very soon and in writing the announcement for the paper is it correct to write my husband-to-be's name as Mr. John Donald, B.A., or is it considered bad form to put in a degree in anything but business?

2—Will you kindly advise me how to reply, in a few well-chosen words to the customary presentation made from the staff in the department where I work?

Reader

1—It is not correct to use the Bachelor of Arts title in making this announcement.

2.—Something like this would be appropriate: "You are very kind and very friendly to make such a generous MAN for our happiness, and I thank you with all my heart."

The silver bowl is one of the most beautiful ones I have ever seen, and I assure you that it will always be a treasured possession. It will have no small million times for your wonderful friendship."

Fashion Flashes

(By Alice Aiden)

It won't be long before we go shopping for our first autumn hats, and a thrilling model is the smart advance model is a beret shape, molded to the head. It is gone in strips of black velvet mounted on a wide tulle brim, and finished at the top centre is a velvet chou.

At present we are going in for the smart sailor hats done in fabric. A grand summer model is a white pique sailor with a low, square crown. There is a black leaf-shaped ornament and a black ribbon band.

Just a touch of red is seen on many a smart summer frock. A very nice little white shantung frock has a capelet fitted over the shoulders that is buttoned onto the frock with big red buttons.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Your Emotions

Some days you are in high spirits and little troubles do not depress you.

Other days, conditions are as good, yet you are melancholy and blue.

Often you feel so happy, and at such times you cannot understand why you are so sad and cranky with nameless fear clutching at your heart at other times.

Aren't these two conditions the result of your viewpoint upon life?

Of course there may be mental and physical troubles sufficient to affect your spirits, but why lose sight entirely of the brightness in life?

If you could control your moods and sullen qualities you might enjoy many more happy days than you do.

One day should be just as happy as another—each day presents about the same number of annoyances.

It is largely a matter of self-control.

But you are unwilling to ignore vexations and real troubles.

You are not willing to exercise your powers to overcome your tendency to gloominess.

You prefer a foreboding outlook to disciplining yourself.

If you would but realize that your mind works more freely and actively when you do control emotions, you might be better able to cope with life's problems.

FACTORY UNIT CUT FAVORED

South Hastings Cheese Graders and Patrons Take Stand

In the neighborhood of 250 guests, comprising the cheesemakers of South Hastings and their families and friends, gathered at the Foxboro cheese factory with their families and friends, last evening enjoyed the hospitality of Wesley Henderson, maker at the factory in Foxboro. C. F. Linn of this city, dairy instructor for the district acted capably as chairman for the evening and F. H. Connell president of the factory on behalf of Mr. Henderson extended to all the hosts welcome.

During the evening addresses and remarks were made by W. B. Somerset chairman of the Ontario Marketing Board, who has recently returned from a trip to Great Britain, John Hall and Robin Dulmage of Prince Edward county factories, J. L. Irwin, district dairy grader, E. L. Dingle, and Arthur Twiddy who spoke on behalf of the patrons of the Foxboro factory.

Fred Mallory, secretary of the now firmly established Central Ontario Cheese Factory Patrons' Association related the formation of that organization, its aims and it successful growth to the present time.

A motion was moved by W. H. Rodgers, seconded by Bert Finkle and carried, endorsing the move now being launched by the Hon. Colonel Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, for the reduction of the number of cheese factories throughout Ontario and the centralization of a larger unit in selected centres.

TRENTON, July 21.—Special)—The Brighton St. Paul's Men's Club held their first annual picnic at Presqu'ile yesterday. The day was a perfect one and a large crowd attended. The sports program had been arranged with suitable prizes. A series of juvenile races were held for both the boys and girls. Following this a number of novelty races for the men and women. The Wooler Leafs met the Kenilworth nine in the ball game, the latter winning by a score of eleven runs to seven. After the sports the Leaven Bros. Air Service, who were on hand to take the passengers, put on a show for the crowd, Clem Ennis, who has been jumping for the Leavens Bros. for some time thrilled the crowd by doing a parachute jump. He jumped from about two thousand feet and could be seen quite clearly falling over and over finally the chute opening out and letting him down over the field. Mr. Ennis has been jumping for the past two and a half years and has made over one hundred and fifty jumps. "Jimmy" Madden who was with the Royal Canadian Air Force on their Trans-Canada tour last year was on hand with his Fleet to give the crowd a thrill. Anyone who wanted to be deposited in their own back yard could for a small sum be dropped most any place by the Auto give Madden a ride. The passengers of the Air Show a soccer match was played between Brighton and Belleville which Belleville won by 3 goals.

Mrs. Wm. Nolan of Macllelan Avenue entertained the bridge club at her home on Tuesday night, Mrs. C. O. Fairman, Mrs. Lloyd Jones and Mrs. T. Quinn the second. Following the bridge a dainty lunch was served.

DINO GRANDI FOR NEW POST

May be Next Ambassador to Great Britain

London, July 21—Dino Grandi, who in his capacity as foreign minister came to be a friend of the visiting representatives of the Italian government, probably will be his country's next ambassador to Great Britain, it appeared today.

Reports were circulated that enquiries had been made on behalf of the Italian government as to whether he would be acceptable, and that the reply had been in the affirmative.

Signor Grandi has remained from the Foreign Ministry yesterday in a cabinet shake-up ordered by Premier Mussolini. This morning the Premier took over the office of his lieutenant sent on a vacation. When he returns he probably will be appointed to London.

HUDSON-ESSEX TERRAPLANE CAR IS DISTRIBUTED

New Creation Invades Lowest Price Field of Autos

Tilbury, Ont., July 21—Today was Terraplane day in this thriving automotive centre, and a holiday for the second holiday. At 4 p.m. on the dot, the buzz and hustle which has marked operations of Hudson-Essex Motors Limited here for the weeks past was translated in terms of sleek, smart, swifty-moving, horse-power cars, at the rate of one every minute.

Thus was the new Canadian-made Essex Terraplane, symbol of the entry of Hudson-Essex into the lowest price field, reported to mark the incorporation of principles of aeroplane construction to automobiles and cause of a flurry of interest among technological experts particularly over the matter of favorable ratio of weight to horsepower.

Representatives, dealers and distributors were present from all parts of Canada. The new cars were also greeted by prominent government officials and representatives of motor clubs as well as crowds representing the general public.

President A. E. Barit spoke briefly, summing up the engineering achievements which had marked the development of the Terraplane and the significance of its introduction into the Canadian market at the present time. He described its debut lodge as a salute to the Imperial Conference from Hudson-Essex of Canada Limited.

Seventy year old Miss Barbara Walker, granddaughter of the late Sir Edmund Walker, noted Canadian financier, officially christened the first car of the Terraplane assembly line. For the event, aeroplane gas was used in the fluid used and it was enclosed in a balloon-like container instead of the traditional bottle.

With Andy Mutch of Toronto, as marshall and with an escort of motorcycle police, a long line of Terraplanes in 22 sections then took to the road, and headed out of Tilbury. The parade includes cars for points as far west at Windsor and as far east as Sudbury, N.B. There will be civic receptions en route.

Canadian Representations

"Recently at Lausanne the nations of Europe, aided by a long period of fishiness have laid the foundation for a better understanding and have exchanged old fashioned ideas for a new confidence and trust. To Canada who, out of the spirit of discussion of the earlier days of that Conference brought about agreement, we offer our tribute of sincere praise, and we rejoice that there the representatives of the Motherland have maintained its tradition as a sure guide to whom the counsels and direction the world will always be confided.

"We have a common purpose. We have a supreme desire to achieve it. And there can be no group of countries in the wide world so capable, united action as are the countries which comprise the Empire."

Mr. Baldwin's Address Determining

Ottawa, July 21 (By The Canadian Press)—Of particular interest is the text of the speech delivered last during the opening proceedings of the Imperial Economic Conference here, by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, head of the United Kingdom delegation. Following a few felicitous remarks, Mr. Baldwin said:—

"As leader of the United Kingdom Delegation at the conference of 1926 I was associated with the work of resolutions, unanimously agreed, which not only defined the constitutional relationship with one another of the various parts of the Empire but gave to the world a new form of political partnership based on the positive desire of each to co-operate with the other. Today the conference is confronted with economic relationships, where co-operation co-operation is similarly of vital importance, and I am proud once more to lead a delegation that as in 1926, intends to work with you to that end.

"It is a good augury that there are associated with this conference

Very Hopeful

"We all have great expectations of the successful outcome of this great gathering of the representatives of the peoples of the Empire. There is not one country represented here that is suffering from depression and disappointment—not one that has not come to Ottawa to give fresh stimulus and fresh hope. I most confidently believe that we shall not be disappointed, and I trust that we shall find the conference will devise such arrangements made for our mutual advantage, that the unemployment of Ottawa lies in the fact that it marks the point where two roads diverge, the one leading to the development of purely national interests, the other to closer imperial unity, and to the recognition of advantages in mutual co-operation in trade; if when our task is finished we can say that we have definitely taken this latter road, the actual conference progress of minor importance because progress will continue, and in the future we shall always be approaching near and nearer to the goal.

"It will be in your minds, as it is in ours, that as a result of the change in our currency there is a difference now in degree of freedom which has been denied to earlier conferences.

Mr. Bruce referred sympathetically too, to the work of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the cause of imperial preference.

New Zealand declared her readiness to go further in tariff preference. "We will proceed to reducing wherever possible the rates of duty on British goods and in certain cases we will grant new rates on foreign goods," offered Rt. Hon. J. G. Coates, leader of the New Zealand delegation. "Moreover as a consequence of our desire to facilitate commerce generally, we will be prepared to enter into new preferential rules on many other imports on which we are prepared to reduce the present rates of preference."

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

COPYRIGHT 1932—BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

Did he miss not having had a father? She didn't know. Sometimes she pondered. He asked her so little. She was away from him so much. The French governess, Marie, and the maid, Thea, meant more to him than she did, she thought sometimes. Yet they were such chums. They had such glorious plays together. He loved to admire her in her costumes and wigs.

She could never look at him without a lump in her throat, without wanting to take him into her arms and hold him tight and cry over him....Foolish.....

May came to see her the day she arrived. May grown a little heavier, a little older. Still working. Still broke. Looking with eyes of envy at the fantastic suite, Lily Lou's lovely gowns.

"I'd rather stay over in Oakland with you," she said truthfully, "but I couldn't impose on you with Robin, and besides, dear, you put up a front—"

"I could endure it,' May said severely. "I could stand a forty dollar a day suite and a million dollars' worth of clothes to impress my public. But I do think it was very silly of you, Lily Lou, to write you at this time. Bess said the same thing. Bess said you take an awful chance adopting a child. Of course Robin seems cute, but you don't know how he'll turn out. You don't know what kind of people he came from."

Angry tears stung Lily Lou's eyes. Angry words sprung to her lips. But she choked back the tears and the words. There was nothing she could say. She sat quiet and let her sister scold her that she adopted child was a terrible risk, and if she had to have a pet she would have done better to buy a dog, or a couple of pedigreed cats.

Oh, how she longed for some one who would understand.... someone whom she could talk to.... her mother.....And her mother had died, never knowing the truth....

CHAPTER FIFTY-THREE

She waited Bess to come to San Francisco for the two weeks, to bring all the children, and stay with her at the Fairmont. Robin should have children to play with, sang they were his own cousins....

But Bess shy- or independent, would not come. She invited Lily Lou to come up to Woodlake after the opera season. Instead, "I can easily take care of you and the boy," she wrote, "but don't bring any French maids with you. We still eat in the kitchen and proud of it—"

She would have loved to see her father. But he was off in the back country working on a sheep ranch, May said, and there wasn't any way of getting a letter to him.

May didn't have much good to report of Pym. It seems that he was "paying attention" to Mrs. Veemer, the dressmaker in Woodlake, quite an ordinary woman, red checked, well upholstered, good natured, and certainly not too refined.

"He should be restrained!" May said, "the old fool, wanting to get married again, after all the putting up Mother did with him! After the way she tried to make a decent citizen out of him!"

When Lily Lou did not answer, she cried, "Oh, well, you've been away so long that nothing matters one can't with cowboys. What do you know about Pym? You don't care what Dad does, and we're all just ancient history to you. I don't suppose you'd even know Kentfield Sargent if you saw him. You know, you were lucky to get out of that. Good heavens, Lily Lou, you almost missed everything, too, by being so stiff as to go and get married the way you did! By this time you'd have been a widow, with children on the one, and maybe a couple of more—"

Lily Lou smiled. "What about Robin?" she asked.

"Oh, he's just a fad with you. A child that isn't your own isn't any more trouble than any other kind of pet. Bess said that! It's just an entertainment, that's all. And here you are, with the world at your finger tips—still everything!"

"Yes," Lily Lou said, "with everything!"

And after May had gone she took Robin on her lap and played cowboy and Indian until he was weary. "Yes—everything," she thought—"and I'd gear everything for one girl—"

And then she smiled a little as she thought of what May would have thought if she had told her she would have preferred everything for what she had a home, even a shabby home, with someone who loved her.

Trvviata was a triumph. With Tony conducting, Tony ever watchful of her interests, Tony jealous of every pat of applause given another singer.

Madame Butterfly on Wednesday and a packed house. That was the big night for her. Tony had arranged it so that she liked it, but a matinee didn't count so much.

There had been letters and flowers and friends—Tony's friends—friends of the Dexter and the world of art and music—

She wasn't disappointed. She had not expected any of the people she used to know. Once upon a time she would have expected them, but if he failed her when her mother died, naturally he'd fail her now.

She couldn't help hoping that Ken's father would read about her. He had laughed at her when she said she'd be a star. Well, she was. Her name had been written in electric lights. She was young yet.—years ahead—for greater glories....Might as well fight for them.... It would help Robin....It would help him with her, to see the Snow Maiden. It was a treat she had promised him. Bess had not come from the lake with the children. They would have loved the fairy opera.

She thrilled to see her little boy's sparkling eyes, as he stood in her dressing room and admired her in her gown of frost and stardust. "You look just like a fairy princess," he told her, seriously. "A rather made-up princess," she told him, laughing at her reflection in the brightly illumined mirrors. But she did look like a child's dream of fairyland, with the glorious glittering head-dress, the filmy white of the gown, her black hair in long curls, like a doll's, cascading down her back.

After the performance Marie brought Robin back to the dressing room. He was madly excited with excitement.

"Mother, I wish you would be the Sleeping Beauty some time. I would like to see you be the Sleeping Beauty. Don't they have an opera of that? Then I wish to see one with cowboys. Auntie Vera's opera, mother, can't we have one like that, please?"

He was talking about Vera Votipaka, and her role of Girl of the Golden West, with which he had been much impressed.

"Dad, you could have had the stage box—the front row — anything!"

"Now, don't you go throwing your money away. You save your money, Lily Lou! I didn't send the two dollars. 'Didn't I say it was worth it?'"

She looked at him. His old, shiny suit, his carefully combed hair, the collar that was too large, and frayed along the edges. Her heart was bursting.

"Yes, I came down from the lake last night" he said. "I don't always read the papers every day. I'm up at your Uncle Ezra's place most of the time now, and sometimes I kind of let the papers pile up and read them all at the end of the week. So when I saw you were here—"

"I tried so hard to find you, Dad; Bess—"

"Yes, I know. Bessie, she doesn't like me herding sheep up there. Verner's kind of putting on the dog for me, and I guess she wants I should dress up more. It's kind of a relief for me now to dress up, Dolly. I guess I'm kind of a carefree old man now. But I slicked up for today—"

"You could have come in your dungarees!"

"Yes, you and me—sort of alike, Dolly. That you? Sure!"

She had forgotten Robin, playing quietly in a corner.

For one hideous moment she hesitated. The lie that had been so easy before was impossible now. And yet....

The old man did not wait for her to answer.

"Come see your grand-dad, son," he said, holding a horny hand out to the child.

LET A MOTHER TELL YOU

Mrs. Albert Belbo, Tecuta, gratefully speaks of what Eagle Brand did for her little daughter, Margaret Jean. "For the first three months she was nursed, but this did not seem to satisfy her, so after trying nearly everything, I read an advertisement in a newspaper about Eagle Brand and decided to try it. She took to it right away and there has been no trouble since. She has 16 teeth, all coming through without difficulty. Her flesh is firm, lovely straight limbs, good bone development and so contented. She won third prize at the Canadian National Exhibition Baby Show last September in Class D, with 107 entrants."

If you are unable to nurse your baby, or he is not gaining as he should, follow the advice of hundreds of thousands of other wise mothers and try Eagle Brand Milk. If you will send us your name and address, we shall be glad to send you helpful, free booklet on infant welfare, filled with advice and practical suggestions that will delight you.

Every photograph and letter published by the Borden Company is voluntarily sent us by a grateful parent or other relative.

MR. AND MRS.

JULY 21

THE SON OF TARZAN—NO. 20.

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Meriem stood trembling before the Sheik. The years and her clothes had not altered her so much but that one who had known her features so well in childhood would know her now. To think that after all these happy years she should again be thrust into the hands of this villainous, cruel, old, desert chief! Stepping toward the shrinking girl, he grasped her fiercely by her arm. "So you have come back to your people at last," he snarled.

Meriem's silence seemed to fan the Sheik's wrath. He struck her a heavy blow upon the face. When some hours later, she regained her numbed senses, she gave way to tears of despair. She she found herself within a filthy tent. Tattered garments, scarcely covering her, had taken the place of her riding outfit. The rifle and that precious packet with her baby photograph were gone. Instead of all, hideous old Mabuni sat grinning in one corner.

Now the Sheik lost no time in reestablishing the old relations that had existed between them in the past. He seemed to revel in finding new methods of torturing or humiliating her and among all his followers none dare defend her. As of old, she was permitted the freedom of the village, but escape was impossible. So the wretched days passed for Meriem. But there was one in the Sheik's camp destined to aid her.

One afternoon as she sat before her tent thinking of how Korak had rescued her from this very place eight years before, she suddenly became aware she was not alone. Somebody stood close behind her who had approached noiselessly. A hand fell upon her shoulder and as she waited in dumb terror the blow she felt the Sheik was about to give her, she looked up instead into the dark eyes and handsome face of the young Arab, Abdul Kamak.

YOUNG WIFE

Confides In Neighbour

Life was sad for Helen Balfour. Marriage, after three months, had begun to lose its gay romance.

One day, as she was hanging out her clothes on the line, she summoned up courage and finally told her troubles to Mrs. Trimble, her kind-eyed next-door neighbour. Mrs. Trimble listened to her story patiently. She had two married daughters of her own and understood. She talked to Helen and encouraged her with helpful suggestions for making her housework easier, and greatest of all, straightened out Helen's biggest trouble—the weekly wash.

Learns Laundry Secret

"Now washing's not such a terrible task," explained Mrs. Trimble gently. "First, use a good soap. I'd advise you to use the brand I always buy—Pearl White Naptha. You'll find it a good practical laundry soap, Helen, and a lot more economical than most. Then, soap your clothes and put them to soak overnight in cold water. You will find that, as the water temperature rises in the heat of the room, more dirt is loosened than would be if the water were cooling. In the morning, rinse your clothes thoroughly in warm water and you'll never have any more trouble with your wash."

Free Cake of Soap!

Thousands of women have learned this valuable laundry secret. Get the Pearl habit yourself—Pearl means efficient work in less time and a lot less effort. That's something to remember these days. If you have not tried Pearl White Soap, order some today, or, better still, send your name and address to Pugsley-Dingman & Co. Limited, Department 31 Toronto, and a FREE, full-size bar will be mailed to you by return.

Over 3000 cakes of Pearl Soap are used by Canadian housewives every hour

Junkerism, Militarism Rampant in Germany, Von Papen Takes Charge

Prussian Cabinet is Dismissed and Von Papen Dictator

RESIST ACT

Cabinet Officers Ousted When They Refuse to Submit

Berlin, July 21—Junkerism came back to power in Germany Wednesday and assumed dictatorial control over the greater part of the 13-year-old republic.

Upon the authority of President Paul von Hindenburg, the aristocratic cabinet of Chancellor Franz von Papen intervened in the lamentable mess of German politics by establishing a dictatorship in the great state of Prussia.

To enforce its rule, the Government declared a military state of emergency, which is akin to martial law, in Berlin and the province of Brandenburg.

The governmental policy came as a climax to a month of political rioting, during which at least 100 persons were killed and 1,000 wounded.

The coup-mighty Prussian Socialist leaders realized, but were crushed by the government's military machine. Colonel von Papen became the Reich's commissioner in Prussia, a dictatorial post and removed Socialists Premier Otto Braun and Minister of Interior Karl Severing. They had resisted all day but finally—in a dramatic scene—announced surrender.

Entire Cabinet Dismissed

The Prussian chief of police, Albert Grzesinski, and his aides were arrested when they refused to turn over their offices until soldiers had occupied them, but later were released. All members of the Prussian cabinet were dismissed and federal commissioners named, or will be named.

Crowds assembled but were dispersed by soldiers, who reinforced the ordinary guards with machine guns.

The greatest excitement was caused when Severing, in a heated interview defied Colonel von Papen to remove him. Again he refused the request of his successor. Franz Bracht, to leave the ministry and it was not until Bracht's second visit—a cold and formal 19 minute conversation—that Severing yielded "to force."

Meanwhile, ousted Premier Braun wrote Col. Von Papen saying the Reich's action was illegal and asked for an explanation of the legal basis of proceedings, preparatory to an appeal to the supreme court.

The chancellor last night explained, saying the actions of the Communist party on Prussian affairs, partly due to its key part in action in the Prussian Diet and partly due to the growth of the Socialist fight against Hitlerism, was the primary factor for his action.

New Policy was Swift

The drastic new policy, considered the most important since the Republic was established in 1919, was brought into swift, sharp military execution.

It began with the appointment of Chancellor von Papen as the Reich's commissioner for Prussia, which meant the setting up of a dictatorial regime in the state which makes up two-thirds of Germany. It recently has been in political turmoil because of the weakening of its once-powerful Socialist regime.

The cabinet was fully supported by Adolf Hitler's militant Fascists who hope to win power in the forthcoming election, and who have demanded immediate action to end the political riots.

FOUR CENTS EVERY TIME HE MILKS COW

LINDSAY, July 21.—One farmer shows how unprofitable cows are at the present time. He keeps eight cows, and has to feed them, milk them twice a day, run the milk through a cream separator, and take care of the cream until it is sold. The skim milk left is fed to his pigs. He is paid about $.50 a week for his cream, which means that he gets four cents every time he milks a cow. He pointed to the large investment he has and the great amount of work he must do to get this small amount of money.

HOLDING OWN

TORONTO, July 21.—"Just about the same—he is holding his own," declared physician today with respect to the condition of Sir Henry F. Orde of the Ontario Supreme Court Bench, who has been critically ill for some time.

"JAFSIE" CONDON IS SURE OF CAPTURE

BRISTOL, Conn., July 21.—Dr. John F. Condon of the Bronx, New York, the "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh kidnapping, remains confident the case will be solved.

The $50,000 ransom money received by the kidnappers, he believes will lead eventually to their arrest. He said that until the money has been recovered, he will continue to hunt the men involved.

"AL" SHOES BOYS IN ATLANTA PEN

Atlanta, Ga., July 21—It was a fair cry from Chicago's public enemy No. 1 to Federal prisoner No. 60,826 but "Scarface" Al Capone, deposed lord of Chicago's gangdom, qualifies as both. His job at the latter title is attention to help keep the 3,000 odd prisoners at the Pen shod.

Assigned to the shoe shop, he is getting his first taste of being bossed, and from indications via "The Grapevine Route," he doesn't like the excitement or the idea of obeying orders.

ARRESTS MAN IN THE WATER

Rescues Him From Drowning Then Takes Into Custody

Ottawa, July 21—Saving a man from drowning so that he could arrest him on a charge of obtaining false pretences, was the unique experience of Detective Ernest Mahaffy here Wednesday.

Weighing well over 200 pounds and unable to swim, Joseph Gold, 43, plunged into the Ottawa River, as Detective Sabourin and a fellow officer approached him.

Water wouldn't stop Sabourin. He went right after his man and after a terrific struggle brought him to shore, nearly exhausted and from there to the Detective Bureau.

Gold is alleged to have obtained several fur coats on approbation and failed to return them to the owners.

TRIES TO SAVE HIS FRIEND

Although Under Water Holds Pal Above For Some Time

Kitchener, July 21—The body of 19 year old Orville Lohnes, R.R. No. 4, Kitchener, is being brought back here Thursday from Oliphant, where the young man was drowned.

Swimming from a point to the mainland, young Lohnes sank and was drowned despite the efforts of his friend, Howard Snyder, to save him.

Snyder dived down and felt the bottom in water seven feet deep and held his friend above the surface until he nearly lost consciousness himself.

Lohnes was one of a party of four boys who went to Oliphant only Tuesday for a ten day camping trip.

EMPIRE AWAITS CANADA'S LEAD

Dominion May Have a Definite Tariff to Offer

Ottawa, July 21—What lead will Canada give the Imperial Economic Conference? That, last night was the foremost topic of conversation. At the Imperial Conference of 1930, Premier Bennett put the position even more forcibly. The conference, he held, must approve or reject the principle. "I put the question to you," Mr. Bennett added, "and definitely it should be answered. There is here no room for compromise and there is no possibility of avoiding the issue. This is a time for plain speaking and I will speak plainly when I say that the day is now at hand when the peoples of the Empire must decide once and for all whether our welfare lies in closer economic union or whether it does not. Delays is hazardous. Further discussion of the principles is surely unnecessary. The time for action is now."

Rumor has been busy with preliminary forecasts of what Mr. Bennett will say. There has been talk that he will submit a list of around 8,000 items for revision, but he will be prepared to make considerable further advance in Imperial preference. He guards his own secrets. We are hoping, and Hon. R. J. Manion as he welcomed visiting delegates here at dinner, "—we are hoping that this conference will start again the stream of trade which, if it does not entirely nourish the lands affected directly but will help all others. Because of the interdependence of the nations of the world, no nation cannot prosper without the others benefiting."

Youth Now Has Vision But He Has to be Guided About City

New York, July 21—(AP)—In a one way Earl Musselman is no worse off now that he can see, than he was when he was blind.

The 22-year-old Allentown Pa., youth was given 30 per cent sight of one eye by the creation of an artificial pupil a year ago during an exceptional operation in Philadelphia.

Wednesday he was in New York for the first time since he had grown accustomed to seeing things.

He has lost the ways of the blind and has not gained the confidence of vision.

"Before I was able to see," Musselman said, "I had no fear of going anywhere. I always went alone. I could guide myself and feel my sense of direction.

"But after I was able to see I got afraid. I could see how fast the automobiles and street cars went. Ever since then someone has had to go with me and lead me when I go out into the streets."

Lightning Sweeps Spoon Out of Hand But Leaves Man Uninjured

Halifax, July 21—Struck by lightning on Monday, the United Press Association's smack Leslie Maxwell put into Abbott's harbor Wednesday for repairs, and reported her arrival to Abbott's Harbor to pick her lobsters for the Boston market when the storm broke. Off Sheepleys Island a bolt of lightning shattered the top of the foremast and the mainmast, the forecastle and went out the bow. The damage was not serious.

The crew were eating breakfast in the forecastle at the time but no one was injured. Mr. Lemuel Hall played on a spoon in the hand of one of the men and swept it to the peak of the forecastle.

CHILD GASHES NOSE WALKING TIGHT-ROPE

London, Ont., July 21—A six-year-old London boy attempting to "walk the tight rope" on the guard wire which protects the terrace in front of the city police station, came to grief. The child mounted the flimsy wire from the station steps, slipped, and somersaulted over the strand. In the "flip" the child grabbed the wire on the wire. Bleeding profusely from the nose, the boy ran off homeward before police or reporters could secure his name.

TURTLE LIVES 21 YEARS UNDER WALK

New York, July 21—The hermit crabbed land of Scotland, Ireland has a rival for the Rip Van Winkle title of the animal kingdom in the shape of a 14-pound snapping turtle.

A laborer dug Mr. Turtle out from under a flagpole sidewalk in the old Chelsea section and started the ball of argument rolling again. A nearby hotel recalled in a rush of reminiscence that just 21 years ago they had lost a pet terrapin when the sidewalk was laid. There by the grace of excavation, was their turtle.

GOUGES SIDE IN LONG FALL

Body Nearly Severed, When Boy Falls Although Picket

TORONTO, July 21.—"Jackie pushed me. Jackie pushed me."

Those were the only words eight-year-old Billie Barnard, 13 Flagler street, could say as he rode with his father, Ernest R. Marquard, in a police ambulance to the Hospital for Sick Children at 8.30 Wednesday night.

With his little body almost severed in two by a picket fence by the sharp point of a gate picket upon which he had fallen from a roof 12 feet above, there was hardly enough breath in him to make speech audible. But he repeated: "Jackie pushed me."

Hospital attendants held out scant hope for the child's recovery. With his left side laid open virtually to his spin, exposing the lung, he had lost considerable blood in the time it took to get him to the hospital.

With blood streaming down his left leg, the boy was seen walking west toward his home on Sackville Place by William Brown, of 30 Sackville Place, who heard him crying.

"What's the matter with your leg?" asked Brown, running toward the boy.

"It's not my leg, it's my side," the child answered. Brown pulled out his shirt, exposing the gouge at the base of the chest. The man picked up the boy and put a truck which had just pulled up nearby.

They were driven directly to the office of Dr. Thomas, 469 Parliament Street, where Dr. immediately phoned for the ambulance.

Jackie pushed me, the child repeated.

A check-up revealed as least six inches in the immediate neighborhood last night, but no one appeared to have seen the child fall.

Apparently he had climbed a telephone pole in the lane running north from Charles street just west of Sumach street. The pole was against a two-storey warehouse belonging to Sackville Shops, Limited, which is in the rear of the firm's showroom at 372 Sumach street.

Beside the warehouse is the yard of an elm tree, and again the tree was leaning an old sharp-picketed gate. Bloodstains on the end picket indicated how young Billie had started to climb down the tree. He had lost his grip and fallen athwart the gate.

WERK AND EXERCIZE

Exercize is werk that you would-dent do if you dident have sumthing to. A man chopping down a tree for the fun of hearing and seeing it fall is working, but if he was doing it just to prove how good he could swing a ax he could be having exercize and probably both exercize and exercizing when they are babies, exercizing their lungs when they laugh and exercizing their legs when they kick off the bedclothes. Some people feel active and there's nothing else to do, I'm told, but exercize to get out the covers back again it's werk because that's what she's payed for.

It's exercize to run around the block for the sake of the health, I'm told, for no useful reason, but it's werk if you help yourself at the same time.

A expressman carrying a heavy trunk up your front stairs never feels happy and if you tried to exercize your leg by telling them what good exercize they was having they would probably only look about ten times madder if such a thing was possible. Impossible is a expressman.

Swimming for pleasure is one of the swellest forms of exercize and I'm told there is no better way to get out of the ocean it's the worst news you could hear, but swimming for the sake of exercize is the only thing you're glad to stop as soon as you get started, and you're glad to get started.

One of the best forms of exercize is horseback riding because it's just as good for the horse as what it is for you and thus gives you a chance to be kind to dum animals and enjoy yourself at the same time.

Dog are alway ready for exercize the second you wake them up out of a sound sleep, being one of the principal differences between people and dogs.

False beinks and dogmas are the greatest menace which the human race has to face.—Harry Elmer Barnes.

MUTE SALESMAN'S CONVINCED BY SIGNS

Toronto, July 21—A deaf mute going from door to door selling "Suntan" soap (one wash equals a $100 holiday!) called at a house upon Sherbourne. The proprietor, standing in the doorway, undismayed, viewed the sample, pointed inside the house and spelled out on the two-handed alphabet the words, "No women."

The argument was effective. With a broad grin the salesman packed up his samples and departed. He turned back twice and grinned again as he went.

The going was been pretty rough lately, still when he wanted to borrow a couple of hundred million dollars last summer, our bankers were glad to accommodate him. They knew their man. Old Foundations of Trade Between Canada and U.S. Are in Fire at Parley

New Structure Will Likely be Reared at Ottawa

WILL HIT HARD

Barriers Against Products From States Will be Set

Ottawa, July 21.—The foundations of United States trade with Canada are thrown into the melting pot here today when delegates from each of the British commonwealth of nations sit down to evolve a plan to turn the tide of Empire trade through Empire channels.

The challenge of success for the conference lies chiefly against United States competition, not only with Canada, but with Britain, the Antipodes and South Africa—a world area in which the balance of trade in favor of the United States equals the harassed balance in its entire export trade to nations.

The delegates convene Thursday with no misgivings and little sentimental reaction against turning trade now done with the United States into an instrument for the furthering of Empire trade. Private discussions they are agreed that in trade matters the United States have refused to "play ball"; that sectional interests have dominated tariff policy to an extent out of line with the position of a world creditor nation.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, former Premier of Australia and chief of the delegation from that country, was more outspoken than other delegates when, in effect, he said this is Canada's opportunity to free herself of United States trade domination.

New Barriers Against U.S.

Officially the attitude of the Canadian Government has been indicated except to the conference but it is evident that there is unanimity of opinion that the conference will not hesitate to erect new trade barriers against the world when in this instance is chiefly the United States. Of the total value of trade in manufactured imports will open new markets for the farms, forest and mine products of the Empire countries in the British market.

For years Canada has been buying practically two dollars' worth of goods from the United States for every dollar's worth sold in that market. The United States goods have largely been manufactures, while the Canadian exports have been mainly raw products. The Fordney-McCumber tariff nullified Canadian agricultural exports into United States for eight years and the parity secured was effectively sterilized by the Hawley-Smoot bill of 1930. According to the Canadian viewpoint, what these two blows to Canadian exports failed to achieve has been accomplished in the special duties imposed by Jhe session of congress just concluded.

Retaliation is a harsh term, a leading Canadian statesman who will be a delegate to the conference said Wednesday afternoon. "In its harsh sense it does not represent our viewpoints. It is not in the spirit of reprisal but in one of self-defence that we must act. The United States can not shown any sentimentality in the matter with us economically. Political and dollars and cents considerations have guided their policy and there will be no surprise if we mix business with sentiment in our family arrangements."

The Two Years' Tendency

The tendency outlined as a guiding star for the Empire Conference has been in effect in Canada since the advent of the Bennett Government two years ago. In the year ended May 1930, Canada bought from the United States $401,000,000 worth of goods. In the year ended May 1932 the total was $217,000,000. Part of the decline is attributed to depression, but a large portion of it can be credited to retaliatory tariff legislation. In a press conference Wednesday Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin agreed with an interviewer that the United States had a greater interest in this Empire Conference than any other foreign country.

"Why?" asked his questioner.

"I leave that to the United States to say," said the eminent British statesman,—former British premier and leader of the British delegation.

What he undoubtedly foresaw was the threat to United States export trade throughout the British Empire.

Complete Steel Accord

Complete accord has been reached between British and Canadian steel interests with respect to the negotiations of the Empire Economic Conference.

One copy of the agreement is in the hands of Mr. Stanley Baldwin, Mr. Bennett has the other. The basis is largely transference quota of Canadian steel purchases which in normal years ran to one million dollars a city to the United States to Great Britain. The agreement covers not only steel manufactures but electrical equipment and represents the first harmonious note in practical application to result by the Ottawa gathering.

British delegates are hopeful that the failure of cotton interests to reach agreement will be offset by the success achieved in connection with steel and hopes were renewed that peace would be made with the knit wool goods industries that practically catapulted into a deadlock.

BIG MART NOW

Imports on Bacon to Ireland for 3 Months Increases 25 Per Cent

OTTAWA, July 21. —The Irish Free State offers a wide market for Canadian flour and bacon, and in return for reciprocal advantages in the Canadian market for certain commodities the delegates of that country would be prepared to grant this dominion substantial preferences. Representations along these lines will, it is understood, form the case of the Free States at the proclose to the Free State delegation. At the moment Canada enjoys a considerable market in the Irish Free State for bacon. It was stated here yesterday by individuals ent Imperial Conference.

They cited that in the first three months of the current calendar year imports of bacon from Canada had increased 36 times over those for the corresponding period last year. While it was true that the Free State itself was an exporter of bacon, it was equally true that Ireland was a heavy importer of cheaper brands. In supplying that demand Canada would be offered concessions, it is understood, under discussion.

MEETS DEATH AT CROSSING

Renfrew Girl is Also Killed, When Auto Overturns

Chatham, July 21—Albert Bondy a farmer, was struck and killed by a train Wednesday afternoon near Jeannette Creek. He was driving a car and failed to notice the approach of the westbound C.P.R. passenger train at a crossing quarters of a mile east of the Village of Jeannette's Creek. He is survived by his widow and six children. Dr. Bochon of Tilbury has ordered an inquest.

Renfrew Girl Dies.

Renfrew, July 21—When an automobile overturned on the Provincial highway Wednesday morning between Renfrew and Arnprior, Miss Bertyl Feldman of Renfrew suffered a fractured skull and other injuries, and died shortly afterwards. Two other girls in the car, Miss Ivy and Bessie Pagin of Eganville, suffered minor injuries. In the car also were the father of the Pagin girls and their mother, Reuben Corben of Ottawa, neither of whom was hurt seriously.

Reuben Cohen, driver of the car was placed under arrest by Provincial Constable Brown. An inquest will be held in Renfrew on Friday. Miss Feldman was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Feldman of Renfrew.

POWER AVAILABLE IF RIVER IS DIVERTED

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 21 —If the Ogoki River were diverted so as to send its water down to Lake Superior by way of Lake Nipigon, as suggested by Premier H. H. Bennett's statement on the St. Lawrence Waterways Treaty, the power available for development in the rapids here would be considerably increased, it is understood in local observers.

Others think that an objection to the scheme lies in the possibility of raising the level of Lake Superior to a point where it might cause flood damage.

CAR KEYS SWALLOWED BY OWNER'S SON

Enid, Okla, July 21—"Where," demanded W. R. Noble, "was the keys to the car?"

It developed that Charles had. A physician's x-raying tab on the keys with daily X-ray pictures. Apparently they have been no ill-effects for Charles.

Work Side by Side for Months Not Knowing Other from City

Finally Broken Machine and its Repairs Lead to Discovery

"NAT'S" EXPERIENCE

Nat Duffin, well known Belleville resident who has covered practically all of the North American continent working at various jobs which presented themselves as he went, finally landed up in the Studebaker plant at South Bend, Indiana, some years ago.

Nat had been with the John Robinson circus band before he joined the ranks of the factory workers in the plant in South Bend, and when a band was formed among the workers of that shop he was first to join. When he wasn't playing in the band he was working in the machine shop of the factory. Beside him worked a man whom he occasionally talked to during the day but they had never descended to really make conversation.

One day, however, two new machines, the first of their kind ever to be used in any factory in the country, arrived at the place and were set up. Nat's co-worker was given a job of running one of them. They were a new type screw machine. Everything went well until one day one of them broke down. There wasn't a soul in the plant knew a thing about them, much less repair them so this other man rolled up his sleeves and started in to rip the thing apart.

"I wouldn't touch that machine," declared Nat, who saw the other fellow preparing to go to work on it. "Liable to do some damage to it," he added. "Better wait until they send some men from the factory to look it over," he urged.

The other man gave up his hands and grabbed a monkey wrench. He took a large chew of tobacco and prepared to go to work.

"If I were to say machine yet I couldn't fix," returned he. "Machanic" he snorted. "I learned my trade where machines were machines, and men learned how to run them."

Nat's co-worker went ahead, ripped the machine apart, and out of the tangled mess of wires and piping and screws and other small parts, pulled out the offending piece of broken mechanism, made a new part, replaced it and put the machinen back together. It worked perfectly.

A little later Nat went over to the other man. "You did a good job on that machine, there."

"Aw, that's nothing. I can fix any of them."

"By the way, where did you learn your trade?" asked Nat.

"Well, it's a long ways from here. You wouldn't know the place if I told it to you. It's a way up in Canada, Belleville, to be exact. I used to work in the old Mack Machine Shop on Station Street—and believe me they learned you a trade in those days...."

The man who had been working for so many months beside Nat Duffin was Harry Rutledge of Belleville. Neither had recognized his co-worker, but both worked at the same factory many years before.

No More Piles

How to End Terrible Agony Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal — bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your internal bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause — not one minute before. Dr. Leonhardt's treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

HEM-ROID tablets have an almost unbelievable record of success. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when J. S. McKeown and druggists everywhere invite every sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

TORRID HEAT WAVE TAKES HEAVY TOLL

NEW YORK, July 21.—Irritable and exhausted most of the United States continued to suffer in the stagnant heat yesterday. Torrid temperatures prevailed, especially in the middle west altogether 21 persons died of heat and temperatures mounted above 100 in many sections. Chicago had an official reading of 98, but thermometers in downtown areas showed 106. Three persons died in the metropolis. St. Louis led in the number of deaths—six with the mercury in the middle 90's. BURIED WITH FULL HONORS

Lord Plumer Laid to Rest in Westminster Abbey

London, July 21 (By Thomas T. Champion noon Canadian Press Writer) With full military pomp and the deepest tokens of civilian respect, the remains of Field Marshal Lord Plumer, were borne from the Guards' Chapel to the last resting place of Britain's heroes, Westminster Abbey. There he will lie within a few yards of the Unknown Warrior.

Veteran of the Soudan and South Africa, Commander of the 1914 Expeditionary force that went, and zealous worker for the welfare of ex-service men, Lord Plumer died on Saturday at the age of 75 years.

Many thousands lined the route yesterday and watched the slow passing of the funeral cortege. The coffin, draped in the Union Jack, was borne by British bluids in the Great War. This carriage was also used for the funeral of Earl Haig of Bemersyd and the Unknown Warrior. On the coffin lay the Field Marshal's hat, his baton and medals.

Lord Plumer's charger was led behind the carriage, with the Field Marshal's boots reversed in their stirrups.

EXPORT TRADE IN LUMBER IS ON INCREASE

Canada Materially Increases Trade With Australia

ENTHUSIASTIC

United States at One Time Held The Balance

Montreal, July 21.—Canada has increased her lumber exports to Australia 700 per cent., thanks to the recently-negotiated Australian treaty, according to J. Fyfe-Smith, Canadian National Railways director from Vancouver, who is here.

Mr. Fyfe-Smith declined to comment on the resignation of Sir Henry Thornton from the presidency of the Canadian National Railways, beyond saying:

"He was a man who endeared himself to everybody."

British Columbia is enthusiastic about the Australian Treaty, he stated.

"I am not sure as to the exact figures, but I understand that the United States used to export 270,000,000 worth of lumber into Australia and Canada $10,000,000," said Mr. Fyfe-Smith. "Now the figures are reversed. Canada gets the $10,000,000 worth of business and the United States the $10,000,000.

"I understand that the United States has given a mail subsidy to all sorts of steamers—even tramps —and these subsidies help provide cheaper transportation for lumber," he remarked.

THE WEAVERS

The sun has made a tapestry
With grass for warp, and trees for woof,
And in the picture for a bit
Of color is a bright, red roof.

But what I weave is not so fine,
For my two threads are pride and fear,
And on my mean design is blurred
The lineness of a foolish tear!

At The Belle

"ARENT WE ALL"
A SNAPPY COMEDY

When a young bride eavesdrops on her husband and catches him in a night club, admist much gaiety, kissing a strange girl—then it's just too bad!

Especially if she is a clever wife who knows how to retaliate in kind

But it all proves to be a lot of fun for everyone else. The nonmarrying item in the wife's program of getting even at her husband is that she too, had transgressed —mildly. Her father-in-law knows about it, and he keeps her in a continuous "stew" over it. But the old gentleman is discovered to be a pretty gay person himself—as he and the wife of this picture suggests, "Aren't We All?"

Miss Lawrence is one of the favorites of the British and American stages. She made her first appearance on Broadway in "Charlot's Revue."

She is supported by a cast of stage and movie celebrities, including Hugh Wakefield, Owen Nares, Betty Ftzroy and Harold Huth.

Harry Lachman was the director, and was associated with Rex Ingram in producing "The Garden of Allah" and "Mare Nostrum."

Frederick Lonsdale, author of the play, is one of the leading living playwrights. He wrote this comedy originally for the stage, and it was produced with equal success in England and America.

In addition to the above attraction the Belle offers to its patrons for Thursday the first episode of the Belle organ playing popular selections. In all, patrons of the Belle Theatre will most assuredly be treated to a very pleasing evening's enjoyment, in cool and comfortable surroundings.

To be well born is indeed a great gift of Fate. To be ill born is not necessarily Fate's last word.—Havelock Ellis.

At The Capitol

THRILLING STORY OF LONDON'S UNDERWORLD

"Night Birds" is the story of the tracking of an underworld "killer" and is the last picture starring Jameson Thomas to be made in this country before he was "snapped up" by the American and went to Hollywood.

Others in the cast of this picture include Muriel Angelus, an excellent "find" for the "talkies"—also appeared in "Sons o' Guns" at the London Hippodrome — Jack Raine, Eve Gray and Franklyn Bellamy.

The story opens with a robbery at a society dinner party by a group of criminals led by "Flash Jack" whose knife-throwing is accurate and deadly. There is a murder, and Scotland Yard sets quickly on the job. A detective tracks the knife-thrower to a night club, and makes the acquaintance of his girl friend. The murder of an informer at the club gives him a fresh clue, and after some exciting incidents the criminal is caught.

"Night Birds" comes to the Capitol Theatre on Friday and Saturday along with Joe. E. Brown and Winnie Lightner in "Sit Tight", a glowing comedy of a fake health institute with Winnie as the doctor and Joe as the instructor.

Lots of fun, thrills, mystery and intrigue abound in this double-feature programme, and all the family is advised to take advantage of this offering at the Capitol.

Free Radio coupons will be again distributed at each performance.

Cement curbing will also be placed to carry off the water to the basins.

HOLIDAY OR HOLY DAY

With the steady stream of traffic travelling on the highways and concession roads on Sundays one is forced to ask "Is Sunday a holiday or a day of rest?" To all appearances it is a holiday. Thousands of families, after fully preparing the day preceding, leave early Sunday morning for a jaunt through the country when they spend an enjoyable day viewing the wonders of nature.

Such a day of picnic and family gatherings than it ever was, mainly due of course to the increasing ease by which one is able to travel. It was not many years ago, however, when visitors would expect their week-end hosts to take them to church sometime during their visit, but not so now. The visitor usually wants a good time, drives through the country, admiring the scenery, without one thought for the Sabbath. Being without whose divine aid there could be no beauty, no blossoms, no

Gambler's Row, California Resort Damaged by Fire

BARGE BURNED

Cutters and Shore Boats Save Crew, Croupiers, and 40 Guests

San Pedro, Cal., July 22— Gamblers' row of Long Beach was a subdued stretch of water today with one of its three barges destroyed by a fire and another under surveillance because of a mysterious killing.

While Los Angeles police were making arrests in an endeavour to link the killing of Charles Boneman on the Rose Isle last Monday to a "band of eastern robbers," whose activities allegedly resulted Tuesday in the death of John Miller, the barge Johanna Smith moored to the water's edge within three hours.

Ready to Sail

Forty members of the crew and croupiers, and about fifty guests were aboard the former lumber schooner, when flames broke out at noon and almost simultaneously. In a rush to the rails, the ship's occupants, mostly men, escaped two broken ribs.

Several of the gambling-men were pressed to leap into the sea with chairs and tables as lifepreservers when four coast guard cutters and three navy shore boats sped up and removed all to safety.

Scoop up Cash

Clarence Blaster, of Long Beach, owner, said he believed he had saved the bulk of his cash receipts from tables and safe and jamming it into satchels. The games ordinarily required between $50,000 and $100,000.

The Johanna Smith burned at the identical spot where the gambling ship Monticone was destroyed by fire two years ago. The Rose Isle and the third of the row, the Monte Carlo, were anchored a few hundred feet away from the Johanna Smith.

Police Captain B. J. McGlade, announcing the arrest of four men, said Miller, found shot to death in an alley he was being questioned in drug store robbery, did not commit suicide as at first believed, but was shot by another robber with whom he had quarrelled over division of loot.

PICNICKERS STILL SUFFER

Twenty with Ptomaine Poisoning Stay in Hospital

Washington, July 22.—About 20 of the hundreds of picnickers stricken with ptomaine poisoning following a boat trip down the Potomac yesterday remained in the hospital today, but apparently were not in serious condition.

Hospital officials indicated that most of those still receiving treatment probably would be discharged later in the day. Health authorities of the District of Columbia meanwhile pursued an investigation to determine what food caused the sudden illness of the picnickers as blamed a deviled egg salad.

There were about 1,000 in the party and almost all became ill.

AUTOGRAPH HUNTERS BUSY AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, July 22 (CP)—Autograph hunters have stormed parliamentarians, especially many delegates to the Imperial Conference. They lie in wait behind pillars and door ways, tapping and whispering. Stanley Baldwin, a Sean O'Kelly or a Sir Earl Charteris appears. Then a touching plea for a signature, a gleam of satisfaction as pen touches paper and a return to the shadows of the pillar to await another celebrity.

ROLLED UP SHIRT SLEEVE ACTS AS BAR

St. Thomas, Ont., July 22 —(C.P.)—The London and Port Stanley Railway Commission dance hall at Lake Erie is very discriminating in taste when it comes to a matter of patrons.

Twenty-seven young fathers were barred from the dance floor Wednesday because the male escorts did not have their suit coats on and because their shirt sleeves were rolled up. The Toronto visitors were so put out at the action of the ticket seller that they asked for a refund of their money and left in disgust.

Zane Grey, Finishing Head Back is Declared Winner

LIVERPOOL, Eng., July 22.—(CP)—The first disqualification in the more than a century's record of the Liverpool Summer Cup, great handicap race, came to day when A. J. Smith's China King, bet at five to one favorite, was disqualified for the jockey's riding tactics.

Lady Derby's Zane Grey, which had finished just a head back, was declared winner of the race with Mrs. E. C. Nolan's Royal Athlone, another three quarters of a length back, second and F. Straker's Yellow Dun third.

The betting was nine to one against Zane Grey, a four-year-old thoroughbred by Wrack out of Marches Out of Zarate and nine to one against Royal Athlone.

The distance was a mile, two furlongs and 176 yards.

It was exactly the 100th renewal of the feature, first run in 1836. (The Cup was not abandoned during the war years).

300 Pounds of Pig Clears 5 Ft. Wall Ameliasburgh Animal Sets Record Farmer Ends Jumping Feat of Sow

Who owns the champion jumping hog in these parts one which can rival horses?

Probably J. W. Coulter, who lives seven miles south of Redenville, Prince Edward County.

Anyway he is the title holder until some one puts up a better record than one Thomas. She had never tried it since she failed."

Mr. Coulter has seen some high jumpers, as for instance a Cobourg horse show, but he feels he is putting this fine hundred pound hog against any of the equines.

"My neighbours can substantiate my story" was his parting phrase to the scribe.

Then another, which made the total of five feet in height and 10 and behold she cleared that with ease.

"I said 'Well, I will add another until I get to the place she cannot get over'. I added the board over five feet and I heard her fall against it and then on the floor. She had never tried it since she failed."

BENNETT SPEECH "RARE" IN COURAGE, ENTHUSIASM

LONDON, July 22 (Canadian Press)—The entire English press, giving greatest prominence to the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa was unanimous in recognition of the auspicious start that has been made and at the same time most of the great newspapers pointed out no judgment was possible until the conference has got down to concrete particulars.

"Premier Bennett believes in putting the cards on the table at once," said the Manchester Guardian. "The hand he has put down is at least a great deal better than that which Mr. Thomas (Secretary for Dominions) so justly castigated." (This referred to the Canadian Prime Minister's declarations at the opening of the last Imperial Conference).

"One can form no opinion of the advantages of the Canadian plan until it is known more specifically what it involves," the Manchester Guardian added. "It remains to be seen whether Mr. Bennett in reality has gone very much on the fundamentally exclusive policy of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

"Perhaps the most cheering thing was to hear so many delegates expressly disassociate themselves from the thesis that Empire commerce can and should be carried behind a fence (against foreign competition) and no speaker put this more clearly than Mr. Bennett himself."

Noting that Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British delegation, said completed Empire free trade was not possible, the Daily Express says he should have added, "yet."

The Morning Post considers Prime Minister Bennett's speech distinguished for "courage and enthusiasm" and "French press has noted modern statesmanship." Mr. Baldwin's speech was described as sympathetic but vague.

The Daily Mail considered the first day's proceedings showed the frankness, sincerity and helpfulness which had been confidently anticipated in the message from His Majesty, while the Liberal News-Chronicle commented on the many whatever the prospects, there could be no doubt of the high spirit in which the delegates had entered their formidable task.

Paris, July 22 (C. P. Cable)—Opening of the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa is of the greatest interest to French press but the dominant note being that of failure of the Empire's conference even before it is held.

Le Journal, one of the greatest Parisian newspapers, declared the conference would be a failure unless Britain remains behind the British facade of the British Empire "and whether it is possible to arm within a group of nations accustomed to co-operation, the economic and financial problems for which a universal solution is now being sought."

"BUSINESS AS USUAL" WITH REV. A. L. GEEN ON 83RD BIRTHDAY

Messages of congratulation and good wishes are once more pouring in on Rev. A. L. Geen as today he celebrates the eighty-third anniversary of his birthday. It is almost impossible to believe that he is unconcernedly going about the duties of his business, the same as ever, though the age of eighty-three for certainly the burden of his years is a light one. Straight and erect, fresh of face, alert and the picture of health, Mr. Geen is the wonder of the people and the envy of the old.

Every day he has to answer someone's inquiring "How are you, sir, and how are you young?" and every answer is a quick-and witty retort. Proof is to be solid evidence. Mr. Geen's sense of humour keeps age at bay.

HOLDS MANY RECORDS

Mr. Geen holds record after record, and every few years he acquires more. He is the oldest living member of the City Council and can remember away "when" in the early days. He is the oldest member when Belleville wasn't a city at all but a struggling community.

He is the oldest commercial entrée who has a splendid lot for the circus tents.

In Masonic circles Mr. Geen has a proud place. He was the forty-fourth Mason to be initiated into Eureka Lodge. The forty three before him, and down to the present day, he has outlived. He is the oldest charter member of Mizpah Lodge I.O.O.F. But these are only a few of his records. He is the oldest active person in Belleville and the oldest veteran in Kingston diocese. Never had he missed taking a Sunday service.

OLDEST RETAIL DRUGGIST

The oldest retail druggist in Ontario, Mr. Geen began business in the city in 1871, the same year that Eaton's store was opened and the Dominion Bank began. He is the oldest active retail druggist and the oldest senior past president of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada.

A NATIVE OF BELLEVILLE

Possessed of a keen memory, Mr. Geen often has to act as an information bureau for people seeking information about Belleville's past and quite frequently he is called upon to settle friendly arguments about the city. Belleville is his home and has been for all but a few years of his lifetime. Historic "Moodie Cottage" has been his residence for sixty years and he and Mrs. Geen have lived there their entire married life. Mrs. Geen has also enjoyed good health and while not as active as Mr. Geen still enjoys life to the fullest.

With all his other accomplishments, Mr. Geen is a good fisherman and that is one sport he has many long years of experience in, one of which Mr. Geen is especially fond, that of "Sho-je-ko-wa-nen" conferred upon him by the Mohawks and Tyendinaga Reserve, when they made him one of their brothers. His trips to the reserve are of great interest and pleasure to him.

CROWDED DAYS

Mr. Geen's days are crowded with activities at an age when most people are glad to sit and rest in an armchair. He has never known what a day's illness, is too busy to be sick. He can be found every week day at Geen's Drug Store and every Sunday conducting church services somewhere. Age has not dimmed his eyes, his hearing is as keen as in the years, is heartfelt in the hope that he will have many long years yet of health and happiness.

Then the owner returned recently. The tree was cut down and the ancient car moved out of the garage to the auction sale. EARLY RAINFALL IS VERY HEAVY Waving fields of corn, grain which has recently headed out splendidly, and all sorts of garden truck emerged fresh and greener in this section today as the result of a heavy but short downpour of rain during a sharp thunderstorm early Friday morning. What moisture did fall was particularly appreciated by farmers in this district. There was only a light sprinkle with the rain—it wasn't long enough, declared many of them, who commented on the downpour. Although the ground which had been thoroughly dried out by a recent heat wave has now been well soaked in most sections there is a need for a heavier and prolonged rain which will penetrate deeper.

Minnie Keeps Close Vigil

Rat Under Grate Has Fatal Day Ahead of Him

Minnie still keeps the vigil.

By a grating in front of a downtown grocery store on Front Street, near the Ontario Intelligencer office, Minnie has taken up her post and refuses to leave. Everybody knows Minnie, and everybody hopes that she'll get that rat she saw disappear down grating some days ago. Meanwhile she bides her time. Except for most times at Thomas' store, or any of the other butcher or grocery stores which she visits impartially, she is never absent from that grating. All day and far into the night, Minnie the large grey cat sits and peers down the hole under the front of the building. Some time that rat is going to poke his head out—and then!

As has been said, everybody knows old Minnie. All the Old Timers on the street stop and talk with her. She's an Old Timer herself. She was born on lower Front St. and has never left it. Back in the days when the affairs of the city used to be conducted alongside the big stove in Panter's grocery store, Minnie was a favorite with Mayors and aldermen and all other officials. She knew them all. But times have changed. She has grown old-er. To every one now she is a bit aloof, even the policemen on their beat who stop to rub her head, if she knows you though, she'll show it. And if you feed her she'll thank you politely. No frivolity now, like there used to be. Now there is only one urge—to kill as many rats as she can before she dies. How old she is no one knows but it has not dampened her ar-dor.

That's why she keeps her vigil at the grating. And we hope she gets that rat.

HAS WHISTLING ART QUITE MASTERED

Belleville folk are not unacquainted with the gentle art of whistling.

Talkers have whistled for their money on long over-due accounts. Hardware merchants have whistled. Butchers have whistled and retail station men have whistled. In shoe stores and department stores clerks and managers lean across counters and whistle in the early morning. Half the town is whistling to the other half. But the man who did the most successful whistling within recent days was discerned on Charles Street, near East Bridge. He was well versed in the art of whistling. But, instead of lips, he had a tin whistle. On the whistle he played merry tunes. From wedding marches to love lyrics, ending back to plaintive melodies of forgotten masters swept the volatile notes of the mechanical whistler. Windows in nearby homes banged open. Residents made deprecatory noises and tossing chitchings. They waved at him. He waved back, and grinned. As a last resort coins were flung. He pocketed them, pocketed his whistle and slowly moved off. Whether he was paid for his whistling, or paid to stop his whistling is the question in that particular section of the town. Some have sent an SOS as to anyunkindly, it was just another racket!

NO SPECIAL TACKLE IS USED TO HOOK THIS ONE

It is an epic served for regional anglers.

For many moons various fishermen of this district, in odd moments of temptation, have packed their kit and journeyed to one of the three spans of the Bay Bridge where they have successfully spent the day hauling out balls of tangled wire, cats-cradles of nails and bed springs from the murky depths. Occasionally a three-inch perch or bass was hooked, and then there would be loud hurrahs—and a larger gang would come. Thursday there was cause for loud and prolonged cheering.

Bobby Ross, eight-years old, and with an urge to go fishing, secured some twine, a tree limb and a fish hook. He procured a few minnows in a tin can, walked to the bridge and swung his legs over the cement part. His daughter was not far away while the minnow swung at the end of the hook in the water. Then came the daddy of tugs. The tyro's body was held firm and fast. After much shouting, excitement and hustling about on the part of older fishermen, who all took a hold, a finny giant was pulled to the pier. Other fishermen took a look and solemnly packed their poles. Bobby grabbed the pike and set off for town to sell it to a Chinese restaurant. In the excitement no one weighed it, but those who saw it say it was "pretty big."

DENIZENS OF THE WOODS PLENTIFUL IN OAK HILLS

Little denizens of the woods bordering the Stirling highway still continue to meander aimlessly across the broad road at all hours of the day and night, and get themselves tangled up in the wheels of speeding motor vehicles. Rabbits, squirrels and chipmunks, even, are not fast enough to escape being flattened on the road. Except for occasional skunks, which can be seen now and then, the porcupine with quills erect, presents the most formidable sight to motorists. Mr. Hilts Holmes, who commutes between Belleville and Oak Lake Mineral camp, has reported no scarcity of these hairy animals.

Belleville Cats Real Problem No One to Control Their Yowls

Cats of varying sizes and clarity of voice nightly serenade various section of the town. From roof tops and back fences their nocturnal sighing and yowlings have bounced through open windows to sleepless pillows. But, like the famous brook, they give promise of going on forever. There is nothing that can be done about them.

City dog-catcher, Thomas Thorne, disclaims all responsibility for their presence within the confines of the city. As far as he is concerned they can use the top of the city hall tower for their meeting place or hold their regular evening concerts on the market square. Anyhow, he's too busy to look after transient tom-cats. Wasn't he out until three o'clock Wednesday morning chasing stray dogs through alleys on the west side? Cat-calching does not come within his defined duties. Of that he's sure. Maybe the police, he suggests. Or the fire department. He has spurs, to rescue them from the tops of Hydro poles, but—that's all.

Now, ugly they are not worrying.

Forgets Air Nozzle is Attached to Valve, Balloon Tire Explodes

Gordon Nolan walked into a down-town service station, late Thursday afternoon, with a new truck tire and a new tube he had just purchased. It needed air. He removed the valve top, adjusted the air hose nozzle to the valve and waited until the compressor could catch up with the required pressure.

He lit his pipe, sauntered to the door and engaged in passing conversation with the proprietor of the station. They talked of Premier Bennett, the Imperial Conference—and the cost of new truck tires.

Nolan jumped did an about face and ran to the tire just as the balloon shaped rubber swelled into a watermelon-like bulge, did a shimmy or two, and then blew up like a cannon. Pieces of rubber were picked out of various sections of the building, but fortunately no one was hurt.

A post-mortem held later reached the verdict that the tire before it had blown up had held in the neighborhood of 300 lbs.

TINY EIECTRIC MOTOR IS SHOWN

It is but 3/16 inch high and is fastened upon a case of the same diameter. A duplicate of standard motor, except in size, its power reading is .01 horsepower. It has all the parts required by standard design, the miniature three-sector rotor being wound with 30 turns of wire of each section, the wire .0025 inch in diameter. The field coils are wound with 90 turns of the same wire.

BELLEVILLE SCOUT RECOVERS BODY

Campbellford, July 23—Two and one-half hours after 9-year-old Ralph Adams fell into the Trent River, and after a physician had pronounced him dead, a Boy Scout and Hydro workers labored for hours to revive the youngster and believed they had started the spark of life flickering. Their efforts to bring the boy around failed, however.

The boy fell from a raft into deep water at 11.30. Mary Smith heard the boy's cries and, fully clothed, bravely plunged in after him, but was unable to drag the boy from the water. Recovery of the body was finally carried out by James Andrews, of the 2nd. Belleville Troop, a Boy Scout, who had been trained in life saving. He located the boy in 15 feet of water after swimming and diving for some minutes.

CANNING FACTORY IS AT PEAK OF WORK

Factory wheels in local canneries once more begin to hum as the first of the season canning is commenced. Long lines of trucks and horse drawn vehicles loaded with their green harvest of peas, said to be rather light in some sections, pull up to the lighted doors far into the night to be unloaded to the busy machines, and lend an air of activity to the factories. Fewer orders for this particular canning has resulted this year in fewer number of peas being done up than before, according to Belleville Canning Estate, one of the busier factories in the city. Other crops will be canned as the season approaches.

EVEN CATCH BASS IN MOIRA RIVER

Fishing is good in the river, near Corbyville. Consistent catches of bass have been recorded while those with boats have successfully trolled several large sized pike and pickerel in the centre of the river. During the few hours they fished on Thursday, two local youths enumerated thrir catch as follows: 7 medium sized bass, several rock fish, two eels, several mud-cats and one fairly large pike. Worms were used for bait, and the lads fished from the east bank of the river.

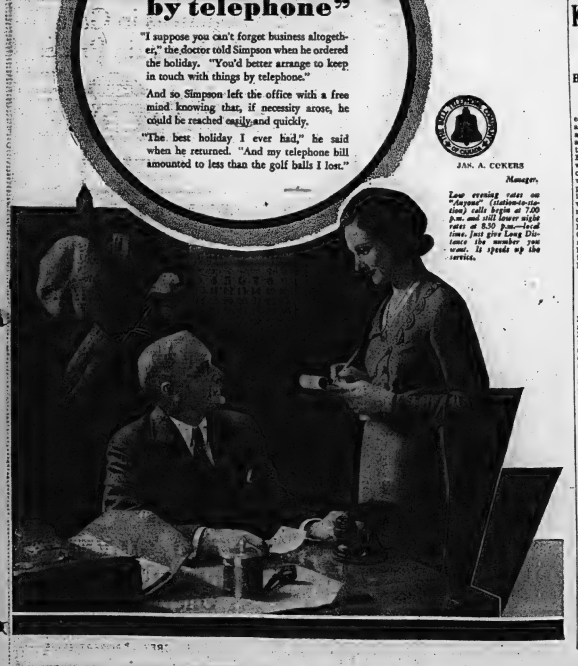
"I suppose you can't forget business altogether," the doctor told Simpson when he ordered the holiday. "You'd better arrange to keep in touch with things by telephone."



And so Simpson left the office with a free mind knowing that, if necessity arose, he could be reached easily and quickly.

"The best holiday I ever had," he said when he returned. "And my telephone bill amounted to less than the golf balls I lost."

KNOCKEDDOWN NOT INJURED

Boy Slips in Front of Car as He Pulls Peas From Wagon

Vines of green peas, which trailed temptingly to boyish eyes from an overloaded wagon on the way to a local cannery, North Front St., almost cost undetermined injuries to 8-year-old Jack Winter, North Front Street, Thursday afternoon when in an attempt to procure some of the peas which hung from the wagon he stepped directly into the path of a car which had been driving north on the road. The car was brought under control at the moment of impact with the boy and did not injure him other than knocking him to the pavement. Companions, who were with him also escaped injuries, which might have been occasioned if the machine had not been travelling slowly.

The funeral will be held at New Westminster, B.C.

NEW IDEA AT "BIDE-A-WEE"

Roadside refreshment stands have become so numerous and of such standard pattern, as a rule, catering to motor car tourists, that they fail to excite the interest they did when they first came into being, and are now lumped rather generally under the title of "Hot Dog Stands."

There is always room for something new, however, for man's inventive genius is never idle—and something new in this line is being evolved at Harry Ketcheson's tourist camp "Bide-a-Wee", on the Provincial Highway, just west of the city. This new wayside refreshment station is the product of the fertile minds of Clinton and Roy Woodbeck, who relying upon the universal appetite for ice cream will introduce something new in this line of guaranteed high standard. And will dispense ice cream cones in what they call the "double dip" manner which gives a very generous helping of the frozen delicacy. The ice cream served at "Bide-a-Wee" will be different from ordinary ice cream, say the Messrs Woodbeck, made by a process new in Canada, and will be put in good condition by electrical refrigeration.

The opening of the new wayside shrine to refreshment will be on Saturday when special inducements will be offered to patrons.

"Bide-a-Wee" is a government approved camp ground and there is plenty of parking space for cars.

During opening days entertainment of a character unique and interesting will be provided, and all motorists are invited to call at "Bide-a-Wee" and get acquainted with a new idea.

CITIES SERVICE OILS

This lamp burns daily to keep sulphur out of your gasolene

As a source of light to read by, this "lamp" would be anything but satisfactory. But as a means of seeing that you get reliable gasolene—gasolene that's safe to use—it is indispensable.

The crude oils which make the best gasolene, also contain sulphur. If the sulphur is left in gasolene, sulphuric acid forming compounds are formed when it burns in the combustion chamber. And sulphuric acid is highly corrosive—attacking cylinder walls, pistons, valves—any metal that it touches.

So chemists burn samples of gasolene in this lamp to see how much sulphur it contained in the gases given off. If there is as much as one-tenth of one per cent, Cities Service chemists will refuse to pass that particular batch of gasolene for sale.

Sulphur content is only one characteristic of gasolene that must be tested. If the refiner wishes to produce a pure, well-balanced, full-performance fuel—suited to the territory where it will be used. For this reason Cities Service maintains a complete staff of chemists, with the most complete equipment to work with. They have the power to reject any run of either gasolene or oil that does not measure up to their standards—and their word in the matter is final.

For Cities Service has given this pledge: "If it's Cities Service, it has to be good." These chemists see that this pledge is kept.

CAREERS OF SERVICE

Two Belleville men, young in years, have already given invaluable service to mankind by their scientific researches, Dr. Collip in the study of human diseases and Dr. Garvin H. Berkley in botanical study. Both these scientists and discoverers are remembered in the schools of this city where they studied. Their achievements should serve to make the students of the present day trained in better school buildings emulate these former students.

Dr. Collip and Berkeley have many years of life before them in which to add to their gifts to mankind.

While science is one of the most attractive and intriguing fields of effort, and while some of the greatest of men have been followed for ages as politics, medicine and business, yet in these the vista is great for wholehearted service. Never before has business had such an opportunity, nor has the field of statecraft with a whole world instead of one country as the object service so much to offer an unselfish youth. Then social science, medicine, law, all offer boundless opportunities for the youth of today.

Belleville scientists have shown the way of unselfish efforts. The road is open for more to win honor by serving.

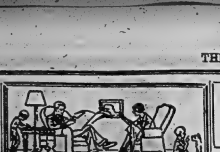
THE SUN'S ECLIPSE

The coming eclipse of the sun which will be partial in this province on August 31, and the western edge of the totality of which will pass centrally the full length of the Hudson and James Bays will find the people of today little perturbed about its meanings. Even when eclipses set the whole populace in wonder and fear but today science has calmed these fears as unwarranted as the cause of the eclipse is definitely known.

Yet a writer in the Montreal Gazette states that "eclipse generally shows a strong and popular movement for self-preservation all over North America and an opposition to war and the debauching results of commercialism." He goes on to tell of serious troubles in England and Gerany, very likely war between China and Japan, inviting Soviet Russia. He also notes that there are indications of popular movements against war and a diversion of energy along constructive lines for the general welfare as opposed to the private financial interests of a minority.

But like Horatio in the ghost play we may say, "It needs no eclipse come over the sun to tell us this." We have yet to be shown that everything is written in the stars and that they entirely govern our conditions.

BROADCAST A SYMBOL



The Imperial Conference has gone into deliberations behind closed doors after most auspicious opening ceremonies in which the ceremonial, King's message, the address of the Governor General who opened the gathering, the offer of greater British preferences by Canada to Great Britain by Premier Bennett and speeches by the heads of the various delegations gave a fair idea of the range of matters to be brought before the delegates, and of the earnestness with which they meet. The heavy load resting upon their shoulders is appreciated by each and every delegate from the various parts of the Empire. Unity of ideal dominated.

Thursday morning the entire world listened in on the opening program as the ceremonies and speeches were flung out by broadcast. The broadcast and reception were in themselves a symbol of the shrinking world in which the great barriers today are not ocean wastes and distances but national selfishness and trade and tariff walls. As the radio broadcast of the conference opening was something new, so are the circumstances under which the present conference is held. This fact shows that the world seeks to be one and is rapidly coming to that day, however difficult it may be to break down some of the preconceived ideas of nationality and old economic ideas.

Here is a whole world listening in on a conference of representatives of a quarter of the population of the earth linked up in an empire, which is nothing if not steadfast and also progressive.

Science has shown the way to a world brotherhood. The Imperial Conference is meeting with the express idea of serving the greatest cause of brotherhood on the earth, the British Empire and through it the balance of the nations. The day is at hand when there is expectation of unselfish decision in cause of all mankind. To this end the success of the conference cannot but show the way. Former Premier Stanley Bruce of Australia said, "There is no reason why we cannot, within our own group of nations, associated as we assuredly would be with other nations whose monetary policy is closely linked to ours, take the first steps to restore world trade. Such a development would gain the adherence of other countries and with the strength thus gathered, the way would be paved for a solution of what is perhaps the greatest problem that has even baffled mankind."

The radio is preparing the world for this ideal, this brotherhood of international thought.

SHOULDER TO SHOULDER

By Arthur Guiterman

In The New York American

Let us have done with these quavers of fear and defeat!
Life is for labor and gales are for courage to weather.
What is the task that we have not the vigor to meet?
Close up the ranks as aforetime, and onward together!
Heed not the babblers who speak but to cavil and sneer,
Out with the cynical prig and the querulous scolder!
Heroes again to the vanward and fools to the rear;
Americans, shoulder to shoulder!

Lift up your heads in the pride that belonged to our youth;
Nothing is lost, and the noblest is yours for the limning;
Clear visioned, joyous and resolute, facing the truth,
Give of your best to the work that is only beginning.
Root out the base and the evil and tread them beneath,
Leaving the weeds in their rankness to wither and molder;
Let not the bright sword of justice corrode in its sheath;
Americans, shoulder to shoulder!

Cleave to your leaders, the men you may honor and trust;
Candid and wise, by the test of the storm you shall know them.
Stanch as the oak when the reeds are the sport of the gusts;
Strengthen their hearts and their hands by the faith that you owe them.
March with the sweep of the stars in the banner above,
Battling and striving and conquering, blither and bolder,
Not for a faction or class, but the land of our love;
Americans, shoulder to shoulder!

AUGUST 30, 31, SEPTEMBER 1 and 2, are the dates for Belleville's Biggest and Best Fair this year. This is an institution which reflects the spirit of Belleville and every citizen should be interested in keeping the Fair at the highest point of excellence possible. Belleville Fair is representative of the whole Bay of Quinte district and the robust, progressive spirit of the district is reflected in the annual exhibition in a manner which is a matter of pride to all concerned. The presentation of such an exhibition year after year is not accomplished without a prodigious amount of work and the officers have never failed yet in this labor of love which takes their time away from their legitimate business. Belleville Fair this year must be Bigger and Better than ever and the only way to make it so is for everybody to get behind it and put it over in a big way. The officers are working hard, all they ask from the general public is their attendance at the Fair as many of the four days as possible, for you cannot have a big fair without a big crowd—so let's cast our cares aside for the Four Big Days and celebrate together the Return of Prosperity which has been lurking 'round the corner too long. Belleville Fair directors propose to remove the corner.

TWO FRONT STREET BUSINESS MEN talking over this and that during a lull in business commented on the fact that it was difficult to get repeat orders filled on some lines of goods they were handling. This they took as an indication that the bogey of over-production had vanished and that things were all set for a general revival in business starting with a general pepping up of production in the factories to catch up with growing demand. Let's hope they have to work overtime to make the grade.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JULY 22, 1912

Belleville is certainly to be congratulated on the progressive spirit exhibited by some of the leading residents of Foster Ward. A few days ago a gentleman from Deseronto entered into negotiations with Mr. Dick Dosebery for the sale and transfer of a beautiful sailing craft of the "Shark Ark" class and style. After three or four days discussion and arbitration the transfer was effected, the purchase price of three dollars and ten cents being paid in lawful coin of the realm. The former owner declared that had he been able to control her he would not have considered an offer of less than four dollars. As soon as she passed into the hands of the present owner, "Captain Dick" (who by the way has been raised to the office of captain by the Wharf Street Club) at once proceeded to give an exhibition of his ability and good will and accordingly invited all the children in Foster Ward to a free sail down the bay. The invitation was very generously responded to and the craft was filled to her utmost capacity. A sail about a mile down the bay was completed in four or five hours. A little ill luck attended the trip as some of the sailing fell from a hole in her bow and it was found necessary to beach her on Cow Island. After a considerable delay she was repaired with mud and old clothes, the only articles at hand, and having set sail on the homeward journey, "Captain Dick" safely navigated her to harbor. After being completely overhauled she will sail under the name of the "Cabbage Queen," the owner expecting to clear three times each week with cabbage for Charlotte.

Seventeen years ago today, July 23, 1885, the remains returned home from the North West Rebellion and were given a rousing reception. The city was gaily decorated with flags and bunting and huge arches covered with evergreen boughs were erected at the G.T.R. station and on Front Street. Bands played and the immense crowd of people shouted and cheered the soldiers as they passed along the line of march. They were a fine body of men—greatly tanned in appearance and the people of this city and district were proud of them. Dinner was served to the officers and men of the 49th Regiment upon the grounds at the home of Col. Brown.

Other Papers' Opinions

EVIL OF HOARDING GOLD

The New York banks still hold a third or more of the worlds gold. Its accumulation has probably been the greatest single factor in bringing about the crisis. By causing a scarcity of money in other countries it drove down world prices, impoverishing the farmer especially in the United States as elsewhere, and made it difficult for the rest of the world to buy American goods. Instead of oiling the wheels of internal and international trade it served to finance an extravagant orgy of stock exchange speculation and made the basis of a gold inflation with the inevitably disastrous results.—London Times.

LAZY MAN'S METHOD

Lindsay citizens have perhaps become hardened to the custom prevalent at band concerts here of showing "appreciation" but a resident of another community who visited several of the band concerts here called to say that he thought the raucous tooting of horns as a method of showing appreciation at the conclusion of a number was distinctly disagreeable. In fact he went further than that. "Musicians are artists," he said. "I have no idea what their feelings in the matter are. Perhaps they may be used to this strange form of applause but it seems to me that the method followed here is an insult to their efforts." He said that in the town where he came from the benches nearest the band circle around the bandstand and the people came to sit there and enjoy the music on summer evening. They weren't afraid to wait a little ways for that applause and when the conductor ended the music they showed that appreciation in the approved fashion.

Come to think of it there is a lot in what the gentleman said. The bandsmen have made no complaint whatsoever but, it seems that when they have spent many long hours of practice to play a stirring march, a classic or any of splendid music both of the local organizations offer that the blaring of horns at that strike a discordant note.—Lindsay Post.

THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER

No city newspaper from outside can take the place of the local newspaper in covering the news events of its own community. True, the larger dailies may carry a greater amount of world news, but when it comes to touching on the events which record the life of the people, the intimate doings of the people of the small town or city, the big city newspapers are outclassed, because they simply cannot pay attention to the small community. They try to find space for a few brief paragraphs of news of places like Oshawa, usually culled from the local newspaper of the day before, and let it go at that.

The local newspaper, on the other hand, concentrates its attention on the news of its own city and district. Telegraph and cable news from distant points is discarded in favor of what is going on in the home community. And the people can find in the local newspaper columns of news daily that cannot be found in any other paper. It is the aim of the local newspaper and its staff of reporters to cover the local news field thoroughly, and to make the newspaper a complete mirror of community life. That is why it is indispensable to the citizen who is interested in being well informed as to what is going on in his own city.—Oshawa Times.

FINGERPRINTS OF CHILDREN TAKEN

LONDON, Ont., July 22.—Following the recent kidnaping of Lindbergh's baby, several Londoners have gone to the police here to have their children finger-printed for identification purposes. Including in the number was a family of four, mother, father and two small children, who recently moved here from Baltimore, Maryland. The prints are filed for identification purposes only, and are not kept in the same division as those of criminals.

Upon a check-up it was ascertained that no Belleville babies had been finger-printed to date.

(By Gayle Talbot)
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)
The Boston Red Sox, up to a few weeks ago a demoralized, beaten lot, have threatened to break all existing records for games lost, are showing distinct signs of improvement under the guidance of Marty McManus.

They still do not look like a pennant threat, of course, and very probably will finish where they have been ever since they started—a strong eighth—but there can be no doubt McManus has made progress since he relieved a discouraged Shanon Shibe last month.

With Smead Jolley and Roy Johnson hitting far better than they did for the White Sox and Tigers, respectively, and the young pitchers coming through with a striking performance of their season, they have won 19 of their last 23 contests and have lost only four since in the last month. Boston fans, notoriously loyal when given half a chance, are back in the ball park in the boys of Fenway Park again.

Depend on Youngsters

With most of the veteran pitching staff, that finished the 1931 season scattered over the major and minor Leagues, the Sox have come up with a set of youngsters to pull the scalp out of the muck. He's been springing some new kid pitcher that nobody ever heard of at least once a week, and he appears to have dug up some promising talent.

Larry Boerner, the Rookie, who yesterday held the Yankees to two hits in seven innings, is his latest find. It was only the second start for Boerner, who formerly was the property of the St. Louis Cardinals and recently was signed by the Sox as a free agent. Bob Kline, Bob Weiland, "Bull" Durham and Ivy Andrews are other promising sophomores on the staff. Kline shut Chicago out with two hits last week.

As well as he buried yesterday, Boerney has yet to receive credit for a league victory. Old Wiley Moore went the last two frames, in which the Sox came from behind to win, 3 to 2. The Washington Senators regained fourth place in the American League by beating Detroit, 8 to 6. In their final Monte Weaver had the Tigers stopped after the first inning.

The St. Louis Browns broke their losing streak of 11 straight, when Walter Stewart pitched himself a four-hit game and defeated the Athletics, 5 to 2. Goose Goslin smacked two doubles and two singles in leading the Brown's attack.

In the National League's only engagement, the pace setting Pittsburgh Pirates scored in the last of the ninth to beat the Phillies, 3 to 2, and increase their lead to two and a half games. "Pie" Traynor's single after two were out, followed by Lloyd Waner's double, settled the contest.

ED. BEGIN WILL BE BUSY MAN

Most of His Players Were in The Dirt Chasing Flies

Trenton, July 22—(Special)—During the past week there has been a lull in the league softball games due to the fact that a number of the players on each team are away on vacations. In lieu of these games there has been a series of exhibition games. Last night Jack Kinney's Warehouse nine met Ed Begin's Tailors who were going on ten to eight. The game drew a good many laughs from the crowd gathered. One stipulation on which the players had to go with was that they all had to be batting lefthanded and Begin the rival managers will probably be signed by some of the Toronto teams, according to the way they covered second base. Charlie Allen who is in the lumber business here should have had enough foresight to bring some large planks for his team mates to use for batting practice. Frank Dellio, who was calling the earring for Begin's men, while running hard for a pop fly fell covered himself with grey dirt), but never mind Frank, Begin's a tailor and will surely clean your suit for you. Lineups:

Begin's Tailors—Sedlock 1st; Perry ss; Chase rf; Herman 2rd; LaMore lf; Dellio p; Begin 2nd; Chamberlain cf; Walters c.

Umpires—Plate Burri; Bases Howe.

Oshawa, July 22—Thomas Kolpatrick, of Reach Township, was fatally injured at about 7.30 o'clock Wednesday night when he was thrown from a heavy hay rake, and dragged for some distance by his frightened horses.

The injured man, who was seventy-six years of age, sustained a fractured skull as the result of which he died within an hour.

Kaye Don Says Boat Built Especially For Race

London, July 21—Kaye Don, British holder of the world's speed-boat record of 119.81 miles an hour will sail with the Miss Britain III and IIX, August 10 for the United States and the Harmsworth trophy races at Detroit Sept. 1-5.

Don says the coming test will be the hardest he has ever faced but his new boat, he said, was built especially for the race and not merely for straightaway speed runs as the ill-fated Miss Britain II, which turned over with Don in the trophy competition last fall.

Gar Wood, of Detroit, former record holder and defender of the trophy, is building a new Miss America to which he fully realises his formidable opposition.

Parade Held at Hamilton For Los Angeles Bound Athletes

Sarnia, Ont., July 20 (by Mark Dunnaj, Canadian Press staff writer aboard the Olympic special train bound for Los Angeles)—Stood stirred by a rousing demonstration at Hamilton late last night, where 10,000 cheered and waved as the sun browned body of the athletic contingent got aboard the International Olympic special train, the Canadian team for the Los Angeles Olympic Games settled down into the United States early today.

The first stop in the four-day journey to Los Angeles is to be made late today at Chicago where the 84 athletes from Canada, 70 from Great Britain, 36 from Hungary and 30 from South Africa will hold stiff workouts.

NEWARK BEARS STILL ON TOP

Skeeters Throw a Scare Into Ranks Before Subdued

(By the Associated Press)

A great deal of the "spice" of the International League season comes from the clashes of the next-door-neighbors of the circuit, Newark and Jersey City, the closest pair, Toronto and Montreal and Buffalo and Rochester. And of these bonanza of the Meadow City clubs, close enough together, that the fans can go along with the teams, furnish some of the most interesting battles.

Although the Skeeters are in sixth place and have few hopes of getting much better, they always manage to put up a close game against their league leading rivals. So far they have won six games to Newark's eight.

Jersey City all but evened the series yesterday by rapping Rute Meadow fix three runs in the second innings. But the Bears came back, driving Perkins from the hill in the sixth to tie the count and finally won out 6-4, when Dixie Walker smashed out a double with a Reiffe and Hafey on base in the eighth.

Buffalo's second place Bisons kept pace with Newark by outslugging the Montreal Royals 9 to 4 after the visitors had taken a home run with the bases full in the third inning, the Royals had an uphill battle and the best they could get out of it was a tie score in the eighth, when pitcher Roy Brannon hit for the circuit with one on. George Driver drove in Buffalo's winning run with a single in the ninth.

Baltimore's heavy hitting contest from Reading, 14 to 10, under the lights. Both sides shed pitchers freely, and none was effective. Sand and Jordan, each with three hits, led the Baltimore attack, while Lester Bell punched a home run with the bases loaded for Reading.

CURRENT SPORT
Knocks and Boosts

According to Eddie Allan, sports writer of the Toronto Mail and Empire, the Toronto Maple Leafs, world's professional hockey champions, started training at either Belleville or Kingston this fall. If this be so, and we believe every reason to believe it, nothing should be left undone to induce the Maple Leafs to come to Belleville to do their training this fall. Business men, merchants, sportsmen and citizens of Belleville in general should get behind the issue and make it their business to have the Leafs here. The training of a world's champion hockey team in Belleville would mean dollars to all concerned as well as tremendous boosting. The center of a big league hockey team would no doubt be at least 24 players, including the rookies, along with trainers, instructors and all their families.

The coming of the Leafs to Belleville would also add considerable to the prestige of the Belleville Arena as people who have never been inside of the edifice would be there to see the champs in action. All the arena directors would need to do would be to reduce the use of the building would be the guarantee of two or three exhibition games in order to repay them. These games would more than many times over for the use of the arena. We understand that a move has been made to personally invite, by delegation, the Leafs to the city for fall training and we are told locally in accord with the movement. Not a single effort should be lost in putting the project across, however.

All games in the Bay of Quinte Intermediate League have been postponed until the O.B.A.A. executive have voted on players Campbell and Adams who played with the Belleville Victorias and were protested by the Trenton club last week. We, previously came to the view with the protestant that we thought three two players eligible to play for Belleville in that league we were of the opinion that both players lived in Tweed and, however, we were informed that Adams lives in Selphide. The question now arises whether or not Tweed is closer to Selphide than is Belleville. In the case of Campbell, however, Belleville is closer to Tweed than Deseronto and he is legally qualified to play for the Vics under the regulations rule, only. Both players have their territorial release from Madoc though.

For the following few paragraphs we are indebted to the sports editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard. We might add, however, that his idea of neutral umpires has always been our contention and we advocated this little thing last spring before the annual meeting of the C.O.B.L. but without avail. The Kingston sport's writer says:

"We often wonder if it ever occurs to the fans who like to 'ride' the umpire in the C.O.B.L. circuit so hard, what a very difficult position umpires are in under the present set-up in vogue in the C.O.B.L. For instance with Belleville in the Quinte Belleville man is behind the plate and a Kingston man on the bases and vice-versa in Belleville.

No matter what the umpire does or says close ups, throws going to be a holler from some of the rabid fans anyway, if not from both. Even if he makes some town team he's in wrong with the crowd and the town where he comes from and if he gives it against the visitors, he's looked on as a home trimmer.

There are many baseball fans who are of the firm opinion that baseball umpires of any league must be obtained until neutral umpires, that is, umpires from places in no way related to the towns or not participating, are secured. No Kingston man should be asked to umpire a ball game in which Kingston is playing, neither should a Belleville man when Belleville is playing. The same goes for Cobourg and Peterboro.

The umpires are fair and honest in their decisions. They don't call everything right. No umpire ever did or ever will. But as things are now when they do call a close one they are in wrong all round. The sooner that outside umpires are used the sooner will there be peace and the lives of the umpires made a little happier as well.

When Peterboro and Kingston are playing a man from Belleville and one from Cobourg should handle the game and as one may be a bit more costly but it will be better for everybody concerned."

As all games in the Bay of Quinte loop have been indefinitely postponed, the Canada Cement team played the Gibbard Athletics in Point Anne last evening. The game was of the exhibition nature and the fans got their money's worth. After the scorer had used a couple of adding machines, etc., he was forced to work long and hard to finally add up the score. There were no less than 39 runs scored during the game, we hear. When the final conference reached it was found that the Gibbard Athletics had garnered 17 runs to their Point Anne rivals 12. Manager Ernie Gibbard was quite tickled at his team has now won 10 of their 13 games played this year.

Yesterday's Stars

Walter Stewart, Browns—Held the Athletics to four hits to win 5 to 2.

Larry Boerner, Red Sox—Allowed the slugging Yankees only two hits in seven innings.

Joe Cronin, Senators—His three hits and two runs enabled the Senators to lick Detroit 8 to 6.

"Pie" Traynor and Lloyd Waner, Pirates—Their hits after two were out in the ninth scuttled the Phillies.

CIACOS SWAMP MAPLE LEAFS

Lois Carter and Pat Ethier Failed to Stop The Hitting

Under an avalanche of base hits of all descriptions, the Ciaco girl's softball team advanced another rung in the ladies' loop, when they swamped the Maple Leafs by the score of 20 to 5 at the Armouries Lawn last evening.

For over four innings the lowly Maple Leafs led the heavy hitting Corbyville girls but fell sadly by the wayside, when the Ciaco club sent 12 batters to the plate in the sixth. They scored nine runs on seven hits, coupled with three errors and plenty of throwing the ball about the diamond. Again in the ninth frame, the Leafs had a lapse of mind and before they could collect themselves the Ciaco batters had scored eight runs on eight hits with a couple of errors tossed in for good measure. Lois Carter started on the hillop for the winners and after a rather shaky start, when the Leafs scored three runs in the initial frame, settled down to hurl a masterful game, although she was given excellent support by her team mates. Lois Carter started on the mound for the Leafs and after the situation well in hand until the latter part, when Pat Ethier was rushed to the hillop to try and stop the onslaught of base hits from the back of their rivals.

Hilda Mcstichael was the only Leaf batter to hit for extra bases when she cracked one for a four base clout. "Pat" Augustus and Ida Genereau were the only two Ciacos batters. Hilda Mc Stichael and Jean and Pearl Anselme for the Leafs provided the fielding sensations of the night.

Line-ups:

Maple Leafs—Carter: N. McMichael; Meens; Ethier; H. McMichael; Aselting; Rushlow; P. Hill and D. Hill.

Ciaco—Baker; Doolittle; Morgan Howie; Genereau; Thompson; Day Canning and Dey.

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Wrinkles, Beauty's Death-Lines

Women don't want to know what causes beauty ills, at least most of them don't. They want cures. Quick ones! Something to be gone out of a jar or poured out of a bottle and slathered on. There is no such thing as instantaneous beauty magic. Make up your mind to that fact, impatient one.

The hardest fight of all is the effacement of lines that have appeared under the skin. Success will come to a certain extent. At least lines can be checked. There is a need, if the beauty supplicant has health, of daily getting deeper. The cure is in local treatment, in hygienic habits, in mental health. The health of daily getting deeper. The cure is in local treatment, in hygienic habits, in mental health. The woman who gets enough sleep, exercise, bawls out trades people, blusters if the pepa is late for dinner, will never free herself of frowns or cutaneous signs of perturbance. Neither will the woman who goes on starvation reducing diets. Nothing betrays so brutally the solution of soft fatty tissues that are located under the skin. The youth these tissues are firm. Something happens to break their resistance. It may be a diet, lacking in fats, sweets and starches. It may be mental or nervous distress that burns up the cushions. It may be lack of sleep, in which circumstance tissues haven't a chance for rebuilding or repair.

A rejuvenating campaign won't avail much unless the causes are known and corrected, and these causes avoided.

Certain oils, the cocoanut oil and oil of sweet almonds, have penetrating properties that act upon tissues. Medical men pooh that idea sometimes, but facial operators in beauty shops, working year after year and observing results, know that conditions change under proper treatment. Lanolin is a good medium for massage, but women fear it, believing it will grow superfluous hair. Really it isn't that, but it grew hair there would be no bald babies born.

Whatever stimulates the blood streams helps to harden muscles, fibers and tissues. Massage will do that. The best form is a quick slapping and patting. The motion so fear is that favorite rotary procedure with the finger tips. It yells up the flesh, and that's bad. Work from the neck upward, especially at the sides of the neck, where arteries lie large.

Cold water is astringent. Once a day isn't often enough to use it. Put it on after the average medium at night and use again in the morning. Results are better if a small spray is used, fingers not chilled.

Poor sleepers show up wrinkles before their time. Women who lack exercise get them. Those who are always trying to invite them diet being deficient in food cleansing that acts internally for skin and tissue is pair. Naggers, whiners, sobbers, worriers naturally etch in lines. Better days, better faces, the damage that soon is beyond repair.

Although should wrinkle before the age of seventy not these days, when every means is at hand to help her to lead a normal, healthy life. She knows well enough that emotional upsets interefere with digestion and impoverish the complexion. She knows need of telling her about the benefits of bathing, massage, fresh air and poise. POTATO SALAD IS THE CAUSE

200 Picnickers Are Poisoned by Food Taken

Washington, July 22—(CP)—Two hundred members of a pay ex-cursion party on the river steamer Charles McAllister were brought back to Washington Thursday suffering from ptomaine poisoning.

Ambulances, police motor cars, fire trucks and private vehicles were rushed to the pier to meet the craft—which turned about 20 miles below Washington and came back at full steam ahead—to remove the suffering vacationists to hospitals. There was the greatest confusion. The pier and streets were crowded. Hospitals had a difficult time accommodating those removed from the craft. Late tonight it was indicated some were seriously though not critically ill.

The boat left at 10 a.m. carrying 800 employes of a dairy company and their families on a holiday. Later the craft stopped at Mount Vernon, 15 miles down the river where luncheon was served. Suddenly a cold rain forced a group of playmates and collapsed. Soon afterward scores became ill. Captain Turner ordered the boat turned about. The most seriously ill were hurried aboard.

Physicians last night blamed the sickness on deviled eggs and potato salad. Illness of many has been increased by the blistering sun.

A steady stream of persons passed in and out of the various hospitals tonight and morning relatives. A large crowd gathered in front of the Emergency and other hospitals. Most of the hospitals will remain in bed overnight, doctors said.

Advice to the Lovelorn

PASTE THIS IN YOUR HATS, SIT YOUNG MEN

Dear Miss Fairfax:—

For a long time now I have been going with a girl. I used to be crazy about, but now I only like her a little. This is the reason, Miss Fairfax. Every place we go and everything we do I always have my own way, but I just long to be told what to do and be bossed by a strong determined man. So you think I should continue to go with a man who hasn't any mind of his own?

Addie

Here's a girl who is looking for something in the can man line. The man who is complying young man who does whatever she wants to, whenever she suggests, has but one. She is no longer "crazy" about him and now only likes him a little.

There is no reason why she should keep on with him. Her heart leaps him to some of the girls who write me they're sick and tired of being bullied. They can never do what they want or go where they want to because the boy friends are utterly over bearing.

What's that old fable about Jove cracking all the walnut shells, and the halves going through his eyes, making the halves that ?!?

WANTS TO GO WITHOUT A COAT

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have had a quarrel with the man I have been going with, over a mere trifle, yet to my idea, it means a lot. He thinks it is proper to take me out and not wear a coat, and I contend it is very unconventional and refuse to go with him. This has led to our parting.

I care very much for this young man, and I am sure he cares for me, although he is very stubborn and insists he is justified in his determination not to wear a coat. I am not stuck up, but I have my ideas, and I do think a man owes this respect to a girl, don't you?

T. W.

Your letter is postmarked from a city almost in the tropics, and after reading some letters I get in that young men in that locality do sometimes go coolers when taking their girls out. Belts, never suspenders are worn with his informal attire. But when the boy friend knows you object to this, and linen, pongee and seersucker coats are cool enough for any one, I can't see why he objects to wearing one.

The Beauty Box

(By Helen Follett)

Lean, lank ladies should not wear lean, lank frocks. Those who see with the mind as well as the eye don't trip into, that error. A robe, if it fulfills its destiny, by covering, conceals figure defects, displays the best lines. Many a dressmaker has become rich and famous because she understands the trick of making a poor figure look like a good one. No cross lines on the dresser—list of unfortunate clothing. No up-and-down lines on tall, skinny ones. No waist-line belts on fully shapes. The sartorial genius does not plan youthful attire for middle-aged women, but gives them dignified raiment bearing a suggestion of youth.

Eye shadows should be put on close to the eye lashes, at least that is where the shadow should be darkest. Let it do a gradual fade away as it extends to the eyebrow. The effect is not good if the paste is carried far beyond the center corner of the eye. Of all forms of makeup the eye shadow is most likely to prove a failure; it requires discrimination in application and in the selection of color.

Girls are having fun now with mauve and lavender powders. That skin game bobs up just so often. Those pink-blue tints impart an interesting pallor, they are deadly enemies of clear rouge. However, they have no ill feeling toward lipsticks or eye shadows. Once in a blue moon a blonde skin is improved by applications of powder of a faint green tone. But only in the evening. Artificial light enhances sunlight gives it the laugh.

More trouble has been over in the arrangement of the hair at the back. If the ends won't do anything else but curl upward, have them curled tightly enough to form a neat little roll.

West Huntingdon—On Sunday morning, July 17th, a baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williams, Moira. Mother and child are doing well.

Friends of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Linscott will be pleased to learn that letters have been received from them, from Lansdowne, telling of the hearty reception by the people there. They have a very pleasant field of labor and are very happy in their appointment. Mr. and Mrs. George Post, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Post, Mrs. Joseph English and Miss Mabel Ferguson, were among those attending the Rollins re-union, held at Madoc, on Wednesday, July 20th. The weather was perfect and they had a wonderful day reviving memories and talking over old times.

Mr. Kenneth McGowan of Rochester, N.Y., is visiting his parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Urban, of Whitehall, Ont., this week visited Mr. and Mrs. George Post, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mowbray, and other friends in this vicinity, during a vacation trip by motor through Eastern Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knudson and Rollie girl, June, have motored from Keyser, Ark., and are visiting their relations around West Huntingdon and Minto.

On Tuesday afternoon, July 19, the Women's Institute of the community, met at the home of Mrs. Edward Pitman, and in their usual symposium style dealt with matters of importance. Money was allocated to purchase clothing for a needy family and also to pay for help in a home where the mother lay sick. An interesting feature of this meeting was the presence of the daughters of the members who gave a demonstration of the making of bran muffins. If anyone wants an outlet for sympathy and kindly helpfulness the Women's Institute will give you a job.

Mr. McBride Reid is visiting his mother who is seriously ill at her home in Ivanhoe Falls. We hope he may be able to report considerable improvement before long.

A terrific storm fell here, visited this district early on Sunday morning left its mark behind it on Mr. George Dafoe's house. Bricks from the top of the chimney, shingles torn from the roof and parts of the large board ripped off. Things are never so bad that they cannot be worse, and the whole place might have gone up in smoke, for lightning is a nasty visitor. However the damage inflicted was quite bad enough.

The "Endeavourers" Bible Class of West Huntingdon United Church, held their monthly social gathering, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wright, on Tuesday evening, July 19th, with Mrs. Alex McCurdy presiding. The meeting opened with a verse of "Blest be the tie that binds" followed by a brief prayer, offered by Rev. C. A. Sales. The Roll was called and responded to by each member giving the name of a flower, which was supposed to be brought to the meeting. Readings were given by Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Donnan. Mrs. Sales was appointed teacher of the class in succession to Mrs. Truscott. The social concluded with a verse of "Abide with me" and the Mizpah benediction. Refreshments were served and a hearty vote of thanks accorded the host and hostess of the evening.

Hips and thighs that have expanded beyond the laws of proportion will thin down if they are made miserable for ten minutes twice a day by this exercise; place hands on hips then run standing still, lifting the knee almost to the waistline, anyhow as high as you can lift it. Splendid for taking up the slack in tummies that have gone saggy.

CONFERENCE IS DOMINANT

Greater Buoyancy Noted by Bank of Montreal Letter

Toronto, July 22 (CP) — In Canada, as elsewhere, the Imperial Economic Conference now opening at Ottawa is regarded as "a high adventure fraught with possibility of great advantage to the British Empire primarily and to world conditions generally," the monthly letter of the Bank of Montreal issued today.

"Difficulties in the path of the conference admittedly exist, but confidence of worthwhile accomplishments is freely held," the letter declares.

Outlook Brighter

Various factors combine to produce a greater buoyancy in the general outlook than has been observed for some time past. Outweighing all other considerations is the Imperial Conference, the bank says.

"The principal other factor making for a less forbidding general outlook is that the Prairie Provinces approach the critical period of harvesting notably better than for the past three years, and that despite the less assured crop parts, the crops of the Dominion generally give promise of considerably more value. The price of wheat continues low, but in the case of coarse grains the decline was not quite so exceptionally low this season."

Falconbridge featured Base Metals, advancing 30c to $1.15 in a few sales, Sherritt Gordon moved 2c higher and were slightly higher at 43 and $17.10, respectively. Consolidated met improvement and was up 36c at $1.23.

MODEST RISE LED BY RAILS

New York Market Prices Close to June Peak Levels

(By Claude A. Jagger, Associated Press Financial Editor).

New York, July 22—With rails providing the motive power, and oils the fuel, the stock market accelerated another modest grade today, getting up close to the peak levels of June.

The announcement of the Interstate Commerce commission's approval of the four party eastern trunkline accord with only minor modifications of the executives' plan, had a beneficial effect upon the carrier securities generally, and oils improved in response to first examples of first half earnings.

Of the eastern trunklines, stocks of Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio made relatively the greatest progress, rising 2 points or more. Delaware and Hudson, normally a wider mover, advanced more than 2. New York Central and Pennsylvania rose about 1-2 point. Among other rails, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific gained 1 point or so. In the oils, stocks of California and N.J., Seaboard Oil, and Atlantic Refining moved a point or so. Miscellaneous shares of industrials in nearly 2 points included American Telephone, American Can, Johns-Manville, Procter & Gamble, National Biscuit, Air Reduction, Eastman, Homestake, General Railway Signal, National Distillers and U. S. Steel preferred. The list advanced a fraction after the opening, but soon resumed its climb.

RAIL FARE TO FAIR IS CUT

Committees Report Successful Work on Fair Plans

Reduced railway fares on all trunk lines of railway lines declared the members of the Belleville Fair Board at their regular fortnightly meeting held Thursday night. Letters were read to the members by Secretary H. A. Richardson from the various secretaries of the passenger services of the two main railroads of Canada assuring the Belleville fair that a special low rate would be available for passengers wishing to attend the 1932 Belleville Fair.

This reduced rate, however, will only be in vogue on 100-200 miles from Belleville and the rates will be announced shortly, previous to returning a day or two after the fair opens. The special rates on all railroads will be advertised previous to fair week in Belleville.

Every committee chairman reported progress as far as their committees were concerned, Chairman Harry Ketcheson, of the horse committee, advising the board that all arrangements had been completed for handling the many excellent harness and running races every day of the fair week and that prizes are to be awarded for every race in both classes as well.

The advertising committee reported to the board that they were about to introduce a new scheme this year whereby they would perhaps attract more attention of the outside public than previously. Fred G. Mitchell and his excellent staff of officers were quite optimistic at the meeting and voiced their opinion that this year's Belleville Fair would undoubtedly surpass any other in previous years.

POLICE COURT

George F. Griggs of Thurlow and his son Albert Griggs of Belleville were fined $100 and costs when they appeared in the local police court this morning charged with assaulting Albert Shortt also of Belleville.

After several witnesses had given evidence, His Worship Magistrate Hinchly pointed out to both parties that the case was rather mild but there was evidence that Geo. F. Griggs had slapped Shortt, when he was wrestling on the ground with his son Albert Griggs.

The assault arose out of an automobile accident in which Griggs pleaded guilty to his charge of assault, and Albert Griggs the complaintiff in the case, when Griggs appeared at the Shortt home to take over a truck, which had been driven from Kingston to Belleville by Griggs. Griggs was to drive the truck toward to its destination in Toronto. When Griggs went to assume the driving duties of the truck he found Shortt at the wheel which they clinched. Geo. F. Griggs who had driven his son to the corner of Front and Victoria Ave, tried to part them and in doing so slapped Shortt. His Worship fined both accused men $100 and costs.

Chas. A. Payne, K.C. acted for the Crown, while D. Ellis Hunt, K.C. represented the defendants.

A charge of non-payment of wages to the amount of $20.00 was laid by Earl Emry of Sidney upon the 30th inst. Mr. Emry having the evidence of both parties concerned His Worship stated that if they could not settle their differences amicably. The two men talked the situation over and later informed His Worship, that they had compromised to the extent of payment of $10.00 to Emry by Mason.

Inspector Charles Maher saw a pair of such socks going down a street, detained the wearer—and confirmed his suspicion that the man was Sanderson.

NO INTENTION OF ELECTION

Premier Anderson States West Wants Everything But Campaign

Ottawa, July 21—"My government has no intention of going to the country this year nor in 1933," said Premier J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan, in the Canadian Press today. "Highly improved crop conditions have removed virtually the only contingency, which could have justified an election with all its disturbing turmoil prior to the expiration of our five-year term of office in 1934.

"Last season I as there would be no election in 1932 unless we were confronted with a new crisis. I had then in mind the possibility of a fourth successive crop failure. Making demands on the government for measures so drastic an appeal to the country in endorsation would have been inevitable." That peril has disappeared before the prospect of at least a good average crop and the last thing wanted by our busy farmers is an election."

Dr. Anderson spoke of the vast improvements in the condition of the farmers in what were known as the drought stricken areas, because they now have assured plenty of fodder, feed and seed.

Brantford, Ont., July 22 — Hon. Harry C. Nixon, Progressive leader in the Ontario Legislature, commenting last night on the address of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett as the opening of the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa today, said: "He has practically adopted the Dunning budget and has abandoned the (Canada First) policy which he went to the electorate in the last election. We all held that this Dunning budget was the only policy, that of extension of trade within the Empire, and realized that in this lay our only hope."

A watchdog along was chloroformed.

He drove away as rapidly as he could, Illingworth reported, but a short distance away he crashed into another automobile.

This time he started away on foot. He ran toward a high fence, started to scale it, and broke his leg. Police found him there, and booked him on hit-run charges after taking him to emergency hospital.

CALA TWIN SHOW
SATURDAY AND MONDAY
"JERRY AND JOAN"

"I, Jerry, Take Thee, Joan," starring flist-novel of Cleo Lucas, short story writer, has been filmed by Paramount as a co-starring vehicle for Sylvia Sidney and Fredric March.

In Miss Lucas' story studio experts immovlately recognized dramatic qualities of a high order. It has been made into a picture drama in which Sylvia Sidney and Frederic March find an admirable vehicle for their superior dramatic talents.

The picture is presented under the title "Jerry and Joan". It dramatizes the story of married life in America's modern young group of irresponsibles. The novel became one of the best sellers of the past year and the picture closely follows the dramatic episodes of the original story.

The production marks the first combination of Miss Sidney and Frederic March at the head of a cast. Both former stage players, have also been identified on the screen with highly interesting parts as Miss Sidney in "An American Tragedy," "Ladies of the Big House," "The Wild Is Man" and others, and March in "Laughter," "Strangers In Love," and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

"ONE MAN LAW"

Styles in motion picture entertainment nave gone through many cycles since the first flickering shadows were projected on a screen many years ago but Weems go on forever."

The "Western" is the only type of screen entertainment that has held its own through a period of years. Although there are a dozen "typical" western characters have sung since passed into oblivion the real life, scientists all over the world still thrill to the pictured exploits of cinema plainsmen and cowpunchers.

Buck Jones, the Columbia star, is one of the greatest exponents of the Western thrillers. For the past decade, Buck's daring feats of horsemanship, contested with excellent acting ability, have commanded the admiration of screen audiences. "One Man Law", his newest production is on the double feature program for Saturday and Monday.

When asked about the steady popularity of screen Westerns, Buck was thoughtful in his reply.

"I think," said the star, "that most people have a wrong idea of typical Westerns. If not only children and young people who are responsible for the popularity of outdoor dramas. There are tens of them as well. As a matter of fact, the bulk of my fans is from older people —people who get some of the thrills and pleasure that have escaped them in real life.

In addition to the above two-feature program for Saturday and Monday a clever musical Cartoon "School Days" and the popular "Belle News" with organ will be shown. Saturday morning and afternoon, only, another chapter of "Sailing With Death" Belle Series will be included.

Ends Tonight.

Gertrude Lawrence, Broadway beauty and Hugh Wakefield will be seen for the last time in "Aren't We All?" the fast moving comedy

BALDWIN HAS NEW PIPE BUT IS SAME MAN

Ottawa, July 22—Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin has a new pipe. Whether or not that means anything to the success of the Imperial Economic Conference remains to be seen, but the old "bulldog" briar that went so toppingly with his bowler has gone into the discard.

He has a flaming cherry wood with a base ad embellished as the piers of the Buffalo-Fort Erie Peace Bridge.

Thus far, the bowler is also missing. In its place has appeared a grey flopper, but underneath is the same Stanley Baldwin—John Bull at his best and playing cricket.

IS STUNG HUNDRED TIMES BY BEES

Bothwell, July 22.—Mrs. Roy Brown of West Bothwell was badly stung with bees. Noticing the bees clustering outside the hive, Mrs. Brown went to investigate what was wrong. A neighbor told her the hive was probably full of honey, Mrs. Brown lifted up the cover, but there was no honey. She decided to drive the bees in. She aimed a stick and tried to remove the mass into the hive. Then the bees all got busy. She received over a hundred stings on her body and legs. Apiarists declare the bees were clustered outside of the hive on account of the heat.

MILKS 57 TIMES TO EARN 57 CENTS

SASKATOON, July 22.—Among numerous complaints of low returns to farmers for dairy products, A. J. Macauley, president of the United Farmers, has drawn attention to the case of a farmer's wife at Wynyard, who milked a cow 57 times and received a cream cheque for 57 cents.

H. R. Clarke, secretary of the Saskatoon Dairy Pool, indicated there were several ways in which the farmer might have economized, but agreed the labor and expense of keeping cows gave a ridiculously low return at the present. Some method of raising butter prices should be adopted, he thought.

WELL-DRESSED GIRL SLEEPS ON PORCH

Kitchener, July 22—Police heard a pitiful story of a girl who wants work but cannot get it, though she needs it badly. The girl was found sleeping on the verandah of a vacant house. She is in the early twenties, was well dressed and is attractive.

Some months ago she was let out with several other girls from a factory here. She lived with her sister in another city until her funds were exhausted, and then her sister cast her adrift giving her enough for her fare to Kitchener. However, the quest for work was unfruitful yesterday, and exhaustion overcoming her she went to sleep on the verandah.

No charge was laid against her, and the police gave her enough for fare back to her sister's place.

Then we got closer to it and had a good look. Believe it or not, it was a bass, at least five pounds in weight, with a perch bass in its mouth which weighed at least a pound and a half. The bass had choked on the rock bass and had died from the effects."

"How do you account for that?" is reporter of the Daily Intelligencer asked him. Bill Budde scratched his head. Tobermory of that district.

COW STRUCK DURING STORM

Rain Accompanied by Hail Falls in Thurlow

One of the sharpest electrical storms this section has experienced passed over the outer fringe of the city, late Friday afternoon. The storm force in the townships of Sidney and Thurlow. Mr. Thomas Reid, postmaster Prince Edward County as it travelled eastward, but fortunately the intensity of the storm was compensated for by the fact that the electrical display of vivid flashes of lightning, and the cloudburst which followed was of very short duration.

Cow Killed.

The greatest concentration of the storm was felt in the area between Foxboro and Cannifton. Only one casualty has been reported from the lightning. A cow on the farm of Mr. Melvin Dunnick, Cannifton which had been standing some distance apart from other animals in the field, attracted a bolt of lightning which struck the animal, instantly killing her instantly. Hail of some size fell in other sections, while rain in certain districts was of such force the storm blew its strength and flooded the ground to a level to a few inches level in as many minutes. Motorists in the city were forced to pull to the side of the highway and wait for the downfall to pass. Fields of the grain fared badly and are not so gear to be harmed.

Storm Centres Cyclone.

In Belleville the damage was confined to a few trees, one in the vicinity of the Alemite factory in miniature cyclone whirled and twisted its way through the city, followed a course down Bleecker avenue, uprooting many trees in its path of fury and reached it climax near the Alemite factory. Here it left in its wake a Balm of Gilead tree which Mr. Girvin had cared for during a period of twelve years was torn from its stump. A ventilator on the factory roof was also damaged in the fling to the ground.

Near the Bridge station hail, ranging in size from a pea to a walnut fell at intervals during the storm's bursts which flooded the ground and roads. In the downtown section of the city the rain fell in such a way as to cept a few scattered drops which failed to reach the dust stricken surface of wet and dry at the location of each upper floor window.

Struck directly by a stray flash of lightning during the height of the electrical storm which raged over the city late Friday afternoon, a Sydney township farmer, a pole on Charles street, near East Bridge, was completely destroyed by the bolt which followed. An emergency truck from the city was hastily extinguished the blaze and allayed the fears of residents of the section who were without light for a short period, installation of a new one is being made.

A watch is being kept by the police force and arrests have been visited on previous occasions.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Of song no words need be a part If it but come straight from the heart.

—Old Mr. Toad.

Old Mr. Toad had just been singing down across the Great Meadows by Farmer Brown's Boy and gently floated on the ground close to the Smiling Pool. All the day long and the night the Smiling Pool had been pouring out forth its song in a slight murmur. Now was a voice was to be heard but that of Redwing the Blackbird perched on top of a slim reed far away. He was singing, but all the singers in the water had abruptly stopped as Farmer Brown's Boy drew near.

Old Mr. Toad took one look at the Smiling Pool and with a funny little sound of disappointment, leaped straight for and into it. He didn't have to open his eyes to see Farmer Brown's Boy. He seemed to be sitting right there, all alone and Farmer Brown's Boy. He chuckled.

"I know this is all the thanks I get for getting you out of that pest hole and then bringing you all the way down here," he said.

By this time Old Mr. Toad was in the water. He swam a few strokes then turned and swam back to where he had been. Only feet down on the bottom his head was just about the color of mud. He looked up at Farmer Brown's Boy with those beautiful golden eyes and his mouth closed as well. It wasn't his throat that made a pouch in his throat, the presence of which you never would have suspected. No indeed! Instead it swelled and swelled until it was like a great silvery bubble larger than his head.

Then, although his mouth was still closed, there came from Old Mr. Toad the sweetest song of the Smiling Pool, one of the sweetest voices of the springtime. His song was short but in a moment it was repeated. There were no words to that song. No words were needed. Farmer Brown's Boy understood it without words. Old Mr. Toad was singing his thanks and it was coming straight from his heart. That great silvery bubble at his throat was his music bag.

Now the green frogs of the Hytas began again and with their voices was mingled the trill of Birdsgrove Alcove Tree Toad who also was in the Smiling Pool. But nearest of all was the voice of Old Mr. Toad.

Farmer Brown's Boy smiled as he looked down at the homely old singer. "It doesn't do to judge any one just by appearances," said he softly. "If any one should ask me who is my humblest friend I would have to name you, Old Mr. Toad. Excepting for those eyes of yours you are about as homely as you could be. You really are. You are so homely that some people who have not learned to use their eyes call you ugly. They never could do that if they had once fairly looked into those golden eyes of yours. But even those who know how lovely your eyes are would wonder how you of being able to sing at all, let alone having one of the sweetest of voices. If they never had actually seen you sing. Now I must get back to work. I'll feel better for knowing that you have safely reached the Smiling Pool, and I shall often listen to your song.

Farmer Brown's Boy went back to his job of setting that fence post. Old Mr. Toad forgot everything but the joy of singing, of having a song in that joyous chorus. For the time being he didn't even think of Mrs. Toad and her family. He just sang and if she was listening to him. Perhaps Peter Rabbit stopped. If he was singing just for the joy of it, he surely was singing for love in his heart. He really was singing to Farmer Brown's Boy because he knew it. Later he would sing to Mrs. Toad and then it would be a song of love, but for the present he simply could replace the note of thanks in his throat and sing it.

MANY VEGETABLES FRUITS OFFERED

Prices Slightly Lower Than Prevailing Prices of Last Week

Although threatening weather prevailed, Belleville's Saturday market was very largely attended. A fair week period of trading was in evidence, when farmers appeared on the market with wagon and truck filled to capacity with farmer's products of the season.

Fruits remained quite firm on the inside market although the farmers seemed to have ceased prices than in weeks past. Butter sold at 23 to 25c a pound, eggs 9 to 10c a dozen. Ducks were 90c upwards and were sold. Chickens sold at from 75c upwards according to size, and young broilers 40c to 50c a pair. Home cooking was also displayed. Belleville Militia

The Civil War in the United States which arose from the claim of the Southern States of a right to secede from the United States and form a southern republic commenced when the Southern forces fired into Fort Sumter, channel "Star of the West" on January 9, 1861, ending by the surrender of General Lee, the Confederate commander to General Grant the Federal or United States officer with Persian sympathies was planning his attack on Washington. Lincoln and others, recruiting for the disbanded forces of the United States. The militia actually took a hand in raising in Canada, crossing from Buffalo to Fort Erie, June 1, 1866, and a skirmish took place at Ridgeway. Until April 30, 1914, when all the big followers were ultimately driven back. "General" Spear, another Fenian commander, crossed the boundary near St. Alban's into Missisquoi County, June 6, 1866, but was driven back by the Hochelaga Battalion and the Canadian Battalion on June 8, 1866.

On October 19, 1864, a band of Confederates raided St. Albans, Vermont, from Canada, escaping to Canada. Fenian Raids, 1866, 1870, 1871, and a skirmish took place at Ridgeway. The deceased was born in Hunlington Township, eighty years ago, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kilpatrick and has continuously resided in Hastings County. Some seventy years ago, the family moved to Sidney Township and after the death of the husband, the deceased continued her residence on the homestead. She was a member of the Foxboro United Church and until late years was a faithful attendant and active worker, in all branches of the church. She leaves to mourn her loss, two sons, William Reynolds, Cannifton, Murray at home, and one daughter, Willian Kilpatrick at Madoc. The funeral will be held on Sunday with service at Foxboro United Church and interment in Foxboro Cemetery.

LATE GEORGE R. BOULTER.

The funeral of the late George Henry Boulter took place yesterday from the residence of his son, Ralph Boulter, on Front street in the presence of a large number of intimate friends and relatives. Young Drivers Twice as Often in Accidents as Maturer Drivers

Educational Campaign to Inculcate Caution on Highways

The importance of safe driving to the people of this Province, may be gauged by the fact that approximately one person in four drives a motor car and more than half of the entire population regularly rides in motor cars. In addition, the number of drivers annually entering Ontario from the United States exceeds the total population of the Province, and the number of tourist drivers and passengers combined annually exceeds in number the entire population of Canada," said W. O. Roberson, general manager of the Ontario Motor League, broadcasting over CKGW on Friday night, in one of a series of addresses by various speakers in the 1932 education campaign for highway accident prevention being carried on by the Department of Public Highways.

Reasons Behind Accidents

"When the Ontario Motor League was organized 25 years ago, its founders wrote into the constitution as one of its chief objects: 'To advocate a reasonable regard on the part of Motorists for the rights of and others using the Highways.' Throughout the intervening years the Ontario Motor League has striven to secure this attitude of 'reasonable regard' on the part of motorists, and not without a considerable degree of success. Unfortunately, a small minority of motorists persists in an unreasonable attitude towards other users of the highways than themselves and it is this small minority which causes most of the accidents attributable to reckless driving.

"With the wilfully reckless driver the League has not the slightest sympathy and thoroughly approves of the provisions of the Highway Traffic Act under which many of these drivers are being deprived of their right to sit at the wheel of a car.

Highest Cost Accidents

"A great deal has been said and written about the hundreds of millions of dollars expended in this country on highways and motor vehicles and which has resulted in a revolution in transportation methods. It may fairly be said however that the highest cost of motoring is the accident cost. This cost cannot be reckoned in money value, as it is largely made up of human injury and loss of life. On the average each thousand cars in use in this province each year kill one human life and in addition cause more or less serious injuries to at least 25 persons. Shocking as is this accident toll, it is by no means the worst. The accident record is not nearly as bad proportionately as that of many other Provinces' and States. There is still room, however, for great improvement.

Youthful Offenders

"The possible consequences of speed do not seem to be well appreciated by many drivers. How many, for instance, know that if a car leaves at a speed of 35 miles per hour is immediately stopped, the driver and passenger will be thrown against the windshield with the same force with which he would hit the sidewalk in a fall from a four storey building. Again, if two cars each travelling at a speed of 35 miles per hour meet, the damage done is the same as would result if one car had fallen upon the other from a height of 400 feet, which is nearly equivalent to the height of the tallest building in the City of Toronto.

"These illustrations should bring home the need for the utmost care in the use of speed on the highways.

Mechanical Perfection

"It is of great importance in accident prevention that motorists continually take precautions to see that their cars are in proper mechanical condition, more especially with regard to brakes, tires, lights and steering gears. It is an offence under the Highway Traffic Act to drive with defective brakes or lights and while it is not a misdemeanor for a driver to drive with badly worn tires, or ill adjusted steering gear, both these factors constitute a very real traffic hazard which should be carefully guarded against by the prudent motorist.

Accident records covering the extensive mileage travelled annually have established the fact that youthful drivers, proportionately, become involved in twice as many accidents as persons of mature age. It is of great importance, therefore, that young persons naturally inclined to disregard danger should have impressed upon them the great hazards of the highways. Because no one takes a chance and gets away with it nine times out of ten, they're skill and daring, does not minimize the effect of the crash when it comes.

Women Less in Accidents

It is interesting to note that women drivers are involved in no more driving cars in this Province as against a total of nearly thirty times. While one driver in seven is a woman, the Ontario records show that women are involved in relatively fewer accidents than men—the proportion of accidents being not 10 to one, but 20 to one.

"There are no records to show the relative mileage driven by women as compared with men drivers, but even making a wide allowance for the greater mileage driven by men, the figures would indicate that women drivers at least are no more likely to become involved in accidents than drivers of the opposite sex. This conclusion is in accord with general accident statistics.

One of the most tragic features of traffic accidents is that serious injury or loss of life is in a large proportion of cases forced upon persons to whom not the slightest blame for the accident can be attached. It follows therefore that everyone should be on the alert not only to avoid being the cause of a motor accident but also to escape being made the victim of a accident through the carelessness of some A. F. Sproule Reports Need for double watchfulness."

PIG GROWS BEHIND STOVE, UPSETS IT

London, Ont., July 23—Pathetic struggles on the part of a Yorkshire hog to recapture his lost liberty almost terminated in calamity in the Mcsgurrin district.

When very small this little porker was taken away from the rest of the flock and fed with a bottle by younger members of the family in a farm house near Melbourne.

The little fellow grew to be a pet and formed the habit of running around the kitchen stove whenever he wished to enjoy a bit of grass. The farmer's wife objected to this practice and pigsy was exiled to the barn.

After two months the exile managed to escape. He hastened to the house, into the kitchen and behind the stove.

The trouble was that conditions of youth had gone and he was too fat for the space behind the stove. Amid squeals and smoke the stove overturned, and is lively few minutes was spent in subduing the threatened destruction of the house by fire.

OLD AIR FOES TO FLY OCEAN

Flight Will be in Nature of Peace Crusade

LONDON, July 23.—(AP)—A German and a British airman, who tried to kill one another 13 years ago in battle, announced Thursday they intend to make a westward crossing of the Atlantic as a crusade to show the futility of war.

The airmen are Baron von Schleich, socalled "Black Knight" of the German flying forces, and Major Christopher Draper, known as the "Black Falcon" of the old British Royal Flying Corps. They plan to make the trip, they said, in the near future and they will be side by side in the cockpit.

"We propose to make a long tour of all the big cities to try to instill in people's minds the chastiness of war," Von Schleich told Reuters Rickman, Colonel Bishop and other aces and get them to join our peace crusade."

The baron said that John Hardman, formerly of the Royal Air Force, was calling tomorrow on the Franconia for New York to arrange for Americans to participate in the movement. The latter part of the flight, they said, probably would be selected for the flight.

WHEAT POOL MAKES MILLION

Has Been Able to Withstand Depression of Year

Regina, July 23—Announcement was made today that the Saskatchewan wheat pool will complete the present crop year with a surplus of over one million dollars after providing for all operating costs, was made by A. F. Sproule, president of the pool, at the pool's No. 2 here yesterday.

Commenting upon this result, Mr. Sproule asserted that the agricultural co-operative movement in Canada has withstood the severe shock of the depression better than most business organizations.

Urging the appointment and functioning of a co-operative marketing board as an emergency measure to handle this year's crop, Mr. Sproule declared that unless such organization is given control of the marketing of the exportable surplus of Canada's wheat crop as well as the grain consumed domestically, there was grave doubt whether this year's crop would be marketed at all.

Me and Lucky Leroy Shooter was standing along post waving along and we was passing somebody's front lawn with a iron fence around it and Leroy said, O boy dont they look good?

Meaning it applies next to each other in the grass, and I said, I wonder if somebody just threw them in there from the street because they was tired of them? and Leroy said, No, I guss somebody most of layed them there, look how close together they are in a strate line. They must want them out there for some reason, he said. Well Q, I got a idear, I said, Suppose we take turns taking them up and ringing the bell and telling the lady we found them on her lawn, and then she'll give us one for our honesty and tell us to put the rest back where we found them, and that will give the other fellow a chance to take them up and do it, I said.

O, that is a swell idear, Leroy said, and I said, Well I made it up to you half to start it and see how it works.

Well he did, opening the iron gate and going in, and I was standing in back of a tree, and pritty soon I heard somebody and it was Leroy taking big bites out of a apple, saying, Its swelled up a lot.

O, what did she say? I said, and Leroy said, She said there was a lot more setting on them in back there in her yard, and she said for me to keep one for my trouble and put the rest back, so it's your turn now, I'll wait here.

And I went in the iron gate and there was a apple on each of them and I picked them up and went up the steps and rang the bell and some lady opened the door, so I says with classes and a king of a slapsticul expression, and I said, I found these on your lawn, lady. Is you dont say so, she says, she said and I said, Yes mam, and she said Theyre a fine green, arent they? and I said, Yes mam, and she said, Well look in my eyes and see if you see any green there, and I said, And she bent over saying Do you see any? and I said, No mam, and she said, Then you dont see how ripe they are and you better take them and put out of that gate dubble quick and stay out.

Wich I did, and Lucky Leroy was just standing in back corner of his apple with fast bites.

Leaders Decide on Five Committees for Parley

OTTAWA, July 22.—The Imperial Economic Conference passed swiftly from opening declarations of policy to the less impressive consideration of machinery of work. Heads of delegations met and decided to appoint five committees:

(1) Organization and relations with foreign countries.

(2) Monetary and financial questions.

(3) Methods of economic co-operation.

(4) Appointments to the committees were made. Each delegate is to select separately details on its nominees, then formal appointments will be made.

Committees of delegates are keenly discussing the offer of wider preferences which President Bennett opened the conference. Informal discussion on the British delegation are to hold a series of "cabinets" to examine the Bennett proposals as the conference progresses.

Under the present British tariff and treaties wheat and meat are free list. Imperial oil, pulps, and meat from the Dominions therefore have the full preference in the British market, Mr. Bennett proposed that the United Kingdom "shall extend the principle of her tariff preferences to other products." Wheat and meat are not specifically mentioned but they obviously come within the scope of the Bennett scheme. There possibly will be a study of proposals to meet the British delegation in determination of tariffs. For the moment, however, the British content themselves with reiteration of Mr. Baldwin's remarks at the opening session —that the British delegation will study the proposal sympathetically on the lines laid down by Mr. Bennett—that they will do their utmost "to cooperate with goodwill to accomplish the purpose he has in view."

Soundings in Bay of Quinte According to Chart in 1893

Interesting Details Covering Water Depths Hereabouts

Those two questions, according to guides and waterfront men, are the two most often repeated questions of any whenever any party of fishermen or boaters happen to be on the waters of the Bay of Quinte.

To all the questions which are asked concerning depth, however, one simple reply could be given: A twenty foot anchor cord on your boat will reach bottom in nearly any section of the bay, except in the channel in the estuary, and some other sunken part of the bay, as at The Gap near Massassaga, where 44 feet of water is encountered between the two points. That is deepest part of any section of the Bay of Quinte as far as Deseronto, and corresponds to depths found in Lake Ontario.

Nearly forty years ago—in 1893 to be exact—under the direction of the Ontario government, surveys were then spent weeks in the waters of the Bay of Quinte sounding every few feet of it. The work was done by Mr. W. P. Anderson, assisted by Messrs. T. Drummond and F. A. Wilkin. Every sounding was recorded on a chart, and from that chart the following depths are taken. It is interesting to note that in nearly all cases the same average depths are to be encountered in the same places at this present date, even though the soundings which are now given were taken forty years ago.

Starting at the mouth of the Moira River we find three feet of water, depth of water running off into a 10 foot channel under the car bridge at the west span. Fifty or one hundred yards south of the bridge the bottom rises up to 5, 7 and 9 foot depths to a point almost in line with the Bay Bridge. Then the depth drops off again to that location deep water, averaging 32 feet, runs in a channel to the Bay Bridge, and some distance west of the bridge. Directly under the bridge from 13 to 20 feet is encountered. Opposite the spot where the filtration plant now stands to take a cross section glance at the bottom of the bay, the following depths are recorded. At the shore opposite the plant, 9 to 10, 15 to 17, 18, 13, and back to 7 feet on the opposite shore. Along the shore deeper water to the Bay Bridge is encountered shirting off at 10 feet and reaching wheat and 20 depth all the way back to the bridge. From the Bay Bridge to Massassaga Point 23 feet are found in the middle of the bay all the way to the point.

Going east down the bay from Belleville at the south end of Victoria Park the water here starts at 18 feet runs up to 9 feet near the lighthouse and deepens again to 22 feet south of the lighthouse in the channel. Surrounding the lighthouse an average depth of 12 feet is maintained.

South of the government dock at Bell's Point the considerable depth of 16 feet are marked all the way down the bay to The Gap, at Massassaga. Here the channel deepens again to the lowest part of the bay—44 feet. Along both shores near here the water runs from one foot to 18 on the north shore, and at a point directly in front of Massassaga Point it shelves directly to 17 feet.

Opposite the old Point Anne cement works 10 foot depths are recorded all along the outer reach. Big Bay has an average depth of 18 feet; Hungry Bay goes two feet deeper, with the deepest point being 24 feet opposite some distance out from Trudeau Point. Horse Point shows an average depth of 16 feet; Grape Island is surrounded by 16 and 18 foot depths, while Big Shoal, opposite Robinson's Cove on Big Island shallows up to three and four feet below the water.

From Telegraph Narrows to Deseronto, in the channel, depths up to 36 feet are encountered, with corresponding shallow water along each shore.

Dear Sir:

Yes! Prof. Chevalais sent more notes to break into newsprint; after Thursday evening's game in the Armouries Lawn, played between the Maple Leafs and the National Maids, he betonholed and nearly assaulted a representative of this paper for unjustifiably referring to manager Lloyd's squad of youthful lady players as the lowly Maple Leafs. The aged professor's opinion is that the Maids have been beat in the league and he claims this is backed up by statistics, vocally, they are given each time they play. Ninety nine spectators out of every hundred will tell you that they never play with pluck, enthusiasm and endurance, and that their defeat standing on both feet with more grace and sportsmanship than the Maple Leafs and other coteries under like conditions.

These same lowly Maple Leafs, Prof. points out are filling a great place in the local league, they furnish excellent practice material for the other teams and are developing players for a transfer to the higher branches of the game. As well, from the spectators point of view, putting constant hope and interest in the game.

Prof. Chevrolais is all in favor of them and decries the name lowly Maple Leafs as the sportiest of all the girl's teams.

Very sportedly,
"Prof." Chevrolais.

SENTENCED AT BRANTFORD

Brantford, July 23.—(CP)—Frank Tyrell, Toronto, pleaded guilty when appeared before Magistrates Jones and Blake Thursday for sentence. Tyrell was given two years and six months at the Portsmouth Penitentiary, and Christie two years there for breaking and entering; Pierce was charged with theft and remanded for a week for sentence. Tyrell and Christie have juvenile and police court records. They were caught red-handed in a local hardware store.

DELUGE AT BRANTFORD

Brantford, July 22.—A veritable deluge descended over Brantford and district this morning but while the deluge further dampened the ground, it did not seem to check the heat wave. The temperature did drop to 85, as compared with 92 yesterday, but the humidity was quite as bad. Thursday's deluge caused alarm to district farmers, who have hay and wheat out in the fields. The former is spoiling and the latter may head out, with consequent heavy loss.

SUBURBAN HIGHWAY COSTS

Woodstock Sentinel-Review does not agree with the contention of the Hamilton Spectator that it was because of that Province's large debt that it refused to afford urban municipalities relief from the levy for suburban highways because likely the abolition of the contribution would ultimately mean the abolition of the owners' share of local improvements. The Spectator argues that as the gasoline licence plates on cars coming into Hamilton bear plates with the Hamilton, numbers, the highways are some benefit to the city and the city cannot wonder that the government expects the city to pay something for their creation and maintenance.

On the other hand the Sentinel-Review argues that the municipality is a property owner constructing and maintaining its own pavements and collecting from property holders on the frontage basis while the municipality is called upon to go outside its limits and pay for suburban highways and collect the amount from the city owners of property, while they at the same time through motor taxation pay further towards the highway system. The province gets the motor fees, taxes every gallon of gasoline six cents, "Gas tax and license fees total annually a sum greater by millions than the department spends on all classes of roads. As the car owners contribute all this money, and those of urban municipalities a major share of it, why should some of their municipal taxes be required for the same purpose?" asks the Sentinel-Review.

HUMAN RAYS

All living organisms give off radiation. These have actually been photographed and are said to be composed of a mixture of ultra-violet and ultra-red rays. Experiments made by scientists show that the yeast used in making bread was killed in five minutes by the radiation from the finger tips of one person, that the rays of the right hand are stronger than those from the left and that paralleling rays proceed from the end of the nose and the eyes, suggesting the evil eye superstition. Radiation from plants is stimulating, but human radiation is almost entirely destructive.

Hamilton Spectator wonders if the radiation from animal bodies is benevolent or malevolent.

These investigations have been carried on at Cornell University and are opening up a new world of interest for mankind.

DAY OF PRAYER

Sunday as a day of prayer through out the Empire for the success of the Imperial Conference is bringing the affairs of the nation to the most vital contact with life. Nations and individual ought to be brought into close relationship with the eternal powers in the dealings though nations are inclined to believe that impressing one's will upon another is the best form of prayer.

No less thought prompted the holding of a day of prayer for the conference. Here the thought was of linking the individual citizens of the nations with the world of truth and light and life so that the delegates would feel themselves so disposed to place themselves in the guidance of the principles of truth, and that the nations they represent might support them in this noble guidance.

A poet says that more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of. Most people believe this and then some go out to act as if they did not believe it, by trusting to their own inspiration and talent and skill. But that is not the spirit in which the conference will act.

Looking at the affairs of the world as they have been brought to the attention through the Lausanne and other conferences one cannot but feel that there are many men who are permitting themselves to be guided with the thought of the good of all nations and trusting in prayer, which is never selfish.

In London, Ontario, there is some feeling that as the conference was not dealing with matters entirely religious and Christian, prayer should not be offered as the success of the parley might work difficulty for such nations as Denmark. This feeling is not general however, and the principle with which will mark the prayers for the conference will be that of the good of the nations comprising the empire and through the empire for the good of the entire world.

CHANT OF THE BOX CARS

By Harry Kemp

Consigned for lading, marked for repairs,
We're hustle about the world's affairs.
Like the roadbeds, having our ups and downs,
We rock through meadows, we clank through towns.
In a thousand, thousand obscure parades
We glide down valleys, we climb long grades,
Through fields that smell of the fresh-turned sod,
Through the tassled corn and the golden rod.
The cattle lift their heads as we pass;
The sheep gaze up from their close-cropped grass.
Shunted, side-tracked, laden again,
Fulfilling the service required of men,
Under cloudy or blue-spread skies
We go with our loads of merchandise;
While the roadbed roars and the whistles call
And the signaling lanterns rise and fall!

FRONT STREET MERCHANT suggests that the Powers That Be pay more attention to Victoria Park which is a source of pleasure to many people who do not possess motor cars and must find their recreation near at hand. He suggests that the swimming float could be improved by a length of matting on the incline leading to the diving board. As it is now the boards are very slippery and dangerous. Some swimmer may fall and be injured, with a possible suit for damages against the city. Again is the attention of the Board of Health drawn to the necessity of cleaning up the flotsam and jetsam (fancy name for filth) which has collected on the lee shore bordering the park, a potential breeding place for most any kind of disease germs. The park must be kept a beauty spot for all to enjoy and admire.

Saturday afternoon was set apart for the village brass band to have its weekly practice. With a view to demonstrating the band's ability to a new J.P., the bandmaster decided to stop outside his house and play a few tunes. The J.P., however was in a very bad temper that afternoon. "Look here," he cried, rushing up to the bandmaster, "if you don't stop that infernal row, I'll have to call the policeman!"

"You can't do that, sir," replied the bandmaster. "He's the trombone player."

SCURVY NOW PREVENTABLE SAYS SCIENCE

Knowledge of Food, Chemistry and Vitamins Is Credited

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Physiology

LOUIS E BISCH

Physicians know that scurvy is readily preventable. Some hundred odd years ago they knew less about the food deficiency or rather the lack of it that tends to produce the disease. But in the old days, scurvy was a real menace especially to sea-faring men.

We know now, however, that scurvy is due principally to a deficiency in the food intake of one of the vitamins, water soluble vitamin C. This vitamin is found in considerable amounts in canned tomatoes, fresh oranges and lemons, lime, in raspberries and in lettuce.

Milk that has not been sterilized may also be energetic in this among infants.

Simple as all this seems, there are still many cases of this disorder to be found. Curry indicidentally, is also known under the name of scorbutus. Foreigners—especially Italians and Russians—are often attacked. It is met with even among the well-to-do who are careless about variety in diet and especially about the continual need of fresh vegetables. It may attack adults and infants alike.

Among children it is sometimes spoken of as Barlow's Disease. As a rule the disease is ushered in by a preliminary period of general restlessness and indisposition during the child's nutrition is not up to the standard of other age. This restlessness in the legs is noted which manifest itself in infants by their cry of pain when they are taken up or moved about. Later on, this soreness becomes more localized, especially in the knees and ankles and with it extends on the leg may be evident.

About the same time in children the gums take on a purple color in front and they bleed easily. Then, as further development of the disease, the child becomes pale, weak and anemic. It becomes readily sick and undernourished. In fact, the child seems to suffer scurvy so as to avoid the pain in the joints where the disease is. The gait or look as though its limbs were paralyzed.

Scurvy is not so likely to occur in breast-fed babies. Children brought up almost exclusively on condensed and sterilized milk, as well as proprietary infants foods for a period of months, seem more likely to contract the disease, owing to some deficiency of the vitamins.

A correction of the diet starts recovery and a very small dose of purified fresh cow's milk, according to the physician's opinion, is best in infant's digestion, is best in cases where other milks have been used. In addition, however, fresh fruits should be given, especially orange juice.

In adults, scurvy produces similar signs and symptoms. It is the typical in its onset and after a time the color of the skin is pale and the body weight is noted, and the individual feels depressed. Soon thereon, as a rule, the gums become swollen and spongy—the soft tissue readily. Sometimes the gums become so inflamed as to loosen the teeth which may fall out. The tongue, too, is thick and swollen. The breath becomes foul. Hemorrhages within the mouth may occur. The skin is very dry and scaly. Furthermore, the ankles and knees and even other joints may become swollen and tender.

The disease may likewise produce a form of kidney inflammation. Heart leakage—"murmurs"—may develop because of the weakened heart muscles. The kidneys become affected and albumin appears in the urine. There may be fever. On the mental side patients become irritable, despondent and depressed. Even delirium may occur and coma develop.

Both in adults as well as children, the outlook for recovery is good provided the disease is recognized for what it is and the dietary faults corrected.

It is not necessary that children should have measles, whooping cough or any other of the contagious diseases. None of these children orders are as harmless as they are supposed to be and each year children die from them or their complications.

CAN'T SERVE SUMMONS

Stratford, Ont., Jul 23.—On the morning mail received at police head quarters, Thursday there was a summons from the Hamilton police department to be served on Dr. H. B. Kenner, M.O.H., for fast driving speeding in Hamilton. Chief Constable Capon didn't even have one of his men go to the Kenner home on St. David Street, because he knew that the doctor and his wife had left Stratford for New York on Thursday. Dr. and Mrs. Kenner sailed for Europe aboard the Ballic, leaving New York on Saturday. If an airplane were to be used the summons might be served in New York.

LEIF ERICSON'S RETURN

In the jerole songs of Iceland
There is a quatrain which runs in English
Cattle die and kinsmen die
And so we die, and I myself;
One thing I know that never dies,
The fame of a dead man's deeds.

The figure of Leif Ericson in bronze, recently unveiled in Boston, comes from the shores of the continent on which he set foot nearly a thousand years ago. It will stand on the land in witness of the truth of Iceland's saga. It is recognized that it is America's salutation to the daring spirit of the old Norse sea rover. Information in the Viking who is remembered for rescuing a shipwrecked crew, sets sail for Norway, receives baptism and returns to Iceland bringing Christianity to the threshold of the New World, as well as for a discovery whose significance he could not have known or even imagined.

The American Minister to Denmark is to take part in Reykjavik in the ceremonies in dedication of the statue which is to occupy the summit of the highest hill of Iceland's capital and in sight of the sea bore Leif and his men to Vinland the Good. On the pedestal might appropriately be inscribed the words of Ohhin in the Vafthru. thinismil:

Much have I fared much have I found.

Much have I got of the gods.

Congress, in making the appropriation for this monument in commemoration of the thousandth anniversary of the organization of the first Parliament in Iceland, did not specifically recognize Leif Ericson as the discoverer of America; but in authorizing the statue it recognized him as symbolic in the person of the Scandinavian pioneer. Any legend the verges of the Old World.

To the Old World Iceland still belongs politically; but physically it is the doorstep of the New World it may again become the key to the air what it was in the long ago for the Viking days. Its name is not descriptive of its character, for it has little ice except in the interior mountains. Flowers grow wild and trees from Vinland the good are being gratified in Iceland. Hot springs offer their heat to make Iceland independently independent. Leif Ericson returns to an island that in these days of world depression is more prosperous economically in that it has no unemployed, no debts, no poor, no rich. Reykjavik would be a more fitting name for the Vinland Fair than any two of the continents.—New York Times.

OCEAN VESSELS WON'T GO IN-LAND

A decade ago much uneasiness would have been felt in Montreal as to the effect of the building of this great waterway on the future standing of our harbour. Many thought that then it would place Montreal in the position of "way station". That feeling has largely passed with the more thorough study of the problem. Shipping experts tell us that there would never be the time of the expensive ships they would take to go up the river from the Atlantic by sending them up the slow, tortuous and comparatively peaceful stretch through the canals and the Great Lakes. Much cheaper boats can do that the trans-shipping in Montreal harbor. Indeed, the greatly increased traffic from the American West which this short and safe route to Europe is expected to attract will in all probability increase the patronage of this port—Montreal Star.

ARTICLE NO. 28

The Changing Tide of Business

Fashions change in every phase of life and trade, and there never was a time when all of them changed as rapidly as today.

Look back five, ten, fifteen, twenty years, and note the changes in the goods you buy, the methods merchants carry on—how many lines have passed out of the picture — others increased in sales — still others are gradually passing out. Look ahead—nobody cannot see the changes that are to come in the near future, but you may be sure the changes of the past will be matched by even more drastic and rapid changes in the future. These changes in the future will be influenced by the past.

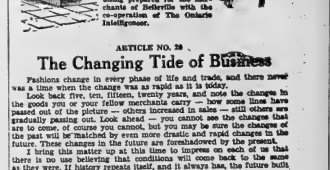
I bring this matter up at this time to impress on each of us that there is no use believing that conditions will come back to the same as they were. If history repeats itself, and it always has, the future built upon the past will be better than the past.

Beards are not coming back again nor will women wear crinolines; but with the clean shaven face came more business for the straight blade razor, rapidly replaced by the safety razor and safety blade, the lone individual wafer blade used a few times and thrown away; the shaving mug, the shaving brush, the shaving stick, the shaving powder, daily shaving brought demand for shaving lotions, and today the men are spending more time and money to keep a clean face fanned. With this better appearance has come a call for demand for neater clothes, more taste in ties, better fitting collars and shirts, shoes with appearance as well as wear, more attention to socks and hose.

The same story is pictured on the woman's side — the crinoline, the bloop dress, the trailing skirt, the tailor made, the skirt lengths, the armored corsets, the above the ankle boots have all gone by the boards and been replaced gradually by more attractive, more healthy and in many ways better types of wearing apparel.

One could go on with many parallels; trade, work, education, transportation, farming, everything in fact that touches our daily life and made the point I am driving at; namely that, conditions are not going to be the same as they were last month, last year, or ten years ago, but the past and the merchant who will recognize this and look ahead to the future, studying the trends of the present will profit most.

Some of retail business is affected by these trends and can gain by looking ahead and studying the past.



Hardware Merchants — The desire to change things around the place new paint with bright colors, new brushes — new carpentry tools — new garden tools.

Druggists — New toiletries — beauty aids — the changing trend in medicinal preparations.

Grocers — Package goods — trade mark lines — easy to handle — already half sold. The swing of the past generation was away from the dangers of the grocery, today with better stoves, ventilated kitchens, the younger matrons are swinging back to things they joy in making; sales of many lines home baked goods are surviving of fruits and vegetables, and the desire to serve something new and better.

Dry Goods — Notwithstanding the huge trade in made up dresses, the paper pattern people report very active business, piece goods trade is increasing, bails of wool and bales of yarn are being turned into sweaters of many hues and styles, afghans and throwovers.

While "Timely Merchandising" was announced for this week it was thought best to have this talk instead and next week "Timely Merchandising" will appear.

Pirates Play Best Baseball Against Their Closest Rivals

Defeat Cubs 3-1 and Lengthen Lead to 3 1-2 Games

By Gayle Talbot
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Where there have been league championships the Philadelphia Athletics of last season—who run up their winning streak over the weaker clubs, while getting no better than an even break against their leading adversaries, there can be no such charge against the Pittsburgh Pirates if they capture the current National League race.

The Pirates in fact, have done their best work since they started their sensational climb a month ago against the team generally regarded as their strongest rival and the team they must beat out for the flag—the Chicago Cubs.

Seven set of games with seven engagements with Roger Hornsby's Cubs, the Pirates have turned in seven victories, more than sufficient to account for their three one-half game lead over the field today. Only one game—and you would never guess it has been able to beat the Pirates up to this point. The four-thirds of a dozen games they've won victories in 11 bouts with the leaders, have been decisive.

George Gibson's men demoralized their ability to beat the Cubs for the fourth straight time yesterday with an 11 to 7 victory in their contest at Pittsburgh. Steve Swetonic did the pitching, hanging up his fifth victory in the two defeats, and assisted in the batting choice.

The leaders scored all their runs off Jim Mooney in the second inning. Barbee started with a single, Gus Suhr doubled, and Jewey Fitzsimmons sent both of them in with a game-winning double. Swetonic, just to make sure, singled to right.

The National league's only other contribution to the day's slate of the baseball front presented the Phillies in an 8 to 1 victory over Brooklyn, featuring the Davis boys. Virgil played the leading role, batting the home runs and a brace of singles but George did all right with a home run, a double and a single. Ray Benge went the route for the Phils.

American League.

With a home run, a triple a double featured the Athletics' 8 to 4 win over Washington, leaders in American League's lone attraction. The slugging catcher tagged all the blows with a single, a triple, a double and a single, driving in their runs. The Senators failed to cash in on their 15 hits off Rube Walberg.

TOPORCER HAS REDWINGS ON WINNING WAY

Making Fine Impression in Handling Rochester Team

BEAT LEAFS

Rainy Weather Causes Postponement of Other Games

(By The Associated Press)

George "Spoor" Toporcer, ex-Major Leaguer, field captain of the Rochester Red Wings for several seasons and one of Baseball's most popular baseball figures may be the man to lead the International League champions out of the second division wilderness into which they have fallen.

"Spoor" didn't make much headway in his first managerial venture last year when he tried guiding Jersey City for part of a season, but the Red Wings seem to have taken a new lease on life since he took the managerial reins ten days ago, when Billy Southworth was transferred to Columbus in the American Association.

In that time, the birds have won eight out of eleven games. They started out by taking three straight from Jersey City, beat Reading three out of four, split a four-game series with the league leaders and yesterday they took a running start and walloped the last place Toronto Leafs 9 to 7 in the opener of a series.

It took just three innings for Rochester to finish its scoring for the day. They got four runs in the second and then drove Glenn to cover in the third with five more. They made five hits off Liebhardt and Cook in the inning and finished their rally when Clarke threw wide trying for a double play and let two more runs come in. Toronto sent Tony Kaufmann to the showers with a five run rally in the fifth, topped by Wingo's homer, but Trachout stopped them before they could catch up.

Rainy weather wiped out the rest of yesterday's program, the Buffalo-Montreal afternoon contest and the Baltimore-Reading night clash giving by the boards. Reading had hammered out an 8 to 7 advantage when the game was called after the third inning. Newark, and Jersey City had an open date.

ENGLAND'S NUMBER ONE RANKING TENNIS PLAYER

Bunny Austin, number one tennis player of England was defeated by Ellsworth Vines of the United States in the final of the Wimbledon Tennis Tourney which the crowds cheered the loser knowing that he had just recovered from a long illness which left this not very rugged tennis star mighty weak. Austin is the first English player in many years to even reach the finals of the tournament. Another tough break was his defeat in the Davis Cup play off with Germany when England surprisingly lost the series.

When the Firemen annexed first place in the City Softball League the other day they sprang a surprise on the K. of C. softballers. The "Knights" have been all in front of their league all season and did not even think that the "Fire fighters" were near them. Then again the Rivals' lads have won their last three games and are pressing the second place "Knights" in a rather cocky manner. The Experimenters are holding down 4th position but have an outside chance to get in the league playoffs which start the week following the last game scheduled in the loop. The final game is to be played on August 15th.

Out in the Thurlow League which is comprised of Canniffon, first, Foxboro Hill, second and Foxboro third, they are having the time of their year there. The play-offs in the loop start next Tuesday evening when the Canniffon nine meet the Foxboro Hill boys with the return game staged for next Friday evening.

Without a doubt the fans have the take off their hats to the Hillmen Wagle fast team of the local girls' softball loop. These kids boast of a few pretty fair ballsters in the persons of the McMichael sisters, Hilda and Nellie, Pat Ebbler, Carter and Pearl Anestocne. The former players are all pre-season this year but will bear watching in future season. The Leafs always start their games off with a bang only to usually falter in the drive moments of battle. Last season Hilda McMichael, playing with a 3rd place club, was the leading home run hitter of the league and has collected plenty of her base clouts already this year. Although they have yet to win a league game the Leafs are the first girls' team to ever defeat the Cobourg "All-Stars" in Cobourg.

Once again the play-off dates for the Hastings County Junior League have been changed. Secretary Gordie Delaney announced yesterday that the first game between Wellington and the local R.A.A.A. will be played at the Fair Grounds, Belleville, on Saturday, Tuy 30th with the second game to be played at Wellington on Civic Holiday, August 1st. If a third game is necessary it will be played in Belleville at a later date. In the first two games home and home umpiring will be in vogue while neutral umpires will be engaged in case the third game is needed.

Unofficial word was received in Belleville yesterday to the effect that Johnnie Walker was entering Tommy Pedberg Trenton all-round professional swimmer, in the 800 marathon swim next week. Walker is taking a number of his swimmers from his Rotary Club training class to swim at the Wolf Week celebration at the Soo. George Young will be in his party also.

Providing the Belleville Nationals can return home with a win over the Cobourg Combo on Saturday night they will be sitting pretty as far as the league standings goes. Their big test of the season will come next Wednesday afternoon, however, when the Peterboro rangers come to town. This game will practically decide the ultimate winner of second place in league as the Nats have but two more games with the Petes The game at Wednesday in Belleville and a game later in the season in Peterboro should about decide second place in the loop. Tommy Pointer will get the pitching assignment in Cobourg and will no doubt be opposed by Wakeley, the southpaw from Port Hope who turned the Peterboro seniors back last Saturday. Carl Casey will be ready in relief duty in case Tommy falters.

There is a growing suspicion in the American League that young Jimmy Foxx is fooling around with the greatest right-handed hitter of all time and will soon step out. He will beat Babe Ruth's best home run mark if he is generally being conceded today.

Young Jimmy has a massive pair of shoulders and is now using full power. His swing is the true slugger swing. He now has streaks of not his 76th home run of the season and is a month ahead of Babe Ruth's record breaking circuit clouting season, 1927. And not only is the young Herculean hitter of the A's threatening the immortal Babe's mark on the home run throne, but he also has won the small boy away from the Yankee idol.

Bruce Bluntly Lays Cards Of Australia on Table Offering Wide Preference

Only Asks Same Preference in Return From Britain

MAKES PROMISES

In Order to Accept Britain Will Have to Tax Food Stuffs

Ottawa, July 22—Australia has now tabled her cards. She offers wider preference to Great Britain. She asks wider preference in return.

Hon. Stanley Bruce, head of the Australian delegation, outlines the scheme in a statement to the Imperial Economic Conference. By further reclassification of her tariff, Australia will make available in a preferential way to Great Britain, a greater range of Australian industry, which are not being given adequate protection by manufacturers. She will widen the variety of preference in Britain's favor with respect to admission of essential foods not produced in the Commonwealth. Wealthy with very slight exceptions, she will undertake to remove prohibitions and surcharges imposed for financial reasons two years ago. She will adhere to all preferences now obtaining. She will give "favorable consideration" to any British requests for additional concessions which are in the power of Australia to make.

Reasonable Reciprocity Sought

Mr. Bruce is emphatic that all these proposals are conditional on reasonable reciprocity. He mentions meats, dairy products, fruit, wheat, wool, the list is long, particularly that Mr. Bruce presses the point, "of primary and basic foodstuffs and manufactured goods, which are in the primary stage of production." And indeed must firmly press, for effective help from Great Britain." He declares that Australia has heard with "much satisfaction" the suggestion that the new British preferences are conditional on the increased preferences being granted by the Dominions. "I may add," Mr. Bruce further observes, "that the unanimous view of the Australian people is that, while for a quarter of a century they have given preferences to Great Britain freely and unconditionally, they regard the British preferences granted under the Import Duties Act as a somewhat tardy response for the benefits from Australia long enjoyed by British industry."

And, now with the Canadian and Australian proposals in hand, conference delegates plan days of detailed study. This afternoon the main commities of the conference —that on promotion of trade within the Commonwealth—met and chose Lord Hailsham of the British delegation as the chairman. Although the committee does not meet again till Monday, all delegations are planning private meetings of their own for today, meetings at which they will examine proposals made and plot their course.

Series of Agreements

The idea at present in mind is not the conclusion of one agreement between Great Britain and all the Dominions together, but rather a series of agreements.

These may be roughly classified: (1) Bilateral agreements between Great Britain and one dominion. (2) Bilateral agreements between two Dominions.

(3) Agreements in which Great Britain and several Dominions would be concerned.

Accordingly these proposed agreements on trade, a general understanding is suggested on Empire development is to say, the percentage of Empire material and labor which manufactured goods must contain to permit them to enter the preferential tariff zone. In most Empire units, the percentage at present is around fifty. In Great Britain, it is only 75. The British automobile manufacturers have been increasing. One of their arguments is that an Empire content of 25 per cent. is not high enough to prevent the American automobile manufacturer from sending parts to Canada, assembling them on the Dominion, and then securing entry of the product to Great Britain at preferential tariff rates.

Irish Free State delegates are understood to be mediating a scheme whereby they will take 25,000 tons extra in return for reciprocal advantages on the Canadian market.

Outline of Proposals

(1) Australia will adhere to all preferences now obtaining.

(2) Generally to widen existing preferences with a limited number of reservations where Britain has already practically the whole of the trade and in certain other special cases.

(3) By the further reclassification of the tariff to make available in a preferential way to Great Britain, protected areas in Australian industry which are not being exploited by Australian manufacturers.

(4) Close examination of the practice of admission under by-law.

(5) Australia is "even prepared" to widen the margins of preference to Britain's favor with respect to the admission of essential foods not produced in the Commonwealth.

(6) Australia will undertake, possibly with very slight exception, to remove the remaining prohibitions and surcharges imposed two years ago for financial reasons.

Considers All Requests

(7) Australia will give earnest consideration to any requests made by the British Government for additional concessions which are in power to make.

WHEAT CROP FOOLS MANY WHO LAUGHED

Strathroy, Ont., July 23.—Samuel Oakes, local garagman, recently rented a sandy field known locally as "the commons", and did the people laugh, when they saw Oakes start to plant wheat? "That ground wouldn't grow anything except gravel," they joshed, not with many a grin.

But Mr. Oakes has the last laugh, and it's a real hearty one. He threshed 966 bushels of No. 1 wheat from this much-ridiculed field, averaging 34 bushels to the acre.

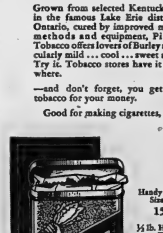
"If I were a Delegate" said Mr. Picobac

"If I were a delegate to this Imperial Conference at Ottawa," began Mr. Picobac—"which I am not," he added with convincing emphasis, "I would tell them—but I would tell them—just exactly what's the matter with the world today."

Mr. Picobac brought his tilted chair heavily down on its front legs to give weight to his words.

"Everybody wants to sell and nobody wants to buy," declared Mr. Picobac. "There's the whole trouble, right there."

Our genial philosopher refilled his pipe with Picobac, looking each member of the company one by one squarely in the eye. "Good thing," said he, "so many want to buy Picobac."



"Give me a match, somebody," he demanded sternly.

Sun-Burned Hair is a Sorrow

Bent on mischief, the sun gives the girl a bonnet of golden curls. He scatters freckles on her delicious nose. He turns his burning eye on complexion, shoulders, arms and back, like an indiscriminate, But his meanest trick is changing the color of her hair. Against this practical joke she should map out of policy protection.

He has his own way of committing his dastardly deeds. Pair hair he streaks with dark scorches. Dark hair he reddens. Time does not reduce the original colors. The hair is seared, as if a hot iron had been applied. There is no magic that will remove the marks of burning rays.

Oils protect against heat, as butter in the frying pan keeps the food sizzle, against freckles that in the form of solid or liquid creams should be applied freely to the skin to guard against tan that mottles and spots, against freckles that may settle down for years, against dryness of the epidermis and yellowing of the hand and the corner of the lip tiresome trail. For the hair, oil alone is considered a form of ointment that doesn't string out wave lines, but which creates luster and sheen is brilliantine.

There are two ways of applying it. It can be distributed in a fine spray by means of an atomizer after the hair is dressed, or a few drops can be placed in the palm of the hand and the curls drawn over them lightly, just before it is used to place the waves.

Don't try to thwart the sun by wearing a brimmed hat, especially when she is toiling on the beach where brilliant rays of sunlight are reflected by the sand.

And while hats will not keep Mr. Sol's fervent kisses, we would suggest that women wearing bathing skirts should start up now. To go without one is to invite sunburn. Actions is to develop such a weather-beaten skin coat that all the King's horses and all the King's men and operators can't put the human face recently together again. Repeated tanning, summer after summer, destroys the fine texture of the epidermis. What woman would look like an old satin upholstery? Adipose upholstery can be cultivated by drinking cream and milk half and half.

To bleach superfluous hair use peroxide and ammonia. Dissolve drops of ammonia to two tablespoonfuls peroxide. Some complexions won't do much, but as others are put on each succeeding day the color will become lighter. The bit of cotton, holding it onto the skin for five minutes each time.

Fatigue undermines the temple of beauty. Driving one night, sleepless when aware of a feeling of tiredness throws strain on muscles, eyes grown dull and brain is the perfect method of inviting wrinkles and making eyes all dull and lifeless.

WEDDING INVITATION

Dear Miss Beecham:—

Will you please tell me how to word a wedding invitation? I am to be married next month and I have no parents? I have a sister thirty-two who manages the home, two brothers older than I am (one 36, and the other twenty-six) who is younger. We are all single.

Since your sister is the oldest and since she is the one who keeps the household, I think that it would be charming of you to give her the honor of issuing the invitations in her name. And I am sure that this would make her very happy, aren't you?

Then your invitation would read:

Mrs. Mary Waters Gordon

Miss Marion

Mr. John Alister Worthy

on Tuesday, the first of July at four o'clock

GRANDFATHER'S RETURN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:—

Will you please tell me how you his arm when walking along the avenue, would it be impolite to return the bow? I am a girl of fifteen. I'm I'd prefer to walk independently?"

A. G.

Your refusal needn't be polite so haughty—just a curt nod will be quite proper for you to indicate that you would prefer not to take the hand that he has extended. You are walking with him. Say, perhaps, "No, thank you, Tom. I'm not feeling" or just "No thank you very much Tom."

THE FORMAL NAME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:—

Will you please tell me how a woman's name should be written on a postcard?

If her marriage name is Mrs. Jones, and her own christened name is Mr. John Smith does one write her name as Mrs. John Smith or is her initial put in?

A. S. C.

On most occasions of this kind when names appear on programs, the married name is used, and therefore, I urge that the woman use Mrs. John Smith. Her name may be written out:... it should be if it is used.... for it is best not to use initials when addressing the formal name.

Mrs. John Smith will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted by readers).

The beauty box

Behold, an old friend is with us! The prehistoric pigtail is sweetly familiar as if i had never gone to the chopping block! Why, many have thought it? In width it is but a shadow of its former self, and instead of the generous ribbon, that's all. No, it isn't bows though the wearer is naturally attached to it since it is pigtail chic and romantic enough to delight all the beauty shop, wreath it around your illustrious head in such a manner that it will become self on the left side when the chapeau is slammed down over the right eye. Serves as a trimming for the severe coiffure.

Before soap touches the hair, the glorious crown should be thoroughly rinsed in vinegar water, massaged forth from a bath spray designed for the purpose. The process removes surface dust, makes the washing easier and better. Finger pads should be frictioned into the scalp until the soak is thick, rich and crackling. Several applications, several rinsings, the final cold shower drying with warm towel makes the slick beauty formula.

Without exception those that are pint size and light of weight look better when they cover their ears. Bobs are generous and suit all skin. Diaphanous draperies revealing bone edges won't do. All right for the slender darling with soft curves, but not for the bony beauty. Adipose upholstery can be cultivated by drinking cream and milk, half and half.

THE SURVIVAL OF THE SWEETEST

By Barbara B. Brooks

For years we have been hearing objections to sweets—pastries, candy and candies. They have been called fattening, conducive to high blood pressure, hard to digest and are known to have other unfavorable qualities for some people. But in spite of all this pro-and-con, here has been a very marked, if not sure, increase in the use of sweets, at some time, through future processes of overlooked that' men' to be born without a sweet tooth, boids which are pleased with only the sensation of sweetness. But we hope that, that time is far, far away.

We enjoy sweet foods so much that it has become a custom to save them to the last of the meal where we can linger over their goodness. Children are often persuaded to eat their entire meal by the fact that there is a sweet dessert in store for them, and even adults look forward to the last course with pleasure and anxiety.

Frozen sweets are quite in vogue now. They are sweet, cool and nourishing. They often bring up to standard the calories in our otherwise fruit summer meals. It is unusual to find a dessert increasing calories but the fact is that many of us do not eat enough during the summertime. Our appetites are lazy and we just let them have their way.

Macaroons are good summer sweets and when you can make them save several delightful desserts.

CORN FLAKE MACAROONS

3 egg whites, 1-2 cup chopped nuts, 1-2 cup coconut (not sweetened) 1 cup brown sugar; 3 cups corn flakes, 1 cup raisins (seeded); 1 cup brown sugar; 3 cups corn flakes, 1 cup raisins (seeded); 3 cups corn flakes macaroon crumbs.

Beat egg whites until they are stiff enough to hold their shape but not until they lose their shiny appearance. Fold in sugar gradually. Fold in corn flakes, nuts and coconut. Add vanilla. Drop in well greased pans. Bake in slow oven (350° F.) about 15 minutes. Remove from oven, place on damp towel and remove macaroons immediately with a spatula or sharp knife. If macaroons become hardened to pan they may be put in the oven a few minutes to soften.

Yield: 1 1-2 dozen macaroons.

HONEY CORN FLAKE MACAROON MOUSSE

1-3 pints cream, 1-4 cup powdered sugar, 1-4 cup honey, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 1-2 cups crushed corn flake macaroons.

Beat cream until stiff. Add powdered sugar gradually, then the honey and salt. Fold in crushed macaroons and put mixture in the refrigerator and pack in freezer in chilling unit four hours. Can be made in 2 pails ice to 1 part salt for four hours.

Yield: 1 1-2 quarts.

PEACH MACAROON PUDDING

1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon corn starch, 1-3 cup sugar, 3 eggs (separated) 1 cup coconut (not sweetened); 1 cup brown sugar; 3 cups corn flakes, 1 cup peaches, 3 cups corn flakes macaroon crumbs.

Scald the milk. Mix cornstarch with sugar and moisten with a little cold water. Add the beaten egg yolks and stir in milk. Cook, stirring continually, until custard is smooth and thick. Remove from fire, add flavorings and peaches. Fold in beaten egg whites. Place macaroon crumb in a bowl or pudding dish and pour custard mixture over them. Let set in refrigerator over night. May be served garnished with fresh berries.

Yield: 8 large servings.

CORN FLAKE WAFFLE CONCOCTION

2-3 cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs (well beaten), 1-4 cup milk, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup shredded cocoanut, 2 cups corn flakes.

Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. Add eggs and mix well. Stir in flour ingredients alternately with milk and add cocoanut and corn flakes. Bake in waffle iron. Fills on hot waffle iron and bake until golden brown.

Yield: 20 combs 2 1-2 inches in diameter.

BANCROFT STARS WITH GIRDLE IN "LADY AND GENT"

Two "wise eggs" who were too wise.....

That in brief, is the story of "Lady and Gent," George Bancroft's latest starring feature, now playing at the Belle.

Wynne Gibson, latest Hollywood "find" who is soaring to stardom in her own right, plays opposite the virile Mr. Bancroft, and Charles Starrett, James Gleason and Warren Hymer and Cecil Cunningham have other leading roles.

Bancroft and Miss Gibson are cast as a couple of self-styled "big time operators" in the underworld of Broadway, battling merrily with each other and with any one who gets in their path.

The uneven tenor of their lives is interrupted one night when Bancroft's best friend suddenly dies leaving a 14 year old son in the world. Just what their responsibilities to the lad are they set down to consider.

And they reach a conclusion that is as startling as whimsical as they are radical.

"Lady and Gent" was written especially for Bancroft by Grover Jones and Wanda Tuchock and Nutt. Stephen Roberts directed.

Morgan Wallace, Ernie Crandall, William Halligan, Billy Butts, Frank McGlynn, Jr., Edward Van Sloan and Frederick Wallace appear in minor roles.

A Real Thriller

Rank Jones is a man of action in his newest thriller, "One Man Law," that is on with the above today and tomorrow at the Belle. It is a story of crack westerns that will stir your blood and keep you thrilling through —it's a wow of an adventure film. Richard Jones, Jr.'s boyish charm is spot with lovers of thrill-tangled romance-packed outdoor drama.

Dorothy Revier offers a splendid addition to the above mammoth double feature as Mickey Moran carries entitled "School Days," the ever-popular Belle Movie Tonic, Hugh McCormick in a number of popular organ selections.

With a powerful photo-electric phlotometer attached to a telescope, the brightness of a star can be measured to one part in 100 and one part of 1% else.

At The Capitol

"SOCIETY GIRL" WITH PEGGY SHANNON ET AL

"Society Girl," presenting James Cagney as a ring hero helplessly in love with a pampered pet of society and with Peggy Shannon in the title role, will be the next featured screen attraction at the Capitol Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

Dunn, whose rise to a prominent position as one of the female stars of the cinema began with her appearance in "Applause" and "Lady Gigi," still again be seen as a regular "good girl" in the role she plays in this romantic comedy. As a contender for the championship title, Cagney is enabled to use the diction of the sidewalks that made him famous in "Public Enemy." Charlotte husband in "Bad Girl" one of the outstanding performances on the screen.

The details of the story, which revolves around the romance of Dunn and Cagney, are laid in fashionable New York City although it may be any large city in America. After the fashion of "Bad Girl" and "Public Enemy" by Miss Shannon at her Southern plantation home. The fashions and the society girl begin a whirlwind courtship that soon involves them in more trouble than either has bargained for. Cagney, engaged by Dunn's flight manager and closest pal, is the one to resent the attentions of the society girl, drawn into the routine of the training camp. The climax of the romance of Dunn and Dunn receives a terrific jolt from Cagney.

How this situation is cleared up and the three come again reunited in friendship and love makes up the balance of the drama film.

Supporting the above last film featuring Dunn, "Dance Team" was Stanley Smith, Leo Carrillo and Ilka Chase. Also on the program is the Capitol Comedy "Sport Champ" and the Capitol Pathe News.

Dinnerware

On Monday and Tuesday each lady patronizing the Capitol Theatre will receive a beautiful gift of Wedgewood Richelieu Dinnerware free.

LIBRARY CORNER

"Way of the Lancer," one of the outstanding books of the season, is the romantic story of the Polish Lancers by Rolaslavki, well known through his previous books on the Polish Legion in Russia and America, less known for his services in the Polish Lancers during the World War. The spirit of the Polish Lancers differed from that of their allies, the Russians, or of their enemies, the Germans and Austrians, in that they felt no allegiance to Russia, Germany or Austria-Poland—a regiment that rode alone. Their horsemanship and strong individuality made them the terror of battle in the face of the Russian and German cavalry. The Polish Lancers were thus caught in a unique situation, between Germany and the Russian eagle, not subject to it, but trapped by the force of the tempest. The book is valuable as a documentary record, for it is the first time that the story of the Polish Lancers in their struggle for independence from Russia and Germany has been told by one who was independent of both. The interest in the book is that which deals with the ultimate fate of the Lancers, particularly Lieutenant Rolaslavski.

"Wings Over Asia" by Henry Hamilton Beamish, well known American Lecturer and traveller, is a popular work of travel, has been published by Putnam's. The American Highways was popular with readers of travel, has been followed with the Canadian Mountain region in his new book "Roaming the Eastern Mountains." In Paris follows the Appalachian Trail from Maine to Georgia, visiting on route the White Mountains, the Green Mountains, The Adirondacks, the Catskills, the Blue Ridge Mountains, and the Alleghenies. The mountain region of the Eastern United States is of great interest to many is satisfying to a greater degree than the more distant Rocky mountains of the west. A great many photographs are included in the book.

The history of the last fifty stormy years of the Russian Empire is the background but not the subject for "Grand Duke Alexander," by Alexander Grand Duke of Russia has told the story of the fall of the House of Romanoff, the record of the progress of the Grand Duke (now resident in Paris) who married a commoner and married the Czar's sister, who sailed the seven seas in search of adventure. He made his way through the tropical jungle to the last Empress of Brazil, and who lived with the natives of Africa and who will be popular with library patrons. One meets all the important characters of the Romanoff family as they appeared to their intimate friend and relative, the Grand Duke Alexander. The author carries the reader from the first scene to the end, George, Serbia and myself, lying in the tall dewy grass of the imperial park near Moscow and talking lazily and cheerfully of that mysterious, incredibly beautiful future which has a habit of lighting its signal fires across the horizon.

A little patience—and we shall reach it, all of us."

CAR BALANCED ON BRIDGE RAIL

Oshawa, July 22. — Miss Alice Moore, 20, a former dietitian of the Oshawa General Hospital and of the Civic Hospital in Ottawa, had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon when the car she was driving near her father's home in Brooklin struck some light gravel on the road causing the car to turn and crash into the barrier at the entrance to the approach to a bridge over a small stream. The car did not stop when it hit the railing but travelled on until all four wheels were off the ground and it was balancing on the top rail of the bridge. Fortunately, Miss Moore took care in climbing down from her somewhat precarious position on the road, but it took some time and several men to get the car back on the road.

Letters from England

No. 15

We sailed from Dover to Calais, only 15 miles, on a beautiful, calm day, July 4th, and arrived there in less than one hour. The English Channel was perfectly calm (nearly so) and the sun shone brightly so we had an ideal short sea voyage. All the way over, even at Calais the white chalk cliffs at Dover were plainly visible and appeared to us as they did to Julius Caesar and his legions nearly two thousand years ago. The beautiful day, the calm sea and historic hills impressed us deeply. As we entered the dirty, dingy harbor of Calais there were steep hills to our extreme right, then land level with the water's edge. Away from the water and then the very commonplace harbor. The moment the little French steamer touched the dock we were surrounded by porters (men not boys) dressed in bright blue coat climbed over and in an awful jam and jabber sought out passengers with their luggage. Some of them got our hand and beckoned me to followed. We soon found ourselves in the Customs Department where we opened our suitcase for official examination. That was soon over and then he closed it and gave a hasty sign to follow. A special boat train (Calais to Paris) stood on a track near by for our use and in the comfortable compartment which held in all eight persons including ourselves, we were soon speeding at an enlightening rate (miles an hour) was often repeated afterwards. Our self engaged porter did not wait for his tip but promptly and in those of authority demanded his fee. As it was not unduly excessive I paid it in silence. Times are just as bad in the French countryside as they are anywhere else, perhaps no meagre tips. We are told that practically no visitors have come so far this season as we are expected.

Our first journey on British soil was by train from Tilbury to London with a duration of about one hour, and similarly our first journey on French soil was by train from Calais to Paris, about two hours, and over three hours. The English and French railways are much the same in all respects, smooth roadbeds and speed of 60 miles an hour, faster than our average passenger trains. The landscape is too often hidden from view by hedges and trees.

As the train left Calais behind we could see that it was a fine large city with its picturesque red tile roofs so common in England and France. We passed through several other interesting cities.

You can only have lunch on a French train after a porter goes through cutting out the bell with a punch. Each time a certain crowd has been served and the repast car has been tidied up, we had a small table for two. Lunch was delicious and very cheap, according to the menu card but our bill showed an additional ten per cent. for service. Tips are included in all instances on trips. Visitors find that this system is generally prevalent in France and that even then food and service are surprisingly cheap.

Throughout the hundreds of miles we travelled, the fields are much the same as in England with much the same crops but there are two things that are missing gardens and the small orchards with two or three horses not side by side as in Ontario but one ahead of the other. Gardens are not to be seen at all and there is no hay hauling the hay cart. We never saw a single sheep or lamb and once or twice only a few cows.

We reached a large Paris depot on time, about six in the evening. It was the dirtiest, smelliest station we have ever known and not in the least attractive. Very unfavorable first impressions of Paris and the French. We engaged a taxi (called Citroen here) and were soon at the hotel designated by Thomas Cook & Son, Limited, the largest travel agency in England and Scotland and are just the same in appearance and methods.

The girl at the desk in our hotel speaks English and is a great help to us in every way. Our apartment is the finest we have ever had anywhere and at about half the average cost. Many of our friends have been greatly reduced recently for accommodation and meals but wearing apparel is going down with the rest. The main street like Front Street in Belleville or Yonge Street in Toronto are called Avenues or Boulevards and are very wide especially the fine ground and asphalt which are four times the width of Front Street sidewalks. But it must always be remembered that Paris is a city of two million people and a highly artistic people. These wide sidewalks on the best streets are necessary for the people walk on them in large crowds, larger than in London or New York, the numerous cafes and restaurants have about one-third of the sidewalk opposite their respective places of business for table and chairs for the customers and about one-third another third of the wide sidewalk next to the curb (the street) is occupied by small stalls for the sale of newspapers, books, flowers and every cheap article under the sun is sold and where fakirs (frauds) of every description pass as artists. Without a doubt the finest street in the world is Champs Elysees and Champs Elysees are a blemish on the choicest sections of Paris. But you would be much surprised and shocked. The ordinary streets are no narrower than they are usually in any street in Belleville scarcely wide enough for two.

On our arrival in Paris, we saw great crowds in one of these narrow streets, Rue de Faubourg, famous during Paris revolutions because revolutionaries always erected barricades in this street to fight against the government forces. Some Communists out of work gathered in this street in a state of excitement and there were surrounded by curious thousands of whom two were from Belleville. A fight in such a way street and soon traffic was stopped back for a mile or more. Two or three persons were killed that day and a great many injured. I was watching crowd cheered them in the hope of a genuine clash. Soon other police arrived on scene on bicycles and dispersed the crowd in half an hour everything was normal but for a time it looked like real trouble. Such police and government methods are prompt and patient much more so than you would be under the same conditions.

For a week we had a room overlooked into streets near by our hotel a radius of perhaps two miles. We found the streets very busy, we, about quiety, in a hurry, well dressed, perfectly behaved and just as you notice in the streets in any large cities except that these French people are simply adorable and as far as we have seen perfect ladies and gentlemen. Not only that but we are looked upon as royalty and by which with artistic discrimination and effect. The lady in here will dress all of them and the gentleman in the same design Gordons already reported. You would not object to any of these. These are first in almost every other detail.

The streets and people of Paris are seen at their best only at night. The city in the world uses electric light so plentifully and with such charming effect. The streets are wonderful at night and the arrangement of white, red and blue lights is marvellous. At the moment we are writing we may that about 11 o'clock in the evening as in Paris. Our rooms have several times as many lights as we have ever known. We are told that this is the first time, you will recall these words.

The shop windows are very attractive and everything is priced by ticket in francs. My mental arithmetic is having a great exercise. I have to make quick calculations for two persons. A franc at present is equal to about four and a half cents of Canadian money. A shilling is marked at 1336 francs, how much is that in Canadian money? This goes on for purchases until some person has a headache. Many kinds of wearing apparel for men or women are dear in Paris because half of the price is for the name of the famous maker and the other half is for the material. Anyway we came to see not to buy.

As we walked down streets to window admiring articles (ladies and women, Honeymooners we think) were doing the same thing. The pointed longings for a dream of a costume or a gown or a hat were enough to do some mental arithmetic then their eyes met, begs upward and they kissed tenderly, and with a sigh of relief and joy stepped as it on air into that alluring shop. We really felt that such a perfect scene could only be enacted in Paris, at least we never saw or heard of anything nearly so divine. Within ten hours we saw two other similar couple kiss on a crowded street as they separated. In all cases we are sure the transactions were entirely satisfactory because no person paused to doubt it. Everywhere we go there are many clear evidences that men love each other because they are men and that is the best kind, and hence the world will never go to pieces while that is so for love is the great secrets and mysteries of life.

Within our first two days in Paris we have seen more widows (all between 20 and 30 years old) in deep mourning than we have seen in all the rest of our lives. Your heart would ache for them because they look so sad and lonely. It is only in the cafes, restaurants and theatres that you will hear an occasional laugh or see a little gaiety. This element seems to be much more noticeable here than elsewhere because the French people are by nature very bright and cheerful. The Lord must be sadly sorrowful too because so often He said:—"Be of good cheer." We trust we will not be considered by killers but the truth is that we have seen the real results of the Great War and our hearts have been bowed down with deep sympathy. Believe us when we say that Canada knows practically nothing about the horrors of war. As we see it in London and Paris, war is Hell most assuredly of sourceful and perseverting. You cannot help but love them and wish them God speed.

The postman carries his letters and packets in a letter bag like a boy's schoolbag. He wears a small navy blue cap with a black eye shade, a navy blue coat and faded khaki trousers. He is not nearly as fine in general appearance as Postman Burton, No. 4, of Belleville. We have seen him on his yelle after sundown.

The Paris policemen are a joke in every way. They wear a small cap, long blue tunic for postman in itself not in the least dignified with brass lowns and clubs. They wear a navy blue short coat and trousers with a leather belt and they all look as if their clothes were intended for much bigger men. Imagine our surprise and disgust. They never patrol the streets (just as in London and Edinburgh) but stand on a short street intersections directing the traffic. Instead of white cuffs on their sleeves, they use a white baton (small club) in giving their directions and they act as they look rather effeminate in power or grace and to crown it all they are little men. Paris excels in scenic beauty but in officers it has humiliating limitations.

On the afternoon of our third day we took our first sight-seeing tour by De Luxe Bus around Paris. We passed a fine statue of Joan of Arc. She was on her horse as she was in the flesh and formed a fine scene in movie pictures. This arch is of white marble, very grand and massive, and was begun by the famous Napoleon Bonaparte in 1801 but was not finished until 1836. It is really a war memorial and from it are inscribed the nation's great victories. Twelve avenues converge at the arch to form a star and on it is called the Place of the Star. Beneath this famous arch an unknown soldier is buried and for many reasons this is one of the most sacred spots in Paris and you would be impressed by its dignity and solemnity. We next came to the Eiffel Tower, a structure nine hundred feet high and at the time of its construction the highest edifice in world. Since then the Empire State Building in New York has been built one hundred and fifty feet higher. The Eiffel Tower is now used as a wireless station and is in the centre of a great beautiful park. The great Popular National Theatre came in next. It is built like Albert Hall, London, in the form of a circle and seats six thousand people, the largest in Paris. No seat in this theatre ever exceeds fourteen rows and about forty-five feet. Then we had our most wonderful visit, the tomb of that little Napoleon who brought conquer Europe and who was decisively defeated at Waterloo in 1815, and sent in exile to the lonely island of St. Helena where he died in 1821 and was buried in a grave about six hundred feet high and at the time of his

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

In her own attractive dash-coloring their of Cecilia Moore, came Sheila Ostensdorf, a little after 9 o'clock on a cool and heavy night in May. Most of Cecilia's half past hour, a few were still lingering under the dusky lamps, dropped by green triangles of shade, on their desks. The office was lighted only by these artificial lamps and outside the night was already black.

Cecilia was the familiar Irish-American type; small, fair, energetic, with blue eyes and a very white skin, with a curled cap of black hair. Her expression was one of constant suspicious watchfulness, shrewdness and mirth. She was an expert stenographer and typist at twenty-three, and knew all about air mails and steamer sailings and special delivery, and most of the first letters she took in Cecilia's hand a smattering of Spanish, for Marks and Matchim dealt in South American table exports; such brands as the the "Marks of Quality" fruit pastes, avocadoes, bananas, guavas and coconuts, and the "Wedding Parade" asparagus and date specialties.

Sheila was younger than her office neighbor, but she looked more than her years. Cecilia's mother had been "going with" Sheila's older brother Joe for some years, and the two had been with Cecilia even in their schooldays. Sheila was taller than Cecilia, and broader of build; her white face and head was broad, under her loose dark-red hair; her almost-black eyebrows were broad, even her young, untrained hands were square and bright.

For the rest, Sheila was more boyish than Sheila, for Cecilia was flat-built, with small nervous hands and narrow hips, and Sheila was rounded everywhere in line; her white throat flawless, her breasts high and firm under her shabby silk, her chin a smooth curve and her whole body vibrant with a sort of warmth and light.

Even the tricks of coppery hair that escaped in a silky film over her forehead and the little rebel curls that lay outside of the knot on her neck were unconventional different, human. Her touch of her square, firm hand was human, as was the look from her round, sternly surprised blue eyes. She had the daisy-white skin that sometimes goes with blue eyes and reddish hair; her mouth was large, her teeth were large, her voice unexpectedly large and vibrant. Altogether she did not fit into an office whose manager lived only to please the young women employed by the maximum of accounting machines, and to ignore their individual personalities as much as possible.

This girl, introduced as "Miss Moore's friend," had been there for seven months now, and they had been stormy months. The heads did not understand her, she was the type of person who had always been trying to change things; she had a distinctly new way of suggesting shortcuts, of eliminating details. With the utmost simplicity and good humor she threatened the firm fortress of inefficiency that had supported the business of Marks and Manheim for years and years. Sheila Carnaddon had entered the office knowing nothing; she knew little now. But she spoke to everyone; at her innocent questions time-honored customs shrank back into decent shadow.

Her expression tonight was rueful; her surprised eyes were sure-at her pursed lips.

"Chill-cheerful" Cecilia asked, tryfully to read her face.

Sheila seated herself at her desk, mowed a paper, looked at the other girl unsmilingly and shrugged.

"Don't look like that, Cecil," she said.

"Pired!" Cecilia ejaculated in a whisper.

Sheila laughed joyously.

"What do you know about that!" she asked. Cecilia's expression remain horrified.

"Sheila—he didn't!"

"I tell you he did."

"I don't see," Cecilia commented, after a speech during which they had looked at each other; "I must say that I dont see that it's so funny."

"Well, I think it's funny," Sheila said with a faint accent on the pronoun.

"To be fired?"

"By old Drayton. I don't fare!" the younger girl added, after a moment in a reckless voice.

Cecilia saw that she did care, that she was shocked and humiliated. After all, this was no year to be fired. Jobs were scarce. There were breadlines and unemployment parades downtown.

"What's he say?"

"Drayton?" Sheila was looking into a desk drawer; she glanced—she said vaguely. She closed that drawer, opened the one above it. "Oh, here they are!" she said.

The puzzled Cecilia asked, distracted, innocently interested, as purse and gloves were brought to the surface of the desk.

"I'm cents," Sheila answered, washing Cecilia's face for approval.

"I'm cents!"

"That's all. Summage' sale," Sheila explained. "Oh, I'm sick!"

"For heaven's sake! Why, it's marvelous," the older girl admiringly observed.

"I thought it was nice. I lost my other—left it in the pew Sunday, and I thought I'd get another. Then I saw these, and I thought they were steal in church."

"You would think, they'd be kind enough to tell you!" Cecilia served expressing in her bright, shrivel way.

They both fell to thinking. Cecilia's attention herself with a stack of mail, so on. Wharid Drayton was.

"Oh, a lot of hooey!" Sheila answered, with an air of indifference.

"But what'd he say? You know, Sheila," Cecilia added, as the other girl made no immediate reply, "you're a hundred times better than Miss Hodgson, for instance, or Miss Grace. What'd he say?"

"Oh, he didn't say anything against my work. He said I look too much young myself.

"But for heaven's sake, how could you take too much upon yourself?" the older girl said, with a touch of gentlemen's letters."

"Why? Fosdick said Foote's, I suppose?"

"What's funny about that?"

"What I think of young Sig is funny, I suppose," Sheila admitted. Cecilia observed.

"You didn't change his letters?"

"I certainly did."

"The vice president's son," Cecilia murmured.

"He could be the vice president's grandson and I'd do it," Sheila declared the way he does, I'd change it. "You should of knew," and "it looks like what he does was did under the impression that one of the girls wasn't nothing but maybe a bluff," Sheila quoted with scorn.

"Oh, well, you can change things like that," Cecilia protested.

"What made him mad," the other girl said, after a reflective second, "was that when you roll the silly letters down to what they really mean, they take up about two lines at the top of the sheet. He knew," she said, warming, "to come out here to the office late in the afternoon, when the girls are all gone and begin dictating his silly stuff."

"There isn't an office in the world that hasn't got some young man in it doing that," Cecilia Moore observed mildly.

"Wait! This is the letter that made the real trouble; Sheila said suddenly, jerking open a shallow central drawer, and taking out her notebook.

"More fool you to write it, then," Cecilia didn't know it was going to make him mad."

"Here's what he gave me," she said, and she read aloud:

"In reference to yours of the sixteenth ult: regarding cheese, your wire received, as per my answer to day, would say to the effect that the delay in mailing caused no inconvenience whatsoever, and trust it was not troublesome to you, as goods were received in time for shipment. By this you will have had my father's letter confirming mine of the 22nd inst., in which a re-order is enclosed; I am taking great pleasure in sending you a telegram, as you requested. Confident that you will give this matter your earliest attention, and assuring you that we shall await your reply with great interest, we beg to remain—"

Sheila stopped short, and looked at her comrade slowly.

"I ask you!—" she began.

"Well, what's the matter with it?" Miss Moore demanded, patiently. "They are all like that."

"But will you kindly tell me why a boy of twenty-two can keep me after hours dictating stuff like that? Do you know who that letter is going to?"

"What does it matter? Nobody ever reads 'em."

"I'm going to a drug store up here on Broadway. The customer in Rio wanted three jars of some special lemon cream, and that's the way Sig handles it."

"Oh well, what do you care, as long as you get your salary?" Cecilia demanded.

"Well, I think its the limit. You can see," Sheila brooded, studying her notes, "that we've been wiring and writing for days about it. See where he says here about 'my father's letter, confirming mine of the 22nd inst.'

Rescued Party Tells Story of Struggle Against Waves

High Winds Buffet Flat Bottomed Punt as Belleville Family Try to Make Port—Intensive Search Has Reward

John Hanna, Wife and Four Small Children Spent Friday Night on Horse Point—After Many Unsuccessful Attempts to Launch Punt in Heavy Seas

AIROPLANES, MOTOR BOATS ASSIST

Family Short of Food and When Picked up Father Nearly Exhausted as He Attempts to Bring Family Home—Heavy Seas Pound Boat Badly

Sun-blistered, chafed and tanned by exposure in the open to the same wind which had held them prisoners on the rocky shores of Horse Point, opposite Massassaga for nearly two whole days and one night, while the heavy swells running in the bay rendered the use of their small boat too dangerous to risk a return to the city, Mr. Jack Hanna, his wife, Edith, Doris and Dorothy, 7 year old twins, Bobbie, aged five and the two year old baby are recovering in their home on East Dundas street from their harrowing experience from which they emerged a little hungry and burnt, but still unscathed. They were rescued from the rough waters of the bay near Snake Island, late Saturday afternoon, on their sixth attempt to reach Belleville with the small boat, which shipped water with every wave, by Mr. W. Kokesh, owner of the Belleville hospital, the first man who had seen the party since the family left Belleville ostensibly for a fishing trip and picnic on Horse Point, at six o'clock Friday morning. The Kokesh rescue boat was one of several boats, aided by two airplanes, and scores of relatives and neighbors, who formed motor parties to scour both shores of the Bay of Quinte in search of the missing boat or the bodies of the family, who were thought to have been caught in the open by the Friday afternoon squall, and drowned.

Intensive Search Made

While one of the most intensive searches by bay and river experienced was taking place during the night of Friday and into Saturday, the missing family were none too comfortably ensconced on the shores of a smaller point in Leslie's Cove where they had spent the preceding night, cold, hungry and afraid. Their only food during

Italy Builds Secret Ships Says Expert

The building by Italy of naval vessels about which France and the rest of the world have been kept in the dark has been proceeding for some time according to an article by Hector C. Bywater, British naval expert, in the Daily Telegraph.

"The secret ships," he says, "consist of two cruisers, each of 6,742 tons, with a heavy battery of six-inch guns; two 615-ton destroyers, of unprecedented speed, said to be 45 knots, and 10 small craft of various types, which are understood to include submarines of a new type. The programme for these units, instituted secretly, which have been laid down as an outcome of the Franco-Italian naval rivalry, is said to provide an additional aggregate of 16,562 tons.

"The purposeful energy with which the Fascist Government is developing its naval forces is further shown," says Mr. Bywater, "by the fact that the new policy provides for the arming of all large merchantmen with guns, bow and stern, and the provision for tank storage of 740,000 tons of fuel oil as a reserve against the eventual construction of all warships by the electric welding system."

PRODUCER IS MOURNED

Great and Near Great of Hollywood at Funeral of Ziegfeld

Los Angeles, July 25—Florenz Ziegfeld was buried here today on Sunday, mourned by the great and near great of Hollywood whom he had started on the ladder to success.

The nation's great theatrical producer, who won fame and millions through his Follies and girls, and died at the peak of his career, was carried to rest in the richest mausoleum where many other celebrated show world's luminaries found a home.

Ziegfeld who shrank from the limelight in his last years, went the same seclusion in death. His wife, Billie Burke of stage and screen, their 15 year old daughter Patricia, and a few Hollywood notables who were the intimates, made up the mourners at private services in a funeral home.

The producer's flower banked sarcophagus at Forest Lawn remain in Forest Lawn Mausoleum only until Miss Burke decides upon a final resting place. This probably will be in New York, the scene of his triumphs for almost two score years.

Stunned by his sudden death in Cedar sot Lebanon Hospital late Friday night, Miss Burke nevertheless bore up bravely be the funeral, before remaining overnight at the ranch of Will Rogers, the brightest star of her husband ever "discovered," while the cowboy humorist—grief stricken and solemn now—arranged for the last rites.

ACCIDENTS ON ROADS FEWER REPORTS SHOW

June Records Show 36 Deaths in 753 Accidents

CLASSIFICATION

Faults in Driving Indicated as Cause of Accidents

TORONTO, July 25.—The number of accidents reported during June to the Motor Vehicle Branch of the Department of Highways reveals a decrease of 121.1 per cent. from the figures of the corresponding month last year. This is the third consecutive month to show a decrease from last year's figures and it is extremely encouraging to say the least. While it is still too early in the season to attempt to make a definite improvement in the situation, it is nevertheless hopeful in view of the experience of several States where accident reporting has been compulsory for several years. It has been found that a trend of this nature has a tendency to continue as long as educational and restrictive measures are maintained and it is perhaps not too much to hope that this is definite indication that the safety program of the Motor Vehicle Branch is beginning to bear fruit.

36 Deaths

Motor vehicle accidents causing personal injury, or death, or property damage in excess of $50.00 totalled 753 during June. This figure has increased over the May figures and followed the normal trend. This increase was largely due to seasonal conditions, the opening of the vacation season and the coming of warmer weather being followed by increased traffic and an increasing accident toll. Thirty-six accidents reported resulted in 36 deaths and injury to 753 persons with $81,811.00 property damage.

The improvement in the fatality record is specially encouraging. During June this year only 36 persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents as comparing to 81 in June of last year. This total is still far too high but the decrease is striking.

Pedestrian and Car

Of the types of accidents, "Collision with pedestrian" and "Collision with other automobile" are considered to be the most important classifications, amounting for 69.3 per cent. of all accidents reported. All types of collision accounted for 87 per cent. from the 1931 figures with the exception of "collision with the horse-driven vehicle" and "collision with other motor vehicle" and those classified as "miscellaneous" which together totalled 24 accidents as showed an increase of 14 over the number reported last year. Sixty per cent. of all accidents occurred at intersections. Of the accidents at these involved "Collision with pedestrian" than half or 52.3 per cent. of all accidents reported. All types of collision accounted for 87 per cent. from the 1931 figures with the exception of "collision with the horse-driven

TENDERED CHEQUE LATER ARRESTED

Owen P. Wood, address unknown, was arrested by Constable Evans late Sunday night when he tendered a one dollar cheque drawn on a Toronto bank in payment for a meal at a local restaurant. Wood went into the restaurant, ordered a meal and a package of cigarettes to the amount of 75c. Later when about to leave the store he informed the owner of the fact that he had no ready cash but offered a cheque in payment. The owner refused to take the cheque as payment and called the police. Later Wood was arrested on a charge of vagrancy he admitted to the police, while in the cells, that he had been in similar trouble in Gananoque and other places in Eastern Ontario. He was arraigned before Magistrate Mikel Monday morning and his case was remanded until Saturday so as to ascertain if he is wanted for similar charges in other centres.

DR. M. F. McRAE DROWNED IN LAKE MOIRA

Madoc Dentist Fishing Alone at Time of Fatality

BODY RECOVERED

Believed Man Became Entangled in Line and Fell Overboard

Madoc, July 25 (Special) — Believed to have got his feet tangled in his fishing line Dr. M. F. McRae, 45, local dentist, accidentally fell into the waters of Moira Lake from his boat and was drowned, about 10 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. McRae was fishing along the north shore of the lake and but within fifty feet of his own cottage, when his feet became tangled in his fishing equipment. Neither his wife, who was in the cottage within hearing distance, nor the nearby cottagers heard any commotion or alarm until the empty boat was seen. It is thought that Dr. McRae must have got his feet caught in the fishing line and was unable to keep himself as he was an expert swimmer.

The surrounding campers at once started a systematic search to locate the body of the drowned man. Later when they could not find the body some of the campers rushed to Madoc where they procured the use of a number of grappling hooks. The body of the young doctor was found at one o'clock Monday morning not far from the place where the boat was seen, in which he had been fishing, some three hours previously.

Dr. McRae leaves a widow and a host of friends to mourn his sudden as he was highly respected in the community.

Mudcat Horns Pierce Throat of Snake Snake Disgorges Its Unwelcome Food

Snakes, like ambitious humans, sometimes bite off more than they can chew. In the Trent River, on Sunday, a two-foot black snake attempted to swallow a mud-cat heavier than itself, with almost fatal results. The main part of the body of the fish had been swallowed successfully, but the horns of the mud-cat had penetrated the neck of the snake some distance down and nailed him fast in the throat. What exactly to do with the mud-cat it had swallowed in an absent-minded moment seemed to be the main question of the snake when it was picked up off the top of the water where it had been floundering around by Don Thomas and "Chuck" Boulter. The horns were sticking through the snake's neck. The boys brought the reptile back to Belleville in a minnow pail, still with the mud-cat stuck in its throat. Early Monday morning when a look was taken at the snake it was found that the fish had been disgorged and lay in the bottom of the pail dead. But how the trick was done is the question which is being asked by those who saw both snake and the large mud-cat in had acquainted.

Just before noon the reptile was liberated from the pail in the Moira river where it swam off apparently none the worse for its adventure.

BEAVERBROOK OVER BOUNDS

Yorkshire Herald Attacks His View of Conference

London, July 25—The Manchester Guardian goes further to the defence of Mr. Baldwin. "The general proposition as to new Dominions' minister are not encouraging," it contends. "We are expected to increase our tariffs against foreigners for some unspecified concessions in the present fantastically high Canadian system. How much Mr. Bennett is likely to offer depends on the political tug-of-war going on behind him. Such evidence as there is has not been reassuring."

The Conservative Yorkshire Herald declared Lord Beaverbrook has undoubtedly overstepped the bounds of decent journalism. "Ottawa is no political chess championship," it continues, "but a business conference, and those seeking to garner political capital from the deliberations do the Empire about which they profess to be solicitous a disservice.

The return of a free-trader in the north Cornwall by-election is interpreted by the Yorkshire Liberal, as an indication that "in opposing the taxation of meat and bread, Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Runciman are merely reecting faithfully the opinion of the overwhelming majority of Englishmen." This paper denounces Lord Beaverbrook's "impudent" attack on Mr. Baldwin. The British leader, it declares, "will have the full support in this quarrel of the nation whose interests he is defending against a propagandist whose arguments do not become any more convincing when delivered in the raucous tones of a bullying political boss."

CARRY COLORS OF WAR DAYS

Second Battalion Men Take Part in Ottawa Ceremony

Some forty ex-members of the 2nd. Battalion, O.S.F., left the city early Sunday morning by bus and cars to attend the Foot Guards' ceremonies at Rideau Hall, Ottawa. Those going by bus, some twenty-five in number had the misfortune to be held up in Kingston for some time in the early morning hours owing to a breakdown in conveyance. Taxis were routed out however, and the party reached Ottawa in time for the ceremony. When returning, after some minor mishaps on the way, the Belleville contingent found their bus repaired at Kingston and arrived in the city in the later early hours of Monday morning.

Though rather tired out after their twenty-four-hour journey they report having had a splendid and enjoyable time in Ottawa. Some three hundred of their old comrades were in attendance at Rideau Hall to see their second perpetuating unit, the Governor General's Foot Guards of Ottawa presented with their new colors by Lord Bessborough, the Governor-General; to witness the trooping of the color by that crack regiment of Canada's non-active militia, and to participate in the march past before the King's representative in this Dominion. The veterans of the 2nd. Eastern Ontario Battalion, O.E.F., carried their own war time colors bearing their battle honors, which had marched with them across the Rhine into Germany in 1918.

The party from Belleville report the weather in the Capital to have been excellent but, seven members of the Foot Guards suffering minor prostrations during the rather lengthy program.

Consecration

(By W. W. Murray, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, July 25—Consecration of new colors of the Governor General's Foot Guards was performed on the grounds of Government House yesterday in the presence of an immense crowd, among whom the guests of honor were the delegates to the Imperial Conference. Brilliant sunshine, the colorful garb of Canada's premier militia regiment, the sheen of bayonet and sword, the gorgeous gowns of the feminine portion of the crowd, and the general atmosphere of something unusual being carried out, all contributed towards making this ceremony tremendously successful.

Re-Modelled Ranks

But above all was the march past His Excellency the Governor General of the veterans of the old 2nd. Canadian Infantry Battalion who had congregated from all parts of the province to take part in the ceremony. Remodelled, as befits men who have served their country well, marching with the steady swing, the upright bearing, the proud and unconcernable spirit of this splendid unit of the old Canadian corps, the veterans of the Second invited by Guards to participate in the ceremony, played their part with dignity and honor.

Colonel L. T. McLaughlin, O.M.G., D.S.O., Bowmanville, commanded the second in yesterday's parade.

TWO INJURED IN CAR SMASH

Cars Crash on Frankford Foxboro Highway on Sunday

Colliding on the fifth concession of Sidney on the Foxboro-Frankford road about 10.30 a.m. Sunday morning a motor car accident happened when a car driven by Ray Mallory of Frankford, collided with a car driven by Warren Spafford of 86 West Bridge Street, Belleville, turning the Spafford car over on its side and badly damaging the car and injuring its occupants.

Mallory was driving north on a concession road, turned to the left on the Foxboro-Frankford road intersection as the Spafford car was approaching the intersection. It is alleged by the provincial police that both cars were travelling at a rather high rate of speed. As the two cars met they naturally swerved to the north side of the road where the Spafford car turned over on its side.

Joe Large, 23 Murney Street, Belleville, received a nasty gash on his arm which took four stitches to close. Jack Spafford, brother of the driver of the car, was also badly shaken up. Provincial Constable Campbell investigated the accident and charges of reckless driving will likely follow.

MOUNTS KNOLL STRIKES CAR

Occupants of Hallam Car Badly Shaken up

Driving his car over a slight knoll on the Madoc highway near Ivanhoe this morning, Neil Hallam of this city with his sister, Miss Irene Hallam and his younger brother, Tom as occupants in the car struck another smaller car which was being backed out of a near-by driveway.

The Hallam car careened over to the west side of the road and turned over in the ditch. None of the occupants were seriously injured although Mr. Neil Hallam was quite badly shaken up, receiving a badly injured shoulder in the accident.

The other car was knocked over into the east ditch along the road and badly damaged when the right hay wheel was torn off and the car quite badly wrecked by the impact. Whether the driver of the other car was seriously injured or not could not be ascertained.

BARN BURNS NEAR WOOLER

Loss to Owner Ray Ross Will be Heavy — Origin Unknown

Thought to have started from spontaneous combustion fire completely destroyed the large barn and all its contents, the property of Roy Ross of Wooler, late Sunday evening.

Mr. Ross and his brother were just driving into their barn yard when they noticed the fire. Both men had been out north huckleberrying all day. The fire was first noticed by Mr. Herrington, a neighbour, who informed the owner that the fire was first seen breaking out near the centre of the roof of the barn.

The building was soon a mass of flames, which could be seen for miles around the countryside. In the barn was stored some twenty tons of hay and many farm implements which were a complete loss. The barn was isolated from other buildings about the farm, it being 400 yards away from the barn in which Mr. Ross had his livestock. As the blaze had a good start, the fire was beyond control when the neighbors arrived to try and combat the flames. The fire burned for some hours and attracted many travelling motorists from around the countryside.

The loss which amounted to some $2500 was partially covered by insurance.

JUDGE'S VIEW UPON CONTROL

Circuit Judge Grants Separate Maintenance

Chicago, July 25.—A storm of contradictory comment has followed a decision by circuit judge Daniel P. Trud in which he gave the first judicial approval of birth control ever expressed in Chicago.

The decision was given in the case of Mrs. Grace Graber, who was granted separate maintenance from her husband, Walter J. Bemis, a consulting engineer.

"It is evident to me," the court said, "that too many children have been born to this couple. The mother rebelled at motherhood. The job was too much for her."

In granting the separate maintenance Judge Trude specially cited the couple's five children as the reason for their marital discord.

Judge Joseph A. Graber, of the Court of Domestic Relations, took an opposing view.

"I have found that children do more to patch up broken homes than any other single factor," he said.

Judge Trud told Mrs. Bemis to go to California on a vacation, away from her five children.

A NATION'S PRAYER

Prayers for the success of the Imperial Conference which were said in the churches of Canada on Sunday place British subjects in a receptive mood for that broad-mindedness and unselfishness, required to make the conference a success. In every church in the world-flung land prayers were offered for the parley, the national anthem and patriotic hymns were sung, sermons based on the imperial theme were delivered. The result was to prepare the British world for the best that can come out of the conference.

Clergymen pointed to those things which are the realities of life, underlying all material progress important as that may be. The churches of the land, Catholic and Protestant, and Jewish synagogues were united in petitions to God to guide the deliberations at Ottawa freighted with immense possibilities for the Empire and all mankind.

THE CAMP LIFE

Camps for boys and girls are the last word in a phase of modern society as regards health and training. The life which is placed before the young today is a life of ruggedness, or robustness of physique which will be a fit tabernacle for the spirit of the young citizens who are to govern the world a generation hence.

Cultivation of a sane outlook on life is the object and the inevitable result of these gatherings by lakes and streams, where the appeal of nature is heard and obeyed, where youth and age learn to be resourceful, are taught to swim and to look after others.

Such means of entertaining and training the young are commendable.

FROGS LEARN TO FLY

Evolution is in progress in the tropical forests of Mexico, says the head of the U. S. National Museum at Washington, Dr. Remington Kellogg. Frogs are learning to fly. This is "a striking example of evolution at work as a race struggles to free itself from one environment and conquer another." Dr. Kellogg has studied twenty species of tree frogs and finds that they which have learned to climb and burrow are rarely taken to the air.

The proof is that, the various stages of the development are to be seen by scientists. Specimens have developed elongated legs for jumping, and can land after a drop of one hundred and forty feet without injury.

Birds are members of the reptile family, so that the development of the frogs is really not unusual. It supports the arguments of scientists as to evolution.

THOREAU'S HERMITAGE

One hundred and fifteen years ago Henry David Thoreau was born at Concord, Massachusetts and the anniversary was marked recently. The event was not only observed, not many persons taking occasion to halt and pay the tribute of meditation to one who exerted an influence upon the thought of the United States. Yet Thoreau's works are read with interest by many and they prove entertaining as well as instructive reading. He was one of the earliest of those who like to get close to nature though it is claimed he was rather a poseur.

Hamilton Spectator says Thoreau lived in a make-believe world of his own, building a cabin on an isolated spot at Walden pond where friend Emerson to whom he is said to have imitated even to the mannerism of speaking. It was in this hermitage he wrote "Walden or Life in the Woods." Thoreau dreamed his life away, "doing as little work as he could, eking out a bare subsistence by whittling out lead pencils, living it is said on 27 cents a week. "It is not surprising that he stayed but only two years at Walden." The Spectator winds up an appreciation of Thoreau by stating that "Thoreau, in spite of his nickname the Hermit of Walden, cannot truly be considered to have been one."

NOTES

Belleville bathers are so few that they are either afraid in their scarcity of numbers to go outside the streets in bathing suits or so shy that they do not care to do so. The more likely reason is that the bathing beaches are far enough away that bathers in bathing suits do not reach the city streets. So the local police commission does not have to ask Chief Kidd to issue a stop to bathing parades of one piece bathing suits as Peterborough board has had to do.

The acting president of the Canadian National Railways, S. J. Hungerford, took the first step in railroading as a machinist apprentice. Former Vice President W. D. Robb had a similar start in the shops at Belleville. The shops appear to be a good point from which to start the upward climb in railroading. Learning the mechanical side of this business as others is not a bad method.

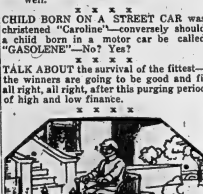
OLD HOUSES HAVE SECRETS
By Pearle R. Casey



Old houses, like old gentlefolk, are shy,
For shabbiness and quaint, old-fashioned ways
Mark them the relics of those other days
Before men worshipped speed's efficiency.
They seem to sit apart, to draw aside
From life's insistent urge. In musings deep
They dream; and tender rendezvous they keep
With all the treasured memories they hide.
A footstep . . . whispers . . . scent of rare perfumes . . .
An old love song . . . faint rustle of a gown . . .
A sobbing cry . . . gay laughter drifting down—
These are the substances of long-lived-in rooms.
Old houses, like old hearts, are loath to part
Dear secrets they have hidden long and well.

NOT SO LONG AGO the above contraption was one of the world's latest wonders, all noise and bluster and as it rattled down the street at the terrific speed of fifteen miles per hour or less everybody stared, fascinated at the sight. Windows were shoved up hastily, people ran to the doors, and the horseless carriage was the wonder of the age. Like the motor boat engine of early vintage the mechanism of the horseless carriage had a habit of breaking down and to start on a trip is ill of any distance was quite an adventure as there was no certainty when the return trip would be made, or whether a tow-in would be required. And that was the day before pneumatic tires and paved roads, so the pioneer drivers must needs have plenty of courage and resiliency. Belleville folk will remember the first "horseless carriages" which made their appearance here, not so long ago, either, and men who drive them are still alive, who survived the ordeal. If you want to commune with the past walk down to Jack Roblin's boat house and take a look at one of the first motor boats gasolene contraptions to appear on Belleville streets and country roads roundabout, owned and driven by "Whale" Roblin. That was used to make adventurous voyages into the country in this uncertain vehicle, accompanied mostly by "Kitty" Kearney, and how the steering mechanism did not go the countryside, scare horses and cattle and carry sure death to hens caught on the road—so that in time the farmers got to recognize the figit faint sounds of the approaching Juggernaut and say "here comes Whale, lock up the chickens!" Then there was the high wheel bicycle, fit for long falls and dizzy dashes, the memory of which is perpetuated by rube (Tiny) Cooper on state occasions—but that's another story to be told another time.

Cows are milked by telegraph at Gainesville, Florida, on Saturday, when a milking machine broke down and a campus electrician took an ordinary telegraph ticker and connected it with the pulsator so that it would make and break the current which alternates the suction. FUN NEEDED IN ORDINARY LIFE AS A TONIC

Physiologically as Well as Psychologically Valuable

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

Many persons feel they need fun but unwittingly they are afraid to let themselves go and enjoy it. Indeed there are cases in which to have a good time or even laugh seems like a sin. So they have actually people behind the sunlight in their minds which fun gives, that they see everything irregularly and black.

Fun helps the physiology of the body as well as the psychology of it. To laugh, and let yourself go, whips up the circulation, stimulates the heart, and activities all the tissues.

In fact, fun is as essential to health as are proper food and digestion. When your digestion is satisfactory you tend to have fun; conversely, fun will help to make your digestion satisfactory.

Perhaps you will claim that you have no more time for fun, that you have different things to do, more pitiabing all you should, besides your necessary sleep, in the twenty four hours.

Well, you may claim that but your claim will not stand the acid test of investigation. For you haven't time for fun, create it! Cut something else out, if necessary. Eliminate it. Do it without anything to worry and get some fun! soon you will be so refreshed by the cause of the fun that no difficulty will be found in resuming the neglected work and squeezing it in without strain.

Whether you be rich or poor, a man or woman, of responsibility and care, or one who has few troubles are minimum, take a certain amount of each day and actually waste it! It will not be actually wasted but you'll think it is! In the long run you will consider it the most valuable waste you ever indulged in.

What kind of fun do I recommend? Any kind, any activity that will take you out of yourself, will make you happy, will arouse your laughter, is fun!

Drama, music, vaudeville motion pictures dancing, light reading, the pursuing of hobbies, golf, cycling, flying, motoring, baseball, football, skating gardening, bee-culture horse-back riding, automobiling mountain climbing—these are but a few kinds of fun that occur to me the kinds I know many people enjoy.

If your physique carries physical exercise with it, so much the better. But here I am not stressing recreation so much as I am stressing fun. There is a distinction between recreation and fun. If you take your recreation seriously, it isn't play. If you take it with pleasa and laughter, it's the best kind of fun!

The comic strips are an easy way of getting fun. If it is a combining how many persons of all walks of life, from the rich baron to ditch diggers, have learned that fact, consider the comic comedies, wherein for the screen or on the legitimate stage, have been packing houses, not for taking life too seriously.

You have fun wherever whenever you can get it! You will find you can laugh much more than with less effort while at the same time being happy as to your self-due.

And don't be afraid to let loose either. Stop being conventional. Let your emotions come out and have free play. Don't consider whether the time or the place are right for laughter. Laugh when Bobby or Betty or people may think! Just go to it and have fun!

There's a saying about an apple a day keeping the doctor away. Well, I think a laugh a day is even better than apples!

The point is that it is important to your well-being as any other thing, social, financial, business, craves fun. Do not disappoint it!

THIRD DEGREE

Within the past few days the brutality of officers of the law has been exposed in the case of the convict in Florida and of a suspected person in New York. The latter is apply to be found of the tortu rings that these men undergo. In the Florida case, a brutal murder; and if the crimes had taken place in Canada the convicted person would no doubt be hanged. That the so-calling third degree is practiced by police officials throughout the United States was proved by the Wickersham commission. In some cities it is worse than in others. Not universally, but they all have the same results and are all equally ineffective. They are interested only in extracting confessions from unwilling witnesses, and while they succeed often enough in the long run they do not reduce crime. On the contrary, they increase it, and which have been gradually weaned away from the third degree methods. Crime is on the increasing crime.—Mail and Empire.

SAD FATE OF HORSE

To see the horse displaced by motor vehicles in Canada must be a sad enough, but; what shall we say when that noble animal is kicked out of doors? In the last census the number of horses on farms in Ontario was 975,235, valued at $50,528,572, as compared with 1,048,040 and $82,623,807 in 1921. During that decade horses decreased in number by 81,726, or 7.71 per cent., but mules more than doubled in the decade increasing in number from 199 in 1921 to 410 in 1931, an increase of 106.1 per cent., and in value from $20,185 in 1921 to $43,508 in 1931. Moreover, the average value of one horse in 1921 was $81, but the average value of a mule at $106. That is the mule is considered worth 30 per cent. more valuable than a horse. They do not accounting for states. The Bureau of Statistics states that the main increase is in the production of tobacco on a larger scale in these counties. There is another to be said on this weed, another field of activity for the Anti-Tobacco Society.—Mail and Empire.

Stirring the roof;
And even the murmur of rustling trees
Seems so aloof.

In bright array;
In Poverty Street, the heavens seem—

CAR STOLEN FROM OFF ST

Family Went Shopping Returning in Fifteen Minutes

Leaving their car parked on Pinnacle Street while they did some shopping early Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cross noticed some ten minutes later to find their automobile had disappeared.

Mr. and Mrs. Price, who live at 310 McDonald Ave., in Belleville, left home about 7.15 p.m. Saturday evening in their touring car. They parked it near the corner of Campbell and Pinnacle Street, going down town to do their Saturday evening shopping. Mr. Price did not think it necessary to lock the car due to the fact that he and his wife intended returning to the car almost immediately. When they did return some few minutes later, the car had disappeared.

Mr. Price immediately informed the police who in turn set out warnings of the theft to all nearby police headquarters. Up until noon Monday no trace of the car had been in evidence. The police are of the opinion that the thieves were in the near vicinity of the car at the time that it was parked and as the owner did not lock it the thieves had a simple matter to make off with the automobile.

Pointer Aids Own Cause by Heavy Stick Work as Nats Down Cobourg Saturday 10-1

Peterboro Losing to Kingston Puts Nationals Safely in 2nd Place

CRETNEY INJURED

Self - Inflicted Spike Wound Requires Ten Stitches to Close

Unleashing the heavy artillery at the opportune time backed up by excellent hurling by Tommy Pointer in the pinches, Belleville Nationals took a firmer grip on second place in the O.B.L. race on Saturday, when they defeated the Cobourg Panics 10 to 1 at Horse Show Park in the Lake Shore Town. The win was a costly one to Wilfrid Cretney, starting first sacker of the team, will be an invalid for at least two weeks, the result of a spike wound, which required ten stitches to close. The win was undoubtedly good in that Kingston went into the Loft Lock City and took the Petes for a 5 to 1 victory, which gives the Nationals a game and a half margin over the Petes, their nearest rivals.

Pitching All the Same

Believing that the Nationals did not like southpaw hurling and hoping that Hickey would be in the same kind of an effort as he did against the Petes the previous Saturday, "Tiger" Ward sent the tall wisp against the Cobourg Panics, but he could not weather the storm and when the game was over he was off the hillock and Pointer was in the alley like a bullet and the Ponies marched back to the bench with their tails over their shoulders. He restricted the opposition to five hits, one of them being doubtful, while he had both sounds in safe binders. He whiffed eight batters, the most he has struck one, none of which were figured into taking the decision. Simply could not connect in the pinches.

Pointer Hits Ten.

His single in the second frame started the rally for a counter. Alex Weir sending him home with a triple with one mate in third base. In the third he doubled to deep centre to score Chambers, who singled. while he smote another two bagger in the seventh for the same measure. Morgan and Mills also cracked out two safeties, Alex Weir also connected for a brace of hits, one being a triple. Weir played under a handicap, not having been stung by a bee on Friday and his hand and forearm were badly swollen. Wakeley, who started on the mound, bore down on every pitch, but is appeared as if he would be the victim of a wild streak before he vacated the post. It has been an established fact that the Nationals could always find some paw pitching and they lived up to the reputation on Saturday. Wakeley struck out eight in his sojourn on the mound and gave up a total of three of which were turned into tallies. Pointer, who could not throw the strikeout ball in the pinches and many of the hits came after two were down.

How Runs Scored

Belleville scored a run in the third on a single and triple, and two in the fourth on a triple, a double and error. Again in the seventh, three runs crossed the platter, when Chambers walked, went to third on Pointer's double, and scored on Rolling's error, when A. Weir hit to that player. A double steal was put on and Morris fled to centre to score another, while Mills's single in the third run home. In the eighth the team batter around and Wakeley left the scene in this frame, two walks and four hits accounted for a quartette of runs. Only twice did Cobourg threaten, once in the second when they filled the bases but in thirteen Pointer struck out the side. Again in the third Pointer walked three but two strikeouts and an infield out quelled all the chances for a rally. In the ninth the Panics scored their lone counter, when Gibson batting for wood, singled, went to second on a walk issued and rode home on Rolling's single.

Game Listless

The game was a listless contest with no brilliant plays to relieve the monotony. Nationals, however, provided the feature when he stabbed a hot one from Weir which was labelled for at least two bases. Herbie Morris, who replaced Cretney at first played well and provided a good target for the boys to throw at. The team as a whole played good ball and fully deserved the margin obtained. On Wednesday Peterboro will be the visiting team and if the Nationals can take a fall out of the Petes they will be sitting pretty for a playoff berth. It is more than likely the postponed game with Kingston will be played Civic Holiday morning.

CAPTAIN "PEENEY" MILLS

When the Peterboro seniors and the Belleville Nationals hook-up in a baseball game, Wednesday afternoon, Captain Mills will decide the ultimate winner of second place in the O.B.L. race. Manager Frank Feeney Mills, a veteran of 14 years service and the team's leading hitter at present, will handle the knobs of either Tommy Pointer or Carl Casey as the case may be. Wednesday's game promises to be a hot bit of baseball as far as the O.B.L. goes.

Knocks and Boosts

Belleville 10; Cobourg 1—Kingston 8; Peterboro 1 (rain). Wall Grewe's handy seem-ale one and one half games ahead of Peterboro and in the race for second place in the O.B.L. As we predicted, previously, Wednesday's game between the Peterboro seniors come to town, will almost decide the ultimate winner of the play-off position as the "Big Two" Petes and the Nationals are concerned.

Saturday's victory for the Germonmen over the Cobourg Panics was rather easy. Tommy Pointer Cretney's services will be lost to the locals for the balance of the season. Herbie Morris filled Cretney's place on Saturday and performed at the initial sack.

Tommy Pointer was the "big shot" on Saturday. The eccentric left-hander not at his best in the game but helped himself to two timely hits. Pointer, on the mound, he walked a few batters, sent no less than 16 hitters back to the dugout via the strikeout route. He elongated southpaw had plenty on the ball and was working the corners like nobody's business. If he can find the plate he is against the Peterboro seniors on Wednesday afternoon at the Park grounds the patrons of the game will be treated to a real battle of pitching. Carl Casey, on the other hand, may get the call from Skipper Germonmen.

Previous to Saturday's game Manager Grewe and Wray could not agree on the ground rules. Ward wanted the home water line left field fence while Grewe wanted the right field line so as far as he would. After holding the game up for a few minutes umpires Calling and Turpin decided to leave it where the fence and two bases through the fence. Both managers seemed satisfied after all.

Tory Bey, who relieved Wakeley in the eighth was the only Panic hitter to get more than one hit when the ex-Delore pitcher, first baseman and what not, helped himself to two singles. The Nationers collected but five safe blows off Pelerity's delivery while the Nats collected ten safeties. Alex Weir again hit one over the fence for three bases while he, Harry Morgan and Pembey Mills each got a brace of hits. In fact nearly all of the Germonmen cuffed the "old slider" for at least one safe blow.

Although the local horse shoe pitchers are not entered in any league this year they are not scarcely in the fine shape at their Centre Island that the Belleville Arena. Nearly every afternoon and evening numerous lovers of the art of horse shoe throwing can be seen tossing the semi-circles of iron.

Jim Curran's "Wolf Week" started with a bang, a two up and beat Nic. Marie. We understand that Curran intends to keep that pace with evergrema. Leave it to Jim Curran behind the Belleville Arena. Daily Star, to put the idea over in a big way.

Plenty of softball is on the books for the Public parks league at the Armouries lawn. There will be two games played each week, Tuesday evening and Friday nights of this week. The only game left on the three games to play while the Belleville Recreation Men's Softball are getting ready for the season.

In the Hastings Junior loop the league play-offs start next Saturday when the Wallbridge Brigade play the first game of the series at Belleville behind the R.A.A. pavilion, last year's champions. The return game is to be played in Wellington on the afternoon of Civic Holiday which is next Monday.

TRENT BRIDGE IS RESURFACED

New Asphalt Surface Being Laid to Replace Old

Trenton, July 25 (Special)—The Trenton Softball team had a treat in the way of softball here on Saturday night, when the Belleville Fruit girls beat the Wallbridge girls by a score of 13 to 8. Rain threatened to spoil the last few innings of the game but the girls were willing to stand on and the fans who ordinarily would have left at the first drop remained to see the finish. Such enthusiasm on the part of the spectators should be rewarded and surely there is enough girls in Trenton to enter a girls team in the Belleville league or perhaps form a league here. Anybody who thinks that the girls can't play ball should have been here on Saturday night to see the way they pgg the ball around, and when it comes to hitting, they can perhaps show some of the boys a few tips. Pat Finger got the only homer of the game when she knocked one into the Bay. Miss Cook started on for the box for the Belleville Fruit girls was replaced in the fourth by Miss Lewis, who like her brother Bill, is a southpaw. Miss Lewis and Ketcheson went the entire game for the Wallbridge girls.

Line-ups—Belleville Fruit—Finger, Lewy, Smith, Morgan, Dracup, Simmons, Lewis, Cook, Cook.

Wallbridge—Hinchcliffe, Ketcheson, Campbell, Bonisteel, Hough, Lindsay, Rumble, Phillips, Ketcheson.

Umpires—Plate Lewis, Baseline Ketcheson.

ROAD LIKELY TO BE STARTED

Prince Edward County Suffering Through Condition of Road

Trenton, July 25 (Special)—Why work is not being started on the Carrying Place road has been bothering a good many of the people living at the east. It is a terrible condition. A man has been counting the cars that have gone for the past few days and we hope that the traffic has been heavy enough to warrant the building of the road. We are hoping the present time seems to be the bridge of the canal. The Highways Department is gradually getting after the Department of Canals at Ottawa regarding the canals. Prince Edward county is suffering from the lack of this road as the tourist trade is now at its height.

Fine Fishing Reported.

Complaints have been made to the Trenton Harbour Commission, that the gasoline launch companies have been delivering gas to boats in the harbor. It was learned through the Trent Valley Canal system, that the gasoline business has been getting any commission. The Trenton Harbour Board has levied on wholesale tank deliveries in regarding to canals, and cannot deliver gasoline in cans free. This however has not affected the sale of gasoline to the tourists as was expected.

C. W. McGrath Dies.

Mr. Charles Wellington McGrath aged 58 passed away at his home on Edward St. on Thursday after a long illness. He was born on a farm near Tweed, living there the greater part of his life, coming to Trenton some sixteen years ago, where he was employed as the district electrical Plant until the time of his explosion. Since then he was employed by the C.P.R. he is survived by his wife and two children, Percy Phil, Mich., and George of Knox, Ind. The funeral will be held from the family home afternoon at the Faith Mission, pastors E. Whitman and W. Jones officiating. Interment in the Mount Evergreen Cemetery, at Frankford.

CHILDREN RIDE FREE ON TRAIN

Four Small Children Seen Riding the Rods on North Train

Trenton, July 25 (Special)— A much needed new road sign has been erected at the corners of Dundas and Dundas Sts., which is the junction of Highways numbers two and four. Dundas St. leads to the Iroquois Trail or thirty three degrees the direction which it touches on the north trail. The side for number two gives the principal direction of the Lake Trail route. This will be a great help to the tourists who are looking for the information regarding the northern routes.

Children Ride Rods.

Travellers on freight trains has increased a great deal since there has been such widespread unemployment in the country. It was previous to Saturday, but were not aware that children had adopted the same method of riding the train which piles between Trenton and Marysburgh carried an extra passengers on Saturday afternoon, four small children and one grown man. The five were seated on a flat car loaded with poles and rods and seemed to be enjoying th ride. Luckily the weather was fine and the children would not suffer inclement weather. None of the children were over ten years of age and one was a young girl.

Harry Tweaks Cattle.

Mr. E. Minaker a farmer on the Wooler road seems to have the luckiest cattle this year, as he has been able to get over ten bushels of ripe tomatoes to date from his plants. The crop this year is expected to be a heavy one.

Whether it be a cruise through a well settled region, or an adventurous journey through the wilderness, the choice will find an almost unlimited number of lakes and streams.

The waterways of western Canada, in days gone by, assisted materially in unveiling the mystery of the great country between lake Superior and the Pacific coast. CORRECT CLOTHING FOR MEN

THE requirements for a successful and satisfactory trip are almost limitless. Canada is a picturesque country and an excellent summer climate, can be found almost anywhere in Canada. The innumerable lakes and rivers make the choice of trips almost unlimited. One can travel for hundreds of miles on any of the great rivers, journeying from day to day and portaging where rapids impede or heights intervene. Having decided upon the kind of trip to be made, whether one requiring much effort and exercise, or one quite free from rapids and portages, the canoeist has only to select his route.

Easy of Access

Although railways and the automobile have provided a means of rapid transport, there are many beautiful places, approachable only by canoe, that invite the adventurer to partake of the wonders of nature. The railways and the development of good roads have however made the majority of canoe routes in Canada easily accessible, and one need not travel far from the majority of Canadian cities before reaching the unbroken peace of an enjoyable trip.

Forest Beauty

In certain parts one may follow the streams for a long summer outing and never see a village or dwelling, yet civilization lies so close that return is always possible. Waterfalls, rapids large and small, lakes and islands, forests hidden deep in the forest, and islands covered with pine and spruce trees are among the attractions features encountered en route. In some districts the canoeist may travel for miles without meeting obstacles of any kind.

There is a remarkable contrast between the conveniencies of modern life and the full naturalness of life in the great forest, where one may spend days and days in the wilderness surroundings. A strange appeal of imagination comes to one while following the routes of the historic explorers and contentment prevails

Beauty.....

BY HELEN JAMIESON

Machine Age is Hard on Complexions

Grandmother says that when she was a little girl soap and water were good enough for any woman's complexion. Grandmother knew how to keep things fresh and clean without complexions were worth looking at then. They had freshness and color, whereas modern complexions look pasty—if you can glimpse any of the real thing under the paint.

Grandmother's complexions were the days when dirt was clean. It was floating dust, dried sweat, stale perfume and other such sticks. Soap and water dissolved these and washed them away. Then the skin could breathe and go caverning about other business. It bangs on. Burrows into the pores, and there you have the curse of this day and age is atmospheric film.

Dirt ruins the delicacy of fine texture as the same effect ruins the human hide. The cleaning woman who wipes up floors suffers hands rough, hands not necessarily because of harsh soaps, but because of grime. The combs, the effects of dirt, which roughens and discolors, coarsens the texture of the skin, flays it alive, there must be eternal vigilance.

When the cleaner alone won't do the business. Soap suds would have to be applied several times a day, and that wouldn't do. Too much scrubbing robs the skin of the natural oil that keeps it smooth. One must suds and oil and friction.

When the makers get busy when laws are enforced, there will be clean air in cities and towns. When slimpse being coal carried.

Beaton was born in Scotland, crossed the Atlantic in 1850 accompanied by her brother, Captain Beaton, who later commanded a ship that ran the blockade during the American war. She made her home with her uncle the late William Templeton, when Belleville was a small village with a scattering of small stores and few houses. On September 14, 1861, she was married to Mr. H. A. Thompson by Rev. Mr. Grier and Rev. Septimus Jones.

Children, grandchildren and great grandchildren were present to wish Mrs. Thompson on her birthday. Mrs. Thompson is also a great-great-grandmother and among her most prized possessions are photographs of the five generations of her descendants. NOVA SCOTIA FRUIT GOOD

In Spite of Dry Weather Crops is Coming Nicely

Halifax, N.S. July 25—(CP)—Fruit continues to grow well in spite of the dry weather conditions, according to a report of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture. Most crops are beginning to show a need of moisture, but recent showers have helped.

"Except for the yellow leaf, which is one in most cases to scab and spray injury, the foliage is excellent and with satisfactory growing conditions during the balance of the season the fruit should also well and the quality should be good.

"In well sprayed orchards the insects and diseases are well under control. Present indications are that the crop will be above the average.

"Prospects are for a crop of from 75 to 80 percent of last year. Cherries promise to be plentiful in many places, but plums will be very light and pears much lighter than last year. Due to the extremely dry weather, strawberries will be a light crop in sections of this province. The 'gray banded leafroller' is giving considerable in some districts. Growers who are following the old-season practice of spring the under-leaf spray immediately. There is some 'fall webworm' showing in orchards which should be controlled by a late arrival spray. Red mites are also beginning to be numerous

SHORTS RACE FOR COVERAGE

Selective List Includes Tobaccos, Oils and Steels

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, July 25.—With shorts on the run, speculators for the rise were able today to push the stock market out of its narrow trading range of the past two months up to the best average level since May 2.

The move was rather selective, but U. S. Steel, Chrysler, some of the Utilities and Rails were sent up one to more than two points with approximately little effort. Brokerage gossip had it that shorts were concerned over the prospect that U. S. Steel would order the regular preferred dividend tomorrow, and that its quarterly earnings may not show a severe deficit as has been predicted.

Among issues up about two points or more were U. S. Steel Preferred, Bethlehem Preferred, American Tobacco B, Liggett and Myers B, Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific, National Biscuit, Texas Corporation of California, and Consolidated Oil Preferred. Shares up a point or more included American Can, American Telephone, Norfolk and Western, Standard of N. J., Consolidated Oil Common, Atlantic Refining, American Water Works, Sears Roebuck, and others. Santa Fe and Bethlehem Preferred, however, then slipped back in a case of profit taking in the generally temporary sag in the general list. Just before midday Reading Co. and Crucible Preferred shot up five points.

PIRATE GOLD AND TREASURE

Fifty Million Dollars in Riches From Old Galleon

Lewes, Del., July 25—Pirate gold and other treasure, said to have been looted from two Spanish galleons and reputed to be worth $40,000,000 is the prize for which New York and Baltimore salvage experts today are staking a small fortune.

Despite previous attempts which failed, the modern treasure hunters equipped with deep water diving equipment, hope to locate the Spanish ship DeBraake, which sank off the Delaware Capes in 1789.

Charts and Maps

The salvage forces have charts and maps indicating they blow thicose indicating they believe the exact spot where the DeBraake sank after carrying down a seized brig which was supposed to have been loaded with a fortune in gold coins and gems.

Documents brought from England show that the DeBraake went down about one mile east in the bay directly opposite Cape Teolopen

The present salvagers already have determined that the water at this point is only 80 feet deep, and they are spurred by the thought that much of the sand has washed away at that point during the last few decades.

They further believe that the treasure ship was built virtually of solid treasure, which if true is considered almost indestructible.
